Passionate about his work, simple in his lifestyle, rich in his values, and yet so humble. Last week, when I was in New York at a Taj Hotel, the lady who was running the lift was very proudly telling me that I am a friend of Ratan Tata and he had invited me to visit India. I visited India for 1 week as a guest of Ratan Tata. That was the character of Ratan Tata. In the business world, he's left behind a legacy which will be very difficult for anybody to beat in many lifetimes. BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, OCT 10

The Governor of Punjab and Administrator, UT Chandigarh Shri Gulab Chand Kataria inaugurated the two-day Vice Chancellors conference on National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 here today at Punjab Raj Bhavan.

In his inaugural address, the Punjab Governor stressed the importance of a balanced educational framework that honours India's rich cultural heritage while equipping students with contemporary skills. "Education must create harmony between our time-honored traditions and today's technological advancements," he said, highlighting how this approach fosters well-rounded individuals grounded in both cultural values and modern competencies.

The Punjab Governor commended Punjab's education system, noting its high standards and progress compared to some other states.

He emphasized that NEP 2020 offers a valuable framework to further enhance educational outcomes, encouraging institutions to integrate talent recognition, language inclusivity, and rigorous teacher selection into their approach. Like Gujarat BJP govt will always be formed in Haryana: Dr Ashok

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KARNAL, OCTOBER 10

BJP got the taste of power for the first time in Gujarat in the year 1990. After this, the party expanded so much between 1992 and 1995 that it came to power on its own. If we leave aside the tenure of one year and four days of Shankar Singh Vaghela, then BJP has been in power in Gujarat for the last 27 years.BJP District Media Incharge Dr Ashok Kumar said that due to the welfare policies of the Central and State Government in Haryana, BJP is going to form the government in Haryana for the third time. The credit for this goes to the welfare schemes of the Central and State Government in addition to the micro level politics of BJP and if BJP continues to work in this manner, then in the coming times also BJP will form the government in Haryana.He said that since BJP is a cadre based party, its booth level and Panna Pramukh level workers provide strength to the party till the ground level.

BJP's public welfare policies include providing jobs without any slips and without any expenditure in Haryana, in addition to the honorarium given to farmers by the Center, the common man has benefited a lot from the Ayushman scheme. The state has got a lot of relief from dirt due to the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan.

Hooliganism started after BJP came back to power: Aditya Surjewala

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KAITHAL: Kaithal MLA Aditya Surjewala issued a statement and attacked the BJP government. Surjewala said that hooliganism and terror of goons are at their peak under the BJP rule. As soon as the BJP government was formed, the spirits of goons and miscreants have increased, once again they have started creating terror. The firing and intention to kill by miscreants in Kaithal for 2 consecutive days has exposed the BJP rule. He said that in front of the police, 3 miscreants try to kill a youth by firing bullets, the police and administration are sitting as mute spectators. The attackers abscond in the middle. The public is forced to live in an atmosphere of fear.

The very next day, an attempt is made to kill an elderly woman by shooting her and the miscreant is out of police custody. Aditya Surjewala, while demanding an answer from BJP and Chief Minister Nayab Saini, asked why has the terror of goons started again in the last 10 years of BJP and now again in BJP rule? Why is BJP's grip on law and order and goons lose? Does BJP just take votes and leave the public to live under the shadow of goons? Why does the terror of goons start with the rule of BJP?

Harvinder Kalyan's rising vote graph over four elections, Manohar Lal's promise to make him a minister resonates

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KARNAL, OCT 10

Harvinder Kalyan, the BJP candidate from Gharaunda, has secured a third consecutive electoral victory, leading to widespread calls for him to be appointed as a minister in the state government. During campaign rallies in Gharaunda, former Chief Minister and Union Minister Manohar Lal had assured the public that electing Kalyan as MLA would be their responsibility, while making him a minister would be his. This statement is echoing across the constituency, with support growing for Kalyan's promotion.

Kalyan's calm, humble, and approachable nature has made him a well-liked figure, even among his opponents, and his vote share has consistently increased across four elections. In fact, Kalyan is among six MLAs who have won three or more elections and are being considered for ministerial roles in the state government. With Karnal recently losing its status as the "Chief Minister's City," there is now talk of it being recognized as the "Minister's City," with Kalyan as a potential candidate. His influence also extends beyond Karnal, with his contributions benefiting BJP candidates in Panipat as well, including his significant role in Bhagwandas Kabirpanthi's victory in Nilokheri.

As Kalyan's name gains traction in discussions of a potential cabinet post, people are also talking about his dedication and determination. Kalyan's vision for the next five years is clear: he aims to make Gharaunda a prosperous and thriving region. Over the last decade, he has worked tirelessly for the area's development, and despite a brief slowdown during the COVID-19 pandemic, he is committed to completing the remaining projects and bringing more benefits to the public. His dream is to create a prosperous Gharaunda, with a particular focus on women's economic empowerment.

Kalyan's electoral journey reflects his growing popularity. He garnered 29,000 votes in 2009, 55,000 in 2014, 67,000 in 2019, and 87,500 votes in the 2024 election, showing a steady increase in voter support. This rise is a testament to his reputation as a "people's leader" who works without bias and serves all communities. His efforts during the Yamuna flood crisis and in addressing local issues like the breach in the canal at Ranwar have earned him significant respect.

Although Kalyan himself has remained silent on the topic of a ministerial position, his supporters and well-wishers are already offering congratulations to his family and close associates, hinting at the strong possibility of his promotion.

EDITORIAL

No end in sight

A year after the horrifying Hamas attack deep into Israeli territory, killing over 1,200 people and taking 250 hostages, the conflict shows no signs of abating. Instead, it is only intensifying and expanding, dragging other nations in its wake, as the Middle East is teetering on the edge of a full-blown war, the consequences of which are too dreadful to contemplate. In a disproportionate and ruthless response to the Hamas attack, Israel has virtually pulverised Gaza, killing over 40,000 people so far and displacing virtually an entire population from their homes in the tiny enclave. As the world watches helplessly and calls for restraint proving futile, Tel Aviv has been on a rampage as the fighting is now spreading to new areas. After crushing Hamas, the Iran-backed terror outfit operating in Gaza, Israeli forces have invaded Lebanon in pursuit of Hezbollah, another Tehran-sponsored organisation, assassinated its leader Hassan Nasrallah, and threatened a potentially devastating confrontation with Iran, which last week struck Israel with a barrage of ballistic missiles. The Israel-Gaza war has now been overshadowed by the wider conflict with Israel and Iran coming face to face in a confrontation. With all sides vowing to escalate, it is unclear when or how any of this can stop. In the meantime, millions of Israelis and Palestinians, whose lives were upended last October 7, have been left in an unending state of limbo — traumatised, bereaved.

There can be no solution unless both sides shed their extreme postures and work towards lasting peace in one of the most turbulent regions of the world with a long history of wars rooted in religious, ethnic and territorial claims. While Israel has been unwilling to accept the legitimate aspirations of Palestinians and their dream of having a homeland, Iran has been nurturing terror outfits like Hamas, Hezbollah and Houthis in the region as part of its staged goal to 'wipe Israel off the map'. The United States, the only country with the political influence to promote a ceasefire, has so far failed to end the conflict. Former American President Donald Trump is egging Israel on to step up attacks on Iran and destroy its key installations. Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's unhinged sledgehammer tactics are worrisome, not just for the region but also for the world at large.

Rata Tata a corporate titan and secular living saint

He was one of the world's most influential industrialists yet he never appeared on any list of billionaires. He controlled over 30 companies that operated in over 100 countries across six continents yet lived an unpretentious life.

Ratan Naval Tata, who died at a Mumbai hospital on Wednesday night at the age of 86 years, enjoyed a perhaps unique status -- a corporate titan who was considered a 'secular living saint' with a reputation for decency and integrity. Tata joined the family firm after acquiring a B.S. in architecture from Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, in 1962. He initially worked on the shop floor, gaining experience in a number of Tata Group businesses before being named director in charge of one of them, the National Radio and Electronics Co in 1971.

He became chairman of Tata Industries a decade later and in 1991, took over as the chairman of the Tata Group from his uncle, JRD, who had been in charge for more than half a century.

This was the year when India opened its economy and Tata soon turned the group, which began as a small textile and trading firm in 1868, into a global powerhouse with operations stretching from salt to steel, cars to software, power plants and airlines.

He was the chairman of Tata Sons, the group's main holding company, for more than two decades during which the conglomerate aggressively sought to expand, acquiring London-based Tetley Tea in 2000 for USD 431.3 million, buying truck-manufacturing operations of South Korea's Daewoo Motors for USD 102 million in 2004, paying USD 11.3 billion to take over Anglo-Dutch steel manufacturer Corus Group and spending USD 2.3 billion to purchase elite British car brands Jaguar and Land Rover from the Ford Motor Company. Along with being one of India's most successful business tycoons, he is also known for his philanthropic activities. His personal involvement in philanthropy began early. In the 1970s, he initiated The Aga Khan Hospital and Medical College project, laying the foundation of one of India's premier healthcare institutions.

After his appointment as the chairman of Tata Sons in 1991, Tata's philanthropic efforts gained new momentum. He actively steered the Tata Trusts, established by his great-grandfather Jamsetji, towards addressing vital social needs and set up institutes of excellence like the Tata Institute of Social Sciences and funded educational initiatives across India.

Despite being the embodiment of class and elegance, Tata was not untouched by controversies. Though the group was not implicated directly in the 2008 scam in the allocation of second-generation telecom licences, he was drawn through the leaked recordings of purported phone calls he made to lobbyist Nira Radia. He was not implicated in any wrongdoing.

In December 2012, he ceded control of Tata Sons to Cyrus Mistry, who was his deputy then. But the owners had problems with the functioning of the first non-Tata family member, leading to the ouster of Mistry in October 2016.

Ratan Tata was said to be one of the shareholders who disagreed with Mistry on several projects. This included Mistry's decision to stop loss-making small car Nano, a pet project of Ratan Tata.

Following Mistry's ouster, Tata briefly served as the interim chairman beginning in October 2016 and returned to retirement in January 2017 when Natarajan Chandrasekaran was appointed the chairman of the Tata Group.

He has since been the emeritus chairman of Tata Sons. During this time, he donned a new hat, helping young entrepreneurs of the 21st century, investing in new age tech-driven start-ups which will play a significant role in shaping the future of the country.

In his personal capacity and some through his investment company RNT Capital Advisors, Tata invested in over 30 start-ups, including Ola Electric, Paytm, Snapdeal, Lenskart and Zivame.

One wet monsoon evening not many moons ago, dog-lover Tata had decreed that any strays outside the conglomerate's HQ in downtown Mumbai be allowed shelter. Some never left but their benefactor is no more.

Researchers give insights into cell's repair system

In living organisms, the membrane that encloses the cells is incredibly delicate and flexible. Many biological activities depend on how it repairs and protects itself from harm, yet this process is still poorly understood. Researchers at Forschungszentrum Julich have now used cryo-electron microscopy to uncover intriguing new information. Known from the photosynthetic system of plants, algae, and bacteria, the membrane protein Vipp1 may generate a variety of structures that may be used as instruments to reinforce and strengthen the cell membrane when needed.

In a follow-up investigation, the scientists also managed to get fresh perspectives on the role of the associated bacterial protein PspA. Vipp1 and PspA are two molecules that have exceptional plasticity and may take on many shapes, such as rings and tubes with various diameters. The cell membrane has numerous important functions. For instance, it protects the inside of the cell from the environment. At the same time, nutrients are absorbed through the cell membrane, waste products are excreted, and signals are transmitted between cells. Despite its central role, the cell membrane is also very sensitive. It consists of a thin layer of lipids which, although protective by themselves, are also susceptible to stress caused by physical pressure and stretching or chemical influences. Environmental factors such as UV radiation or toxins can also damage the membrane. In plant cells, for example, intense light can severely stress and even damage the membranes in the chloroplasts, where photosynthesis takes place. Proteins such as Vipp1 are therefore essential for the survival of the cell, as they protect the membrane structures and repair them if necessary.

Advocating prudence over imprudence,

Following the path of innocence,

Piously adorable saviour of the 'satyuga',

Confirmed humanity the path of 'dharma',

Demon's egotism, arrogant vanity,

Ablazed in effigy, manifested his fatality.

With divine dart of Lord's spiritual might,

Speared that Devil's fabricated pride.

His inflated ego, swelled head, boastful glory,

With demonaic domain dashed in fury.

Truthful triumph of knowledge over ignorance,

Virtuous victory of modesty over arrogance,

Dazzling dawn of renewal and rejuvenation,

India reaffirms commitment to efforts to prevent proliferation of weapons of mass destruction

India's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, Parvathaneni Harish, reiterated India's unwavering commitment to global efforts to prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMDs) during the 1540 Committee's open briefing.

While addressing the open briefing on Thursday (local time), Harish said, "It's important that the Committee hears the views and comments of the member states who bear the primary responsibility for the implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1540. Let me begin by reaffirming India's unwavering commitment to global efforts to prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction."

Harish emphasised the threat posed by terrorists and non-state actors accessing WMDs, underscoring the need for collective action.

"The access to these weapons of mass destruction by terrorists and other non-state actors adds a serious dimension to threats posed by these weapons to international peace and security," Harish said in the briefing.

India has consistently supported UN Security Council Resolution 1540, which aims to prevent non-state actors from acquiring WMDs. "India accords great importance to the implementation of UNSC Resolution 1540," Harish stated.

To implement this resolution, India has established a robust legal and regulatory framework, including effective inter-ministerial mechanisms for licensing, enforcement, and risk assessment. "With our long-standing commitment to global non-proliferation, India has a robust legal and regulatory system to implement the provisions of Resolution 1540 and strategic trade controls."

Harish highlighted India's initiatives to prevent terrorists from acquiring WMDs, including annual resolutions in the UN General Assembly, outreach events involving industry and academia, and strategic trade controls.

"Recognizing the role of the industry, academy, and other key stakeholders in facilitating the implementation by states, India has been organizing outreach events involving these stakeholders at the national level, including sector-specific programs and for the region."

India also has a robust framework for the safety and security of radioactive materials. "Indian authorities have a standard framework to investigate any incidents or reports to the contrary and undertake action as necessary."

Further, India has organized national conferences on strategic trade controls. "In 2024, the Government of India, in partnership with various industry bodies and other stakeholders, has organized a national conference on strategic trade controls."

"We have supported 1540 Committee's mandate and its work wherever possible by offering to share our knowledge and technical expertise in various areas as part of the Committee's assistance framework," he added.

In partnership with United Nations Office for Disarmament Affairs (UNODA), India will organize a capacity-building program on implementation of UNSC Resolution 1540 for Asia-Pacific states in 2025. "This further demonstrates India's robust credentials and contribution to the international non-proliferation architecture."

Harish emphasized the need for enhanced cooperation and coordination among UN bodies, international organizations, and counter-terrorism committees to prevent WMD proliferation. "We also support the 1540 committees' enhanced cooperation and coordination with other relevant UN bodies and international organizations."

He said that India remains committed to addressing the critical threat of WMD proliferation. "Preventing terrorist groups from acquiring and using weapons of mass destruction must be a priority and responsibility of the international community," he said.

These diet tips will help you stay fit post pregnancy

Giving birth is the one of the most beautiful experiences for a woman. All the pain and sufferings are forgotten as soon as you hold your baby for the first time. That little smiling face and those tiny hands fill your heart with so much joy and happiness that everything else does not matter anymore. But while mothers get busy taking care of their children, they often forget about themselves. Adjusting to a new routine and taking care of the baby can be exhausting and only a healthy body can do all of that.

Why Do New Mothers Need A Diet Plan? Following a diet routine post-pregnancy is not just about losing the extra weight but about getting fitter. Most new mothers need to focus on healing and recovering from delivery. Many of them suffer from postpartum depression which is often neglected by the family. In addition to that, breastfeeding is also new territory for first-time mothers. Our diet plans help new moms fight through all these issues and enjoy their motherhood as well as themselves.

Most mothers opt for diet plans because they wish to be more active in their current routine. All the post-partum weight tends to make them lethargic and inactive. We offer diet plans for new mothers that aim at replenishing their nutrition and make them active and healthy. Mothers need to have a better relationship with food and feel good about themselves.

Pregnancy weight or "baby weight" is the weight of the baby, the uterus enlargement, placenta, breast tissues, amniotic fluid, and extra fat stores which are reserved for birthing and breastfeeding. Most women gain more than the recommended weight during pregnancy but that can be worked upon post-delivery.

To start with, you do not have to worry if you haven't been able to lose much weight post-pregnancy. Everybody is different and functions differently. Before planning a diet plan for women post-pregnancy, it is important to know if the mother is breastfeeding or not.

If you opt for breastfeeding, then feed your kid for at least the first six months after their birth since breast milk is healthy and nutritious for the baby. It is easily digestible and always accessible to the baby. Babies who are breastfed are less vulnerable to diseases like pneumonia, diarrhea, infections, allergies, diabetes, and bowel diseases.

Meningitis impacts more than 2.5 million people worldwide each year, with children under the age of five representing a substantial portion of the fatalities. The Office' star Jenna Fischer talks about her breast cancer diagnosis

Jenna Fischer, the actress best known for her role as Pam Beesly in the popular TV series 'The Office', opened up about being diagnosed with Stage 1 triple-positive breast cancer in December 2023. However, she shared that now she is fine and cancer-free, reported Page Six.

Taking to her Instagram handle, she shared her health update with her followers. "October is breast cancer awareness month. I never thought I'd be making an announcement like this but here we are. Last December, I was diagnosed with Stage 1 Triple Positive Breast Cancer."

She shared that after going through treatment, chemotherapy and surgeries, she is now cancer-free. "After completing surgery, chemotherapy and radiation I am now cancer free."

Jenna added, "I wanted a photo of myself in my patchy pixie looking happy and healthy to go along with this news. A big thank you to Angela Kinsey's husband Josh Snyder for taking this photo. It's just one example of the care they showed me during this journey."

She continued to share the details, "Back in October of 2023 I posted a photo of myself on Instagram preparing for my routine mammogram with a joking reminder to 'take care of your ticking time bags' a la Michael Scott," Fischer explained, mentioning that a routine mammogram had identified a small tumour, which required her to undergo 12 rounds of weekly therapy in February, followed by three weeks of radiation in June.

"Triple positive breast cancer is an aggressive form of breast cancer but it is also highly responsive to treatment," Fischer explained.

In January, she had a lumpectomy to remove the tumour. Fortunately, her cancer was "caught early and it hadn't spread into [her] lymph nodes or throughout the rest of [her] body," the aggressive nature of the cancer "still required chemotherapy and radiation to be sure it didn't return."

Kartik, reflecting on the magnitude of this project, expressed his honour at sharing the screen with celebrated actresses Madhuri Dixit Nene and Vidya Balan.

During the trailer launch, he remarked, "For every actor, there's a crazy moment when you know something magical is about to happen, even before a shot is filmed. One such shot featured both Vidya ma'am and Madhuri ma'am, where they both ask, 'Kya lagta hai, kaun hai Manjulika?'"

The significance of this scene for Kartik was evident as he shared, "It was a big moment for me personally to shoot that scene with both of them together."

See you soon."

Directed by Anees Bazmee, 'Bhool Bhulaiyaa 3' not only marks the return of Vidya as Manjulika but also introduces new layers of intrigue, particularly regarding the question of who the "real" Manjulika is between her and Madhuri.
