The contest between BJP's Om Birla, a three-time MP from Kota in Rajasthan, and Kodikunnil Suresh, an eight-term parliamentarian from Kerala's Mavelikara came after the NDA refused to accept the opposition INDIA bloc's demand that the Deputy Speaker's position be left for the Opposition in exchange for its support to the NDA nominee.

15,250 beneficiaries get plot allotment certificates under MMSAY in Haryana

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JUNE 26

In alignment with Prime Minister, Sh. Narendra Modi's dream of a roof over every poor person's head, the Haryana government has launched the Mukhyamantri Shehri Awas Yojana to realize the dream of a home for poor families in the state. Under this scheme, 15,250 beneficiaries have been given plot allotment certificates today.

At the state-level ceremony was held at Maharsi Dayanand University in Rohtak, where the Chief Minister attended as the chief guest, distributed the plot allotment letters to the beneficiaries on the spot. Simultaneously, programs were also held in four other locations, namely Yamunanagar, Palwal, Sirsa, and Mahendragarh.

Addressing the gathering, Sh. Nayab Singh said that today is a very happy day as the dream of owning a home is coming true for poor people. The Mukhyamantri Shehri Awas Yojana is not just a scheme but a commendable initiative by Prime Minister, Sh. Narendra Modi and our 'double-engine sarkar' to bring smiles to the faces of the poor and fulfill their dreams. Our government's goal is to simplify the lives of the poor and empower them so they can advance their families and provide good education to their children, he said.

The Chief Minister said that the previous government showed plots to the poor but neither gave them plots nor any papers. Those people kept running from pillar to post. However, our government understood their plight and decided to provide them with plots. Therefore, a program was organized in Sonipat recently where poor people were given possession certificates for 100 square yards plots, said Sh. Nayab Singh. He said that the government also announced that if land is not available in the villages, an amount of Rs. 1 lakh will be transferred to the accounts of the remaining people to purchase plots.

Furthermore, officers have been directed to develop a portal so that any eligible beneficiary who has been left out or any other citizen wanting to avail of this scheme can apply, said the Chief Minister. He informed that just a few days ago, over one lakh eligible beneficiaries of the labor department were provided benefits worth Rs. 80 crores under various schemes. The Chief Minister said that the state government has distributed HAPPY cards to families with an income of less than Rs. 1 lakh annually under the Haryana Antyodaya Parivar Parivahan Yojana (HAPPY).

"Both left after they finished their meal," he said.

Kejriwal sent to 3-day CBI custody

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, JUNE 26

Arvind Kejriwal has been sent to the custody of the CBI for three days, following his arrest by the federal agency in the alleged liquor policy case. The agency had asked for custody for five days.

Mr Kejriwal was arrested by the CBI - inside Delhi's Rouse Avenue Court - and then, inside a tumultuous hour, withdrew a Supreme Court petition challenging a stay on grant of bail after his arrest in March - in the same case - by the Enforcement Directorate. The top court petition was withdrawn - the ED offered no objection - citing a desire to launch a more substantial appeal against the High Court's decision to stay the Rouse Avenue Court's bail order. In the Rouse Avenue Court this morning, Mr Kejriwal's lawyers argued that the agency's move to arrest the AAP boss at this point had it had acted "in a most biased manner". The reference was to the fact the CBI had already quizzed him in connection with this case - for nine hours in April last year. Mr Kejriwal had then been questioned as a witness in the case. Today he addressed the court directly and recounted what he told the CBI when asked why the liquor policy in question was framed. "I told them (the CBI) there were three points. First - increase revenue. Second - reduce crowds to handle law and order. Third - opening of liquor shops in the right proportion (i.e., equal distribution across the city). I had given instructions to Manish Sisodia (his former deputy, who, in February last year, was the first to be arrested in this case) to keep these three things in mind.

Administration not paying heed to demands of farmers

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA

NILOKHERI: The administration is reportedly not paying heed to the demands of the farmers regarding cleaning of the siphons made for the drainage of flood water. The farmers have repeatedly appealed to the Chief Minister, administrative and departmental officials. The farmers of the area say that in view of the losses of last year, their lives are in danger, but God knows what the administration is waiting for. Last year too, due to the closure of the siphons and the inability to drain out the flood water, there was heavy loss. Farmer leader and All India Kisan Congress national spokesperson Inderjit Singh Goraya, who is making efforts to clean the siphon, said that the main reason for the flood damage in the area is the lack of cleaning of rainwater drains and siphons.

Goraya said that every year thousands of crores of funds are not being used properly for proper flood prevention. Most of the siphons coming out from under the Sirsa and Bhakra canals in Nilokheri block are filled with mud and reeds, due to which there is heavy damage to the crops. Inderjit Goraya said that the canal department of Kurukshetra has opened the siphon of village Aibil Jagir, but this siphon is completely closed on the other side where the water is to be drained, which comes under Karnal division, whose drain is completely filled with mud and reeds. We have informed the Deputy Commissioner of Karnal and the officials of the Irrigation Department about this and requested them to get it cleaned, but no action has been taken so far which shows that the administration is not serious about it.

interests of State and to raise the strong voice against every step of centre that adversely affects our state of Punjab" Vowed Meet Hayer.

Hoshiyar Singh

SANJAY AGGARWAL

DHARAMSHALA: Hoshiyar Singh, Bharatiya Janata Party's candidate from Dehra assembly constituency, has intensified his election campaign. Hoshiyar Singh said that as the day of by-elections in Himachal is coming closer, the message has become clear in the entire state that BJP is going to register a historic victory on all 3 assembly seats, due to which Chief

Minister Thakur Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu, who claims to be a government of happiness, has become so sad

The Chief Minister, who calls himself a big player in politics, has realized that even today he does not know anything except student politics. He said that the 16-month-old incompetent and unstable government knows nothing except talking nonsense. The Chief Minister of the state has come to know that now the people of Himachal Pradesh are aware and will not for his false promises again and again, due to which Sukhu has fallen so much in the eyes of the people that now he has started making baseless allegations on the BJP leaders with whom he used to run the government a few months ago and praise them. The BJP candidate said that the people of Dehra assembly constituency are my capital. Serving them is my only goal.

Pension Forum urges reduction of commutation period for HPSEB retirees

SANJEEV MAHAJAN
NURPUR: The Nurpur unit of the HPSEB Pensioners Forum, led by unit president Man Singh Dhiman, conducted a door-to-door membership campaign in the Bhadbar area. During this event, forum members highlighted the ongoing financial strain on retirees due to monthly deductions from their pensions. Currently, 40% of a retiree's pension is commuted, and they receive a lump sum payment, which the government recovers over a lengthy 15-year period. The forum members emphasized a ruling by the Punjab and Haryana High Court that reduced this commutation period to 11 years, considering the financial burden on pensioners. They are now urging the Himachal Pradesh government to follow suit and reduce the commutation period from 15 years to 12 years. In addition to the commutation period reduction, the forum expressed strong opposition to the HPSEB management's attempt to operate powerhouses through contractors. They called on the Chief Minister to expedite the recruitment process within the HPSEB, appoint a permanent Managing Director, reinstate the old pension scheme, and settle all pending dues for retirees. Prominent members present at the event included Sukhvinder Singh Dhiman, Kishan Dhiman, Kuldeep Singh, Utkar Singh, Jagdish Singh, Dhyan Singh, Man Singh, and Jayaram Sharma.

Senior Journalist writes to CM Punjab to form grievance redressal committees at Sub Divisional level

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JUNE 26

Shashi Pal Jain, a Senior Journalist from Kharar, who has been working as a journalist for the last 5 decades, has written a letter to the Chief Minister of Punjab and demanded that in order to solve the problems of the people at the ground level and to keep an eye on the bureaucracy. It is necessary that Grievance Redressal Committees should be formed at the sub-division level in the state. He has written in his letter that he is feeling that the problems of the poor and the most backward people of the society are not being solved and the poor person goes round the offices all day. Similarly, there is no monitoring regarding the standard of the development works being done at the ground level.

In the same way, nothing is known about why the development works have stopped due to the lack of interaction between different departments.

The Grievance Redressal committees which are working at the district level have become meaningless. Common people don't understand whom they should talk to about their complaint and what happens to their complaint. Jain has demanded that Grievance Redressal Committees should be formed at the sub-division level in the state, in which neutral, competent and reputable persons should be members along with politicians. The meeting of this committee should be held at least once or twice in every month in which all officers are present. Honorable MLA and MP of that area should participate in that meeting so that people's problems can be solved and development works can be accelerated.

Editorial*Cruel gig

The National Human Rights Commission has taken suo motu cognisance of the working conditions offered at warehouses of Amazon, a delivery giant, where workers, it was revealed recently, are forced to work without water or bathroom breaks in extreme heat. Amazon, it appears, is a repeat offender: in the United States of America, it has been investigated for high injury rates among workers; in Europe, Amazon has been fined and probed for poor working conditions; in over 15 countries, including India, it has been facing an annual 'Make Amazon Pay' protest by workers demanding better wages and working conditions. These transgressions — conditions offered by other companies to this rank of workers, reports show, are no better — highlight a pattern of commercial behemoths prioritising profits over workers' welfare. Amazon inflating its bottom line at the expense of its personnel is echoed in India's gig economy that runs on the back of underpaid and exploited workers whose livelihood depends on meeting unrealistic and dangerous targets.

It is not as if there is no legal safety net for this constituency of workers. The Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act mandates employers to look after the health and the welfare of contractual labourers and the proposed Code on Social Security, 2020 also recognises the rights of contractual workers to receive social security benefits like pension. The reality, though, is sobering. The recent Fairwork India Ratings show that only three Indian companies have a minimum wage policy for their non-permanent workers. Significantly, not a single company employing contractual employees has made an effort to recognise workers' collectives that can bargain for the rights of labourers; in fact, companies like Amazon have actively tried to break up such bodies. India's high rate of unemployment makes labour cheap and weakens the bargaining power of non-permanent employees. But exploitative companies and lax State supervision are not the only hurdles to ensuring a healthy working environment.

Karachi on high alert over mysterious deaths

The city of Karachi is grappling with a mysterious and concerning trend as the number of unidentified bodies found in various areas of the metropolis has now reached 22, according to a Geo News report on Wednesday.

On Tuesday, five new bodies were discovered, adding to the growing list of unexplained deaths.

According to the Chhipa Welfare Association, a non-profit welfare organization in Pakistan, three of the latest victims appear to be drug addicts, as per Geo News.

Despite efforts by the organization's volunteers, none of the 22 bodies have been identified.

A spokesperson of the Chhipa Welfare Association said in a statement on Tuesday, that volunteers found five more bodies in different areas of Karachi on Tuesday. "Three of them were seemingly drug addicts, however, not a single body was identified so far," the spokesperson added.

According to Geo News, the non-government organisation, that runs a network of ambulances in the metropolis, confirmed that the number of unidentified bodies has reached 22 after today's recoveries.

It added that nearly two dozen of those bodies were still unclaimed as no relatives of the deceased persons came to receive them.

The deaths were attributed to an ongoing heatwave in the port city which affected a vast number of citizens as many of them were admitted to different hospitals due to heatstroke.

An official of another humanitarian organisation in Karachi, Edhi Foundation's Azeem Khan told The News yesterday that most of the deceased were drug addicts who died due to severe heat while being under the influence of drugs after over a dozen unidentified persons were found dead in different areas of Karachi.

Meanwhile, in Karachi a senior citizen was brutally assaulted by a group of drug users after confronting them about openly using drugs outside his residence, ARY News reported.

According to details, the victim attempted to stop the youths from engaging in drug activity in front of his home, which provoked the youths, resulting in severe violence against the elderly man. This incident highlights the rising issue of drug abuse in Pakistan, particularly the increasing use of Ice, also known as crystal methamphetamine.

Crystal meth is a highly addictive and potent stimulant that can have devastating effects on individuals and society as a whole. The usage of ice in Pakistan has been particularly prevalent among the younger generation. The drug is often seen as a party drug that can enhance energy, alertness, and confidence, making it appealing to young people looking for a quick high. The ease of access to ice, as well as its relatively low cost compared to other drugs, has contributed to its popularity among young Pakistanis.

Study gives more insight into risk of obstetric anal sphincter injury

When a first-time mother needs medical assistance during childbirth, the chance of obstetric anal sphincter injury — a serious kind of perineal trauma between the vulva and anus — is more than halved when a lateral episiotomy (angled incision) is made in the tissue between the vaginal and anal opening.

Researchers from Stockholm's Danderyd Hospital and Karolinska Institutet conducted a randomised clinical trial, the findings of which were reported in The BMJ.

Anal incontinence and trouble holding onto gas and excrement can result from obstetric anal sphincter injury (OASI), which affects the anal sphincter muscles. In addition, it can lower quality of life and lead to sexual issues. In Sweden, around 5% of all first-time women who give birth vaginally suffer from this severe type of perineal damage.

"Women giving birth for the first time and requiring instrumental birth are at the highest risk of sustaining OASI," said

Israel to roll out plan to replace Hamas in northern Gaza

Jerusalem will "soon" roll out a plan to replace Hamas governance in northern Gaza, Israeli National Security Advisor Tzachi Hanegbi said on Tuesday.

Speaking at Reichman University's annual Herzliya Conference, Hanegbi said that the collapse of Hamas's military ability to rule will open opportunities "for countries that want to see a governing alternative to Hamas in Gaza, with local leadership in Gaza, to join this process."

He explained that Gaza's new leadership will include Israel's Abraham Accords partners, the United States, the European Union and the United Nations, while the Israeli military continues "cleansing the area" of Hamas's presence. "We've been talking about this notion of 'the day after' for many months and the main thing that we've tried to emphasize throughout is that it's mainly the day after Hamas in the sense that we don't need to wait for it to disappear, because that process could take a long time." "The idea is, and this is what the Americans agree on, including in the conversations this week and also in the conversation that the minister of defense [Yoav Gallant] is conducting right now [in Washington], is that there will be a so-called top-down leadership, and not only bottom-up," he continued.

Said Hanegbi, "You cannot completely get Hamas to disappear because it's an idea, a concept."

The US has pressed Israeli officials to clarify a vision for Gaza's governance after the war. The Biden administration opposes Israel occupying Gaza or allowing the Strip to descend into chaos. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has stressed that Israel's three war aims are the destruction of Hamas's military and governing capabilities, the return of all hostages.

Baby's Way

If baby only wanted to, he could fly up to heaven this moment. It is not for nothing that he does not leave us. He loves to rest his head on mother's bosom, and cannot ever bear to lose sight of her. Baby knows all manner of wise words, though few on earth can understand their meaning. It is not for nothing that he never wants to speak. The one thing he wants is to learn mother's words from mother's lips. That is why he looks so innocent. Baby had a heap of gold and pearls.

Setback for Justin Trudeau as Liberal party loses longtime stronghold in bypolls

In a closely-contested election, Conservative candidate Don Stewart, a consultant, claimed victory with about 42 per cent of the vote against Liberal candidate Leslie Church, a former Parliament Hill staffer and lawyer, who took roughly 40 per cent of the ballots cast. The poor showing by the Liberal Party in a stronghold like this could prompt some soul-searching for Trudeau, who has seen his popularity plummet amid inflation, the cost of living crisis, high home prices and surging immigration levels, driving voter discontent, as per CBC News.

This Conservative upset is likely to cause some anxiety in the Liberal caucus because such a dramatic vote swing could put other supposedly "safe" seats in play for the Conservatives in the next general election. The outgoing Liberal MP, Carolyn Bennett, beat her Conservative opponent by some 24 points in this riding in 2021.

Church lost by about two points. If that same sort of vote swing was applied to other ridings in the province, dozens of Liberal MPs could lose their seats at the next election.

Roughly 55 Liberal MPs won their Ontario ridings by a smaller margin than what Bennett posted here in Toronto-St Paul's in the last general election, according to a CBC News analysis of past election data.

Bennett, a popular figure in the party with a strong local following, resigned last year after 26 years in Parliament to become Canada's ambassador to Denmark.

Justin Trudeau reacted to the shock results and said he hears people's "concerns and frustrations", adding that he and his team have a lot of hard work to do.

"This was obviously not the result we wanted, but I want to be clear that I hear your concerns and frustrations," Trudeau said in a media statement. He did not take questions from reporters.

"These are not easy times. And it is clear, I and my entire team have much more hard work to do to deliver tangible, real progress that Canadians can see and feel," he added.

Trudeau's main rival, Conservative Leader Pierre Poilievre, reacted to the results and asked PM

Trudeau to call an early election.

"Here is the verdict: Trudeau can't go on like this," Poilievre posted on X. "He must call a carbon tax election now."

Amid concerns among voters, Trudeau's approval ratings have fallen to a record low of 30 per cent, just a year ahead of the election year. Several reports have even claimed Trudeau's Liberal Party badly losing to the Conservatives in the next elections.

The general elections in Canada are expected to be held sometime next year.

Despite plummeting ratings, Trudeau has vowed to lead the Liberal Party into the elections next year.

We speak to experts about common triggers that cause hormonal imbalances and finds out how you can keep these vital chemical messengers from spiralling out of control.

Did you know that every hormone in your body affects your metabolism? And every hormone affects each other—when one is out of balance, it has profound effects on all the other hormones. They influence our appetite, metabolism and fat distribution in different ways. So if you're someone who heads to the gym a couple of times a week, sticks to a normal diet plan, and still have no control over your weight, it's time you went to an endocrinologist or gynaecologist.

Cause and effect
Dr Sunita Banerji, gynaecologist and anti-ageing specialist at Eternesse clinic, Mumbai, says, "I know a lot of women who gave up after trying all kinds of diet plan and exercise without significant success in losing weight. Too many women struggle needlessly because they just do not know that certain hormonal imbalances are working against their efforts. Hormones influence how we build muscle, where we store fat and even our ability to lose fat. The good news is that the underlying hormonal imbalances that trigger weight gain can be corrected." That stubborn bulge!

Bindal praises proposal on Emergency in Lok Sabha, congratulates Om Birla

DINESH AGARWAL
SHIMLA, JUNE 26

BJP State President Dr. Rajeev Bindal has praised Om Birla, who was re-elected as the Speaker of the Lok Sabha, for bringing a proposal on the Emergency on his first day. Dr. Bindal commended this proposal, stating that it is a significant initiative by the Lok Sabha Speaker to emphasize that nothing stands above democracy.

Dr. Bindal explained that, according to the proposal, the House strongly condemns the decision to impose the Emergency in the country in 1975. Additionally, it appreciates the determination of all those who vehemently opposed the Emergency, engaged in unprecedented struggles, and took on the responsibility of protecting India's democracy. June 25, 1975, will always be remembered as a dark chapter in India's history when then-Prime Minister Indira Gandhi imposed the Emergency, severely impacting the Constitution crafted by Dr. B.R. Ambedkar. India's identity as the 'Mother of Democracy' has always fostered democratic values and dialogue, ensuring their protection and encouragement. However,

Indira Gandhi imposed a dictatorship, crushed democratic values, and stifled freedom of expression.

During the Emergency, citizens' rights were destroyed, and their freedom was taken away. It was a time when opposition leaders were imprisoned, and the entire country was turned into a prison. The dictatorial government imposed numerous restrictions on the media and curtailed the autonomy of the judiciary. That period in our country's history was marked by injustice and tyranny. The Congress government of that time made several decisions post-Emergency that trampled on the spirit of our Constitution. By amending the Maintenance of Internal Security Act (MISA), the Congress Party ensured that courts could not provide justice to those arrested under MISA. Acts like the Parliamentary Proceedings (Protection of Publication) Repeal Act, Press Council (Repeal) Act, and Prevention of Publication of Objectionable Matter Act were introduced to prevent the media from writing the truth. During this dark period, the 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, and 42nd amendments to the Constitution were made.
