Snag-hit helicopter being airlifted for repairs crashes in Kedarnath

RUDRAPRAYAG: A snag-hit helicopter being towed to Gauchar for repairs by an MI-17 chopper of the Indian Air Force crashed in the hills near Kedarnath on Saturday morning.

There were no casualties as the helicopter that crashed was unoccupied, Rudraprayag's District Tourism Officer Rahul Chaubey said.

The helicopter belonged to Crystal Aviation Pvt Ltd and had been lying in disuse since its emergency landing in Kedarnath on May 24 after developing a technical snag, he said.

In the May 24 emergency landing by the helicopter, all seven people on board, including pilgrims, escaped unhurt.

It was being taken to Gauchar for repairs on Saturday morning by an MI-17 helicopter which began to go off balance over Lincholi. Sensing trouble, the pilot of the MI-17 dropped the snag-hit chopper at a vacant spot so that there was no human casualty, Chaubey said. There was no passenger or luggage in the crashed helicopter. A rescue team reached the spot as soon as information was received. The team is inspecting the situation, the official said. Meanwhile, the IAF said that the chopper had to "jettison the load" due to flight safety reasons.

EC defers Haryana Assembly poll by 4 days to October 5, result on October 8

Counting of votes for J-K and Haryana Assembly polls will now be held on October 8 instead of October 4, says EC

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 31

The Election Commission on Saturday deferred the Haryana Assembly poll date to October 5 from October 1, keeping in mind a centuries-old festival of the Bishnoi community. The counting of votes for the Jammu and Kashmir and Haryana Assembly polls will now be held on October 8 instead of October 4, the poll body said. It said the decision has been taken to honour both the voting rights and traditions of the Bishnoi community, which has upheld a 300-400 years old practice in remembrance of their Guru Jambheshwar. The EC had received a representation from the national president of the All India Bishnoi Mahasabha, Bikaner, Rajasthan, for rescheduling the date for the Haryana assembly elections. He said generations of families from Punjab, Rajasthan and Haryana visit their native village Mukam in Rajasthan on 'amavas' in the month of 'Asoj' for the annual festival in Bikaner in the memory of Guru Jambheshwar.

India likely to experience above-normal rainfall in September: IMD

NEW DELHI: After a wetter-than-normal August, India is likely to experience above-normal rainfall in September, with heavy to very heavy precipitation expected in northwest India and the surrounding areas.

Addressing a virtual press conference, IMD Director-General Mrutyunjay Mohapatra said the country is expected to receive above-normal rainfall in September, at 109 per cent of the long period average of 167.9 mm.

Heavy to very heavy rainfall is anticipated in the northwest region, including Uttarakhand, parts of Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Rajasthan, and the adjoining areas of Madhya Pradesh.

"Above-normal rainfall is likely over most parts of India, except for some areas in extreme northwest India, many parts of the southern peninsula, northern Bihar, and northeastern Uttar Pradesh, as well as most of northeast India, where below normal rainfall is expected," the IMD chief said.

PM Modi bats for speedy justice in cases of crime against women

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 31

Prime Minister Narendra Modi Saturday underlined the need for swift justice in cases involving crime against women and said that it would give them greater assurance of their safety.

His remarks come against the backdrop of the rape and murder of a Kolkata doctor and sexual assault on two kindergarten girls in Maharashtra's Thane.

Modi also said the judiciary is considered a guardian of the Constitution, and that the Supreme Court and the judiciary have lived up to the responsibility.

Addressing the inaugural session of a national conference of the district judiciary in the presence of Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud, Modi referred to the "burning issue" of atrocities against women and safety of children and said it was a matter of serious concern.

Noting that stringent provisions have been made in laws for safety of women, the prime minister referred to the fast track special court scheme launched in 2019.

"The faster the verdict is delivered in cases of atrocities against women, the greater assurance half of the population will have about their safety," he said.

The district monitoring committees, comprising the district judge, the district magistrate and the superintendent of police, can play a key role, he said.

Pointing to the important role of the panel in coordinating between various aspects of the criminal justice system, Modi stressed on the need to make these committees more active.

The Kolkata incident has also become a flashpoint between the TMC government in West Bengal and the BJP-led NDA government at the Centre.

On Friday, West Benal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee wrote to Modi, reiterating her request for stringent central legislation and exemplary punishment on heinous crimes like rape and murder.

Banerjee, who wrote to Modi a few days ago on the issue following nationwide uproar over the rape and murder of the doctor at the R G Kar Medical College and Hospital in Kolkata on August 9, sought mandatory provision for time-bound disposal of cases of rape/rape and murder.

In response, Union minister Annapurna Devi asserted that existing laws were stringent enough to tackle violence and crimes against women and urged the West Bengal government to implement the same in "letter and spirit".

The government launched the Fast Track Special Court (FTSC) scheme in 2019 to tackle pending cases of crimes against women and those filed under The Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012. Since its inception, these courts have disposed of more than 2.53 lakh cases.

Referring to the role of Judiciary in protecting the Constitution and the spirit of law, the prime minister said the people of India have never shown any distrust of the Supreme Court or the judiciary.

Describing the imposition of the Emergency as a "dark" period, he said the judiciary played a key role in upholding fundamental rights.

The Haryana Staff Selection Commission ignored recruitments for nine years and eleven months: Kumari Selja

SHIV Kumar Sharma
SIRSA, AUG 31

The General Secretary of the All India Congress Committee, former Union Minister, and Sirsa MP Kumari Selja said that from the very beginning, the intentions of the state's BJP government regarding providing employment have been flawed. This is why it never took any meaningful steps to fill the two lakh vacant posts. The slogan-chanting BJP government kept making announcements for recruitments. Now that the model code of conduct is in place in the state, the Haryana Staff Selection Commission is seeking permission from the Election Commission for recruitments, which the Commission has clearly refused. The Commission is now asking for permission, even though it sat idle for nine years and eleven months. It should issue a white paper and inform the public about what it has done in its nearly ten-year tenure. The public will no longer be misled by the BJP and will settle all accounts with their votes in the election. Reacting to the press conference of Haryana Staff Selection Commission's Himat Singh, Kumari Selja said that despite the model code of conduct being in place in the state, the Commission is talking about recruitment.

The government knows well, and even the Commission chairman knows that the Election Commission never allows such actions. The Commission has made it clear that any recruitment will have to be done after the elections. The chairman is saying that they are ready for recruitment, but the Election Commission is not giving permission. By saying this, the chairman and the BJP government are misleading the public. If they really intended to recruit, what were they doing until now, or were they waiting for the model code of conduct to be enforced? She said the BJP is a slogan-chanting government whose only job is to make false promises. Now, the public will not fall for the government's false promises. Kumari Selja said that neither the government nor the Haryana Staff Selection Commission ever had the intention to provide employment to the youth. The youths worked hard for every exam, took the tests, but later found out that the papers had been leaked.

The government could not impose any control over those leaking the papers, and Haryana set a new record in paper leaks.

The Haryana Staff Selection Commission should issue a white paper to inform the public about what it has been doing for nine years and eleven months. She said that while one lakh twenty thousand youths were recruited under HKRN, if the government intended to recruit, it should have made permanent appointments to the vacant posts. But the BJP government did not do so because it never thought about providing employment to the youth. HKRS employees are being economically exploited by being paid meager wages, and the government has ignored the policy of equal pay for equal work. The youth of the state will give a strong reply to the BJP in this election with their votes.

Another setback for BJP in Karnal

Former chairman of Improvement Trust Rakesh Nagpal joins Congress

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KARNAL, AUG 31

Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has suffered another major setback in Karnal. Former chairman of Karnal Improvement Trust Rakesh Nagpal has decided to leave BJP and join Congress. This is the second time this week that BJP has suffered a major loss in Karnal, especially in the case of leaders belonging to the Punjabi community. On Saturday, Rakesh Nagpal reached Delhi, where he joined the Congress party led by former Chief Minister Bhupendra Singh Hooda. Nagpal said that the way he was sidelined in BJP was unexpected. He also told that he was forced to take this decision because he was constantly being pushed to the sidelines within the party. Nagpal alleged that some BJP leaders were involved in trying to end his political career, due to which he had to leave the party. Rakesh Nagpal is considered a prominent face of the Punjabi community of Karnal. 10 years ago, former Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar got him inducted into the BJP, but Nagpal believes that he did not get the respect and position in the party that he deserved.

This is the second major setback for the BJP in Karnal within a week. Earlier also, former head of Haryana Sikh Gurdwara Management Committee in Karnal, Amarinder Singh Arora, had said goodbye to the BJP by joining the Congress.

These symptoms usually persist for 2 to 7 days, and the disease progresses through three phases: febrile, critical, and recovery. Unlike typical love stories, this show focuses on their contrasting personalities and viewpoints, showing how their lives collide in surprising ways.

Since the show and its characters are based in Udaipur, the team shot the initial sequences in the city to capture its grandeur and authenticity. To bring her role as Vasudha to life, actress Priya Thakur took on the challenge of learning the Rajasthani dialect. During the shoot in the City of Lakes—Udaipur—Priya immersed herself in the local culture, spending time with residents to grasp the nuances of the language. Her dedication to mastering the dialect highlights her passion for portraying Vasudha.

Priya Thakur said, "I am very eager to play Vasudha. I am in love with the character and her look. As an actor, it's essential to fully embody the character, both in appearance and language. To bring Vasudha to life authentically, I knew mastering the dialect that reflects her roots was crucial. Travelling through Udaipur, engaging with the locals, and immersing myself in their way of life has been incredibly rewarding. The genuine warmth and hospitality of the people facilitated my connection with them and helped me understand the nuances of their language. I've learned key phrases such as 'Khamma Ghani' (Greetings), and 'Tu Kiso hai' (How are you?) as well as cultural expressions like 'Ram Ram Sa' (A traditional greeting), 'Padharo Sa' (Please come) and more. This deep cultural immersion has enriched my portrayal of the character."

India's most violent film, Kill set to premiere on Disney+ Hotstar on 6th September, 2024

CHANDIGARH: Blood, high-octane action, and power-packed fight sequences; India's deadliest and most violent action thriller, Kill is set to stream on Disney+ Hotstar from 6th September, 2024 onwards. Directed by Nikhil Nagesh Bhat, the film sends chills down our spine as we prepare for a 'bloody' ride filled with intense action and compelling performances by talented debutant Lakshya, along with Raghav Juyal and Tanya Maniktala who bring their own charm to the film.

Writer and Director Nikhil Nagesh Bhat said, "Seeing Kill transition from a successful theatrical run to now preparing to release on Disney+ Hotstar is incredibly exciting for me. I was inspired to write the story for Kill from a personal experience dating back to around 1994-95, that shook me forever. Hence, making Kill as raw as possible was really important for me to translate my true emotions. Kill wouldn't have been possible without Lakshya's raw skills, Raghav's professional approach and the entire team's unflinching support! I am really glad how the audiences connected with it, and with its release on Disney+ Hotstar, I hope a larger audience gets a chance to indulge and experience the film."

Debutant Lakshya said, "I am extremely grateful for the love I have received through this movie. For my character Amrit, I went through a very strict fitness regime. There were times I went beyond my limits to adapt to the role. Nikhil sir has truly been a guiding force throughout the process and I consider him to be my biggest mentor. After exploring the action genre I cannot wait to try on different roles! With the film now releasing on Disney+ Hotstar, I am looking forward to a larger audience to enjoy this deadly action and bloodshed."

Actor Raghav Juyal said "From auditioning for Kill to shooting it with Lakshya, my whole journey for the film has been fun. Like, I always said I have never shied away from working hard. With Kill, I got a chance to tell the world that I can act too, and playing a negative role is always a big responsibility that requires immense conviction. Lakshya and I did a lot of physical training together for this one, which really improved our bond off-screen as well. The best thing I find about my character Fani in the film is his twisted humor and sarcasm. Preparing for this role mentally was more crucial than physically, as Fani is a clever lad, and he brings in the thrill in the film. With the film set to stream on Disney+ Hotstar, I hope more audiences are able to watch it and love it as much as we did while making it!"

Holistic approach needed over new industrial cities

The National Democratic Alliance government has announced a slew of measures that boost the manufacturing sector in the Indian economy. The measures include setting up of smart industrial cities across the country, which the government expects would attract foreign investment from major global manufacturers, who are pursuing the new China plus one policy. The 12 smart industrial cities will be set up by the Central government with an estimated investment of Rs 28,602 crores. The projects will span across 10 states and have been strategically planned across six major corridors.

According to the government, the industrial smart cities will focus on manufacturing-related sectors and are expected to attract investments worth Rs 1.52 lakh crores. The government's plans are aimed at increasing the share of India's manufacturing sector from the current 17 per cent to 25 per cent.

While the intent of the government is good and could address the issue of unemployment, the concept of industrial cities is very old. Cities like Manchester in Britain, Ruhrgebiet in Germany or Shenzhen in China, or our own industrial estates followed this concept to boost industrialisation.

Indian leaders too have been trying to industrialise the country even before Independence. However, the share of the manufacturing sector in the country's economy remained 17 per cent even after 77 years of self-rule. If providing free land could be a solution for industrialisation, why did it become elusive for the country? The answer lies in India's poor record in terms of ease of doing business and policy certainty, inadequately skilled labour and, most importantly, higher wages.

While the government has been trying to address the ease of doing business, the Indian policymakers have not yet addressed the issue of policy certainty as shown by its recent attempt to amend capital gains tax and the levy of state tax on mines retrospectively. Similarly, the British era's education policy does not churn out a technically-literate worker, who could get on to work on the shop floor immediately. If a manufacturing unit hires someone, it needs to spend its workforce's paid time to train the trainee for free.

Similarly, higher wage cost is a huge obstacle in attracting foreign manufacturers into India. China attracted several global manufacturers by artificially freezing wages. India, a democratic country, cannot afford to take such an anti-people policy, especially when a large section of the population has become aspirational.

Why do so many get duped in job scams, cyber fraud?

Why do so many young, educated Indians continue to be tricked by fake job offers from transnational crime syndicates based in Southeast Asia? A slew of recent reports suggests that instead of their dream job, the victims find themselves in prison-like compounds, typically in parts of Myanmar, Laos and Cambodia, where they are coerced into working as online scammers. Some have been rescued. Many remain. Survivors who have managed to flee come from different parts of the country. The most recent instance involved jobless young men in their twenties from Greater Noida who had been trapped by a cybercrime ring in Cambodia. They managed to escape after paying huge sums of money.

It is not a new story. We have heard similar stories from Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Odisha and the National Capital Region, and other countries.

In October 2022, the Laotian Times reported 130 Indian professionals had been rescued from Laos, Myanmar and Cambodia. They had been duped by fake job offers in Thailand but eventually taken elsewhere and coerced into committing cyber fraud by criminal networks.

Since then, state governments in India as well as the Centre repeatedly issued advisories, cautioning Indians against "fake job offers" abroad. "Got a job in Cambodia, Myanmar, Lao PDR? You may end up as a cyber slave. Please verify the offer, organisation carefully and check details of work visa," warns Tamil Nadu police's cybercrime wing on the social media platform X, formerly known as Twitter.

Despite the cautionary words, dozens of articles about Southeast Asia's notorious scam compounds, crackdowns, arrests, the horror story continues. Young professionals still get trapped.

The big question: Why? There are no easy answers. However, a few things leap out. First, the criminal gangs are systematically zeroing in on the young, educated, equipped with some technical skills but low exposure to the world.

"The trafficking victims are lured by job advertisements that offer high pay and interesting professional work. The victim secures the 'job' after one or more false job interviews, signs a six-month work 'contract', then quickly travels to Southeast Asia for what they believe will be an exciting new professional role… The modus operandi of the organised crime networks in terms of carrying out scams and fraud is quite consistent across countries in the Mekong region… They primarily target university graduates who are fluent in multiple languages, have skills in information technology, familiarity with the social media, and some working knowledge of cryptocurrency. These conditions are important for the organised crime groups because they require a skilled labour force to carry out criminal activities in cyberspace, from various scams to money laundering and illegal gambling," says a September 2023 report by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC).

Another 2023 report by the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights notes that most trafficking victims are forced to perpetrate "online fraud using a range of platforms, including fake gambling websites and cryptocurrency investment platforms, as well as romantic and financial scams (so-called "pig-butchering"), where fake romantic relationships or friendships are used to defraud online users of significant amounts of money." Second, recruiters from crime networks are targeting youth comfort zones: select social media platforms. "Fraudulent job advertisements and posts have also been identified on Facebook (Meta) and Instagram. Contact between organized crime groups and potential trafficking victims occurs through WhatsApp, Line, Telegram, and Messenger," says UNODC.

A report (April 18, 2024) by Cambodian journalist Taing Rinith in the Khmer Times, a Phnom Penh-based English-language newspaper, flags "messages on Facebook and Telegram, the two most popular platforms in both India and Cambodia, posted by users that appeared to be 'recruiters' specifically looking for Indian candidates to fill positions based in Cambodia".

"Instead of posting their announcement with the media outlets or job recruitment agencies," the newspaper noted, "the recruiters have written them in groups and channels created for the purposes of finding jobs or networking sites among the expats in the kingdom".

The recruiters, the report points out, do not mention the name or identity of companies or businesses. Instead, they say that the job will be based "in commercial hubs, specifically Phnom Penh, Sihanoukville and Poipet".

Third, the desperation for jobs "abroad", along with scant knowledge of the world outside, makes for a lethal mix. Especially at a time when a fall in white-collar jobs in the information technology sector has left many fresh graduates and young people jobless. Online hiring activity for both hardware and software IT had plummeted by 18 per cent last year from 2022, reported business news channel CNBC this April, citing data from Foundit, a popular job portal.

Blood tests allow 30-year estimates of women's cardiovascular risks: Study

Women's heart disease risks and their need to start taking preventive medications should be evaluated when they are in their 30s rather than well after menopause as is now the practice, said researchers who published a study on Saturday.

Presenting the findings at the European Society of Cardiology annual meeting in London, they said the study showed for the first time that simple blood tests make it possible to estimate a woman's risk of cardiovascular disease over the next three decades.

"This is good for patients first and foremost, but it is also important information for (manufacturers of) cholesterol lowering drugs, anti-inflammatory drugs, and lipoprotein(a)lowering drugs - the implications for therapy are broad," said study leader Paul Ridker of Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. Current guidelines "suggest to physicians that women should generally not be considered for preventive therapies until their 60s and 70s. These new data… clearly demonstrate that our guidelines need to change," Ridker said. "We must move beyond discussions of 5 or 10-year risk."

The 27,939 participants in the long-term Women's Health Initiative study had blood tests between 1992 and 1995 for low density lipoprotein cholesterol (LDL-C or 'bad cholesterol'), which are already a part of routine care.

They also had tests for high-sensitivity C-reactive protein (hsCRP) - a marker of blood vessel inflammation.

Daily pill with 3 low-dose drugs more effective in lowering blood pressure: Study

For those suffering from uncontrolled hypertension, here comes good news. New research on Saturday showed that a single pill with low doses of three anti-hypertensive drugs, once a day, significantly lowered blood pressure than other standard care methods.

It is estimated that over a billion adults live with hypertension worldwide, with two-thirds living in low and middle-income countries.

The treatment based on novel combination of low doses of three anti-hypertensive drugs in a single pill - known as 'GMRx2' - was found to be superior to a high-quality standard care treatment plan at lowering blood pressure in patients, according to the study published in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The 'GMRx2' treatment plan involved a once daily pill containing telmisartan, amlodipine and indapamide at a quarter, half or standard doses. The standard care treatment plan was recommended by the Nigerian Ministry of Health began with monotherapy, followed by dual and triple combination therapy, and was typical of hypertension guidelines for many countries. Results of the trial was led by The George Institute for Global Health and presented at the 'European Society of Cardiology Congress 2024'. After six-month treatment, home systolic blood pressure was 31 mm Hg lower in the 'GMRx2' group compared to 26 mm Hg lower with standard care.

POEMS

Old And New

Thou hast made me known to friends whom I knew not. Thou hast given me seats in homes not my own. Thou hast brought the distant near and made a brother of the stranger. I am uneasy at heart when I have to leave my accustomed shelter; I forget that there abides the old in the new, and that there also thou abidest. Through birth and death, in this world or in others, wherever thou leadest me it is thou, the same, the one companion of my endless life who ever linkest my heart with bonds of joy to the unfamiliar.

Rabindranath Tagore

If Trump thinks he's losing, will he quit the race? What'll be next

The poor blind dear
Would constantly shed a tear
Saying 'why have I become the one
To be the victim of a stupid pun
I really have no idea'!"

From Paagal Pan, by Bachchoo

Two Americans with whom I was exchanging political platitudes said that most Indians in the United States vote for the Republican Party and would in November endorse Donald Trump.

Though bowing to their absolutely superior familiarity with this sort of statistic, I interjected asking if this was because most Indians who are granted American citizenship and the vote are either traders, Silicon Valley wallahs or some form of professionals or bourgeoisie?

No, they said, even the Asian taxi drivers, of which there are many, will vote for Donald Trump. I wondered aloud whether this was because most of the Asian taxi drivers of big cities, say New York, are Pakistanis and wouldn't vote for Kamala Harris because she is half Indian? Besides, I contended, the Asian taxi drivers, even if they were Indian, were not numerous enough compared to the professionals and Indian middle classes who might feel their economic interests were better served by Republican inclinations and policies.

The argument was turned on its head when I recently read an actual statistical poll of Indian-American intentions in the coming election. Though I myself have never been inclined to vote for, say, Rishi Sunak, simply because we share Indian origins, the poll set out to ask Indians how they would vote on the assumption that Kamala Harris' half-Indian origin might influence their answer.

The statistic was simple. Fifty per cent would vote, they said, for Kamala – no reasons of policy or ethnicity given. Twenty or so per cent said they were definitely Trumpeteers, and the rest were still undecided. If indeed all those undecideds took shelter under the Orange Wigwam, then the statistic is fifty-fifty. But that's unlikely.

As i said, I have never understood why diasporic Indians -- or those with Indian origins -- who attain high office abroad command the attentions, jubilation and the congratulations of Indians in India, from Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the rickshaw driver in Agra. Perhaps blood or the common gene pool is thicker than thick skulls.

That being said, perhaps some in the Indian government thought that Hedgie Sunak, being a firm Brexiteer, which withdrawal went towards ruining the British economy and lowering living standards for the average Brit, would be fair game for Indian trade agreements and deals profitable to India.

I doubt if very many Indians in India have heard of Suella Braverman, though it may be a fair bet to say that some Gujerotics will certainly have heard of Priti Patel and would be jubilant that she at some point held government posts -- regardless of the fact that her work in those roles was wasteful, reactionary and, in my biased opinion, a regrettable disaster.

She formulated the disastrous "send the asylum seekers to Rwanda" policy, attempted to curtail free speech, made off-the-cuff deals with Israel when she had the foreign portfolio -- do I need to go on… I only have nine hundred words?

Neither do I think that anyone in India gave two false pice when Hamza Yusuf assumed the leadership and the First Ministership of the Scottish National Party. He was the first Muslim to be head of Scotland and, since there is a fellow feeling among Muslim co-religionists in several nations of the world, perhaps the congratulations poured in from Iran, Pakistan and Saudi Arabia.

Or maybe none of them noticed or cared.

At this point, gentle reader, I have to admit that I am extremely happy that Kamala Harris is half-Indian and half black and is a little ahead in the polls. Of course, I hope that she wins and becomes the first female President of the United States and, of course, the first non-white female … but really, all those "firsts" are irrelevant. If a pantomime horse stood against Donald Wigwam for the presidency, my good wishes would be with the cloth nag!

The result of that election and the future of the USA and its relations with the rest of the world, quite reasonably, pre-occupy a lot of the commentariat space. The chatterati of the UK are appropriately absorbed. I wonder if the Indian chapparatti are just as engaged?

One American commentator said something rather surprising. He said that if Donald Trump fell way behind Kamala Harris in the opinion polls by October, he may feel that facing a second defeat is not what he can countenance and he may pull out of the race.

Sukhu doing drama of economic crisis inside and outside the House: Vishav Chakshu

SANJAY AGGARWAL
DHARAMSHALA, AUG 31

Making a scathing attack on the Congress government of the state which is crying about economic crisis, Advocate Vishav Chakshu, Himachal Pradesh Bharatiya Janata Party State Media Co-in-charge and former Media Co-ordinator (Chief Minister, Himachal Government) said that Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu should stop misleading the Vidhan Sabha and the people of Himachal. He said that by increasing the monthly salary of Nardev Kanwar, Chairman of the Labour Welfare Board, by Rs 30,000 to Rs 1.30 lakh, it has become clear that for the last 18 months, the Sukhu government has been doing drama about the economic crisis. He said that by increasing the salary of his friend by Rs 1 lakh, Sukhu has slapped the face of those employees who have already opened a front against the government regarding pending DA and arrears. Vishav Chakshu said that Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu should resign from the post of Chief Minister and join a drama troupe where he can fool people. He said that the double character of the Chief Minister who talks about the treasury being empty has been exposed to the public.

He said that it is ironic that two days ago Sukhu lamented the financial crisis in the House and then suddenly this notification came. He said that Chief Minister Sukhu is busy in pleasing his friends. There is no dearth of luxury for the officers and ministers, while on the contrary the employees are being made to yearn for their rights. If the notification of increase of one lakh rupees salary of Nardev Kanwar is correct, then why is Sukhu crying about the financial crisis, why is the Chief Minister not able to give the employees and the public their rights. Vishav Chakshu said that if the Sukhu government does not take back the increase made in the salary of his friend, then we will be forced to take to the streets and protest against the Sukhu government.

He noted that the state suffered significant damage due to last year's heavy rains, and this year has brought further devastation. Sharma praised the Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu government for standing by the affected families, while accusing the opposition, particularly the BJP, of engaging in politics instead of playing a constructive role during the crisis. He also pointed out that Kutlehar had been severely affected by the rains, with many homes located near riverbanks at risk. He urged the government to introduce a new package for the channelization of these rivers to protect the homes in the region.

Plus, every week, there's a lucky draw where we give away a car, and the grand bumper draw features an SUV from Mahindra.

Q: How has the response been over the last 30 days?

Jignesh Mehta: The response has been unbelievable. We've had a lot of repeat customers and many new ones who were thrilled with our products and services. Solitaire is a very emotional purchase, often associated with engagements and anniversaries, so it's a very personal and significant gift. The experience we provide, with a transparent understanding of diamond value, makes our customers very happy. This year, we've seen almost a 60% growth compared to last year, with nearly 7,000 customers taking advantage of the scheme.

Q: How many of these customers are new?

Jignesh Mehta: Around 90% of them are new, which means we've added approximately 6,300 new customers this year.

Q: What is the starting price of Divine Solitaire jewelry?

Jignesh Mehta: That's the beauty of it. Our products start at ₹30,000 and can go up to ₹2-3 crores, so there's something for everyone. But the guarantee is that it's the most beautiful and perfectly cut diamond, ensuring the best quality. It's available both online and through 200 jewelers across the country.

Q: How big is the solitaire market in India, and what growth do you foresee?

Jignesh Mehta: The diamond jewelry market is around ₹75,000 crores, with solitaire diamond jewelry accounting for about ₹25,000 crores. We are the only market player focused on solitaire. The growth in the solitaire jewelry category is the highest among all jewelry categories, and it's expected to continue growing rapidly. In Western countries, solitaire jewelry makes up 70% of total jewelry sales, whereas in India, it's less than 10%. However, with the new generation preferring diamond engagement rings, this is changing fast. Our jewelry starts at ₹30,000, which is affordable for the middle class. It's not just for the rich; it's for everyone. A person can spend two to three months' salary on a solitaire ring, which symbolizes their relationship.

Q: What about the resale value of Divine Solitaire?

Jignesh Mehta: We offer 90% of the current value anywhere in the country. This is very transparent and can be checked on our website or mobile application using the unique number inscribed on each diamond.

Q: Have you encountered any issues with counterfeit products?

Jignesh Mehta: Some people misuse our name, but we've taken measures to ensure our customers aren't cheated. All our products are sealed, and the unique number inscribed on each diamond makes it impossible to replace or counterfeit. We also provide all the information digitally, ensuring complete transparency.
