Correct discourse, maintain decorum: Poll Body asks BJP, Congress

AGENCY NEW DELHI, MAY 22

Five phases of the Lok Sabha election over, the Election Commission today came down heavily on the ruling BJP and the main Opposition Congress over poll speeches by its star campaigners. This comes after both the parties had filed complaints against each other, flagging speeches by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Congress MP Rahul Gandhi.

In separate directions issued to BJP president JP Nadda and Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge, the poll body said the country's socio-cultural milieu cannot become a casualty to elections.

"Elections are a process when political parties not only contest to win, but also avails the opportunity to present themselves in their ideal best for the voting community to experience, emulate and build hopes on. The second part constitutes the more precious heritage of Indian elections and our electoral democracy and this should not be allowed to be weakened by anyone, including your party," the commission

"Elections are periodic exercises, they come and go, but political parties like yours endure; even more enduring preserve is India's socio-cultural milieu; Political parties are in the task of nurturing leaders for the country for present and future. They cannot afford to be lax in any manner in enforcing discipline and conduct among the cadre in the high stake electoral space; especially with reference to senior members," the poll body told both parties had ap-Earlier, both parties had approached the Election Commission and complained against each other's leaders. The poll body had issued notices and sought their responses on the allegations. In today's directions, it has rejected their defences

In its letter to Mr Nadda, the poll body has said it expects BJP, "as the ruling party at the Centre to fully align the campaign methods to the practical aspects of the composite and sensitive fabric of India".

The commission has directed the BJP to instruct all star campaigners to refrain from making any statement prohibited under the Model Code of

The rules, it stressed, provide that "No Party or candidate shall include in any activity which may aggravate existing difference or create mutual hatred or cause tension between different castes and communities, religious or linguistic. The poll body directed the BJP chief to direct all star campaigners "to not make speeches and statements, which may divide the society". It also directed the star campaigners to "refrain from any campaigning methods/ utterances along religious communal lines". The poll body also called for decorum in speeches by the party's star campaigners. The Election Commission's letter to Mr Kharge said that it expects the Congress to "fully align the campaign methods to the practical as-

INDI alliance depressed after 5th phase of polling: PM

BASTI (UP), MAY 22

Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Wednesday that the fifth phase of Lok Sabha election polls in the country has ensued for the Modi government in the country for the third time, and as a result, the INDI alliance is deep into depression. Addressing an election rally in Basti, the PM said, "Five phases of polling have been completed in the country, and these five phases have confirmed the Modi government for a third term in the country. For this, you don't need to look around; just see the statements of the leaders of the INDI alliance. Everyone is telling dif-ferent statistics," he said.

He said, "If you seek their old re-cords and results, you will get confidence that the entire INDI alliance is so deep into depression that they were not aware of their statements two days ago and today. This is their situation. All of you are intelligent people who will not waste their time and energy. Now you tell me that one vote cast in favor of the SP or Congress is of any worth. It is worthless," he said. Modi said that every vote should be cast for whoever the people want to form the government, and there is a guarantee of forming the government. "Cast your vote for Viksit Bharat and Atmna Nibhar Bahart," he said.

He said that January 22 is a memorable day that every child remembers. 'When I say January 22, the country automatically responds, 'Jai Shri Ram'. "On that historical day in Ayodhya, I said, 'Toward nation from Ram, from heritage to development, and from spirituality towards development.

And today, the country is moving forward with this mantra," he said. The PM said that India has become the fifth-largest economy in the world. "Today, India's stature and respect have increased," he said. Referring to Pakistan, he said that the country that patronized terrorism and used to threaten India is nowhere. "While Pakistan has lowered its guards, its sympathizers, the people of the SP and Congress, are try-ing to threaten India.

Rahul Gandhi targets PM Modi over Agniveer scheme

MAHENDRAGARH, MAY 22

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi targeted Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the Agniveer scheme, reiterating that the party would scrap the scheme after it forms the government at the Centre after the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. Addressing a public meeting in Haryana's Mahendragarh, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said, "...Prime Minister Narendra Modi has made the Jawans of India like labourers... The Army doesn't want the Agniveer scheme, it's a scheme made by the Prime Minister's Office. Once Congress comes to power (forms government at the Centre) we will throw

"The farmers of Haryana work in the fields of the country; the Modi government snatched away your rights and abolished the Land Tribunal Bill to help the billionaires; then three

(farm) laws came, but the government had to step back," Rahul Gandhi added. The Congress leader further said, "I undertook a yatra across the country, and the farmers told me their views, but all this was not visible in the media, only Modi ji's face and marriage were visible.'

Rahul Gandhi accused PM Modi of waiving the loans of 22 rich people. "Loans were waived off during the United Progressive Alliance, and Modiji has waived off the loans of 22 rich people. This is an insult to the farmers." The Lok Sabha elections for the 10 parliamentary constituencies of Haryana are going to be held in a single phase on May 25. In the 2019 Lok Sabha elections in the state, the BJP swept, cap-

HC cancels Bengal's Backward Classes Certificates granted since 2011

AGENCY KOLKATA, MAY 22

The Calcutta High Court has cancelled all certificates to Other Backward Classes issued in Bengal since 2011 under the Trinamool Congress administration, calling them "illegal". This, however, would not affect the jobs held currently by the people, the court said. Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee has said she "will not accept" the granted to the Tapashili communitv. The court struck down reservation for several communities as Other Backward Classes under a new law of the state government passed in 2012. Justices Tapabrata Chakraborty and Rajasekhar Mantha, however, said the executive orders of the state government classifying 66 classes of OBC before 2010 were not interfered with, since these were not challenged in the petitions. "The OBC reservation quota introduced by the West Bengal government will continue. We had drafted the Bill after conducting a house-tohouse survey, and it was passed by the cabinet and the assembly," Ms Banerjee was quoted as saying by news agency Press Trust of India. "The BJP has conspired to stall it by using central agencies. How can the party show such audacity?" she added. Senior party leader and Ms Banerjee's nephew Abhishek Banerjee alleged the court's judgment is part of the BJP's efforts to cancel reservation for the Tapashili community

SANJAY AGGARWAL DHARAMSHALA, MAY 22

Congress candidate from Kangra parliamentary constituency Anand Sharma said that in the current elections, BJP is not talking about its promises and is asking for votes in the name of Modi. Votes are being sought in the name of religion. Questioning BJP and PM Modi, he said that even before your arrival, there were temples here, there was faith, even if you are not there, we and the people of the country will worship. Our religion is so ancient that it does not need any new agency which gives certificate of religion. Anand Sharma was addressing people in Kalyada, Rehlu, Shahpur, Mundla and Chadhi on Wednesday.

He said that in the same way he has also taken up the contract of patriotism. As if there was no patriot before him. The situation is such that those who are with them are patriots, those who are not with them are traitors. Similarly, those who have different ideologies have become traitors in their eyes.

Anand Sharma said that PA Modi has been claiming that for the last ten years a country has been formed, India has been recognized in the world, before me there was no respect for the country, the countrymen of India used to beg with bowls. Describing these claims as a bundle of lies, he said that when the Manmohan government was Ashish Sharma, MLA from the Sadar assembly constituency, responded to Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu's inappropriate and false statements made during a public meeting in Lambloo.

Sharma criticized the Chief Minister for closing three institutions in the very area where he was holding the gathering. He mentioned that despite appeals to keep these institutions operational, the Chief Minister did not heed and proceeded to denotify a degree college, a PHC, and a veterinary dispensary that were established during the Jairam government.

Sharma likened Sukhu to Delhi's Chief Minister Kejriwal, who portrays himself as honest while labeling others as corrupt, yet now faces legal troubles.

He accused Sukhu of making baseless accusations about mining mafia involvement and misleading people with unsubstantiated claims in his speeches. Sharma emphasized that the public is well aware of the truth and will not be swayed by the Chief Minister's false allegations and rhetoric. Sharma challenged the Chief Minister to present any facts he claims to have, instead of spreading rumors. argued that the pre-election period is the perfect time to disclose such information if it indeed exists.

Sukhu's dictatorial rule will end soon: Sudhir Sharma

candidate Dharamshala Sudhir Sharma said that Sukhu is running the state government dictatorially. Which is going to end soon. Sudhir Sharma said that the CM has forgotten that governments are run by wisdom and not by arrogance. Being the head of the state, one has to take everyone along, but what will happen to the common people if the CM starts harassing his own colleagues due to political rivalry. This can be easily guessed. Sudhir Sharma said that the day Congress lost in the Rajya Sabha elections, the CM should have resigned on the same day on moral grounds and should have again entered the electoral fray, but for that public support is needed which is not there now for the Congress government.

Neither is it near CM Sukhu. That's why they are cursing us to hide their flaws. Sudhir Sharma said that the CM has put the development of the state at stake to please his friends. Sudhir Sharma said that the CM is repeatedly making the women fill the forms worth Rs 1500, but the reality is that from where will the government which has to pay salaries to its employees by taking loan, give Rs 1500 to the women. This clearly means that

CM Sukhu is trying to save his position by misleading women. Apart from this, people also know that on one hand the CM is crying about the treasury being empty and on the other hand he is getting the forms filled for Rs 1500 Therefore, the public has fight with the CM. I am just fighting for the development of Dharamshala. Because the state government has stopped many projects Dharamshala. Sudhir Sharma said that the Congress government should answer how many unemployed people have been given jobs in the last one and a half years. He said that leave alone providing jobs, the Congress government has failed to even declare the results of the recruitment examinations that have been conducted. Due to this, there is a wave of anger among the youth which will come out in the form of voting

Biodiversity important for environmental balance

RAJNEESH SHARMA

Biodiversity, encompasses various species of animals and plants, is crucial for maintaining environmental balance Scientists agree that a lack of biodiversity increases the risk of natural disasters such as floods, droughts, and storms. Earth has already experienced five mass extinctions primarily due to natural events like volcanic eruptions, ice ages, meteor impacts, and continental collisions. Some scientists believe that human activities such as uncontrolled exploitation of forest resources and pollution of air and water could lead to a sixth mass extinction.

We must collectively work towards creating an environment biodiversity, sustainable, and conducive to economic activities. It is essential to plant trees near homes or in public spaces to keep the environment green and ensure clean air. Hem Lal, the in-charge, emphasized that International Biodiversity Day celebrated on May 22 each year to raise awareness about biodiversity issues.

This year's theme, "Be Part of the Plan," highlights that even small efforts can significantly contribute to environmental protection. Collaboration governments, communities. organizations, businesses. and individuals is necessary to protect biodiversity and ensure that Earth remains a place where all living beings can not only survive but

Mann cheats farmers on MSP, compensation on flood affected crops: Dr. Subhash Sharma

CHAMKAUR SAHIB, MAY 22

BJP candidate from Sri Anandpur Sahib Constituency, Dr. Subhash Sharma, today exposed the "fake" profarmer image projected by the Bhagwant Mann-led AAP government in Punjab. Addressing a series of election meetings here, Dr. Sharma said that Mann had only exploited the sentiments of the farming community by making 'false promises' before coming to power and had de-liberately 'instigated' the farmers against Modi, in order to grab power in the State. Taking up an extremely crucial issue pertaining to the agriculture sector, Dr. Sharma said, "Mann had made a pre-poll promise of providing the farmers with minimum support price (MSP) for 22 crops, which he conveniently forgot after coming to power. It has been two years since Mann is at the helm of affairs in Punjab, but has not provided the farmers MSP on any crop, which is nothing but a 'betrayal' with them.' Sharpening his attack on the AAP government, Dr. Sharma said that the Mann government has only and only exploited the farmers and made a cruel joke with them on the issue of the MSP but now the AAP government stands fully exposed. Further holding the Mann government squarely responsible for doing nothing for the farmers, Dr. Sharma, said that at the time of the massive crop damage due to the flood fury in the state last year, the AAP government had promised to give a compensation of Rs 20,000 per acre but the affected farmers received just Rs 6,800 per acre, which too, was allocated by the Centre from the disaster relief fund

Louisiana House passes bill to classify abortion drugs as controlled substances

lection times are marked by high-decibel propaganda and the athletic throw of words. Come elections, politicians and parties, otherwise silent on many issues, suddenly come into form and display their entire language repertoire to attract the attention of voters. Elections are a theatre in which logic, history. economics and data sciences are made to take the back benches while absurd sound bites, cacophony, false promises, bravado, posturing, lies and slander are given the front seats. If Holi is the festival of colours, elections are a festival of empty sounds. In democracies, politicians, the media, analysts, bloggers, strategists, crowds, psephologists — practically everyone — vie with one another to make the festival as noisy as they can. Slogans clash with counter-slogans, words clash with words, becoming, as Shakespeare put it, "airy nothings". But even amidst this din, occasionally, an eloquent phrase or metaphor appears, like a firefly in a forest of darkness, and lights up the space around. Rarely, but surely, some words or phrases manage to bring out the mood of the people and the social dynamics so pointedly that they stay in memory for long.

Such words or phrases cannot be coined by campaign designers or propaganda managers. They come up suddenly from ordinary speeches and occupy the centre stage of the people's imagination. I have always been interested in watching elections in order to understand what language does to politics. This is an enterprise which has nothing to do with psephology. Psephos – pebbles in Greek — lies at the root of the word, psephology. It seems that the Greeks used to drop pebbles in different pots to express their approval or solidarity with contestants in an election. Later, in the Italian language, the 'pot' in which pebbles were dropped came to be called 'ballot', the ballot box of our times.

Perhaps the most eloquent and evocative word to surface in the 2024 parliamentary elections in India has come from a Gujarat-based journalist, Ajay Umat, Even as everyone is trying to guess the outcome of the first five rounds of these protracted elections held in a scorching summer, this journalist, who runs a digital news channel, predicted that "panho ochho padse" Translated into English, the phrase means 'the cloth's width will turn out to be inadequate'; in other words, 'there will be a hung Parliament with the ruling party facing an awkward shortfall in numbers.' This view is by now widely accepted among journalists, analysts, voters and the contestants themselves. But Umat's ingenuity does not lie in his estimation. That is already a commonplace inference.

The Louisiana state House recently approved an amended bill that could have profound implications for reproductive rights and healthcare in the state. This bill, which passed with a vote of 64-29, seeks to classify the abortion-inducing drugs misoprostol and mifepristone as Schedule IV controlled dangerous substances, placing them in the same category as highly regulated drugs such as narcotics and depressants, CNN reported.

Sponsored by Republican state Sen Thomas Pressly, Senate Bill 276 aims to criminalize the administration of abortion medication without consent.

The amendment to classify these drugs as Schedule IV substances was introduced after the bill passed out of the Senate, highlighting the contentious nature of the is Pressly's motivation for proposing this legislation stems from personal experience, as he revealed that his sister was given misoprostol against her will. It's important to note that abortion is already banned in Louisiana without exceptions for cases of rape or incest, making this bill even more restrictive, as reported by CNN.

The process of a medication abortion involves taking mifepristone, which blocks the hormone progesterone necessary for pregnancy continuation, followed by misoprostol within the next 24 to 48 hours to induce uterine contractions.

While misoprostol has been available at pharmacies for decades and is approved for various medical uses, including preventing stomach ulcers, its inclusion in this bill as a controlled substance raises significant concerns.

Under the amended bill, possessing these drugs without a valid \bar{p} rescription could result in felony charges, punishable by up to five years in prison and fines of up to USD 5.000. However, there is an exemption for pregnant individuals in possession of mifepristone and misoprostol for their own consumption, and doctors would still be able to prescribe the drugs, according to

Despite the bill's passage in the House, it has faced widespread criticism from various quarters. Vice President Kamala Harris condemned the bill as "absolutely un-conscionable," attributing it to the policies of former President Donald Trump. Conversely, the anti-abortion group Susan B. Anthony Pro-Life America celebrated the bill's passage, framing it as a necessary measure to prevent drug abuse while ensuring access for legitimate medical reasons, such as miscarriage care.

The controversy surrounding the bill has sparked outcry from a group of nearly 270 Louisiana physicians, health care providers, and medical students, who signed a letter expressing concerns over the reclassification of mifepristone and misoprostol. They argue that these drugs have not been shown to have any potential for abuse or dependence and are widely prescribed and taken safely for medical purposes

In response to these concerns, Pressly defended the bill, asserting that it would not prohibit the prescription or dispensation of mifepristone and misoprostol for le gitimate medical reasons. He further stated that the provision would not harm $health care \, \bar{f}or \, women, citing \, consultations$ with medical professionals.

If the state Senate accepts the amended bill passed by the House, it will proceed to the desk of Republican Gov Jeff Landry for final approval. If signed into law, Louisiana would become the only state to classify abortion drugs as controlled dangerous substances, potentially setting a precedent for other states to follow suit, CNN reported.

Bangladeshi MP allegedly missing in India since May 18, investigation on

Member of Parliament (MP) from Bangladesh's ruling party Awami League has allegedly gone missing in India since May 18, triggering a high-level search operation.

Study finds novel therapeutic avenues in bone repair

Birmingham researchers have proven PEPITEM, a naturally occurring peptide (small protein) has potential as a novel therapy for osteoporosis and other illnesses that entail bone loss, with specific advantages over conventional medications.

PEPITEM (Peptide Inhibitor of Trans-Endothelial Migration) was discovered in 2015 by University of Birmingham researchers.

The latest research, published today in Cell Reports Medicine, demonstrates for the first time that PEPITEM could be used as a novel and early clinical intervention to reverse the impact of age-related musculoskeletal diseases, with data demonstrating that PEPITEM enhances bone mineralisation, formation, and strength while also reversing bone loss in animal models of disease

The research was funded by major grants from the Medical Research Council and the Lorna and Yuti Chernajovsky Biomedical Research Foundation, which funds pioneering research into the creation of new targeted medicines to improve health. Other funders included the British Society for Research on Ageing, and Versus Arthritis Bone is constantly formed, reformed, and remodelled throughout life, and up to 10% of human bone is replaced annually through a complex interplay between two cell types - osteoblasts, which form bone, and osteoclasts, which breakdown bone. Disturbances to this tightly orchestrated process are responsible for features of diseases such as osteoporosis and rheumatoid arthritis, which show excessive bone breakdown, or ankylosing spondylitis, where abnormal bone growth occurs. The most commonly used osteoporosis therapies (bisphosphonates) target osteoclasts to prevent further bone loss. Although there are new 'anabolic' agents that can promote new bone formation, these have limitations in their clinical use, with teriparatide (parathyroid hormone, or PTH) only being effective for 24 months and romosozumab (anti-sclerostin antibody) being associated with cardiovascular events

Therefore, there is a clear case for developing new therapies to stimulate bone repair in age-related musculoskeletal diseases, of which osteoporo sis is the most common. Researchers led by Dr Helen McGettrick and Dr Amy Naylor, including Dr Jonathan Lewis and Ms Kathryn Frost, from the Institute of Inflammation and Ageing at the University of Birmingham and Dr James Edwards from Nuffield Department of Orthopaedics, Rheumatology and Musculoskeletal Sciences at the University of Oxford set out to investigate the potential therapeutic impact of PEPITEM in these disease

PEPITEM is a naturally occurring short protein (peptide) produced in the body and found circulating in everyone at low levels.

The research findings demonstrated that PEPITEM regulates bone remodelling and that increasing the amount present in the body stimulates bone mineralisation in 'young bones' that are not in a diseased or pre-osteoporotic state, and that this translates to an increase in bone strength and density similar to current standard of care drugs (bisphosphonates and PTH).

However, the key test for a potential new therapeutic is its ability to target the natural repair process that is compromised by age, or inflammatory

Here the researchers showed that giving additional PEPITEM limits bone loss and improves bone density in animal models of the menopause. which is a common trigger for osteoporotic bone loss in humans. Their studies also showed similar findings in models of inflammatory bone disease

(arthritis), where PEPITEM significantly reduced bone damage and ero-

These findings were underscored by studies using human bone tissue, harvested from older patients during joint surgery. These studies showed cells from older individuals respond to PEPITEM, significantly increasing the maturation of osteoblasts, and their ability to produce and mineralise bone tissues.

Their cell and tissue culture work showed PEPITEM has a direct effect on osteoblasts to promote bone formation, by increasing the activity of osteoblasts rather than their number. Further studies identified the NCAM-1 receptor as the specific receptor for PEPITEM on osteoblasts, and strongly suggested the NCAM-1- b-catenin signalling pathway is responsible for the upregulation of osteoblast activity. This receptor, and the pathway, are distinct from PEPITEM receptors that have been previously described in other tissues.

Healthcare and Offshore betting ads emerge as most violative as ASCI releases its Annual Complaints Report handigarh / Amritsar: The Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI) today published its Annual Complaints Report, which offers a comprehensive analysis of advertisements that were considered objectionable in the fiscal year 2023-24.

ASCI examined 10,093 complaints and investigated 8299 advertisements. The majority of violations were on account of misleading claims at 81%, followed by ads that promoted harmful situations or products at 34% (the same ad can be processed for multiple objections). Digital ads accounted for 85% of ads processed, and had a lower compliance rate of 75% compared to 97% for print and TV. This raises serious questions about the online safety of consumers, as was highlighted last year as well. 94% of the ads that were processed were picked up suo moto by ASCI.

4 9 % o f t h e advertisements picked up by ASCI were not contested by the advertisers. A total of 98%

modification as they violated the ASCI Code.

This year, healthcare emerged as the most violative sector, contributing to 19% of cases, followed by illegal offshore betting (17%), personal care (13%), conventional education (12%), food and beverage (10%), and realty (7%). Baby care emerged as a new contender in the top violators category, with influencer promotions contributing to 81% of babycare cases.

Saugata Gupta, Chairman of ASCI, said, "As digital emerges as a dominant media in which advertisements thrive, ASCI has geared up to the challenges through constant investment in technology. We will continue to improve our processes and expertise to ensure nimble and transparent resolution of objectionable ads. At this critical juncture, we look forward to collaborating with all stakeholders to promote ethical advertising and calling out advertisements that eventually erode trust in

Manisha Kapoor, CEO &

Secretary General of ASCI, said, "2023-24 has been a truly challenging year, and ASCI stepped up to this by focusing our efforts on digital. 3200 advertisements were shared with various regulators, such as MIB, Ayush, and MahaRera, for direct violations of the law. We see this as a continuing area of focus. Sectors like healthcare emerging at the top are a significant concern for all citizens. With the highest number of violative ads seen online, advertisers and platforms must work more closely with regulators and self-regulators to keep consumers protected. ASCI Academy's recently launched e-learning courses on Responsible Advertising and Responsible Influencing is a significant step to increase the industry's capacity to create ads with greater understanding of regulatory standards and ensure that consumers are not exposed to objectionable advertising in the first place."

Out of the 1575 advertisements processed in the healthcare sector, 1249 violated the Drugs and Magic Remedies Act, 1954, and were reported to the sector regulator. 86% of the healthcare ads appeared on digital platforms. 1311 advertisements for illegal betting were sent to the appropriate authorities for further action. Of the 1064 ads that ASCI examined in personal care, 95% of them appeared online, with more than half (55%) being influencer non-disclosure

Celebrities continued to appear in ads that were in violation of the ASCI code. ASCI processed complaints against 101 ads featuring celebrities, 91% of which required modification. 104 celebrities appearing in these 101 ads were found to be in violation of the celebrity guidelines as they could not provide any evidence of due diligence. It may be noted that due diligence is also a requirement under the Consumer Protection Act

Congress wants to get votes from people through jihad and lies: CM Saini

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA KARNAL, MAY 22

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's dream is that every Indian should have a roof over their heads. Houses were provided to 4 crore people in ten years and a target of 3 crore houses has been set in coming years. It is Prime Minister Modi's guarantee that 50 crore people were connected by opening bank accounts.

Chief Minister Nayab Saini said this in a public meeting in Kalampura. BJP workers encouraged Chief Minister Saini by presenting him a mace. Encouraged by enthusiasm of the workers, CM said that Congress wants to take votes from the people through 'vote jihad' and lying.

Till now she has been getting votes by showing dreams to the poor. Rahul Gandhi is lying to poor like his grandmother Indira Gandhi and father Rajiv Gandhi. Indira Gandhi kept getting votes by giving slogans of eradicating poverty and her father Rajiv Gandhi used to talk about sending all money for the schemes for the poor but he also used to say that out of one rupee, 85 paisa gets distributed. Congress did not discover that 85 paise.

Now Rahul Gandhi savs that if everyone votes for him, he will eradicate poverty from the country in a jiffy but does not talk about how this will be possible. Rahul Baba will not get votes by lying. He said that the real fight against poverty has been fought by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. In ten years, the poor, farmers and women have directly benefited from the schemes. Congress made people stand in line for three days for gas, but PM Modi provided gas to their homes at a rapid pace. Modi government built toilets for women in 11.50 crore houses in 10 years. Besidess, ration is also being provided to 80 crore people. PM Modi's vision is that no poor should remain hungry. Vision of Congress is to always keep country weak but PM Modi wants to keep it strong and powerful to make developed India. BJP has given rapid development to country in ten years.

best 708 runs from 14 innings, questions have been raised about his strike rate at the top of the batting

Australia legend Ponting, a three-time ICC Men's Cricket World Cup winner, says that while strike rates have taken precedence over averages in recent times, Kohli remains as relevant to India's fortunes as before. "The mantra I think for the teams three or four years ago, was making sure that someone at the top of the order made 80 or 100, even if it took them 60 balls, it didn't really matter,' Ponting told the ICC.

"I think it's sort of shifting now to be more of Rahul Jethwa's bond with brother Vishal: "We have an unbreakable bond like Ram and Laxman"

Chandigarh: National Brothers Day is celebrated yearly, signifying a brother's importance and role in our lives and honouring the bond of brotherhood. We caught up with one of two famous actor brothers—Rahul Jethwa, a television and film actor, who currently plays Awadh in TV's Atal, and Vishal Jethwa's brother. Rahul, reflects on his journey in the industry and bonds with his brother, who played an instrumental role in

You both work in the same industry. Did he inspire you to become an actor?

Our story has many similarities with the journey of the Kapoor sisters. Kareena Kapoor, who always wanted to be an actor, used to visit the sets of Karisma Kapoor's movies, and that's when she started following in her sister's footsteps. Similarly, I used to see Vishal's television show sets and observe every aspect, from script reading to rehearsing, very minutely. These visits were always exciting and a great learning experience, igniting my passion for acting, and I decided to pursue it. And Vishal helped me understand the nuances and guided me through the journey

2. Did he help you to get into the industry?

Vishal has been working in the industry for over 15 years, and his journey has inspired me immensely. We both agreed that any references he might provide me would be a shortcut to success. Instead, I would prefer to earn my own credit and respect through hard work and dedication. I wanted to make it on my own. However, his guidance and experience aided in understanding and learning the workings of the industry.

3. People often make comparisons; how do you take it? It is common for people in society to compare themselves to others, but fortunately, my family taught me to reject this mindset. For example, if someone compliments my brother. I feel happy for him. Similarly, Vishal is proud of my work in 'Atal' and often praises me. To sum it up, 'I don't get affected by comparisons. We both are raised to support, respect and standby each other, no matter what!' And that's what our bond is all about.

Speaking of bonds, can you elaborate a little with your brother? Is he more like a friend or a sibling who doesn't share their stuff?

My bond with Vishal is unique and extremely special. He plays multiple important roles in my life, and I can easily say he is my true kindred soul. He is a cherished friend when I need someone to talk to, a fun companion when I want to hang out, a wise mentor who I look up to for advice, and a supportive and protective presence in my life. He became a father figure to me after our dad's passing. He took the responsibility of providing for the family and supported us. We have an unbreakable bond like

Ram and Laxman. We have an unspoken understanding, mutual respect, and a lot of affection for each other. We have similar tastes and styles and often share our clothes and shoes. all his works.

Can you please tell us about the most cherished gift Vishal has given you, which is very close to your heart?

One of the most treasured gifts that I have ever received in my life was from my brother. He gave me a phone and a bike, which have been invaluable to me in many ways. I was saving silently for both, but he knew what I wanted and gifted those to me at the right time. He has a way of knowing what I need, and that is truly amazing. I am incredibly grateful to my brother for his kindness, and I will always cherish these gifts as a symbol of his love and generosi-

6. Which is your favourite film of Vishal that you've enjoyed watching?

One of his movies, Salaam Venky, holds a special place in my heart. Its emotional storyline deeply resonates with me, connecting me with various emotions. The film's heartfelt narrative leaves a lasting impact, making it my favourite among

Meanwhile, on the acting front, Manisha is being lauded for her role as Mallika Jaan in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's debut web series 'Heeraman

A few days ago, in a lengthy note on Instagram, Manisha chronicled her journey of resuming work after battling ovarian cancer, portraying an important character in the lavish period drama, and getting her due as a female actor thanks to streamers.

The note read, "Heeramandi has been a significant milestone. As a 53-year-old actor who has bagged an important role in a high-profile web series, I am overjoyed that I'm not stuck playing insignificant peripheral roles, thanks to OTT platforms and changing audience profiles. Finally, female actors, technicians, and other professionals have started getting the long overdue and well-deserved good quality of work and respect in a professional environment. I am fortunate to be a part of this evolving era.' Manisha recalled the doubts and anxiety that plagued her when she started shooting for Sanjay Leela Bhansali's directorial She added, "Today, when I am receiving so many accolades, I can't help but remember the doubts and anxiety that plagued me when I was about to start shooting. Still recovering from the dreaded C, would my body be strong enough to deal with the intense shooting schedules, heavy costumes, and jewelry, and perform a role requiring so much nuance and effortless effort?"

From a pauper to NRI: cast of Sony SAB's 'Aangan Aapno Kaa' share their experience of donning various avatars in a recent track CHANDIGARH: Sony SAB's Aangan Aapno Kaa narrates a heartwarming tale of a single father Jaidev Sharma (Mahesh Thakur) and his three daughters Deepika (Neetha Shetty), Tanvi (Aditi Rathod) and Pallavi (Ayushi Khurana). In the current track, the three daughters have come together to trap the fraudster Pappi Mehra (Ashwin Kaushal), who has wronged not only the Sharma family but also Pallavi's in-laws the Awasthi family.

To catch Pappi in his web of lies, Tanvi has transformed into Manu Ahluwalia, an NRI woman who has come to India to sell her land. Donning a blonde wig, a beach hat, and speaking with a foreign accent, Tanvi is nailing her new role. Meanwhile, Deepika has swapped her naturally curly hair for a straight-hair wig and adopted a fake accent to pose as Tanvi's assistant. Other family members have taken on various roles to make Tanvi's profile as a wealthy and influential NRI convincing. Pallavi, disguised with a moustache, beard, and large spectacles, acts as her helping hand. Varun (Waseem Mushtaq) assumes the role of her driver, while Rakesh (Yash Pandit) becomes a beggar, singing her praises to Pappi as she generously donates dollars. It may seem like a seamless transition on screen, however, the actors agreed that it was not as easy as it seems.

diti Rathod, who essays the role of Tanvi, said "I have become used to being Tanvi, so getting into the role of an NRI Manu Ahluwalia was stepping out of my comfort zone. It was very challenging as well as interesting to adapt and carry the accent. All of us had a fun time getting into our new looks and speaking in a certain way. Both Deepika di and I kept talking in our new accents to ensure we had a continuous grasp on it. I hope I have been able to do a good job and entertain the audi-Ayushi Khurana, who essays the role of Pallavi, said "I was disguised as a male help because my character Pallavi wanted to be a part of the act to ensure nothing goes wrong. I had to wear a fake mole, moustache, and a beard. Every morning when I come to set, I greet my on-screen papa (Mahesh Thakur) but when I went to see him with my new look, he thought I was a character artist. While it was fun shooting in the new look, wearing the beard 14 hours was quite irritating. Despite not being able to eat or smile, I somehow managed to deliver my dia-
