NEWS BRIEFS

Saini targets Congress, calls it 'anti-Dalit' party

CHANDIGARH: Mounting a fresh attack on the Congress, Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Tuesday said it was an "anti-Dalit" party and there was no need to remind the Dalits of Haryana how "dangerous" and "violent" was Bhupinder Singh Hooda's rule for them.
Saini also alleged that the Congress has humiliated and despised everyone from BR Ambedkar to a Dalit woman leader, an apparent reference to Kumari Selja who had been keeping away from the Congress poll campaign.
His attack on the Congress comes a day after Union Home Minister Amit Shah termed the grand old party as "anti-Dalit", and said it "insulted" Dalit leaders like Selja and Ashok Tanwar.

CM Atishi visits Hanuman temple; prays to work for people

NEW DELHI: A day after taking charge as Delhi chief minister, Atishi on Tuesday visited the Hanuman temple at Connaught Place, and prayed for his blessings to continue working for the people and restore Arvind Kejriwal to the CM's chair after Assembly polls.
Lord Hanuman has been protecting AAP, its government in Delhi, and Kejriwal from the attacks of "enemies" for the past two years who have been trying to "break" the party and stall Delhi government's works for the people, she said .

Markets settle flat after Sensex conquers 85K mark

MUMBAI: Benchmark equity indices ended almost flat in a highly volatile trade on Tuesday after the Sensex breached the 85,000 mark for the first time and the Nifty hit the 26,000 level in intra-day due to selling in Hindustan Unilever, Kotak Mahindra Bank and ICICI Bank.
Investors are struggling to find clear directions following a record rally, traders said. In the morning trade, the 30-share BSE Sensex scaled the 85,000 level for the first time, while the NSE Nifty hit the historic 26,000 mark during the fag-end.

J-K: Omar, Ravinder Raina among 239 candidates in fray, polling today

AGENCY
SRINAGAR, SEPT 24

Over 2.5 million voters will decide the fate of 239 candidates in the fray for 26 Jammu and Kashmir assembly seats in the second phase of the election to be held in the Union territory on Wednesday. These assembly constituencies are spread over six districts – three in the Valley and as many in the Jammu division.

"To facilitate smooth and hassle-free electoral participation, the Election Commission of India has established 3,502 polling stations in these segments. There are 1,056 urban polling stations and 2,446 rural polling stations," an official said.

All polling stations will have webcasting facilities as part of the Election Commission's efforts to ensure transparency, according to officials.

"To enhance voter participation, 157 special polling stations have been established for the second phase – 26 'pink polling stations' managed by women, 26 polling stations manned by specially abled persons, 26 polling stations manned by youths, 31 border polling stations, 26 green polling stations and 22 unique polling stations," the official said.

Voting will take place from 7 am to 6 pm. Key names in the fray for this phase are former chief minister Omar Abdullah, JKPCC president Tariq Hamid Karra and BJP J-K chief Ravinder Raina.

Abdullah is contesting from the Ganderbal and Budgam seats, while Karra is contesting from Central Shalteng. Raina will be trying to retain his Nowshera seat in Rajouri district which he won in the 2014 assembly polls.

The second phase will be watched keenly as jailed separatist leader Sarjan Ahmad Wagay alias Barkati is hoping to repeat Engineer Rashid's Lok Sabha poll feat against the National Conference leader.

Barkati is contesting from the Beerwah and Ganderbal segments.

Popularly known as Rashid Engineer, Sheikh Abdul Rashid contested the parliamentary polls held earlier this year from Tihar jail and still managed to defeat Abdullah by a margin of more than two lakh votes from the Baramulla constituency. Other key candidates in this second phase of assembly polls are Apni Party president Altaf Bukhari (Channapora), former ministers Ali Mohammad Sagar (Khanyar), Abdul Rahim Rather (Chrar-i-Sharief), and Choudhary Zulfikar Ali (Budhal) and Syed Mushtaq Bukhari (Surankote).

All eyes on Srinagar in 2nd phase of elections

SRINAGAR: On Wednesday when voting for the second phase of the Assembly elections- being held after a decade - commences amid high security, all eyes will be on Srinagar - once a bastion of election boycott.
Of the 90 assembly seats, the polling will be held on Wednesday in 26 Assembly Constituencies across six districts of Jammu & Kashmir. In Jammu region, polling will take place in 11 constituencies and in Kashmir it will be held in 15 seats.
A total of 27.78 lakh voters are eligible to vote to decide the electoral fate of 239 candidates in this phase of the elections. The authorities have set up 3,502 Polling Stations with webcasting for a fair, transparent voting process and elaborate security arrangements have been made, officials said.
A voter turnout of more than 61 per cent was recorded in the first phase of Assembly polls covering 24 constituencies on September 18.

NRI quota: SC junks Punjab's plea against HC verdict, says fraud must end

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, SEP 24

The Supreme Court on Tuesday dismissed three petitions challenging a Punjab and Haryana High Court order that had quashed a Punjab government notification amending conditions for Non-Resident Indian (NRI) quota admissions in medical colleges.

A Bench of Chief Justice of India (CJI) D Y Chandrachud with Justice J B Pardiwala and Justice Manoj Misra said that the amended conditions are nothing but 'fraud', as these undermined the quality of the country's education system.

The CJI said, "We must stop this NRI quota business now! This is complete fraud and this is what we are doing to our education system! Judges know what they are dealing with."

The Punjab and Haryana High Court has dealt with the case threadbare, CJI said.

The CJI said, "This fraud must come to an end, look at the deleterious consequences, the candidates with 3 times higher marks will lose the admission."

"The central government must fall in line...peculiar facts must follow some principles of law, we will lay down the principles of law," he said.

Justice Pardiwala said, "We will affirm the HC order."

After hearing arguments from all sides, the Bench dismissed the petitions, upholding the High Court's order. "All three petitions dismissed. Let us put a lid on this. This fraud has come to an end. This NRI business is nothing but a fraud.

45560 youth given govt jobs in Punjab in 30 months : Dr Balbir Singh

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, SEPT 24

The Punjab government led by Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann on Tuesday achieved another milestone by giving 45560 government jobs in merely 30 months of its tenure thereby enlightening the lives of the youth.

Handing over the appointment letters to as many as 586 new candidates in the Health and Family Welfare Department on the behalf of CM Bhagwant Singh Mann at Tagore Theatre here, Punjab Health and Family Welfare Minister Dr Balbir Singh described it as a historical juncture that will transform the destiny of youth. He said that this event reflects the commitment of the state government to ensure the well being of youth and opening new avenues of employment for them.

The new recruits included 558 Multipurpose Health Workers (Female) or Auxiliary Nurse Midwives (ANMs), 14 Ophthalmic Officers, six Medical Laboratory Technicians Grade-2, three Stenographers and five Ward Attendants (on compassionate grounds).

Vaishnaw assures of strict action against those involved in stone pelting on trains

AGENCY
JAIPUR, SEPT 24

Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Tuesday addressed concerns regarding passenger safety in light of the recent stone-pelting incidents on trains. The Minister assured that strict action will be taken anyone involved in incidents of stone pelting on trains.

"The whole railway staff is fully aware and in touch with the state governments, including state DGPs and Home Secretaries. Strict action will be taken against anyone involved in such incidents," Vaishnaw stated during a media briefing. The Minister emphasized that the Railways are continuously collaborating with the state police forces to enhance safety measures.

"The whole railway staff is fully aware and in touch with the state governments. State DGPs, Home Secretaries. Whoever will be involved in such incidents, strict action will be taken against them. The whole railway is continuously working in this direction along with the state police," Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said while speaking to the media. Vaishnaw also highlighted the significant advancements in railway security, including the introduction of the Kavach system.

"For the security of railways, Kavach is a very big development. On July 16, 2024, the Kavach 4.0 version was finalized by the RDSO, and its first installation has been completed from Sawai Madhopur to Kota and Nagda," he said. He added, "I have come to review it, and I will also assess the first roof plaza at Jaipur-Gandhinagar station," Vaishnaw said.

Kavach is an indigenously developed Automatic Train Protection (ATP) system. It is a highly technology-intensive system, which requires safety certification of the highest order. Kavach aids the loco pilot in trains running within specified speed limits by automatic application of brakes in case the loco pilot fails to do so.

Floral Garden Stinks — Literally and Figuratively: An eyesore for Chandigarh

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH: Chandigarh, often lauded for its planned infrastructure and pristine environment, is rapidly developing an unsightly underbelly that demands urgent attention. The increasing neglect of basic civic responsibilities is tarnishing the city's reputation, and nowhere is this more evident than in the mismanagement of its streets. A glaring example is the recent accumulation of stinking waste near the Floral Garden in Sector 15.

Residents of the area have voiced concerns about the foul smell emanating from the piles of unattended garbage. What was once a serene garden, visited by families and tourists alike, is now marred by the presence of rotting waste. The garbage has not only become a visual blight but poses a potential health hazard, attracting flies and other pests. It's a shame that such a beautiful part of the city is now being overshadowed by negligence.

But the problem doesn't stop there. Just a few steps away from the Floral Garden, another issue festers—the footpath beneath a streetlight pole was dug up for some repair work, only to be abandoned halfway through. The footpath remains broken, an unsightly and unsafe obstacle for pedestrians. It's an ironic scene—bright streetlights illuminating a patch of broken, uneven ground that reflects the dim state of municipal management.

This growing apathy towards the upkeep of public spaces is an alarming trend in Chandigarh. The very city that was designed with precision and vision now seems to be crumbling under the weight of poor maintenance. The carelessness not only disrupts the lives of the residents but also casts a negative light on the administration responsible for the city's upkeep. It begs the question—where is the accountability?

The impact of this negligence is not just physical but also reputational. Chandigarh has always been heralded as a "model city," but incidents like these tarnish its image, making residents question whether the city is still living up to that title. Prolonged exposure to such mismanagement leads to health hazards, especially when waste is left to rot in public spaces. The inconvenience caused by broken infrastructure like dug-up footpaths disrupts the daily routines of residents, eroding their trust in the administration.

The administration must take immediate and decisive action. Restoring the dug-up footpaths and clearing the waste are not monumental tasks, but the longer they are left unresolved, the deeper the scar they leave on the city's image. Chandigarh, once the pride of modern urban planning, risks losing its shine to the inaction of those who are entrusted with its care.

Chandigarh is a symbol of urban planning excellence, but recent mismanagement threatens to undo its legacy. The situation in Sector 15 is just one of many areas requiring immediate intervention. It is crucial for the administration to step up and prioritize cleanliness, infrastructure, and public safety before the damage to the city's image becomes irreparable. The citizens of Chandigarh deserve better. It's time for the administration to step up and restore not just the physical aspects of the city, but also the faith of its people in their governance.

Corruption ended by digitisation of govt services: Arora

RAHUL KOHLI
YAMUNANAGAR, SEPT 24

BJP candidate and MLA Ghanshyam Das Arora said that we have fulfilled the resolutions we took as soon as we took the responsibility of public service in the year 2014. We have set the goals of good governance through system change and service through good governance. Information technology proved to be the most effective in this. Today, due to digitisation, the general public is getting the benefit of government services sitting at home. A decade ago, corruption was rampant. People had to wander from window to window of offices for work in government departments. They had to make many rounds of offices for their work. Poor people were asked to pay money in exchange for work. We ensured transparency in the governance process by digitising government services in Haryana. Today, people are getting the benefit of every government scheme sitting at home through Parivar Pehchan Patra. People no longer need to wander. In the last decade, the use of technology has put the state on the path of development, which was not even imagined a decade ago. BJP government will be formed for the third time in the state and the development that took place in the last ten years will be more in the next five years.

MLA Ghanshyam Das Arora was addressing a programme organised at Kait Mandi, District Bar Association office and other places on Tuesday. During this, he did door to door public relations and addressed people at Model Town, Raghunathpur, Baba Colony, Prem Nagar, Chaudhary Colony, Sondhi Mohalla, Krishna Colony and other places. During this, a large number of women and people joined the BJP in Tirth Nagar. He asked all the people to give their support and cooperation to BJP candidate Ghanshyam Das Arora. State embarks on pumped storage projects for enhanced energy availability: CM

DINESH AGARWAL
SHIMLA, SEPT 24

Chief Minister Thakur Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said here today that the State Government had decided to venture into the technologically advanced domain of Pumped Storage Projects (PSPs) as these projects were considered one of the most reliable in balancing power supply from renewable sources such as solar and wind energy.

The State Cabinet, in its recent meeting, approved the allotment of the first two such projects including 1630 MW Renukaji Pump Storage Project in Sirmaur district and 270 MW Thana Plaun Pump Storage Project in the Beas Basin of Mandi district to the Himachal Pradesh Power Corporation Ltd (HPPCL).

Sukhu stated, "Himachal Pradesh, being a hilly state, is ideally suited for Pumped Storage Projects.

The geography offers immense potential for constructing such projects, which will ensure grid stability as these projects are crucial for mitigating power shortages during high-demand periods by releasing stored water to generate electricity through turbines." In the PSP system, water is pumped from a lower to a higher elevation reservoir using low-cost electricity, typically during off-peak hours.

When electricity demand rises, the stored water is released back through turbines, converting potential energy into electricity, ensuring energy supply. Work on both projects is already underway, with two distinct powerhouses, one for regular power generation and another dedicated to the Pumped Storage Project (PSP) system. The Renukaji Hydro Power Project will have a capacity of 40 MW, while the Thana Plaun Hydro Electric Project will generate 191 MW, with separate turbines to be installed for the PSP system.

The Chief Minister said that under the Swaran Jayanti Policy, 2021, the state prioritizes the development of Pumped Storage Projects. Proposals for both identified and self-identified PSPs, along with Pre-Feasibility Reports, will be invited every six months. "These efforts align with the government's commitment to enhancing revenue generation through hydro projects and positioning Himachal Pradesh as a prosperous state in the country," said the Chief Minister.

More than 50 volunteers from the North India chapter of the Tibetan Youth Congress will participate in the event which coincides with the 75th anniversary of the People's Republic of China on 1 October 2024. The main objective of this rally is to highlight the atrocities being committed by the Chinese Communist regime in Tibet and protest against its illegal rule which has been going on for the last six decades. They aim to draw international attention to the ongoing cultural genocide in Tibet, where China is implementing strict policies to systematically eliminate Tibetan culture and identity. These policies include forcing Tibetan children to study in colonial-style boarding schools and preventing curriculum activities related to Tibetan culture and jailing teachers and individuals who preserve the Tibetan language. This is accompanied by the forced closure of Tibetan schools and monasteries that have long played a vital role in preserving Tibetan culture, language and spiritual heritage. According to recent reports, approximately 1,700 young monks from Kirti Monastery and two other monasteries in the Dzoge region of the traditional region of Amdo (now included in Sichuan Province) have been forcibly removed from monkhood and enrolled in state-run, colonial-style boarding schools without their consent or that of their parents. This horrific violation of their rights and freedoms is a stark reminder of the Chinese government's efforts to suppress Tibetan culture and identity. The recent closure of Tibetan schools by the Chinese government includes the Ragya Tshering Nobu Institute.

BJP using its MPs to make provocative statements and create social tension : Kang

GAURAV GOEL
CHANDIGARH, SEPT 24

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Punjab has strongly condemned BJP MP Kangana Ranaut's comments about reinstating the Agricultural Laws of 2020. The party accused the BJP of deliberately using its MPs to make provocative statements aimed at creating social tension and spreading hatred in society.During a press conference at the party headquarters in Chandigarh on Tuesday, AAP MP Malvinder Singh Kang stated that discussing the reinstating of the black agricultural laws is an insult to millions of farmers and the 750 martyred farmers in the country.

He called on Prime Minister Modi to respond and urged him to take immediate action against Kangana Ranaut if he truly stands with the farmers.Kang questioned PM Modi, stating that he had withdrawn all three agricultural laws after apologizing to the farmers, admitting that the government had made a mistake. He asked, "Why are your MPs now making contradictory statements? Do your MPs and party leaders no longer listen to you, or do you not understand the sentiments of the farmers in this country?"He added that Kangana Ranaut frequently makes divisive statements that undermine social harmony. By making light of the 750 farmers who were martyred during the farmers' movement, she disrespects their sacrifices, and yet Prime Minister Modi remains silent. Kang urged Modi to clarify which side he and his party are on. Kang expressed pity for Prime Minister Modi, recalling that he had stated three years ago that he could not understand the feelings of the farmers and apologized for it. He noted that now Modi's own MP is contradicting that statement. Kang insisted that the BJP should take immediate action against Kangana; otherwise, it would clearly indicate that she is making scripted statements intended to sow division in society. He questioned the Prime Minister, asking whether he would take action against Kangana or echo Punjab BJP leader Harjit Grewal's excuse that he is helpless and that she is beyond his control. Kang remarked that the BJP's central leadership does not listen to the Punjab BJP unit and its leader. They don't even meet BJP's Punjab leaders and they don't care about them.

Faulty start

School textbooks are foundational not only in their lessons but also in their unspoken messages. Researchers from the Center for Global Development in Washington DC have found sexism inherent in the vocabulary of Indian textbooks by studying 60 books of the National Council of Educational Research and Training and 406 state board textbooks from 10 states. Gender roles are distinguished by the way words are used. The language used around work, achievement, authority, power, effort and so on demonstrates a male bias, whereas women are associated with home, cooking, beauty, ugliness and similar words. While men preach — a touch of truth? — reveal and reflect, women sing, marry, cook and, inevitably, scream. Taken further, the hidden images that might emerge are those of the strong and silent hero protecting the pretty, wilting heroine of certain types of popular romance. But the gender bias in school books cannot be treated lightheartedly. The researchers referred to a 2022 study by the Pew Research Center on gender roles in Indian families and society. It had found that most Indians would believe that when jobs are scarce, men should have more job rights than women, and that marriages are most satisfying when the man provides and the woman looks after the home and children. In other words, equality of rights and the distribution of work are not contemplated.

The Global Development researchers studied whether gender representation in textbooks could be correlated with the attitudes towards women that Pew had found. Although there were some surprising results — Gujarat had high female representation in textbooks and the least progressive gender attitude, for example — the correlations are telling. The two sets of researchers presented a cycle of bias: gendered differences in textbooks are found in a society that believes men should go out to work and women should nurture and keep house. This then becomes part of the foundational learning of new generations who will perpetuate these biases. In India, this is more than harmful, it is dangerous. Training children in an understanding of equality and in mutual respect is of primary importance in a country where male and institutional oppression, envy, distorted gender values and caste entitlements express themselves in repeated violence against women. School textbooks and classrooms are a good place to begin the change.

Social activist from Odisha advocates for paid menstrual leaves at UN

Ranjeeta Priyadarshini, a social activist from Odisha, emphasised the need for paid menstrual leaves for women during the 'Summit of the Future' event at the 79th UNGA in New York.

Priyadarshini has come a long way, in her effort to raise the voice on the issue and challenge societal norms and stigma surrounding menstruation.

Speaking to ANI, she said that the paid period leave initiative is for all the working women, and they should get one to two-day leave during their period and that their leaves would be paid so that women would take leave without thinking about their salary being deducted due to their leave.

"I am very grateful that today I have been able to attend the UN conference for the second time and my main issue is paid period leave. Paid period leave means that all working women should get 1-2 days leave during their periods and it should be paid; only then will they be able to take leave; otherwise, no woman will ever want to take leave thinking that her salary will be deducted," she said.

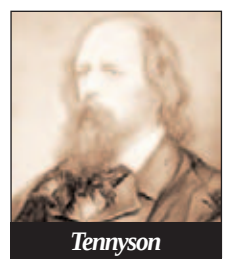

She also said that following her first visit to a UN Conference in Kenya, where she spoke for the first time on the issue on a global stage, the Odisha government implemented the paid period leave initiative on August 15 this year.

Priyadarshini further appreciated the Karnataka government's announcement of implementing six paid period leaves in a year but requested the leaves to be increased to increase the leaves by 12 days. "There was another conference held in Kenya where I was given the chance to speak for the first time and I want to thank the UN officials for giving me the chance to put forward my issue... After I came back to India, the Odisha government said they would implement the paid period leave. Recently, on August 15, the Odisha government announced the paid period leave," she said.

The Kraken

Below the thunders of the upper deep, Far, far beneath in the abysmal sea, His ancient, dreamless, uninvaded sleep The Kraken sleepeth: faintest sunlights flee About his shadowy sides; above him swell Huge sponges of millennial growth and height; And far away into the sickly light, From many a wondrous grot.

Fever drives enhanced activity, mitochondrial damage in immune cells: Study

Fever increases immune cell metabolism, proliferation, and activity, but it also causes mitochondrial stress, DNA damage, and cell death in a specific subgroup of T cells, according to Vanderbilt University Medical Centre researchers.

The study, published in Science Immunology, sheds light on how cells respond to heat and how persistent inflammation can lead to cancer.

The impact of fever temperatures on cells is a relatively understudied area, said Jeff Rathmell, PhD, Cornelius Vanderbilt Professor of Immunobiology and corresponding author of the new study. Most of the existing temperature-related research relates to agriculture and how extreme temperatures impact crops and livestock, he noted. It's challenging to change the temperature of animal models without causing stress, and cells in the laboratory are generally cultured in incubators that are set at a human body temperature, 37 degrees Celsius (98.6 degrees Fahrenheit).

"Standard body temperature is not actually the temperature for most inflammatory processes, but few have really gone to the trouble to see what happens when you change the temperature," said Rathmell, who also directs the Vanderbilt Center for Immunobiology.

Graduate student Darren Heintzman was interested in the impact of fevers for personal reasons: Before he joined the Rathmell lab, his father developed an autoimmune disease and had a constant fever for months on end.

"I started thinking about what an increased set point temperature like that might do. It was intriguing," Heintzman said. Heintzman cultured immune system T cells at 39 degrees Celsius (about 102 degrees Fahrenheit). He found that heat increased helper T cell metabolism, proliferation and inflammatory effector activity and decreased regulatory T cell suppressive capacity. "If you think about a normal response to infection, it makes a lot of sense: You want effector (helper) T cells to be better at responding to the pathogen, and you want suppressor (regulatory) T cells to not suppress the immune response," Heintzman said.

But the researchers also made an unexpected discovery that a certain subset of helper T cells, called Th1 cells, developed mitochondrial stress and DNA damage, and some of them died. The finding was confusing, the researchers said, because Th1 cells are involved in settings where there is often fever, like viral infections. Why would the cells that are needed to fight the infection die?

The researchers discovered that only a portion of the Th1 cells die, and that the rest undergo an adaptation, change their mitochondria, and become more resistant to stress.

"There's a wave of stress, and some of the cells die, but the ones that adapt and survive are better -- they proliferate more and make more cytokine (immune signaling molecules)," Rathmell said. Heintzman was able to define the molecular events of the cell response to fever temperatures. He found that heat rapidly impaired electron transport chain complex 1 (ETC1), a mitochondrial protein complex that generates energy. ETC1 impairment set off signaling mechanisms that led to DNA damage and activation of the tumor suppressor protein p53, which aids DNA repair or triggers cell death to maintain genome integrity. Th1 cells were more sensitive to impaired ETC1 than other T cell subtypes.

The researchers found Th1 cells with similar changes in sequencing databases for samples from patients with Crohn's disease and rheumatoid arthritis, adding support to the molecular signaling pathway they defined.

"We think this response is a fundamental way that cells can sense heat and respond to stress," Rathmell said. "Temperature varies across tissues and changes all the time, and we don't really know what it does. If temperature changes shift the way cells are forced to do metabolism because of ETC1, that's going to have a big impact. This is fundamental textbook kind of stuff."

The findings suggest that heat can be mutagenic -- when cells that respond with mitochondrial stress don't properly repair the DNA damage or die. "Chronic inflammation with sustained periods of elevated tissue temperatures could explain how some cells become tumorigenic," Heintzman said, noting that up to 25% of cancers are linked to chronic inflammation.

This world heart day, keep your heart healthy & happy with a handful of almonds

Chandigarh, September 24, 2024: World Heart Day, observed annually on September 29, serves as a reminder of the importance of heart health. Each year on this day, healthcare providers, government bodies, and international organizations come together to raise awareness about cardiovascular diseases (CVDs) and promote actions to prevent, detect, and manage these conditions. In recent years, India has experienced a concerning rise in CVD cases. A recent study involving 65,562 Indian adults aged 45 and above found 29.4% self-reported prevalence of diagnosed cardiovascular diseases, highlighting urgent public health concerns and the need for targeted awareness and prevention programs. One effective way to support heart health is by incorporating heart-healthy foods like almonds into our daily diet.

Almonds are a powerful ally in the fight against heart disease. With 15 essential nutrients, including protein, healthy fats, zinc, dietary fiber, magnesium, and potassium, almonds are well-known for their heart-friendly benefits. Regularly consuming a handful of almonds can help lower total and LDL cholesterol levels, as well as reduce heart-damaging inflammation, making them an excellent choice for supporting cardiovascular health.

A study published in the Journal of the American Heart Association found that a daily snack of 42 grams of almonds, consumed as part of an overall healthy diet, improved several heart disease risk factors. Snacking on almonds reduced central adiposity (belly fat) and waist circumference—well-established risk factors for heart disease.

Therefore, incorporating a handful of almonds into the daily well-balanced diet is a beneficial habit for keeping the heart healthy and managing cholesterol levels. The best part is that almonds are extremely versatile and nutritious in any form, making them a convenient snack option at any time of the day.

Commenting on World Heart Day, Bollywood Actress, Soha Ali Khan said, "Maintaining a healthy, balanced diet and staying active are essential for heart health—something I prioritize for both me and my family. I'm always mindful of our food choices, making sure we limit junk food and choose healthier options like almonds. I rely on almonds in my daily routine; they keep me full longer and help me avoid unhealthy snacks. I also make it a point to stay active with a variety of workouts, including yoga, pilates, and strength training, to support my heart health."

Sharing her thoughts on the World Heart Day, Popular South Indian Actress, Shriya Saran said, "On this day.

, I encourage everyone to prioritize heart health by making mindful choices in their daily lives. As someone who is health-conscious, I focus on making nutritious choices for my meals and consciously incorporate heart-healthy snacks like almonds into my diet. Almonds are my go-to snack as they provide essential nutrients such as protein and dietary fiber, and support overall heart health and well-being."

Dr. Rohini Patil, MBBS and Nutritionist said, "It's crucial to recognize how our dietary and lifestyle choices impact heart health. Unhealthy eating habits, high stress levels, lack of sleep, and sedentary lifestyles are all factors that can contribute.

Alchemist Hospital leads the way with first ABO Incompatible Kidney Transplant in North Haryana

Panchkula: Alchemist Hospital Panchkula, announced a groundbreaking achievement that strengthens its position, not just as Haryana's leading Kidney transplant centre rather one of the pioneers in entire Northern India as far as care of kidney patients is concerned.

After performing nearly 350 successful kidney transplants in a short span of time, hospital's Kidney Transplant Program has become the first in the North Haryana to start ABO Incompatible (ABOi) kidney transplants, this marks a landmark accomplishment that underscores its commitment to pioneer cutting-edge technologies and advanced medical techniques.

Dr Neeraj Goyal, Associate Director of Urology and Chief Kidney Transplant Surgeon at Alchemist Panchkula, highlighted that "Successful ABO Incompatible Kidney Transplants are a milestone achievement for us that underscores the continued efforts and relentless dedication of our team. We are aimed to provide best possible care to the patients suffering from this deadly disease of kidney failure."

Dr Neeraj further elaborated: "An ABO incompatible transplant is a complex procedure where the donor and recipient have different blood groups. There are certain pre-existing antibodies due to this difference of blood groups that presents as a natural barrier between them. This poses a significant challenge due to potential immune reactions that can lead to rapid rejection and failure of the transplanted organ. Unlike standard kidney transplants with same or compatible blood groups, ABO incompatible transplants require advanced pre-transplant treatments such as plasmapheresis and intensive immunosuppressive therapies, to remove these pre-existing antibodies and desensitize the patient's immune system. The meticulous post-transplant monitoring and intensive care make these procedures particularly demanding. Addition of this facility, will provide a new lease of life to the patients, not having a blood group compatible donor in family. Our focus on leveraging the latest technologies and techniques ensures that the patients receive the best possible outcomes, and this milestone reflects our unwavering commitment to excellence."

Misuse of antibiotics can increase risk of heart ailments, stroke and hypertension, suggests Dr Shivani Bedi

Chandigarh: Maintaining heart health is crucial for the overall well-being and longevity of an individual. The heart, being central to the circulatory system, relies on a combination of healthy lifestyle choices, regular medical care, and effective management of risk factors. However, misuse and overuse of antibiotics and other medicines can significantly impact heart health in numerous ways.

Dr Shivani Juneja Bedi, Consultant, Clinical Pharmacology, Fortis Hospital Mohali, through an advisory sheds light on the judicious use of medicines.

Strongly advocating against the consumption of medicines without a prescription, Dr Bedi, said, "One should strictly adhere to the prescribed dosage, not take medications for non-intended purposes, nor combine drugs without medical supervision. This can cause cardiovascular risks and put an individual at an increased risk of arrhythmia, which can be potentially life-threatening. The overuse of NSAIDs, corticosteroids, or stimulants can cause or worsen hypertension, while increasing the risk of heart disease and stroke. Combining medications without medical supervision can result in harmful interactions."

Dr Bedi further elaborated, "Mixing anticoagulants with certain other drugs can increase the risk of bleeding, while combining stimulants with antidepressants may cause severe hypertension or arrhythmias. Some drugs like chemotherapy agents or the long-term use of alcohol and cocaine, when misused, can lead to disease of the heart muscles which can impair the heart's ability to pump blood effectively. Stimulants and recreational drugs may also contribute to lifestyle factors that exacerbate cardiovascular risk, such as poor diet or lack of exercise." Stating that the irrational use of medicines may also exacerbate or induce insulin resistance, Dr Bedi, added.

Gladiator 2 new trailer unveils epic battles and family secrets

The makers of the highly anticipated sequel to the 2000 classic, 'Gladiator 2,' directed by Ridley Scott, have unveiled a thrilling new trailer that showcases a gritty and intense Paul Mescal as Lucius, the son of Lucilla and nephew of the villainous Commodus.

Set against the backdrop of war-torn Rome, the trailer hints at a narrative filled with conflict and emotional depth.

Years after the events of the original film, Lucius finds himself navigating the harsh realities of life as a gladiator in northern Africa.

The new trailer emphasizes his journey back to Rome, where he faces formidable foes while reconnecting with his mother, portrayed by Connie Nielsen.

A pivotal moment in the trailer reveals Lucius's true parentage. In a powerful scene, Lucilla imparts the legacy of his father, saying, "Take your father's strength. His name was Maximus. And I see him in you."

Paul Mescal expressed his astonishment upon discovering his character's background. "I was like, 'Holy shit,'" he recalled in an interview, as per Variety.

He further noted the challenge of carrying such a significant legacy, stating, "It's an affronting thing to see it written on the page," he said.

The cast also features a star-studded lineup, including Pedro Pascal as Marcus Acacius, a Roman general trained by Maximus; Denzel Washington as Macrinus, a powerful figure in Rome; and Joseph Quinn and Fred Hechinger as the twin emperors.

Scott has promised viewers that this instalment will contain the "biggest action sequence" he has ever directed, surpassing even his previous works.

Known for crafting unforgettable cinematic moments in films like 'Alien' and 'Blade Runner,' Scott aims to elevate the action in 'Gladiator 2' to unprecedented heights.

Scott discovered Mescal's potential after witnessing his standout performance in 'Normal People.'

A brief conversation led Scott to cast Mescal as the film's lead, which the actor approached with great dedication, significantly transforming his physique for the role.

Pascal humorously dubbed him "Brick Wall Paul" due to his impressive strength, adding, "I would rather be thrown from a building than have to fight him again," as per Variety.

With excitement building, 'Gladiator 2' is set to hit theatres on November 22, promising to deliver a blend of heart-pounding action and rich storytelling that fans of the original film have been eagerly awaiting.

Why Jahankilla Is not a front runner for the commercial success

Jahankilla is not just another movie—it's a heartfelt tribute to national integration, heroism, and the spirit of resilience. Set against a backdrop of unity, it brings a powerful message that resonates with today's society. The film is dedicated to the brave first responders—those who risk their lives daily to ensure the safety and well-being of others.

From the Army, Navy, and Air Force to Police, Doctors, Nurses, Ambulance Services, Firefighters, and many more, Jahankilla shines a light on the tireless work of these heroes who keep us safe.

A Voice for the Youth

One of the most compelling aspects of Jahankilla is its focus on the struggles of youth, particularly in India's small towns. It addresses the challenges faced by young people who, after completing their education, find themselves grappling with unemployment. Many see IELTS exams and migration abroad as their only way out, seeking a sustainable life overseas. However, for some, the reality abroad isn't what they imagined. Many struggle to adapt to fast-paced foreign lifestyles and end up taking menial jobs to make ends meet.

Fardeen Khan Returns to Reclaim the Spotlight with Grit, Grace, and Gravitas

CHANDIGARH: After a 14-year hiatus, Fardeen Khan is back, and Bollywood is buzzing. The actor, once a hit of the 2000s cinema, is now carving a new way that honors his legacy and positions him as a force to be reckoned with. With a slate of diverse and intriguing projects—Heeramandi, Khel Khel Mein, Visfot, and Housefull 5—Fardeen Khan is reclaiming the spotlight that was always rightfully his.

Khan's first step back into the limelight came with a bang through his web series debut in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Heeramandi. Known for its grand production values and intricate storytelling, Heeramandi provided the perfect platform for Fardeen to showcase his evolution as an actor.

This isn't just the Fardeen Khan of the early 2000s; this is a more nuanced performer who's willing to delve into complex stories that reflect the grey shades of his characters. His portrayal in the series earned praise from critics and fans alike, who celebrated the actor's refined approach and his bold decision to choose such a sophisticated project for his reentry. Fardeen Khan is not just back—he was here to play on his terms. And Heeramandi heralded his new phase!

But the real surprise came in Khel Khel Mein. Directed by Mudassar Aziz, the film marks Fardeen's first theatrical release in over a decade, reigniting a partnership with Aziz from their Dulha Mil Gaya days. The nostalgia of their reunion is palpable, yet the project is far from a mere stroll down memory lane. Both actor and director have grown, and this shift shines through. Fardeen's performance was a blend of his well-known charm with a newfound depth. He played a complex man with elan, bringing the quietude and dignity to the part.

Jahankilla poised to become a blockbuster: Jobanpreet Singh

After having spent years of blood, sweat and tears on just writing 'Jahankilla', seeing it on the big screen is exhilarating, to say the least. The whole process for me was extremely personal and organic, interlaced with many personal anecdotes of civil services aspirants. My vision on paper becoming a tangible reality was a process fraught with challenges and unending twists to the story; often times stranger than the ones I created as a storyteller. Having written multiple scripts, many of which are slated to go on floor soon, I can say with complete certainty that 'Jahankilla' is going to break all box office records.

There is always a risk when you act in something you write. The actor often taking over the writing. That is one thing I always refrained from. I refused to let the actor in me override the writer. My vision found the resonating energy from Howzzat Productions. We always were on same page when it came to creating quality content. I always wanted to tell stories of youth and this is a film that champions the power of youth unleashing the hidden potential of contemporary youth in hinterlands of the country. Their ambitions, aspirations for a better life for themselves reflect in this film. National integration emerges as a constant thread throughout the film. The sacrifices and selfless service of police, army, and all first responders mostly go unrecognized. So, in a way, we created our own ode to all these heroes to honor them.

This is exactly why I am positive that 'Jahankilla' will turn out to be a commercial success countrywide.

As a writer, I can gurantee that this film will break all box office records - Jobanpreet Singh (writer, Jahankilla)
