Modi to launch BJP poll campaign from Kurukshetra today

BUREAU
KURUKSHETRA, SEPT 13

PM Narendra Modi will formally launch the party's campaign for the state Assembly election from Kurukshetra on September 14. All the preparations have been completed for mega event. The Kurukshetra administration and security agencies are on high alert to avoid any untoward incident.

State BJP Chief Baroli said the land of Kurukshetra is a symbol of cultural and spiritual heritage of not only Haryana but the entire country. From this holy land, the Prime Minister will kickstart BJP's election campaign on Saturday.

He said Modi has always kept Haryana close to his heart, with his vision focused on the state's bright future.

Talking to journalists , Baroli said Congress has fielded such people who are either in jail or are preparing to go to jail. Taking a jibe at the footage of a Congress worker combing party stalwart and state leader of the Opposition Bhupinder Singh Hooda's hair in public, Baroli said that "Hooda ji's combing policy shows that his focus and efforts are on personal royal lifestyle rather than development of the state".

To a question, he said BJP is a party which gives utmost importance to its organisation.

If there is any resentment or dissatisfaction at any level during the election process, then the party's organisation will allay it.

"Our organisation is dedicated and capable and is fully committed to resolving any internal issue," he said.

Anti-Sikh riots: Delhi court frames charges of murder against Tytler

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, SEPT 13

A Delhi court on Friday framed charges of murder and other offences against Congress leader Jagdish Tytler in a 1984-anti Sikh riots case.

Special Judge Rakesh Siyal directed that Tytler face trial after he pleaded not guilty to the offences.

The judge had on August 30 said there was sufficient ground to proceed against the accused.

This case pertains to the killings of three Sikhs near Gurudwara Pul Bangash on November 1, 1984.

Special judge Rakesh Syal has listed the matter for trial and recording of evidence on October 3. The first witness called for evidence is Lakhvinder Kaur, whose husband Badal Singh was killed during riots.

On August 30, the court said that there are sufficient grounds to presume that he abetted the killing of three Sikhs by instigating the mob that attacked Gurudwara Pul Bangash, and some of them set it on fire.

Special CBI Judge Rakesh Syal said, "There appears to be sufficient grounds to presume that the accused has committed offences punishable under Sections 143, 147, 188 and 153 A IPC, Sections 295, 436, 451, 380 read with Section 149 IPC, and Section 302 r/w Section 109 IPC." The Rouse Avenue court directed to frame charges against Congress leader Jagdish Tytler in the Pul Bangash Sikh Killings case. The court directed to frame charges under sections 143, 153A, 188, 149, 380, and 436 IPC read with 302 and 109 IPC. He has been discharged under Section 148 IPC.

This incident occurred after the assassination of then-Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

The CBI had filed a supplementary charge sheet against Tytler on May 20, 2023. On July 26, 2023, the court issued a summons to Congress leader Jagdish Tytler after taking cognisance of the supplementary charge sheet filed by the CBI against him. A supplementary charge sheet has been filed by the CBI in the case of killings in the Pul Bangash area in 1984.

Doctors continue protest outside health office in Kolkata

AGENCY
KOLKATA, SEP 13

Defying rain, West Bengal government's junior doctors continued their demonstration in front of Swastha Bhaban at New Town for the 4th day on Friday, a day after their proposed talks with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee failed to materialise despite the government's three attempts in three days, official sources said.

Outdoor Patient Departments in government hospital remained paralysed on Friday due to doctors' protest, continuing for the past 36th day. The rigid protesters have rejected even the Supreme Court's direction to end their stir in view of the sufferings of patients.

The medics are demanding resignation of three top health department officials holding then responsible for signing a letter allowing demolition and renovation in the vicinity of crime scene at RG Kar Hospital seminar room where a 31-year-old woman doctor was raped and murdered on August 9.

Amid dramitc scene on Thursday evening, about 32 junior doctors returned from the gate of Nabanna, state secretariat, after the government did not concede their demand for live streaming of the talks between them and the Chief Minister.

IMD warns of heavy rain in North-West India

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, SEP 13

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) on Friday issued a warning for heavy to extremely heavy rainfall across parts of Central, Northwest, and Northeast India for the next few days.

The weather department has issued a red alert for extremely heavy rainfall over Uttarakhand today and orange and yellow alerts for very heavy to heavy rainfall over Uttar Pradesh, Himachal Pradesh, Haryana, Chandigarh, Delhi, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Bihar, Nagaland, Manipur, Mizoram, Tripura, West Bengal, Jharkhand, and Odisha.

According to IMD, this weather pattern is influenced by a depression that developed over Central India and moved to Uttar Pradesh.

"The depression lying over Central Uttar Pradesh is expected to move northeast and gradually weaken into a well-marked low-pressure area within the next 12 hours," the IMD said.

The IMD also predicted the formation of a low-pressure area over coastal Bangladesh and adjoining north Bay of Bengal during the next 24 hours.

"Thereafter, it is likely to move slowly west-northwestwards and concentrate into a depression over coastal west Bengal and adjoining northwest Bay of Bengal during the subsequent 48 hours," the IMD said.

Delhi and the National Capital Region (NCR) have been experiencing light rain continuously since yesterday evening, which has brought down the temperature and air quality levels in the city. According to the weather department, generally cloudy weather is expected to bring more drizzle in the region tomorrow.

Protests: CM chairs all-party meet in Shimla to defuse tension

AGENCY
SHIMLA, SEP 13

In the wake of rising tensions in Shimla over illegal construction at a place of worship and illegal street vendors, an all-party meeting on Friday under the chairmanship of Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu resolved to find a solution as per law.

At the meeting, the leaders decided to request the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly to form a joint committee to draft a comprehensive policy for street vendors, ensuring fair treatment for all. The Sukhu government is working to defuse the situation though difference of opinion has surfaced within the ruling Congress itself, particularly between Rural Development Minister Anirudh Singh and local MLA Harish Janartha. Both leaders have taken divergent positions on the issue, further complicating the matter.

The joint statement released after the meeting appealed to public to maintain peace and brotherhood in the state. "We welcome tourists from India and abroad to Himachal Pradesh and urge all citizens to uphold mutual harmony," the statement said.

The local dispute in Shimla, which revolves around tensions between local vendors and outsiders, as well as the construction of an illegal shrine, is expected to be resolved legally at the earliest, the meeting decided.

The meeting came in the backdrop of protests by right-wing organizations, particularly the Deobhumi Sarankshan Munch, over the issue of illegal vendors and outsiders and illegal construction.

The protest, called on September 11, had turned violent, prompting the government to intervene and seek peaceful solutions.

The leaders who attended Friday's meeting represented various political parties including Congress, BJP, Aam Aadmi Party, CPM, and CPI.

All parties agreed that Himachal Pradesh has always been a peaceful state, with mutual harmony among its people, and reaffirmed their commitment to maintaining this spirit of unity.

Among the attendees were Pratibha Singh, President of the Himachal Pradesh Congress Committee; Rajiv Bindal, BJP State President; Onkar Shad, CPM State Secretary; and K K Kaushal, former MLA from CPI, along with other key political figures.

BJP State President Bindal criticizes Govt's dual statements

DINESH AGARWAL
SHIMLA, SEPT 13

BJP Himachal Pradesh President Dr. Rajeev Bindal has strongly criticized the Congress party, calling for clarity on statements made by Rahul Gandhi during his foreign visits. Bindal pointed out that Gandhi publicly mentioned abolishing SC and ST reservations during his international appearances, while the Congress has remained silent on the issue. According to Bindal, this reflects a "dual character" of the Congress party. He questioned how Gandhi could ask about caste and community within India, while promising to end reservations abroad. Bindal emphasized that Congress must clarify its stance on this critical issue. Dr. Bindal further expressed concern over the global criticism of India, stating that instead of highlighting India's strengths, weaknesses (even those that do not exist) are being projected for political gains. He stressed that this trend of denigrating the nation on international platforms needs serious attention. Referring to the recent Sanjauli mosque incident in Shimla, Bindal condemned the police and government actions, accusing them of unleashing water cannons and batons on unarmed protestors, which led to injuries. He alleged that the government is now trying to suppress dissent by filing FIRs against some individuals to intimidate the public. Dr. Bindal accused the current state government of issuing conflicting statements. He claimed that the government, during an Assembly session, acknowledged that the mosque structure in question was illegal and that outsiders were altering the demography of the area. However, the tone changed outside the Assembly, leaving many questions unanswered.

HP civic court orders demolition of illegal floors of mosque in Mandi

AGENCY
MANDI, SEP 13

The Municipal Commissioner Court in Himachal Pradesh's Mandi has ordered the demolition of two illegal floors of a mosque on Jail Road, an official said on Friday. The decision of the court, headed by H S Rana, on Friday mandated that the illegal floors of the mosque be demolished within 30 days. This 30-year-old mosque's two additional floors were built earlier this year, which prompted local authorities to take action.

The plot on which the mosque is built is registered in the name of woman but an investigation revealed that a part of the construction had extended onto a land belonging to the Public Works Department (PWD).

The Municipal Corporation had issued a notice to halt construction activity in the mosque in June. During the court proceedings, local Hindu organizations held protests, called for the enforcement of building regulations.

The protests were met with a peaceful response from the authorities, with barricades set up around the mosque and water cannons used to disperse demonstrators. Despite some tensions, the situation remained under control, official said. District Commissioner Apoorv Devgan urged all parties to remain calm and peaceful. "We appeal to the public to maintain peace."

"The administration is taking all necessary steps in accordance with the law, and we assure everyone that the situation is being closely monitored," he said, assuring tourists and locals of their safety. Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu also emphasized the importance of maintaining peace. He reassured that action would be taken within the legal framework, and a committee has been formed to address the issue.

More and more people in China are appreciating Buddha's teachings today: Dalai Lama

SANJAY AGGARWAL
DHARAMSHALA SEP 13

About 5 thousand followers from Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, Vietnam, Bangladesh and Laos of South and East Asia attended the Dalai Lama's sermons to the people at the main Tibetan temple Tsuglagkhang located in the tourist town of McLeodganj. In his address, the Dalai Lama said that I have been living in Dharamshala since I came here. Some of the people have long-standing faith in the teachings of the Buddha, while others have no historical connection with it. People cannot be forced to take interest in religion. It is something that you think about and develop interest in it. More and more people in China today appreciate the teachings of the Buddha, because it gives peace of mind. This is not due to faith or repeated prayers but due to analytical thinking. The Dalai Lama said that among my friends there are also scientists, who appreciate Buddhist teachings, because they are based on logic and reason. They are attracted by deep explanations of the workings of the mind and emotions and ways to achieve peace of mind. In places where Buddhism was not historically well known, there is not so much interest in rituals and prayers as in using the mind to achieve inner peace. But Buddhism also has psychological insights that enable us to change our minds. The Buddha's teaching is aimed at reducing negative states of mind. Many Indian gurus came to Tibet to teach and many Tibetans came to India to learn. As a result we received the transmission of the Buddha's complete teaching, which we have preserved and can continue to pass on.

DHARAMSHALA, SEP 13

Union Minister Ramdas Athawale launched a scathing attack on Rahul Gandhi and shared his opinion on various issues. Athawale accused Rahul Gandhi of going abroad and making controversial statements. He specifically spoke about Rahul Gandhi's statement on tribal reservation and said that if Congress and Rahul Gandhi ever tampered with the reservation of tribals, they would be removed from power. Athawale said that the RPI party had demanded 10 to 15 seats in alliance with NDA in Haryana, but state BJP president Mohan Lal Badoli sought support from them. After this, RPI did not field any of its candidates and supported BJP. He also said that BJP has come to power twice in Haryana and the same will happen for the third time. Talking about the possibilities of re-implementation of Article 370 in Jammu and Kashmir, Athawale said that Congress has no right in this matter and his party's position is strong. He said that his party is contesting elections on 8 to 10 seats in Jammu and Kashmir and is supporting BJP on the remaining seats.

Criticizing the Congress party, Athawale said that when the Congress government was in power, it did not take the decision to remove Article 370 and even now the Congress is out of power. Calling the allegations of Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge wrong, Athawale said that no one has been put in jail and the investigating agency is doing its job. Athawale also said that Rahul Gandhi is an expert in giving controversial statements and goes abroad and makes such comments which do not suit him.

He said that if Rahul Gandhi makes any controversial statement regarding reservation for tribals, then a strong reply will be given to it. While trying to cool down the fire of the mosque that erupted in Shimla, Athawale said that in this matter the government-administration should try to solve the matter under the Constitution given by Baba Bhim Rao Ambedkar, so that Hindu Muslim unity remains intact.

Chandigarh grenade blast: police arrest main perpetrator, glock pistol recovered

CHANDIGARH, SEPT 13

In a significant breakthrough amidst the ongoing drive to maintain peace and harmony in the region as per directions of Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann, Punjab Police in joint operation with Central Agencies on Friday cracked the Chandigarh Grenade Blast case masterminded by ISI-backed Pakistan-based terrorist Harwinder Singh alias Rinda of Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) and USA-based Harpreet Singh alias Happy Passia with the arrest of a main perpetrator.

Director General of Police (DGP) Gaurav Yadav has identified the arrested accused person as Rohan Masih, a resident of village Passia in Amritsar. Police teams have also recovered one sophisticated 9MM Glock pistol along with ammunition from his possession, he added.

On Wednesday evening, two unknown persons lobbed a hand grenade in Sector-10, Chandigarh. Chandigarh Police immediately reached the scene and conducted a spot investigation, revealing that two individuals arrived on an auto-rickshaw and one of them hurled the hand grenade in a house.

"The Hand Grenade used in this incident is a military grade equipment smuggled from across the border through drone with the help of ISI. Police have identified the other accused person as well, and raids are being conducted to nab him," said the DGP, while reiterating fulsome cooperation to the Chandigarh Police in this case.

Preliminary investigation has revealed that accused Rohan, who has been working in Jammu and Kashmir from last few years, knew Happy Passia from their shared village. Happy Passia instructed Rohan to carry out the attack, promising financial rewards.

DGP Gaurav Yadav said that during questioning, accused Rohan confessed to involvement in the grenade blast, revealing he acted at the behest of Happy Passia, who provided the hand grenade and weapons through his associates. Happy Passia had also arranged finances and logistics for them, he added. He said that further investigation to unravel the entire conspiracy is being done jointly in coordination with the Chandigarh Police and Central Agencies.

DGP Gaurav Yadav said that during questioning, accused Rohan confessed to involvement in the grenade blast, revealing he acted at the behest of Happy Passia, who provided the hand grenade and weapons through his associates.

Sharing more details, AIG State Special Operation Cell (SSOC) Amritsar Sukhminder Singh Mann said that after committing the crime, accused Rohan and his associate had travelled first to Amritsar and thereafter, took their separate ways. Rohan initially went to his acquaintance in Khanna but had returned to Amritsar as he planned to further travel to J&K, he said, while adding that in the meantime he was arrested. The AIG said that prima facie it appears that they were trying to target a specific person as the same terror group had attempted a similar attack at the same location last year. That attempt was successfully foiled by the Punjab Police with the arrest of two operatives identified as Bikramjit Singh alias Raja of Batala and Bawa Singh of Majitha, he added.

Chhajjumajra village residents suffer through hell due to administrative neglect

SHASHI PAL JAIN
KHARAR, SEPT 13

Residents of Chhajjumajra village, under Kharar Nagar Council, are facing severe hardships due to the neglect of local authorities. Despite multiple complaints sent to Cabinet Minister Anmol Gagan Mann and other officials, the village's infrastructure remains in a deplorable state.

Residents, including Kuldeep Singh Sidhu and others, have demanded an investigation into how builders responsible for Kharar's development received NOCs and approvals despite leaving the village with incomplete and defective infrastructure.

The villagers highlighted numerous issues in their complaints. Every home in Chhajjumajra is plagued with dirt and contaminated water, posing a severe health risk to residents. The roads are in terrible condition, with the main link road from Chhajjumajra to Sante Majra resembling a swampy, uneven path. Additionally, the Phirni (a circular road around the village) is unpaved and in poor condition, making transportation difficult. One of the most pressing concerns is an open plot near a society that has turned into a stagnant pool of dirty water. This water has been sitting for so long that it has become a breeding ground for mosquitoes, further endangering the health of the community.

The village's sewage system is also faulty, causing dirty water to overflow onto the roads. The villagers have urged the administration to resolve the issue with the plot owner and improve the sewage system.

In addition to infrastructure problems, illegal encroachments by unauthorized markets and small shops have led to frequent traffic jams at Chhajjumajra Chowk, making it nearly impossible for residents to move freely through the area. The villagers have appealed for immediate action from the authorities to address these problems and restore basic living conditions in Chhajjumajra.

India's growth outlook reflects underlying strength of macro-fundamentals: RBI Guv

AGENCY

SINGAPORE, SEPT 13

India's growth outlook reflects the underlying strength of country's macro-fundamentals, with domestic drivers -- private consumption and investment -- playing a major role, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said on Friday. Moreover, the country's growth trajectory is supported by an environment of macroeconomic and financial stability, he said in a keynote address at the Future of Finance Forum 2024 organised by the Bretton Woods Committee, Singapore. The Indian economy rebounded from severe contraction due to the COVID-19 pandemic and averaged real GDP growth of above 8 per cent during 2021-24. For 2024-25, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has projected the real

GDP growth at 7.2 per cent, with risks evenly balanced around this forecast.

"This growth outlook reflects the underlying strength of India's macro-fundamentals, with domestic drivers -- private consumption and investment -- playing a major role," he said.

On inflation, Das said it has moderated from a peak of 7.8 per cent in April 2022 to the tolerance band of +/- 2 per cent around the target of 4 per cent, but "we still have a distance to cover and can not afford to look the other way". The Reserve Bank's projections indicate that inflation is likely to ease further from 5.4 per cent in 2023-24 to 4.5 per cent in 2024-25 and 4.1 per cent in 2025-26, the Governor said.

The retail inflation based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI) remained below the Reserve Bank's median target of 4 per cent for the second month in a row in August at 3.65 per cent. It was at a five-year low of 3.6 per cent in July. "Meanwhile, fiscal consolidation is underway and public debt levels are on a declining trajectory over the medium-term. Corporate performance has improved strongly, enabling deleveraging and strong growth in profitability," he said. The Governor further said that balance sheets of banks and non-banking financial intermediaries, regulated by the Reserve Bank of India, have also strengthened. "Our stress tests reveal that these financial intermediaries will be able to maintain regulatory capital and liquidity requirements even under severe stress scenarios," he said.

Das also stressed that India's vision of global progress emphasises international cooperation that is people-specific, ambitious, action-oriented and decisive.

India's G20 Presidency in 2023 and its continuing contributions thereafter reflects New Delhi's vision of the world being one earth, one family with one future.

These priorities include strengthening the Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs) to address shared global challenges of the 21st century; achieving financial inclusion and productivity gains through digital public infrastructure; debt resolution for lower and middle-income countries; and financing cities of tomorrow, among many others, Das said.

Troubled thawing

Climate change isn't just scorching summers, raging wildfires, or coastal populations sinking into the sea. It's also about military security. As the polar ice recedes, the Arctic, once a desolate expanse of frozen wilderness, is fast becoming the world's newest strategic arena. Sea lanes that were once impassable are opening up, oil and gas reserves long locked beneath ice are now accessible, and the Arctic is quickly transforming from frozen obscurity to a site of conflict. Climate change, far from an abstract threat, is reshaping the contours of global security.

This isn't hyperbole. On Tuesday, Russia's defence ministry released footage on Telegram of joint Arctic naval drills with China. These war games, scheduled to run until September 16, are about Russia projecting strength along what could be the next military frontier. The once silent, frozen North is thawing, and Russia has planted its flag squarely on the softening ground.

The Arctic is warming four times faster than the rest of the world. Global temperatures have risen by an average of 1.1°C since the Industrial Revolution but in the Arctic, that number has been closer to 3°C since the 1980s. The ice is retreating with an alarming speed. Northern members of NATO, Norway in particular, are caught between environmental aspirations and the demands of global energy markets. They now face the unenviable task of managing a crisis that they have unwittingly helped fuel.

The Arctic, in Moscow's view, is not just a resource grab; it's longstanding territory. In 2021, the Russian foreign minister, Sergey Lavrov, had made his stance clear: "It has been absolutely clear for everyone for a long time that this is our territory..." Russia has taken that statement seriously, building infrastructure across more than 4,300 miles of its Siberian Arctic plateau, revamping ports, building new civilian outposts, and is even constructing a floating nuclear power plant. Seventeen full-service ports are in the works along the Northern Sea Route as Moscow angles to control the critical arteries that have opened up in the wake of the retreating ice.

But even with its vast Arctic coastline, Moscow's grip isn't ironclad. The Northern Fleet, Russia's crown jewel of nuclear deterrence, is confined by the harsh geography of the Kola Peninsula. Its submarines must navigate the shallow Barents Sea under NATO's watchful eye. This tension highlights Russia's precarious position despite its ambition. Norway, on NATO's leading northern flank, is more critical than ever as Sweden and Finland have joined the alliance recently.

Sunita Williams to address Earth from orbiting international Space Station

NASA astronauts Sunita 'Suni' Williams and Barry 'Butch' Wilmore will put a call to Earth and participate in a press conference aboard the International Space Station in low Earth orbit, the US space agency said.

The space call is scheduled at 2:15 p.m. EDT (local time) on September 13 to the newsroom at NASA's Johnson Space Centre in Houston.

The pair had launched aboard Boeing's Starliner spacecraft on June 5 for its first crewed flight, arriving at the space station on June 6.

A decision was made to return Starliner to Earth without its crew and the spacecraft successfully returned on September 6 after more than three months in space. It made a safe landing at White Sands Space Harbor in New Mexico.

Both astronauts Sunita Williams and Butch Wilmore called down to flight controllers to thank teams for their support before the uncrewed Starliner spacecraft returned to Earth.

"You guys it's time to bring Calypso home. We have your backs and you have got this. Bring her back to Earth," Sunita Williams said in the radio message referring to the spacecrafts nickname.

Both the astronauts will remain on the international space station as part of the Expedition 71/72 crew and return home in February 2025 aboard the SpaceX Dragon spacecraft with two other crew members on NASA's SpaceX Crew-9 mission.

Meanwhile, crew of the Polaris Dawn the Elon Musk-led private charted spaceflight created history when they completed the first commercial spacewalk.

Donning newly-designed SpaceX extravehicular activity (EVA) suits, the crew began their approximately two-hour operation at 3:12 a.m. EDT while traveling at 17,500 miles per hour in an elliptical orbit of 190 x 700 km above the EarthThe spacewalk represents an important milestone of the Polaris Program, a developmental program designed to further the advancement of human spaceflight.

After opening the hatch, the Polaris Dawn crew became the first four astronauts to be exposed to the vacuum of space at the same time, the company said in a statement.

Over approximately twenty minutes, Commander Jared Isaacman and Mission Specialist Sarah Gillis egressed the vehicle, completed a series of tests designed to evaluate the suit's mobility, thermal systems and the Dragon mobility aid "Skywalker" before returning to the cabin and closing the hatch.

Mission Pilot Scott "Kidd" Poteet and Mission Specialist and Medical Officer Anna Menon supported Isaacman and Gillis throughout the entire operation monitoring vital support systems.

Once the hatch was closed, Dragon was re-pressurized, cabin oxygen and pressure levels confirmed. Reflecting on his experience, mission commander and billionaire Isaacman, who financed the mission reflected on the experience: "SpaceX, back at home we all have a lot of work to do, but from here, Earth sure looks like a perfect world."

NASA Administrator Bill Nelson relayed good wishes to SpaceX and the Polaris Dawn crew in a statement on X. "Congratulations @PolarisProgram and @SpaceX on the first commercial spacewalk in history!" Nelson wrote. "Today's success represents a giant leap forward for the commercial space industry and @NASA's long-term goal to build a vibrant U.S. space economy."

The Polaris Dawn mission targeted splashdown off the coast of Florida, however SpaceX has not yet released details about the upcoming landing.

Pakistan court rejects Imran Khan, his wife's acquittal plea in £190 million corruption case

Creativity creates, not creator

K. Shiv Prasad

Dwelling further on Sat (real/permanence) and Asat (unreal/impermanence), Krishna asks us to contemplate on 'that' which is indestructible and which pervades all (2.17).

The popular and easy understanding about creation is that it is the work of a creator. But Krishna points towards 'creativity', which is a constant evolutionary force. For example it causes sprouting from seeds. The sprout and the seed (both creations) can be destroyed, but not 'creativity', which is at work tirelessly and pervades all around. While the creation is bound by time, 'creativity' is beyond time. Creation takes birth and ceases to exist after death, whereas 'creativity' is indestructible. 'Creativity' is the real karta in the sense that it engenders creation. It creates feelings and emotions. It creates physical forms like our body and mind.

Knowledge and memory are always of past and creation (karma-phal) is in the future. 'Creativity' always happens in the present. 'Creativity' is the ability to use knowledge and wisdom to absorb the pleasant and unpleasant sensations perceived by senses and react independent of them. Our senses are only capable of sensing creation and one needs to transcend them to realise 'creativity'. One can align with it through realization, but it can never be owned. The best moment of joy is when we are aligned with 'creativity', be it in our professional or in our personal lives. For a karmayogi, this is easily attained with mastery of a skill.

While our real nature is 'creativity', we usually try to identify ourselves with creation. This false identification with creation gives us the illusion of Karta and is the source of Ahankaar. The moment we identify with creativity, we can see creativity all around. To do this Krishna asks us to see others in ourselves and ourselves in others; and finally to see HIM in everything and everywhere.

Scientists aim to decode genetic roots of mental illness

Neurodevelopmental and psychiatric diseases (NPD), such as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, autism, and depression, have a negative impact on individuals, families, and society. Unfortunately, effective therapies are often lacking.

It's becoming increasingly obvious that genetic mutations in specific genes can raise the likelihood of getting NPD, and hundreds of those "risk genes" have been found to date, but their involvement in NPD remains unknown.

"Very little is known about the basic function of most of these genes, and what we do know often comes from work in cancer cell lines rather than brain cell types," said David Panchision, Chief of the Developmental and Genomic Neuroscience Research Branch at the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), who spearheaded the SSPsyGene programme aiming to tackle this challenge.

"As such, we still don't have a clear understanding of how alterations in these genes may work individually or in combination to contribute to neurodevelopmental and psychiatric disorders."

To get to the bottom of this, the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) initiated a consortium called SSPsyGene (sspsygene.ucsc.edu) in 2023, uniting research teams from renowned US universities with the joint goal of characterising the genetic origins of NPD, focusing on 250 selected high-risk genes.

Among the contributors are Jubao Duan, Endeavor Health (formerly NorthShore University Health System) and University of Chicago, USA and Zhiping Pang, Rutgers University, USA with their teams, who developed a method for mutating NPD risk genes in human stem cells at large scale.

In the modified cells, a selected NPD risk gene is mutated so that it no longer makes a functional protein. The modified stem cells can subsequently be turned into neurons and other brain cells to model the consequences of risk gene mutations in a simplified, lab-based version of the human brain.

In the initial phase of the project, the teams tested 23 NPD risk genes, reported in work published in a recent article in the journal Stem Cell Reports. The resulting stem cell lines will be made available to other researchers worldwide to facilitate research on those risk genes and their contribution to NPD.

In future works, Pang, Duan and the other members of the consortium will join forces to generate mutated stem cell lines for a much larger number of risk genes, with the ultimate goal of understanding the genetic causes of NPD and generating better treatments.

"The hope is that this collaborative work will generate a highly impactful resource for the neuroscience and psychiatric research community," said Panchision.

Maxwell, who has played seven Tests for Australia and last played in 2017 in the longer format, said on Star Sports, "I think probably the way that the two superstar batters, Steve Smith and Virat Kohli, are probably head-to-head, seeing how their dominance I suppose, is asserted on the series and how much of an influence that has on who takes home the Border Gavaskar Trophy. One of those two is going to make a lot of runs, if not both of them, and it is going to be pretty exciting to watch the two of the finest players of our generation go head-to-head."

In 109 Tests, Smith has scored 9,685 runs at an average of 56.97, with 32 centuries and 41 fifties in 195 innings. His best score is 239. On the other hand, Virat has scored 8,848 runs in 113 Tests and 191 innings at an average of 49.15, with 29 centuries and 30 fifties. His best score is 254.

A heartfelt moment between the two tough rivals came during the 2019 World Cup, when Virat stopped the crowd from boing at Smith over the 'Sandpaper Gate' saga.

Ayushmann Khurrana visits Lalbaugcha Raja for Ganpati Darshan

Bollywood actor Ayushmann Khurrana visited the renowned Lalbaugcha Raja to seek blessings from Ganpati Bappa as part of the ongoing Ganesh Chaturthi celebrations.

Khurrana, known for his roles in films such as 'Barfi', embraced the festive spirit in a traditional white kurta paired with a multicoloured stole.

Khurrana took to Instagram late on Thursday, to share a moment from his visit, posting a picture of himself in front of the iconic Ganesh idol along with a sticker reading 'Ganpati Bappa Morya'. The Lalbaugcha Raja, a significant landmark during the Ganesh Chaturthi festival, continues to attract thousands of devotees each year. The grand Ganesh idol, showcased by the Lalbaugcha Raja Sarvajanik Ganeshotsav Mandal, is one of Mumbai's most anticipated and venerated figures of the festival. This year, the first look of the idol was unveiled on September 5, marking the commencement of the much-celebrated event.
