SHASHI PAL JAIN CHANDIGARH, FEB 14

Puniab Agricultural and Farmers Welfare Minister S. Gurmeet Singh Khudian, on Wednesday, launched a scathing attack at the Centre Government led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, accusing it of turning a blind eye to the demands and pressing issues faced by agrarian communities across the country. He also strongly condemned the BJP governments' apathy towards ongoing farmer protests, terming it disrespectful and undemocratic. In a press communiqué issued here, S. Gurmeet Singh Khudian criticised the union government for failing to deliver on crucial promises made to farmers, including doubling their incomes, legal guarantees of the MSP to ensure all produces are procured at the Swaminathan formula and loan waiver. He also urged the Union government to immediately address the farmers' concerns, implement promised reforms, and prioritise their well-being for the nation's food security and rural prosperity. An immediate action is imperative to avert further crisis, he added.

Lashing out the BJP led Haryana Government for using police as a tool to stop the peaceful march of farmers to the National capital for their legitimate demands, the Agriculture Minister said that the Farmers are the backbone of our nation, and their despair reflects poorly on the Union government's commitment to agriculture and rural development. "Farmers are citizens of the country, who have brought green revolution and brim the food stocks of the country. They don't need to prove them as nationalists and they have every right to hold peaceful protest to raise their genuine demands in the democratic country," he added. "The BJP government has conveniently forgotten its promises to farmers and left them grappling with immense challenges. This blatant disregard is unacceptable and unsustainable," stated S. Gurmeet Singh Khudian.

Highlighting the plight of farmers, he said that the 'Annadata' of the nation is struggling with rising input costs, volatile market prices, and inadequate support from the union government is threatening their livelihoods and jeopardising the agricultural sector. S. Gurmeet Singh Khudian said that Chief Minister S. Bhagwant Singh Mann led Punjab Government stands firmly by its farmers. He also urged Haryana Government to stop giving step-motherly treatment to the farmers.

Paramjit Singh Gill, senior leader of Lok Sabha constituency Gurdaspur and national vice president of Himalaya Parivar Organization, said that Punjab is a place where there is hardly any festival on which some brave man is not martyred for the

The mind of nayak Haqiqat Roy was greatly in-fluenced by listening to the testimonies of the Gurus and especially the martyrdom of the Sahibzadas. Gill told that according to the custom of that time, Haqiqat Rai also used to go to the Maulvi in the mosque to learn Arabic-Persian. Most of the students studying with him were Muslims who used to harass him Pest infestation remains an ongoing challenge for farmers affecting their productivity and profitability. It poses a persistent threat to crop yields and quality.

Amongst many pests, aphids stand out as tiny, sap-sucking insects wreaking havoc on crops by spreading viral diseases. These pests compromise plant health, resulting in twisted and curled leaves. yellowed foliage, stunted growth, and even the demise of shoots. The prevalence of aphids in India has increased due to several factors, including favorable climatic conditions, intensive agricultural practices, and the widespread use of nitrogenous fertilizers. These factors create an environment conducive to aphid proliferation, making them a persistent threat to Indian farmers

Best practices for protecting crops

from Aphid Infestation

Aphids, typically ranging from 1 to 4mm in length, exhibit diverse colors, including green, red, brown, black, yellow, or white. Mature aphids may possess wings, while nymphs resemble smaller versions of adults.

Aphids typically reside on the undersides of leaves, where they attach their mouthparts to the plant and extract sap. This feeding process not only damages the plant's tissues but also weakens its overall health.

Once aphids have been identified, farmers can implement a range of strategies to manage their populations. These strategies include:

Balanced Fertilization: Apply the recommended dosage of fertilizers. Caution should be exercised with nitrogenous fertilizers, as higher doses can make oilseed Brassica crops more susceptible to aphids.

Natural Predators: Encourage natural enemies of aphids, such as lady beetles, lacewings, syrphid fly larvae, and parasitic wasps. Utilize safe chemistry pesticides that do not harm beneficial insects.

Weed and Debris Management: Clear weeds and debris, as they serve as hiding places for aphids and other pests Companion Plants: Interplant with companion plants like marigolds and lavender to naturally deter aphids and protect your garden. Water Stream Application: Use a strong stream of water to dislodge aphids from plants

Anil Vij lashes out at Punjab govt notice

MANISH KUMAR AMBALA, FEB 14

Haryana Home and Health Minister Anil Vij has expressed surprise at the attitude of the Punjab government on the issue of farmers and said that "he is very surprised that the Punjab government has issued a notice that "do not send drones to our border", was India became Pakistan. If someone runs away to Punjab after killing their policemen, They cannot go after him and catch him. While talking to journalists, Vij said, "When this group (farmers) started from Amritsar, the Punjab government did not try to stop them even at a single place on the way." What does this means- is that they want to terrorize Delhi, do they want to be humiliated again by dancing at the Red Fort of Delhi?

At the same time, on the farmers gathered at the Shambhu border, Home Minister Anil Vij said that the farmers say that they have gone to Delhi. Mr Vij raised questions- why have they gone to Delhi, with whom they have to talk in Delhi, when all those ministers and officials came to Chandigarh and discussed the matter with them. Therefore their motive was something else.

Meanwhile, regarding the stone pelting between farmers and police on Tuesday, Home Minister Anil Vij said that a DSP and 25 police personnel of Haryana Police have been injured and a senior journalist of Aaj Tak news channel has also been injured. The Congress has not done anything in ten years now it was not right to make statements just to provoke said Mr Vij. Regarding Rahul Gandhi's statement that farmers would be guaranteed MSP if his coalition government was formed, Home Minister Anil Vij made a sharp attack by saying that the MSP report had come in 2004, when Congress was in power and it remained for ten years. Then why didn't his party do it? It was not its right to make such statements just to provoke.

he world appears to be turning politically right-wards. Liberal intellectuals and mainstream media call the extreme-right-wing regimes that are coming up in some countries, and waiting in the wings in others, 'right-wing populist': but this description is misleading. These regimes are better described as 'neofascist': they resemble the fascist regimes of the 1930s, but differ in one crucial respect which justifies the prefix, 'neo'

These regimes have certain common features: they are repressive towards working people, radical intelligentsia and all dissenters; they foment hatred against the 'Other' — typically some hapless religious or ethnic minority; they combine State repression of opponents with street thuggery by their followers; their self-professed objective is setting up anti-democratic regimes; and they invert the relationship between the people and the 'leader' that conceptually underlies democracy by making the 'leader' the fountainhead of all authority. They also share two other crucial fascist traits: a close link with the monopoly bourgeoisie and an even closer link with a new stratum within this class.

The link between monopoly capital and fascism is well-known: the economist, Michal Kalecki, had called these regimes a partnership between "big business and fascist upstarts". Less well-known perhaps is fascism's special link to a newly-emerging stratum of monopoly capital. The anarchist writer, Daniel Guérin, in his Fascism and Big Business had narrated how, distinct from the established big bourgeoisie in Germany located in older sectors like textiles, a new stratum of monopolists was coming up in armaments and steel with whom the Nazis were particularly close; and in Japan, the link between the military-fascist regime and the new Shinko zaibatsu, which included Nissan and was located in armaments and military-related activities, distinct from the old zaibatsu like Mitsui and Sumitomo, is well-established Contemporary neofascism, while solicitous towards monopoly capital in general, also enjoys close proximity with this new emerging stratum within it. India today provides a classic example of this. The term, 'right-wing populist', glosses over these facts and says nothing about the class nature of such regimes. Regimes so described, with the suggestion that they pit the people against the elite, actually enjoy extremely close relations with the super-elite class of monopoly capitalists.

Fascist groups exist in all modern societies, usually as fringe elements; they come centre-stage only with financial and media support of monopoly capital when it finds it necessary to have an alliance with such elements.

Uyghur genocide continues in Xinjiang licia Kearns, a UK lawmaker in the House of Commons, re-cently shared her concerns on social media regarding the ongoing suppression and genocide of the Uyghur Muslim community in Xinjiang, China.

While chairing a foreign committee meeting in the UK, Kearns recently heard the personal experiences of Yalkun Ūluyol, an exiled Uyghur rights activist, who shared the atrocities faced by his relatives in China

Taking the matter to X, Alicia Kearns mentioned that "@YalkunUluyol shared his story, and that of his family, with the Foreign Affairs Committee. It is a heartbreaking insight into the reality faced by the #Uyghur people, one of loss, forced separation, grief, and the ache of the unknown. Genocide is taking place in #Xinjiang".

During the foreign affairs meeting, Uluyol said, that his last visit to his hometown in China was in 2016. as he could not revisit because of mass detentions. The Uyghur rights activist further mentions that "the first member of my Uyghur family who was taken for re-education was taken in September 2016. Further my father disappeared in June 2018"

"In 2020 was able to trace my father to a re-education camp built in my hometown. He was labelled untrustworthy for having relatives abroad. I had no communication with my family back home. So it took me 2 years to trace my father

While spotlighting the strict security protocol forced on the Uyghur community, Uluyol mentioned that "the day I got married, I had shared some photos of myself on a Chinese social media, to share my happiness with my relatives back home. This had resulted in the forceful interrogation of all my relatives back home".He further added that the UK government in April 2021 had voted that China had been people and that same year the foreign affairs committee held its first inquiry. And since then nothing has changed towards the positive.

Narrating another incident of atrocities inflicted by the Chinese authorities on his relatives even abroad, the Uyghur rights activist added. "Another time when I had shared a photo of my daughter on the Chinese social media. It resulted in police intimidation of my in-laws abroad. Further, I came to know tenced to 16 years of prison, for no reason. Just like my uncle Ahmed Yakub who was sentenced a lifetime imprisonment.'

The Uyghur rights activist further took names of several of his relatives, intellectuals, and other ordinary people who have been sentenced to several years in prison. He further mentioned that some of his relatives and friends back in Xiniiang were sent to production facilities as a condition of release, and some of the captured were released but were kept under strict surveillance. Yalkun Uluyol mentioned that her daughter had passed away recently. But, he does not even know that his father even knew that he had a granddaughter. While giving the conclusion of atrocities that he and his people back home have to bear at the hands of Chinese authorities Uluvol said that "this is just my storyline of witnessing the milestones of worsening conditions in the region.

ourage!" he said, and pointed toward the land, "This mounting wave will roll us shoreward soon." In the afternoon they came unto a land In which it seemed always afternoon.

A new study to be presented at the Society for Maternal-Fetal Medicine's (SMFM) annual meeting, The Pregnancy Meeting, suggested that pregnancy-problems">pregnancy problems may lead to poor cardiovascular health for the kid.

The findings were published in the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

In a secondary analysis of 3,317 maternal-child pairings from the prospective Hyperglycemia and Adverse Pregnancy Outcome Follow-up Study (HAPO FUS), researchers examined whether there was a connection between hypertensive disorders of pregnancy and gestational diabetes and a child's cardiovascular health.

On the maternal side, 8 per cent de veloped high blood pressure during pregnancy, 12 per cent developed gestational diabetes, and 3 per cent developed both high blood pressure and diabetes.

Researchers then examined the child's cardiovascular health 10 to 14 years after delivery. Cardiovascular health was evaluated based on four metrics: body mass index, blood pressure, total cholesterol, and glucose level. Pediatric guidelines categorized each metric as ideal, intermediate, or poor.

Researchers found that before the age of 12 (median age: 11.6), more than half of the children (55.5 per cent) had at least one metric that was non-ideal, which puts them at greater risk of heart disease and stroke. "These findings are important because traditionally, the thinking has been that a person's risk of developing cardiovascular disease starts after birth -- that everyone starts at the same point," said the study's lead author Kartik K. Venkatesh, MD, PhD, a maternal-fetal medicine subspecialist and assistant professor of obstetrics and gynaecology and assistant professor of epidemiology.

ndia is now planning to go for developing an indigenous power plant for Arjun Mark 1A tanks as the German engines used for powering the indigenous tanks are likely to be delayed by around four years.

"The German engine manufacturers have communicated that they would require around 48 months to restart the production of the engines used by the Arjun Mark 1A tanks to be used by the Indian Army for deployment mainly in the desert sector," de fence sources told a news agency.

The agencies concerned are now trying to use the period of delay in the project to de velop an indigenous engine that can be used for powering the Ariun Matk1As, they said.

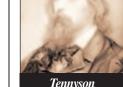

There are a few engines that are already with the development agencies and they would be used to produce the initial tanks for the 118 tank order placed by the Defence

Ministry. In 2021, the defence ministry placed an order worth Rs 7,523 crore with Heavy Vehicles Factory, Avadi, for 118 locally made Arjun Mk-1A tanks,

The Indian plans to develop a light tank also faced minor delays due to delays in the supply of engines from Germany, forcing Larsen and Toubro and the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) to go for an American Cummins engine.

"Indian agencies concerned have already started working on developing an engine for a futuristic main battle tank. The same engine may be utilised for the Ariun Mark 1A project but will need certain modifications and changes," the officials said.

The Arjun Mk-1A is an upgraded version of the Arjun Mk-1 main battle tank (MBT) currently in army service.

Crypto assets and money laundering law

he Union finance ministry issued a gazette notification on 7 March 2023, mandating that crypto exchanges and intermediaries dealing with virtual digital assets (VDA) must perform KYC of their clients and users of the platform. Additionally, they must report suspicious activity to the Financial Intelligence Unit India.

Extending India's money laundering rules to cryptocurrencies will give authorities greater authority in monitoring the transfer of these assets beyond the country's borders.

The government administration, as part of its leadership of the G-20 forum, has been pushing for a wider global agreement on dealing with the risks brought on by cryptocurrencies.

The notification classifies entities dealing in VDA as "reporting entities" under PMLA, which means that they will be required to maintain a record of all transactions, including cash transactions exceeding INR 10 lakh, for at least five years. Furthermore, they must maintain a record of all series of cash transactions integrally connected to each other, where such series of transactions have taken place within a month and the monthly aggregate exceeds INR 10 lakh

The inclusion of crypto exchanges and intermediaries as reporting entities under PMLA will require them to maintain records of all transactions and report any suspicious activities.

The crypto exchanges would also have to step up the scrutiny of a user if the said user has made transactions that might be considered suspicious or are likely to involve proceeds of crime. Crypto exchanges would be required to store the information gathered from the transaction parties for up to five years after the transaction has been completed. The move also empowers the government to access the information stored by crypto exchanges at any point in time.

The measure is expected to aid investigative agencies in carrying out their actions against crypto companies, with the Enforcement Directorate and Income Tax Department already probing several such cases against companies running cryptocurrency exchanges and transactions.

Farmers' movement to remind govt of its promises: Goraya

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA KARNAL, FEBRUARY 14

Leading farmer and senior Congress party leader Inderjit Singh Goraya said that after thirteen months of penance on the streets of Delhi and the sacrifice of hundreds of farmers, he had won the movement and got his demands met from the Central Government. At the time of the end of the movement, the government did not implement the terms and conditions that were agreed between the government and the farmers, due to which the farmers have to fight the movement again. The Modi government at the Centre is completely responsible for the current tension between the government and the farmers. According to the terms of the agreement, the government took back all three black laws, but till date the government has not accepted the other conditions like making a law with the farmers on minimum support price, which is considered tem.

betrayal in a democratic sys-Inderjit Go-raya said that now when the farmers are agitating in protest against the promises of the government, the government is not able to tolerate this, the cycle of repression that the government has started against the farmers who have been agitating for the last two-three days. We strongly condemn this and we also request the government to make a law in time as per the promise made on minimum support price.

BJP government policy is anti-farmers: Malaur

MANISH KUMAR AMBALA, FEB 14

Former MLA and State Committee Congress member Jasbir Malaur said that the thinking of the BJP government has been antifarmer since the beginning. Farmers wanted to go to Delhi and expressed their views in a peaceful manner, but the BJP government of Haryana and the Center have converted the entire state into India-Pakistan border. Like enemies, the farmers who provided food to the country were being attacked with tear gas and bullets. The former MLA said that by breaking the promise to the farmers on MSP, the government itself forced them to agitate. Now it was working with a dictatorial mindset to suppress the farmers' movement. Farmers were in favor of getting their demands fulfilled through negotiations but government ministers were not ready to talk on the issue of MSP. Along with the Centre, the Chief Minister of Haryana was also making statements with the intention of spoiling the atmosphere by provoking the farmers. He has demanded from the Central Government to accept the demands of the farmers and showed seriousness towards ending the farmers' movement. Malaur said that Congress has decided to ensure guarantee of MSP to every farmer as per the recommendations of the Swaminathan Commission on crops.
