KULWINDER KARWAL
SARDULGARH, MAR 28

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) president Sukhbir Singh Badal today said in the forthcoming Lok Sabha elections the choice before Punjabis was between those who had always lived and worked amidst them versus outsiders who only came to Punjab to loot and exploit. The SAD president, who toured Sardulgarh and Talwandi Sabo constituencies as part of the Punjab Bachao Yatra along with senior leaders Balwinder Singh Bhundarh and Harsimrat Kaur Badal, said "it is a choice between apne and prayee". He said the SAD was "apne ghar di party" even as he accused the Delhi based parties of always indulging in conspiracies to create a wedge of misunderstandings between the Punjabis and their own social, religious and political "fauj"- the SAD. "This conspiracy, which was underway since the last two years now, stands fully exposed and Punjabis were ready to shun the 'jhadoo', 'khooni panja' and 'kamal da phul' and repose their faith in the 'takdi'", Bathinda MP Harsimrat Kaur Badal said "once Punjabis decide to repose faith in the SAD all efforts to pit Punjabis against Punjabis by Delhi based parties would fail". The Yatra received a massive response in both constituencies with people coming out in hundreds at all village stops besides 'bazaars' even as hundreds of vehicles including tractors, jeeps, cars and motorcycles accompanied the Yatra. People came up to Mr Sukhbir Badal and gave instances of how they were facing huge power bills and deletion of their social welfare benefits including aata-daal cards and old age pension cards. Horse breeders also approached the SAD president and pointed out that "Pashu Melas" started by the erstwhile SAD government had been discontinued. Mr Badal assured them that the SAD was committed to not only restart animal fairs but also encourage Marwari horse racing. Asserting that the SAD was committed to maintaining the Panthic as well as regional character of the party, Mr Sukhbir Badal said "we have a glorious heritage of safeguarding the Panth as well as the aspirations of Punjabis. Unlike Delhi based parties, who can sacrifice anything for political motives, the SAD can never compromise on its core values and principles. This is why we did not get into any power game and chose to stand with Punjabis".

Editorial

Game of thrones

Since politics is largely a game of cherry-picking, the history of past elections in India has comforting lessons for both the Bharatiya Janata Party, the current favourite, and its beleaguered opponents. At the starting point of the 2024 race, a combination of assessments by the punditry and opinion polls — some of dodgy veracity — suggest that the ruling party, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi as its mascot, enjoys a head start over a demoralised Congress and its allies. This is a huge change from the election 10 years ago. In 2014, the media speculation centred on whether the BJP tally would get stuck at around 220 seats. The 50 or so seat shortfall, it was argued by those who sought the perpetuation of the Congress ecosystem, would ensure that the BJP would be compelled to select a less ‘polarising’ leader to head the government. In short, anyone but Modi. The possibility of the BJP securing a majority on its own was dismissed as absurd on the grounds that the party lacked the support of the Dalits, the backward castes and, of course, the Muslims. South India, too, was seen to be out of bounds for the BJP.

At the start of the campaign in 2014, it was clear that the Congress was on the back foot and that the BJP campaign was gaining momentum. The situation was akin to that which prevailed at the beginning of the 1971 general election campaign when Indira Gandhi took on the so-called ‘right reactionaries’. However, rather than the popular mood being frozen, the progress of the campaign saw the party having the initial advantage developing further momentum. In 1971, the progress of the campaign saw Indira Gandhi’s Congress secure victories in the unlikely of places and make a clean sweep of nearly all the states where the undivided Congress was strong. The Grand Alliance ended up looking like a paper tiger.

In 2014, the challenge before the BJP was to maximise the seats from the areas of its traditional influence. Being based in Varanasi with the BJP campaign, I was personally witness to the manner each visit to the constituency by Modi had a ripple effect in the rest of the state. At the beginning of the campaign, Amit Shah — the man entrusted with the campaign in Uttar Pradesh — had set an unofficial target of 60 seats out of 80 for the state. Yet, in the final week of the campaign, news started percolating of a surge in the party’s support, including in Amethi where Smriti Irani was taking on Rahul Gandhi. This resulted in a last-minute scheduling of a Modi public meeting in Amethi that drew a spectacular response.

Thailand moves closer to legalise same-sex marriage

In a landmark development, the Thai Parliament on Wednesday overwhelmingly passed the bill legalising same-sex marriage on Wednesday, bringing Thailand closer to becoming the first South-east-Asian country to recognise equality, the New York Times reported.

The bill, which passed by 400 votes to 10, with a handful of abstentions, will now head to the Senate. If it passes there, and if approved by Thailand's king, the country would become the first in Southeast Asia to recognize same-sex marriages. Notably, in Asia more broadly, only Taiwan and Nepal have done so.

Thailand's bill describes marriage as a "partnership between two individuals", rather than between a woman and a man.

It will also give LGBTQ couples equal rights to various tax savings, the ability to inherit property, and the power to give medical treatment consent for partners who are incapacitated. The draft will also grant adoption rights. Thai law currently allows only heterosexual couples to adopt, although single women can adopt children with special needs, the NYT reported.

"The amendment of this law is for all Thai people. It is the starting point to create equality," Danuphorn Punnakanta, a lawmaker who chairs the lower house's committee on marriage equality, told Parliament. "We understand that this law is not a universal cure to every problem, but at least it's the first step towards equality in Thai society."

Baloch community observe 'Black Day'

The Baloch community worldwide observed Black Day on March 27. On this occasion, the Baloch National Movement in the Netherlands called for global attention to the Baloch genocide and organised a protest rally in Amsterdam.

The protesters, holding placards and banners, denounced the forced occupation of Balochistan by Pakistani forces.

Protesters were also seen distributing pamphlets to raise awareness among locals about the Balochistan issue.

Highlighting their struggle, protesters emphasised how Pakistani forces annexed Balochistan on March 27, 1948.

Taking to social media platform X, Islam Murad Baloch, a member of Baloch National Movement said, "The international community must intervene in Balochistan against the violations of Baloch human rights. The human rights defenders and UN must put sanctions on Pakistan for the violations of Baloch rights. Pakistan must to leave Balochistan."

Another activist, Fazila Baloch, stressed that Balochistan was never part of Pakistan and was illegally occupied on March 27.

"Balochistan was never part of Pakistan. It was illegally occupied on March 27, 1948. Since then the Baloch nation has been resisting the invasion of their motherland. Balochistan Is Not Pakistan," Fazila stated on X.

In Pakistan's most underdeveloped area of Balochistan, the country's intelligence agency, Inter-Services Intelligence, has been accused of committing all kinds of atrocities, including, abduction, killing and torture, to instill fear.

POEM

The Princess: Tears, Idle Tears

Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean, Tears from the depth of some divine despair Rise in the heart, and gather to the eyes,

In looking on the happy Autumn-fields, And thinking of the days that are no more.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on a sail, That brings our friends up from the underworld,

Sad as the last which reddens over one

That sinks with all we love below the verge; So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more. Ah, sad and strange as in dark summer dawns The earliest pipe of half-awaken'd birds To dying ears, when unto dying eyes The casement slowly grows a glimmering square.

Srimat Swami Smaranananda Ji Maharaj was a pioneer of India's spiritual consciousness: Modi

Amidst the hustle and bustle of the grand festival of Lok Sabha elections, the news of the demise of Srimat Swami Smaranananda Ji Maharaj brought my mind to a standstill for a few moments. Srimat Swami Smaranananda Ji Maharaj was a pioneer of India's spiritual consciousness and his demise is like a personal loss. A few years ago, the demise of Swami Atmasthananda Ji and now the departure of Swami Smaranananda Ji on his eternal journey has left many people bereaved. My heart, like that of crores of devotees, saints and followers of Ramakrishna Math and Mission, is deeply saddened. During my visit to Kolkata earlier this month, I had gone to the hospital to enquire about Swami Smaranananda Ji's health. Just like Swami Atmasthananda Ji, Swami Smaranananda Ji too dedicated his entire life for spreading the ideas of Acharya Ramakrishna Paramahansa, Mata Sharada Devi and Swami Vivekananda across the world. While writing this article, the memories of meetings and conversations with him are getting refreshed in my mind. In January 2020, during my stay at Belur Math, I meditated in the room of Swami Vivekananda.

During that visit, I had a long conversation about Swami Atmasthananda Ji with Swami Smaranananda Ji. It is widely known that I had a close relationship with Ramakrishna Mission and Belur Math. As a seeker of spirituality, I have met different saints and mahatmas and been to many places over the period of more than five decades. Even in Ramakrishna Math, I got to know about the saints who dedicated their lives to spirituality, among whom personalities like Swami Atmasthananda Ji and Swami Smaranananda Ji were prominent. Their sacred thoughts and knowledge provided contentment to my mind. In the most important period of my life, such saints taught me the true principle of Jan Seva hi Prabhu Seva. The lives of Swami Atmasthananda Ji and Swami Smaranananda Ji are an indelible example of the motto of Ramakrishna Mission 'Atmano Mokshaartham Jagaddhitaaya Cha'. We all are inspired by the work being done by Ramakrishna Mission for the promotion of education and rural development. Ramakrishna Mission is working on India's spiritual enlightenment, educational empowerment and humanitarian service. In 1978, when the disastrous flood struck Bengal, Ramakrishna Mission won the hearts of everyone with its selfless service. I remember, when an earthquake ravaged Kutch in 2001, Swami Atmasthananda Ji was among the first people to call me and offer all possible assistance for disaster management on behalf of the Ramakrishna Mission. Under his direction, Ramakrishna Mission helped many people who were affected by the earthquake. Over the past years, while holding various positions, Swami Atmasthananda Ji and Swami Smaranananda Ji laid great emphasis on social empowerment.

Those who know the lives of these great personalities will definitely remember how serious these saints were towards modern education, skilling and women empowerment. Among his many inspiring traits, one thing that impressed me the most was Swami Atmasthananda Ji's love and respect for every culture and every tradition. The reason for this was that he used to travel continuously and had spent a long time in different parts of India. He learned to speak Gujarati while living in Gujarat. He used to even speak with me in the language and I loved listening to his Gujarati! At different points in India's development journey, our motherland has been blessed by many saints.

Transforming Urology Through Robotic Surgery

NOIDA : The evolution of robotic surgery in urology has set a new standard in the field, offering groundbreaking advancements in minimally invasive surgical procedures. Since the introduction of robot-assisted laparoscopic prostatectomy in the 1990s, the technology has expanded its reach across various urological domains, significantly improving patient and surgical outcomes.

In 2006, India saw its first installation of a urologic robotic system, marking the beginning of a new era in surgical precision and patient care. This innovative approach overcomes the challenges posed by traditional surgeries, providing surgeons with enhanced capabilities such as greater dexterity, 3-D vision, and improved control, resulting in less tissue and nerve damage, reduced blood loss, and shorter hospital stays for patients. “Robotic surgery has not only revolutionized minimally invasive surgery in urology but has also introduced a new realm of possibilities for urologic oncologic surgery and reconstructive urology,” said Dr Vipin Tyagi, Senior Consultant Urologist and Robotic Surgeon, Sir Gangaram Hospital, New Delhi. “It is a leap towards safer, more efficient surgical procedures, offering patients a quicker recovery and less post-operative discomfort.” Despite its numerous advantages, the widespread adoption of robotic-assisted surgery in India faces challenges, including limited awareness and accessibility due to costs. However, the technology has proven particularly beneficial for complex surgeries, such as prostate removal, where precision is critical. Robot-Assisted Radical Prostatectomy (RARP) has emerged as a key technique, enhancing the ability to preserve nerve function and reduce complications.

'INDIA bloc has no presence; united to abuse PM Modi': Giriraj Singh

AGENCY BEGUSARAI, MAR 28

Union Minister Giriraj Singh took a hit at the opposition leaders on Thursday and said that the leaders of the INDIA bloc had only united to "abuse" Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"INDIA alliance has no presence. Jise kehte hai, iska koi wajood nahi hai. They have come together only to abuse Modi Ji," Giriraj Singh told.

Reacting to Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's arrest, Giriraj Singh says, "Jaise karein hain, waisa paayenge. (Will get as they have done.)" Earlier this month, while taking a dig at the opposition, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said INDIA bloc's ideology is one of "corruption, misgovernance, and anti-nationalism."

He said, "While Modi is busy working to improve the lives of poor and middle-class people, there is an INDIA alliance, which has united in Delhi with a manifesto to abuse Modi day and night."

While addressing a crowd that included the beneficiaries of the Pradhan Mantri SVAnidhi scheme at Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium, PM Modi said, "What is the ideology of this INDIA alliance? Their ideas are of misgovernance and corruption, while Modi thinks of welfare of the nation."

Meanwhile, trouble ensued in the INDIA bloc after Shiv Sena (UBT) announced its first list of candidates in Maharashtra for the ensuing Lok Sabha elections.

Congress' senior state leader and member of the MVA negotiating committee, Balasaheb Thorat, said that the Sena should not have announced the candidates for Mumbai South Central, Bhiwandi and Sangli as those seats were still under discussion.

The Shiv Sena (UBT) named senior leader Anil Desai from the Mumbai South Central parliamentary constituency and Chandrabhar Patil from Sangli.

"The Congress leaders are angry at the list released by the Uddhav Shiv Sena today. I would request that the Senate reconsider the list of candidates that it has announced. Discussions were on in some of the seats and everyone was expected to follow the spirit of the Aghadi," Thorat said, speaking in a video statement on Wednesday.

Thorat, who was leading the seat-sharing talks with the Shiv Sena on behalf of the Maharashtra Congress, questioned the announcement of seats while discussions on some seats were still ongoing.

Mumbai Congress President Varsha Gaikwad also said that they have conveyed their displeasure about the Shiv Sena seats announced in Mumbai to the party high command.
