security forces and terrorists on Monday evening in the Uradbagi forest area of village Desa, they said. "Five security personnel, including four Army soldiers, sustained critical injuries in the exchange of fire," an official said. Four of these soldiers later succumbed to their injuries. The deceased soldiers are: Captain Brijesh Thapa. Naik D Rajesh, Sepoy Bijendra and Sepoy Ajay.

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA MAHENDERGARH, JULY 16

Union Minister of Home and Cooperation, Sh Amit Shah said that following the Cen-tral Government's guidelines, the creamy layer limit for backward classes in Haryana has been increased from Rs 6 lakh to Rs 8 lakh annually. Similar to the Government of India, salary and income from agriculture will not be clubbed in this limit, benefiting lakhs of people. Sh Amit Shah was addressing the gathering at the state-level Backward Class Samman Sammelan in Mahendragarh today. Chief Minister Sh Nayab Singh Saini was also present on this occasion.

The Union Home and Cooperation Minister said that the Haryana government has taken another historic decision by increasing the reservation for backward classes in Panchayats, Municipal Corporations, and Municipalities. Previously, there was a provision of 8 percent reservation for the BC-A category in Panchayati Raj institu-tions. Now, an additional 5 percent reservation will be provided for the BC-B category. This decision will signifi cantly benefit the people of Haryana by expanding access to reservation. Similarly. there is an existing provision of 8 percent reservation for the BC-A category in urban local bodies. Now, a 5 percent reservation will also be provided for the BC-B category. He recalled that when

Prime Minister Sh Narendra Modi first took office in 2014 he stated in his inaugural parliamentary speech that his government would be a government for Scheduled Castes, the poor, and the backward.

Taking a dig at the opposition, Union Home Minister Sh Amit Shah said that Harvana Leader of Opposition Sh Bhupinder Singh Hooda only starts chanting "BC-BC-BC" when elections are near. He accused the Congress party of always being against the OBC community. Shah highlighted that the Kaka Saheb Commission was formed in 1957 for OBC reservations, but Congress did not implement it for years. In 1980, Indira Gandhi shelved the Mandal Commission, and when it was introduced in 1990, then Prime Minister Sh Rajiv Gandhi opposed OBC reservations with a 2-hour and 43-minute speech. In contrast, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has granted constitutional rights to the backward classes by giving constitutional recognition to the Backward Class Commission. Additionally, the BJP-led government, under Prime Minister Sh Narendra Modi, has introduced 27 per cent reservation for OBCs in Kendriya Vidyalayas, Navo daya Vidyalayas, Sainik Schools, and NEET examina-

NEW DELHI, JULY 16

The Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to hear AAP leader Manish Sisodia's pleas seeking bail in corruption and money laundering cases linked to the alleged Delhi excise policy scam. A bench headed by Justice B R Gavai sought responses from the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) and the Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Sisodia's pleas and posted the matter for hearing on July 29. > NEW DELHI: The government has convened an all-party meeting on July 21 ahead of the Monsoon Session of Parliament which will start next Monday, sources said. This will be Leader of Opposition and Congress MP Rahul Gandhi's first time at the customary session-eve meeting of floor leaders from all parties if he attends it.

Trinamool Congress sources said no representatives from the party will attend the meeting as July 21 is observed by the party as Mar-tyrs Day. The July 21 Martyr's Day is observed in memory of 13 Congress supporters who were shot dead in firing by the Kolkata Police in 1993 during a march to the state secretariat -- Writers Build-ings -- when the CPI(M)-led Left Front was in power in West Bengal.

Mamata Banerjee was the state Youth Congress chief at that time and she continued to mark the day by holding a rally every year even after forming the Trinamool Congress on January 1, 1998.

The Monsoon Session of Parliament is scheduled to begin on July 22 and will conclude on August 12. The Budget will be presented on July 23.

BMW hit-and-run case: Main accused Mihir Shah gets 14-day judicial custody

AGENCY MUMBAI, JULY 16

A court here on Tuesday remanded Mihir Shah, the prime accused in the BMW hit-and-run case, in 14-day judicial custody.

Shah, 24, was arrested on July 9, two days after he allegedly rammed his BMW car into a two-wheeler, killing a woman, identified as Kaveri Ňakhwa (45), and leaving her husband, Pradeep, injured in Mumbai's Worli area.

The main accused in the case was produced before Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (Sewri court) S P Bhosale at the end of his remand on Tuesday

Police sought extension of his custody saying the accused has not given information about the persons who harboured him while he was on the run

He has still not given information about the missing number plate, the police, represented by public prosecutors Ravindra Patil and Bharti Bhosle, submitted in the court.

The probe is underway and considering the gravity of the offence, the custody should be extended, the prosecution said.

Advocates Ayush Pasbola and Shudir Bhardwaj, appearing for

Shah, opposed the remand saying the police have recovered whatever they needed to seize from the accused. The police have recorded the statements of 27 witnesses and enough time had been given to the investigators to find out who all the accused contacted while he absconded, the defence said. After hearing both sides, the court remanded the accused in judicial custody. Mihir, the son of the ruling Shiv Sena leader Rajesh Shah, had fled after the fatal crash. According to the police, Rajesh Shah took an active part in ensuring his son's escape and also had plans to tow away the offending

RAJNEESH SHARMA

HAMIRPUR: The much-discussed political drama of Himachal Pradesh, which began in the last week of February, concluded in the second week of July. The Congress maintained its strength with 40 MLAs in both February and July after the by-elections. The BJP, which had 25 MLAs in February, has now increased its tally to 28. There are no independent MLAs in the assembly anymore.

Out of the three independents who resigned and joined the BJP, two lost the by-elections. Additionally, four of the six rebel Congress members who joined the BJP and contested the by-elections also lost. The defeated candidates include Rajendra Rana from Sujanpur, Ravi Thakur from Lahaul Spiti, Devendra Bhutto from Kutlehar, Chaitanya Sharma from Gagret, Hoshiyar Singh from Dehra, and K.L. Thakur from Nalagarh.

In the nine by-elections in Himachal, Ashish Sharma from Hamirpur, Inder Dutt Lakhanpal from Barsar, and Sudhir Sharma from Dharamshala were re-elected despite their discontent and rebellion against the Sukhwinder Singh Sukhu government. These three, now BJP legislators, won due to their personal vote banks and support from the BJP cadre. In CM Sukhu's home district, Hamirpur, the Congress lost two out of three seats in the by-elections.

Six new members were elected to the assembly in the recent by-elections, all from the Congress party. The new Congress MLAs are Captain Ranjit Singh Rana from Sujanpur, Kamlesh Thakur from Dehra, Anuradha from Lahaul Spiti, Vivek Sharma Vikku from Kutlehar, Hardeep Baba from Nalagarh, and Rakesh Kalia from Gagret.

Editorial Trickster dawn

t was hard to fight the elation while watching the United Kingdom election results coming in. The main thing, at many moments the only thing, that mattered was tracking, window by smashed window, the defenestration of so many Tory leaders and grandees by an enraged electorate. For anyone who has suffered directly under fourteen years of the most cruel, cynical and incompetent tenure of any modern British government, the moment was, to put it mildly, cathartic. For the last several weeks, the polls had been signalling the departure of the toxic Conservative circus; from 10 pm BST, on July 4, the exit polls (mostly reliable, unlike ours) confirmed it; and in the early hours of July 5, Rishi Sunak finally did something right when he announced that he had called Keir Starmer to tell him that he had conceded. By 11.30 am, Sunak was making the best and the most honest speech of his time as prime minister, taking responsibility for the debacle, apologising to the voters while accepting their verdict, and welcoming the opponent about to replace him as a decent and sincere man who would do his best for the country.

Within ninety minutes, a man with a very different energy was giving his first speech as the new prime minister of Britain. Starmer was measured, his jubilation tempered, his words precisely calculated towards raising the people's spirits while managing long-pent-up desires and expectations. "We will fight until you believe..." this statement acknowledged that the long Tory procession of performative mendacity had shredded the faith in politicians, democracy and government. He promised that this sorry sequence was now over and his government would work to earn the trust of the people. There was an overwhelming feeling that, for the first time since Gordon Brown exited this storied cul-de-sac, there was a responsible grown-up in charge of the country.

Which brings us to the inescapable phrase, 'having said that'. There are many things to note as Starmer and his new cabinet take charge of the rickety contraption known as Great Britain. As so many have pointed out, Labour's majority is 'a mile wide and an inch deep'. As the snake-dance of the first-past-the-post system continues, let us savour the messy contradictions of the UK results to briefly distract ourselves from the cat's cradle that is our own political situation. Despite Starmer's repeated stress on a 'changed Labour Party' now taking charge, the fact is that the much-maligned Jeremy Corbyn won 40% of the vote share in 2017 as opposed to the current 35% garnered by Starmer, and 32% — iust 3% less — in the 'wipe-out' of the 2019 elections where Corbyn and the Labour campaign were energetically sabotaged by elements in his own party.

Who is Usha Chilukuri Vance

sha Chilukuri Vance, the wife of JD Vance, whom Donald Trump declared as his running mate in the upcoming US presidential elections on Monday, brings a wealth of credentials and a deep connection to Indian values and culture.

A litigator at a national firm, Usha Vance is the daughter of Indian immigrants and has an impressive academic background. She holds a bachelor's degree in History from Yale University and a Master of Philosophy degree from the University of Cambridge, according to the New York Times.

Born Usha Chilukuri, she has carved out a distinguished career in the legal field, having clerked for Supreme Court Justices John Roberts and Brett Kavanaugh before Kavanaugh's nomination to the Court.

Raised in a suburb of San Diego, California, with a strong emphasis on education and hard work, Usha's academic achievements include serving as Managing Editor of the Yale Journal of Law & Technology and Executive Development Editor of The Yale Law Journal, according to a biography from Munger, Tolles & Olson law firm.

After four years of intense extracurricular activity at Yale, she continued her studies as a Gates fellow at Cambridge, where she engaged with left-wing and liberal groups. She was a registered Democrat in 2014.

Usha and JD Vance first met at Yale Law School and were married in Kentucky in 2014, with a Hindu priest presiding over a separate ceremony, according to the New York Times. The couple has three children together.

Usha Vance has played a subtle yet significant role in her husband's success. She assisted Vance in organizing his thoughts on the social decline in rural white America. which inspired his best-selling memoir, Hillbilly Elegy, which was adapted into a film directed by Ron Howard in 2020. In the past, she has made some rare appearances with Vance as he sought the Ohio Senate seat.

As the US presidential elections draw near, former US President Donald Trump made his pick for Vice President, selecting JD Vance as his running mate on Monday. Trump confirmed Vance's candidature through a post on social media.

Speaking to news agency, a US-based global real estate investment advisor and a well-known entrepreneur, AI Mason said, "Usha Vance is a highly accomplished attorney and daughter of Indian immigrants and her husband brings youth and diversity to the Trump ticket."

"She knows the Indian culture and all about India. She can be a big help to her husband in navigating great ties between USA and India," the entrepreneur, who is also a friend of the Trump family, said.

Meanwhile, in an interview earlier with Fox & Friends, Usha Chilukuri Vance and her Senator husband talked about the two having different faiths, and what are their views on the speculations of him becoming a pick for the Vice President of the US.

"I don't think people understand how hard he works and how creative he is. Everything he says and does is built on a foundation of so much thought. He's always trying to do better," Usha Vance said.

On being asked about the reason behind her support for JD Vance, as the US Presidential elections remain around the corner, Usha told Fox, "There are a few different reasons...One is that I grew up in a religious household. My parents are Hindu, and that was one of the things that made them such good parents, that makes them really very good people. And so I think I've seen that...the power of that in my own life, and I knew that JD was searching for something. This just felt right for him."

The interview was taken three weeks before the announcement of JD Vance as the running mate of Trump in the upcoming US presidential polls.

Vance was born James David Bowman in Middletown, Ohio, to a mother who struggled with addiction and a father who left the family when JD was a toddler. He was raised by his grandparents.

The Trump campaign says the former president, following his brush with death, will call for unity in the face of tragedy instead of criticising his political adversaries as he faces off with President Biden in a 2024 election rematch.

Early life antibiotic might increases risk of asthma: Study arly exposure to antibiotics Emight increase long-term vul-nerability to asthma. Importantly, the study team discovered a chemical generated by gut bacteria that might possibly be used in the future as a simple therapy, in the form of a food supplement, to prevent asthma in children, according to recent study from Monash University.

Asthma affects around 260 million people worldwide, resulting in approximately 455,000 deaths each year.

Professor Ben Marsland's study, published today (TBC) in the journal Immunity, identified a molecule called IPA as critical for long-term asthma prevention.

Importantly the finding of the molecule produced by bacteria in a healthy gut provides an explanation as to why the recurrent use of antibiotics increases the risk of asthma, according to Professor Marsland. "We know that recurrent use of antibiotics early in life disrupts a person's healthy gut microbiota and increases the risk of allergies and asthma. We have discovered that a consequence of antibiotic treatment is the depletion of bacteria that produce IPA, thus reducing a key molecule that has the potential to prevent asthma," he said.

The first years of life are important in developing a stable gut microbiota, according to Professor Marsland. "It is shaped first by food intake - both milk and solid foods as well as genetics, and environmental exposures. Infants at high risk of allergies and asthma have been shown to have a disrupted and delayed maturation of the gut microbiome," he said.

"The use of antibiotics in the first year of life can have the unintentional effect of reducing bacteria which promote health, and we now know from this research that antibiotics lead to reduced IPA, which we have found is critical early in life as our lung cells mature, making it a candidate for early life prevention of allergic airway inflammation."

Working in mice predisposed to develop asthma, the research team found that - when given antibiotics in early life - the mice were more susceptible to house-dust mite-induced allergic airway inflammation and this lasted into adulthood. Asthma is commonly triggered by exposure to house dust mite.

This susceptibility was maintained long-term, even after the gut microbiome and IPA levels returned to normal, highlighting that this molecule's function was particularly important early in life.

When these mice had their diet supplemented with the IPA molecule early in life, the researchers found that the mice were effectively cured of developing the house dust mite induced allergic airway inflammation, or asthma, in adulthood.

Punjab police fails to take action after 7 months of complaint

KULDEEP SOOD BARNALA: To make every district safe, DGP Punjab Gaurav Yadav has issued instructions to all the district heads of Puniab to speed up action against petty crimes to curb crime in the state, and to register FIRs in cases of petty crimes like robbery and theft. Instructions have been given to give priority to registration. He said that it has come to my notice that field officers usually do not register FIRs in petty crimes. As per the instructions issued by him, police chiefs of all districts should register FIRs. President of District Marriage Palace Association and former President of Halwai Union Kuldeep Sood called the above instructions published in newspapers ridiculous and said that even after giving an application to any police station, even to the SSP sahab of the district, when this application is sent to lower officials from DSP sahab, this marked application usually becomes an ornament of files. Sood said that a migrant confectioner (artisan) bought a plot of four acres with his hard work and planted 10-12 deck trees in it. When they became capable of cutting the deck trees, Ravi Kumar, a neighbour of the plot, along with some of his associates, stole the said trees in December 2023 and sold them. On coming to know about this, the owner Mam Chand complained about these stolen trees to DSP Sub Division Barnala on 27 December-2023. The investigation of which was marked to ASI Amarjit Singh Police Station City-2.

Tejaswini Singh to play the title role in &TV's Bheema!

CHANDIGARH: Since the promo for &TV's new show Bheema aired, the industry has been buzzing about the young girl cast in the title role. After an extensive audition process, Tejaswini Singh has been chosen to play the role of 8-year old Bheema in the show, which is produced by Raj Khatri Productions.

Sharing her excitement about playing Bheema's role. Tejaswini Singh says. "I am so happy to play the title role of Bheema! It's super exciting for me, and my friends and family are excited too. We started shooting recently, and the team is helping me rehearse my lines and get into character. I am learning so much every day, and I can't wait for everyone to see the hard work we're putting into bringing Bheema's story to screen." Describing her character, she adds, "Bheema is a captivating blend of curiosity and inquisitiveness. She is always asking questions and seeking to understand the world she lives in. Her eyes, brimming with courage and determination, are a testament to her spirited nature. She loves playing games with her friends and sister, especially marbles. Her closest relationships are with her mom (Smita Sable) and her cousin Kundan, though she doesn't get along with her Tai." Tejaswini has already started shooting for the show, and sharing her experience, she adds, "My first day on set was incredibly exciting. We were shooting in the interiors of Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh. I was captivated by the beautiful village setting, which featured a charming farm and a serene pond.

Atal ke khilaaf rachi hai badhi sazish!

CHANDIGARH: Atal (Vyom Thakkar) follows his brother Awadh's instructions to take care of the Gau Mata, only to be shocked by her sudden demise. When Atal wakes up early in the morning to tend to Gau Mata, it is revealed that she has passed away. Many people blame Atal for the unfortunate incident, but Krishna Devi believes there is a larger conspiracy at play to put Atal in a difficult position. Krishna Devi, played by Neha Joshi, says, "The people of the Muhalla and the Sarpanch gather in the courtyard/Aangan of the house. Everyone blames Atal for the incident because he went against societal norms. Tomar, trying to undermine Atal, claims it is his fault for not properly caring for Gau Mata. Krishna Bihari (Ashutosh Kulkarni), Krishna Devi, Atal's Dadaji and brother Awadh try to take the blame to protect Atal. Despite the family's efforts to shield Atal, everyone insists that he take the blame and pay for his mistake. As Atal gets flashes of Gau Mata, he accepts the blame and announces that he will perform the Prashchit.
