SC says it can dissolve marriages on grounds of irretrievable breakdown

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, MAY 1

A five-judge Constitution bench of the Supreme Court in its judgement on Monday ruled that the Supreme Court can dissolve a marriage on the ground of irretrievable breakdown by dispensing with the need of the waiting period as required under the marital laws.

"Article 142 must be considered in light of the fundamental rights. We have held that the period of six months can be dispensed with. It is possible for this Court to dissolve the marriage on irretrievable breakdown of marriage," a five-judge Constitution bench, led by Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul said, in the judgement.

While dealing with Article 142 of the Constitution of India, the Supreme Court also said that we have laid out the factors for this, specifically with regards to maintenance and rights of the children.

"It (SC) can invoke special power granted to it under Article 142 of the constitution to grant divorce in such cases to do complete justice," the bench said.

It also held that the Court under the power is empowered to complete justice.

According to Article 142 of the Indian Constitution, this deals with the enforcement of decrees (Order) and orders of the apex court to do "complete justice" in any matter pending before it.

While reserving its verdict in September 29, last year, the five-judge constitution Bench, headed by Justice Sanjay Kishan Kaul, had said that social changes take a "little time" and sometimes it is easier to bring a law but difficult to persuade society to change with it.

The Apex court also comprised of Justices Sanjiv Khanna, A.S. Oka, Vikram Nath and J.K. Maheshwari, as the part of the five-judge Constitution Bench, which pronounced the judgement on a batch of pleas today.

The Top Court also acknowledged the significant role that families play in Indian marriages. The Apex Court had in one of its hearing, had said, "We believe that another question which would require consideration would be whether the power under Article 142 of the Constitution of India is inhibited in any manner in a scenario where there is an irretrievable breakdown of marriage in the opinion of the court but one of the parties is not consenting to the terms."

According to the Ministry of Civil Aviation, "India's domestic air traffic reached a new height with an all-time high on Sunday when a total of 9,13,336 passengers travelled on 5,947 flights".

India's domestic air travel has continued to grow robustly and as of February, it was a mere 2.2 per cent shy of reaching pre-pandemic levels measured by passenger revenue kilometres (PRK).

"The India domestic passenger market also led the rest of the domestic markets in the passenger load factor (PLF) metric in the report which includes the US, China and Japanese domestic markets. It has been the top domestic market measured by PLF for the last four months achieving PLFS of 81.6 per cent in February, 85.2 per cent in January, 88.9 per cent in December 2022, and 87.9 per cent in November 2022," the report stated. In the last IATA report released in February this year, it was said that India's domestic air travel witnessed massive improvement as it hit 85.7 per cent of pre-COVID levels in the year 2022. Recovery in air travel continued in December 2022. The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) data shows that in the year 2022 had seen 12.3 crore domestic flyers which was up from 8.4 crore in 2021 and 6.3 crore in 2020 (flights were suspended due to Covid). CM holds Jan Samvad at Nalvi village in Kurukshetra

BUREAU CHANDIGARH- Haryana Chief Minister, Sh. Manohar Lal, during his visit to Kurukshetra on Monday, held a Jan Samvad at Nalvi village in Kurukshetra. During this, he inquired about their problems. Meanwhile, making a big announcement, the Chief Minister approved an amount of Rs 2 crore for 16 development works to be executed in the village.

The Chief Minister urged all the people present during the programme to share the problems and demands related to the development of their village on the Gram Darshan portal. The information about these demands will be sent to the concerned department and from there the estimates will be prepared, said Sh. Manohar Lal.

The Chief Minister also interacted with the Sarpanches present in the programme. During this, the Sarpanches also raised the demands related to drainage, construction of community centres etc before the Chief Minister and responding to which, he directed the officers to prepare the estimates of the said work at the earliest.

He said that Rs 1 crore has been spent for strengthening the drainage and road network in village Nalvi. An amount of Rs. 53 lakh has been spent for the construction of chaupal and other development works, shared the Chief Minister.

He said that about 32 lakh Ayushman cards have been made for families having income less than Rs 1.80 lakh. About 2024 Ayushman cards have been made in Nalvi village. E-tendering has brought transparency and it is proving very beneficial for the Sarpanches, said Sh. Manohar Lal.

The Chief Minister said that various new public welfare schemes have been started by the state government. The villages have been made Lal Dora free. Not only this, a provision has been made to give ownership rights to those who have owned shops or any property belonging to municipal corporations or municipalities for more than 20 years under the SVAMITVA scheme, said Sh. Manohar Lal.

"We don't believe in offering freebies, rather we aim to make citizens self-reliant. For this several programmes have been run by the government to increase the income of Antyodaya families. Increasing the income of all such families certainly increases the financial condition of the entire family," said the Chief Minister.

He said that families having annual incomes of less than Rs 1 lakh have been identified.

In a press conference held in Jalandhar on Monday, senior leader of Aam Aadmi Party and Agriculture Minister of Punjab Government, Kuldeep Singh Dhaliwal said that SGPC's job is to propagate Sikhism, not to promote any political party. He said that the top leadership of the Akali Dal, for whom SGPC chief Harjinder Singh Dhani is campaigning, has faced serious allegations like sacrilege of Guru Granth Sahib and firing at Sikh Sangat. By propagating such a party, he has hurt the sentiments of the Sikh Sangat. Questioning the SGPC head, he said "Why does he remain silent on the sacrilege of Guru Granth Sahib and the incident of firing on Sikh Sangat in Kotkapura and Behbal Kalan?" Dhaliwal said that he has not spoken anything on this matter till date. He always kept his silence. While both these incidents have hurt the Sikh sangat deeply. He said that the duty of SGPC is to provide religious and social education to the children of Sikh community and to protect Sikh culture. It is quite wrong to use such an organization for political gains. He appealed to the SGPC chief that he should fulfill his responsibility honestly as per the laws of SGPC and should stay away from political activities.

China's policies erasing Tibetan national identity and environment: Penpa Tsering

SANJAY AGGARWAL
DHARAMSHALA, MAY 1

Sikyong Penpa Tsering of the Central Tibetan Administration (CTA) has said that during the Deng Xiaoping era, the hope of Sino-Tibet talks became possible because Tibetan fact-finding delegations and investigative teams visited Tibet and Beijing between 1979-1984. However, by the mid-90s and the end of Deng Xiaoping's leadership, the situation had worsened significantly. China demonstrated a lack of political will to engage and reciprocate many of His Holiness's initiatives to seek dialogue with them. Only in 2002, Beijing expressed a desire to hold talks with representatives of the Dalai Lama. Since then, there have been nine rounds of talks between the Tibetan leadership delegation and the leadership in Beijing. Sikyong Penpa Tsering was speaking on the Tibetan people and their struggle for liberation from oppressive Chinese rule at a webinar titled 72 Years of Chinese Colonial Rule in Tibet, organized by The Democracy Forum in the UK. In his keynote address, he said that Tibet stands as one of the least free countries in the world, having struggled with South Sudan and North Korea over the past 72 years of Chinese colonial rule in Tibet. We are dying a slow death. Our culture is dying a slow death. All the policies and programs of the Chinese government are aimed at destroying the Tibetan national identity and the environment of Tibet. Sikyong commented and expressed regret that the Chinese government deliberately perpetrates such atrocities. He expressed concern about one million Tibetan children being separated from their families and forced assimilation into colonial boarding schools. He denounced the policy as having as much to do with providing education as sinning Tibetan children in pursuit of the One China policy. In an effort to counter this growing Chinese aggression, Penpa Tsering urged the global community not to recognize China's suzerainty over Tibet as China would have it. He said that only the Dalai Lama and the Tibetan people have the right to give this legitimacy. Democracy Forum is a non-profit organization established in 2009 under the patronage of Baroness Nicholson of Winterbourne. Its main goal is to advance democracy, peace and the rule of law to counter religious fundamentalism and intolerance in the global community.

BJP accepts defeat Shimla civic poll: Harish Janartha

DINESH AGARWAL SHIMLA: Municipal Corporation election is clearly visible to the BJP that is why it is trying unsuccessfully to influence the voters by using unethical methods. BJP leaders who have accepted defeat in the elections are carrying liquor in their vehicles and distributing it among the voters. Along with this, BJP is also using money power, but voters are not going to fall under their trap and voters will give a befitting reply to these tactics of BJP in Shimla Municipal Corporation elections. Janartha said that BJP did not contribute in the development of Shimla city when it was in power in Shimla Municipal Corporation. The funds meant for the smart city were misused and Shimla was converted into a concrete and iron jungle to give benefits to favored contractors. There was haphazard construction in the city, which spoiled the natural beauty of the city. Jaundice spread during the BJP tenure, due to which many people lost their lives. He said that the BJP should apologize to the people of the city for all this. MLA said that only Congress party can get Shimla's development done and all the voters should participate in the development of the city by making Congress candidates win. He said that there is a Congress party government in the state and uniform development of the entire state is being done under the leadership of Chief Minister Thakur Sukhwinder Singh Sukhu. India's manufacturing PMI climbs to four-month high of 57.2 in Apr

AGENCY

India's manufacturing PMI (Purchasing Managers' Index) rose to a four-month high of 57.2 in April 2023 on the back of strong growth in new orders, according to a survey released by S&P Global on Monday.

Manufacturing PMI is released by S&P Global every month, it is a barometer of factory activities in the country. While a print below 50 means contraction in activities, a reading above it shows expansion. Economists and policy-watchers closely follow the monthly survey.

India's manufacturing PMI in March had come in at 56.4. "Several PMI indices pointed to more favourable operating conditions across India's manufacturing industry in April. Factory orders and production rose at the strongest rates in 2023 so far, more jobs were created and companies stepped up input purchasing owing to stock-replenishment efforts," said S&P Global which publishes the survey for both manufacturing and services sectors. It noted that there was a record expansion in inventories of inputs in April supported by a lack of pressure on supplier capacity. While the input cost inflation reaccelerated, the latest upturn was mild by historical standards. The survey found that output charges during this period increased at a moderate rate that matched its long-run average.

The survey said that new orders placed with goods producers rose at the quickest pace since last December. Also, the rate of expansion was sharp and above its long-run average.

Pollyanna De Lima, Economics Associate Director at S&P Global Market Intelligence said on the findings, "Reflecting a robust and quicker expansion in new orders, production growth took another step forward in April. Companies also benefited from relatively mild price pressures, better international sales and improving supply-chain conditions."

The capitalist system started exploiting the workers, in such a situation there was dissatisfaction among the workers. In the year 1886, workers under the American Federation of Labor in Chicago started protesting 15 hours of labor. They raised their voice against this system and all the workers went on strike. Many laborers lost their lives in this struggle, but the laborers remained firm towards their struggle and demanded that work should be given only for 8 hours.

In Jalandhar by-elections, there is huge enthusiasm
among voters in favor of BJP candidate Atwal

KULDEEP SOOD
BARNALA, MAY 1

The Congress party has been occupying the Lok Sabha seat in Jalandhar since 1999, but the Congress government could not do any major work. No pity movement in favor of Congress. People are so disturbed by the false promises of the Aam Aadmi Party and the spread of drugs and incidents of hooliganism during its 14-month rule that the bail of the Aam Aadmi Party candidate will be forfeited. While releasing this information to the press, Gurjinder Singh Sidhu, in-charge of Punjab BJP Sainik Cell, gave a press note. Sidhu said that I have visited all the 9 constituencies and in the entire district for the last fortnight I am trying to influence the BJP candidate Inder Iqbal Singh Atwal by contacting about 17 thousand ex-servicemen families.

Constant contact is made with Union Minister Som Prakash to solve the ongoing problem of one rank one pension and the delegation of Punjab Sainik Cell in this regard will be received by the Union Defense Minister Mr. Rajnath Singh Ji and it will be resolved as soon as possible. Sidhu said that the BJP has started a mass campaign with every section to ensure victory in this seat and on May 13, the BJP candidate will win this seat with a big margin. Hundreds of ex-servicemen were present on this occasion.

Democratic slide

Israel has no written Constitution but its Basic Laws allow the Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of Knesset (Parliament) legislations. Israel is, according to the Basic Laws, a “Jewish and democratic state” in which “the Jewish people have a unique right to self-determination.” It is, therefore, preferentially democratic, because about 22% of Israel’s population is Arab but they have no equal rights, whereas true democracy requires equality.

Israel’s founding fathers decided against a written Constitution because of this contradiction between a Jewish State and a democratic one. The latest coalition of Benjamin Netanyahu’s Likud plus religious (Bezalel Smotrich’s Religious Zionists) and nationalist (Itamar Ben-Gvir’s Jewish Power) parties results in the most right-wing regime in Israel’s 75 years, and the ultra-nationalists wish to take the preferential State to its logical conclusion — reforming the law so that Israel’s Basic Laws would be beyond the reach of the courts, annexing the West Bank and East Jerusalem, and expelling Arabs who do not agree to be reduced to second-class citizens.

Netanyahu, prime minister for the sixth time after elections last December, seeks to reform the Israeli Supreme Court for reasons curiously similar to the debate now current in India, calling the judiciary a self-selecting club, stating, “judges in Israel have a veto over the selection of other judges” — except that he is personally involved as a person indicted for breach of trust, bribery and fraud and his criminal trial process is ongoing. The proposed reforms envisage shifting judicial appointments from the present nine-member body made up of representatives of government, Parliament, Bar and bench into the exclusive hands of politicians who would strip the Supreme Court of power to strike down legislation that they regard as unconstitutional. If passed, the ultra-nationalist coalition could bypass all the legal safeguards for the Arabs with more extensive arbitrary arrests, killings, and house demolitions.

Netanyahu is now caught between his far-right policies and public anger over the reform plan. Military and business leaders oppose the government, along with most of the media and the academia. Thousands of military reservists refused to report for duty, causing Netanyahu to dismiss the defence minister, Yoav Gallant. The national labour federation, Histadrut, called for a general strike and swelled the protesting number of mainly Sephardic and Ashkenazi, middle-class, non-religious Jews. Netanyahu, confronted with massive demonstrations against a background of Israeli air strikes in southern Lebanon.

India is fast emerging as a key global aviation market, according to the latest market analysis report of the International Air Transport Association (ATA).

India’s domestic air travel has continued to grow robustly and as of February, it was a mere 2.2 per cent shy of reaching pre-pandemic levels measured by passenger revenue kilometres (PRK).

The India domestic passenger market also led the rest of the domestic markets in the passenger load factor (PLF) metric in the report which includes the US, China and Japanese domestic markets. It has been the top domestic market measured by PLF for the last four months achieving PLFs of 81.6 per cent in February, 85.2 per cent in January, 88.9 per cent in December 2022, and 87.9 per cent in November 2022.

Globally, traffic is now at 84.9 per cent of February 2019 levels. Total traffic in February 2023, based on RPKs, rose 55.5 per cent compared to February 2022.

The report added, “Asia-Pacific airlines had a 378.7 per cent increase in February 2023 traffic compared to February 2022, maintaining the very positive momentum of the past few months since the lifting of travel restrictions in the region. Capacity rose 176.4 per cent and the load factor increased 34.9 percentage points to 82.5 per cent, the second highest among the regions.”

Domestic air passenger traffic for all markets measured for February rose 25.2 per cent compared to one year ago. Total February 2023 domestic traffic was at 97.2 per cent of the February 2019 level.

At the moment, it is estimated that only about 35 to 40 million Indians travel by air every year. Although World Bank data shows that pre-COVID India had about 168 million air transport passengers, many are repeat flyers. This is much lower than China, which has a similar population and has 660 million air transport passengers during the same period in 2019. Chinese airlines also have about five times as many planes.

With a rapidly growing middle class and rising incomes, together with the right encouragement including lower airfares, many, including airline companies, are expecting India to become the fastest-growing aviation market for years to come. Swiss airline intelligence provider, ch-aviation reported in March this year that French Finance Minister Bruno Le Maire said that IndiGo Airlines could announce an order for “several hundred” Airbus aircraft at the Paris Air Show to be held at Paris Le Bourget Airport in June.

IndiGo, the largest airline in India has over 300 aircraft and currently provides over 35 per cent of all the available seat kilometres on flights in and out of India’s airports. Measured by flight frequencies, IndiGo provides almost 48 per cent of all flights across India’s international and domestic markets.

Just in February, competitor Air India announced a world record order of 470 aircraft - 250 planes from European manufacturer Airbus and 220 from its US rival Boeing. The deal beats a 2017 order by IndiGo for 420 planes, and an order by American Airlines for 460 planes in 2011.

Besides aircraft manufacturers, foreign Airlines are also eyeing the Indian aviation market.

Singapore Airlines is one of them. Following the takeover of Air India by Tata Sons, it announced a USD267 million investment into the revamped airline giving it a 25.1 per cent stake in the new Air India group. This adds to the money it has already put into Vistara Airlines which is to be merged with Air India.

SIA released a statement during the announcement which said, “The merged entity will be four to five times larger in scale compared to Vistara, with a strong presence in all key airline segments in India. The proposed merger will bolster SIA’s presence in India, strengthen its multi-hub strategy, and allow it to continue participating directly in this large and fast-growing aviation market.” Etihad Airways under new CEO Antonaldo Neves is another airline that is planning to expand its presence in the India aviation market.

In an interview with Reuters published on April 27, the former CEO of TAP Air Portugal said that: “Etihad has India as a priority.” He added that the country is among its top three markets but declined to name the other two. Etihad, which flies to places like Delhi and Mumbai, has identified six other Indian cities it does not serve but wants to launch flights to, he said. He also announced plans for Etihad to double its fleet to 150 planes and triple its passenger number to 30 million annually by the end of the decade. The expansion plans of the Middle Eastern airline will focus on medium and long-haul destinations, and the airline will avoid operating ultra-long-haul flights, where it can be tough to make money. Neves explained that the goal will be connecting places like China, Southeast Asia, India, and Gulf countries, with Europe and the East Coast of the United States.

Neves said that he expects Etihad’s growth to be organic relying on more code sharing and interline agreements. It will not look at mergers or equity partnerships as it had done in the past. It once had a stake in the now-defunct Jet Airways.

Abu Dhabi’s sovereign wealth fund ADQ took full control of Etihad last October and appointed Neves who had previously led a turnaround at Portugal’s TAP.

Whereas in the past, Etihad was seemingly willing to grow at any cost, this is set to change. Neves emphasises that growth will only be possible with profitability, especially as the airline is now owned by ADQ.

From a reader's desk

I am writing to express my appreciation for the Punjab Government’s decision to change office timings from 7.30 AM to 2.00 PM, aimed at reducing electricity consumption. This decision is a positive step towards reducing carbon footprint and protecting our environment. The use of electricity is increasing day by day due to the widespread use of air conditioners, refrigerators and other electrical appliances.

The government’s decision to advance and reduce office hours will not only save on electricity consumption but also help reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The decision is commendable as it shows that the government is committed to taking proactive measures towards conserving electricity.

The increasing population and industrialization have resulted in a rise in pollution levels, severely affecting our environment. While lauding the government’s efforts towards reducing electricity consumption, I would like to suggest broader measures, such as implementing a complete ban on air conditioners during new office hours.

Residents of the state must also be advised to reduce the use of air conditioners during mornings and evenings, which are still naturally cool and breezy. It is imperative that we all take responsibility and do our bit towards protecting the environment. It is time for us to realize that we are not the owners of the Earth; we are caretakers, and we must protect it for future generations. We cannot afford to be selfish and self-centered. We should minimize the use of unnecessary electronic devices and use natural resources of light instead. By taking small steps in our daily lives, we can make a significant impact on the environment.

We should all work together towards making the world a better and safer place to live in, and pledge to conserve energy and protect the environment. In conclusion, let us acknowledge and support the Punjab Government’s decision towards saving electricity consumption while also encouraging everyone to take responsibility for the protection of the environment. The Earth deserves the best from us.

Ocean of Forms

I dive down into the depth of the ocean of forms, hoping to gain the perfect pearl of the formless. No more sailing from harbor to harbor with this my weather-beaten boat. The days are long passed when my sport was to be tossed on waves. And now I am eager to die into the deathless. Into the audience hall by the fathomless abyss where swells up the music of toneless strings I shall take this harp of my life.

Fitness levels can reduce death risk from cardiovascular disease in men

Being healthy may reduce the chance of dying from cardiovascular disease in men with high blood pressure. This finding is the result of a 29-year investigation. The study’s findings were published today in the European Journal of Preventive Cardiology, an ESC journal.

“This was the first study to evaluate the joint effects of fitness and blood pressure on the risk of dying from cardiovascular disease,” study author Professor Jari Laukkanen of the University of Eastern Finland in Kuopio, Finland, said. “The findings suggest that physical activity may help avoid some of the negative effects of high blood pressure.”

Around 1.3 billion persons between the ages of 30 and 79 suffer from hypertension or high blood pressure. Globally, hypertension is one of the main causes of premature death and a significant risk factor for heart attacks and strokes. High levels of cardiorespiratory fitness have been associated with longer lifespans, according to previous studies. This study looked at the relationship between blood pressure, fitness, and the risk of cardiovascular death.

The study included 2,280 men aged 42 to 61 years living in eastern Finland and enrolled in the Kuopio Ischaemic Heart Disease Risk Factor Study. Baseline measurements were conducted between 1984 and 1989. These included blood pressure and cardiorespiratory fitness, which was assessed as maximal oxygen uptake while riding a stationary bicycle. Blood pressure was classified as normal or high, and fitness was classified as low, medium or high.

The average age at baseline was 53 years. Participants were followed up until 2018. During a median follow-up of 29 years, there were 644 deaths due to cardiovascular disease. The risk of death from cardiovascular disease was analysed after adjusting for age, body mass index, cholesterol levels, smoking status, type 2 diabetes, coronary heart disease, use of antihypertensive medication, alcohol consumption, physical activity, socioeconomic status, and high sensitivity C-reactive protein (a marker of inflammation). Considering blood pressure alone, compared to normal values, high blood pressure was associated with a 39 per cent increased risk of cardiovascular mortality (hazard ratio [HR] 1.39; 95 per cent confidence interval [CI] 1.17-1.63). Considering fitness alone, compared with high levels, low fitness was associated with a 74 per cent elevated likelihood of cardiovascular death (HR 1.74; 95 per cent CI 1.35-2.23).

To evaluate the joint associations of blood pressure and fitness with the risk of cardiovascular death, participants were categorised into four groups: 1) normal blood pressure and high fitness (this was the reference group for comparison); 2) normal blood pressure and low fitness; 3) high blood pressure and high fitness; 4) high blood pressure and low fitness.

Men with high blood pressure and low fitness had a more than doubled risk of cardiovascular death compared to those with normal blood pressure and high fitness (HR 2.35; 95% CI 1.81-3.04). When men with high blood pressure had high fitness levels, their elevated risk of cardiovascular risk persisted but was weaker: it was 55% higher than those with normal blood pressure and high fitness (HR 1.55; 95% CI 1.16-2.07).

Professor Laukkanen said: “Both high blood pressure and low fitness levels were each associated with an increased risk of cardiovascular death. High fitness levels attenuated, but did not eliminate, the increased risk of cardiovascular mortality in men with elevated blood pressure.”

Natural ways to get rid of cough and cold

Common cold when accompanied with cough and a sore throat can be really annoying. After all, who likes working with a blocked or runny nose, an irritated throat or even a mild temperature? While prescribed medication can help reduce the flu symptoms, they often cause drowsiness, and other such side effects, moreover taking about seven days to completely resolve. So, instead of loading on medicines and syrups, here are some all-natural and grandma-approved home remedies to help you have a speedy recovery.

Herbal teas to treat cough and cold

After you have caught a cold or fever, it's essential to keep yourself hydrated. Make sure you drink at least 8 to 10 glasses of water or other fluids daily. Liquids will help flush out the toxins from your body, helping you hit the road of recovery much sooner. You can also sip on some freshly prepared fruit juices, or simply add a dash of honey and lemon juice to your water. Here are some alternative herbal teas that you can brew to help clear the mucus, soothe your sore throat and provide comfort.

Black pepper tea

Add one teaspoon of freshly ground black pepper in a cup, two tablespoons of honey and some boiling hot water to it. Keep it covered for about 15 minutes, strain and then sip. Black pepper helps stimulate blood circulation and reduce the flow of mucus. Honey, on the other hand, is a natural cough suppressant and antibiotic.

Holy Basil (Tulsi) Boil about six to seven fresh tulsi leaves with one to two teaspoons of powdered cardamom and some crushed pieces of ginger in half-litre of water. On a low flame, let it reduce to half its total volume. If required, add a tablespoon of honey or sugar to it and sip every two to three hours. Tulsi is known to increase the body's immunity level and can also help cure any fever

Lemon and ginger tea

Squeeze out the juice from one medium-sized lemon and add it along with ginger slices, honey in hot water and sip when still hot. Have this concoction about two to three times daily. The pungent ginger helps clear congestion and soothes irritated nasal passages, providing immediate relief. While on the other hand, lemon is enriched with vitamin C, which helps restore your body's energy levels.

Liquorice root tea

In a mug, add about two big tablespoons of dried liquorice root and pour in some hot water. Let it steep for 15 to 20 minutes and then drink the concoction twice daily. Liquorice root acts like an expectorant and demulcent, helping soothe your airways whilst loosening and thinning mucus, easing congestion and inflammation.

Thyme tea

Add two tablespoons of lightly ground dried thyme in a glass and over it pour some boiling hot water. After letting it steep for 15 minutes, enjoy this brew thrice daily. You can also add half-a-tablespoon honey and/or one tablespoon of lemon juice for added flavor. Thyme relaxes the muscles of the trachea and bronchi, opening up the airways, providing relief.

Eat your way to good health

An increased production of mucus in the body and cough, contributes to severe dehydration, thereby making it important to regulate your diet in order to retain your body's nutrition levels. Ensure that you add fresh fruits and vegetables to your daily diet. While at it, also try to balance your diet with whole grains and cereals, which too are known to be valuable sources of nutrition. Here's a list of foods and fruits that you can reach out for to reduce the impact of cold and cough. If possible, try to eat some of these fruits and/or vegetables raw as cooking or frying strips them of their nutritive qualities.

Premature baby girl with multiple conditions gets a new lease of life at Max Hospital

L K BANSAL

MOHALI: A 25 weeks premature baby girl weighing 1200 gram, got a new lease of life after a successful treatment at Max Hospital, Mohali. Giving information, Dr. Manu Sharma paediatrician and neonatologist at Max Hospital, Mohali said that due to premature birth, her condition deteriorated due to various issues. She had numerous issues as she was barely breathing, had pneumonia and sepsis in short and was in danger of not surviving. Baby was promptly transferred to NICU, under an intensive care team that provides highly specialized care to such babies who are prematurely born, he informed . Baby was developing acute kidney injury and could not breathe without a ventilator. The ultrasound of the baby's mother who had already lost a 17-day baby earlier revealed that at 23 weeks into her pregnancy, her cervix was open and her baby could come out at any time. Extra time was crucial for survival of her precious baby, and she was hospitalized with the hope that she and her baby could delay the birth. But the bleeding didn't stop even after 24 hours of hospital stay. So an emergency C-section was planned, Dr Manu said. Dr Manu Sharma further informed that the baby had multiple bruises and discoloration and we feared that she was not going to survive more than a few hours. She was in acute respiratory failure and had very low oxygen levels in her blood.

The baby was on a special ventilator high frequency oscillator that provides 100% oxygen supplementation. As the baby was not able to maintain oxygenation, she was in septic shock, which dropped her blood pressure and to worsen these investigations revealed low platelet count and deranged INR (tendency of blood to clot) along with She developed acute kidney failure as well as severe anemia. She also developed lung infection on top of having premature lungs. The neonatal-perinatal team tried every support available to keep her baby alive and fortunately after 2 months they were able to bring her oxygen to a normal range.

Baby was placed on multiple medications to bring blood pressure up so that her heart did not stop beating and was placed on broad spectrum antibiotics to treat gram negative bacterial sepsis and pneumonia. She also received multiple blood products for days, informed Dr Manu.

Tier 2 & 3 cities ready to flex their realty muscles: experts

CHANDIGARH, May 1: India's real estate development has been experiencing a boom in the major cities and tier 2 and 3 cities. The growth in these cities can be attributed to infrastructure development, such as new roads, rail, and rapid rail transport, which have improved connectivity. Additionally, the rise of realty prices in the cities has pushed development to tier 2 and 3 cities where affordable spaces are in demand. The pandemic has also led to a change in the mindset, and the desire to stay as close to their hometown as possible has become an important consideration. This shift has created a need for small and affordable spaces in these cities. LC Mittal, Director Motia Group says, commercial real estate is booming not just in metro cities but in tier 2 & 3 cities as well. Commercial development in these cities has never had it so good. The push towards creating new road and rail connectivity is also contributing to this. At the same time, the trend towards entrepreneurship and the consequent need for spaces at affordable rates also acted as catalysts and led to the prominence of tier 2 and 3 cities. According to Tejpreet Gill, MD, Gilco Group the large corporations and industrial houses have also bet big on tier 2 and 3 cities for affordable infrastructure, office spaces, warehouses, co-working, retail, and more. The government has been steering efforts to boost infrastructure development across these cities, and many states are working to incentivise manufacturing in key tier 2 cities as part of the Make in India program. Moreover, the Union Budget 2023-24 announced the creation of an Urban Infrastructure Development Fund (UIDF) managed by the National Housing Bank. The fund will be used by public agencies to create urban infrastructure across tier 2 and tier 3 cities in the country. India's real estate sector is spreading its wings beyond major cities. The saturation in the real estate sector in metro cities and the growing economic significance of smaller towns have been the primary reasons for the growth of the real estate sector in these cities over the past few years.

Also, with the opening of new medical colleges in all the districts, about 3000 MBBS seats will be available for health services across the state, informed Sh. Manohar Lal.

Kangana reacts to Salman Khan receiving death threat

Actor Kangana Ranaut on Sunday reacted to Salman Khan receiving death threats, saying that the country is in the safe hands of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah and therefore there is nothing to fear about security.

She said, “We are actors. Salman Khan has been provided with security by the Centre. He is getting protection from Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah, then there is nothing to fear.”

“When I was threatened, I was also given security by the government, today the country is in safe hands. We have nothing to worry about,” she added.

Ranaut visited Haridwar on Sunday and performed Ganga Aarti. She would also be visiting Kedarnath Dham after this.

The actor said, “I always wanted to visit Kedarnath Dham and finally that is happening.”

Salman Khan has been provided with Y+ category security by the Mumbai Police amid the death threat.

On Saturday, Salman shared his experience and how he is dealing with it at India TV’s show ‘Aap Ki Adalat’ that, “Security is better than insecurity. Yes security is there. Now it is not possible to ride a bicycle on the road and go alone anywhere.

And more than that, now I have this problem that when I am in traffic, then there is so much security, vehicles creating inconvenience to other people. They also give me a look. And my poor fans. There is a serious threat that’s why there is security.”

He added, “I am doing whatever I have been told. There is a dialogue ‘Kisi Ka Bhai Kisi Ki Jaan’ ‘they have to be lucky 100 times, I have to be lucky once’. So, I got to be very careful.”

Salman continued, “I am going everywhere with full security. I know whatever is going to happen will happen no matter what you do. I believe that (points towards god) that he is there. It is not that I will start roaming freely, it is not like that. Now there are so many Shera’s around me, so many guns are going around with me that I am myself scared these days.”

Following the death threat, few days ago, a minor was arrested by Mumbai Police for allegedly threatening to kill Salman.
