BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, DEC 16

The farmers on Monday organized tractor marches at different places across Haryana and Punjab to show their support to protesting farmers at Shambu and Khanauri borders. Farmers gathered at Panipat, Hisar and Ambala and started their tractor march in their respective areas. They demanded guarantee of MSP on every crop.

Meanwhile, Haryana Minister Anil Vij Haryana Minister Anil Vij has urged farmers to find alternative ways to protest, rather than blocking trains.

In a statement, he said, "After permission from the Administration, every organisation can hold a protest. The farmers should not block trains as it will cause inconvenience to many people. They should find another way to protest."

Earlier, farmer leader Sarwan Singh Pandher confirmed the planned protests, stating that the tractor march would be held outside Punjab on December 16, followed by a large-scale rail blockade in Punjab two days later.

His announcement came after a group of 101 farmers, known as the 'Jathha,' was blocked by police while trying to march toward the Shambhu border.

Ustad Zakir Hussain: A farewell to the legend

SHASHI PAL JAIN, MANAGING EDITOR

Zakir Hussain, the maestro whose tabla playing transcended borders, has left us. His unique style touched hearts across India and the world. Farewell, Ustad Zakir Hussain, your music will forever resonate in our hearts. His fingers seemed to dance and soar through the raga and taal, playing the tabla with the grace of a magician's drum. Zakir Hussain was not just a tabla virtuoso, but also a percussionist, composer, and even an actor. He was a legend, an artist of India who belonged to the world.

Zakir Hussain passed away on Monday in San Francisco, succumbing to a lung disease. He was 73. He is survived by his wife, Antonia Minecola, and daughters Anisa and Isabella Qureshi. He leaves behind a remarkable legacy of over 60 years of music that spanned continents. On behalf of Yugmarg and Punjabi Des Pardes, we pay our heartfelt tribute to this extraordinary artist. We urge the Government of India to create a lasting memorial to honor him, so future generations can learn from his life and work.

Zakir Hussain's collaborations with some of the greatest Indian and international musicians, blending Indian classical with global sounds, redefined the tabla's identity. Trained under the legendary Allah Rakha, his father, Zakir naturally cultivated an expansive musical creativity. His compositions embraced Western genres such as jazz and concert music, further demonstrating his versatility. "When I was growing up, the concept of great music was often questioned," Hussain once reflected. He gave his first concert at just seven years old and began touring by the age of twelve.

Born in Mumbai, Zakir Hussain moved to the United States in 1970, where his musical talent knew no bounds. His global influence grew as he won three Grammy Awards for Best Global Music Album, Best Global Music Performance, and Best Contemporary Instrumental Album at the 66th Annual Grammy Awards. The upcoming 2024 Grammy Awards will celebrate his legacy, alongside other renowned musicians like John McLaughlin, Shankar Mahadevan, and Ganesh Rajagopalan.

Zakir Hussain's musical journey also included collaborations with global icons like Mickey Hart (Masters of Percussion, Planet Drum), Charles Lloyd, Dave Holland, Herbie Hancock, and Bella Fleck. His tabla concert with orchestra premiered in India in 2015, followed by performances in Europe, the UK, and the US, garnering widespread acclaim.

In her book Zakir Hussain: A Life in Music, author Nasreen Munni Kabir shares an insightful conversation with the maestro. Hussain emphasized that music should be heard in the right environment—concert halls or theatres, where people gather in reverence for the art. "A private gathering, corporate event, or wedding is not the place for music," he said, highlighting the sacred nature of a true musical performance.

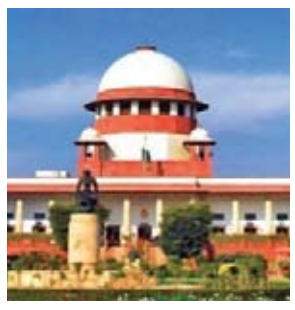

Beyond his tabla prowess, Zakir Hussain composed music for films such as Manto and Mr. and Mrs. Iyer and collaborated with Shabana Azmi in the Merchant Ivory productions Heat and Dust, The Perfect Murder, and Saz. He became a household name in 1988 when he appeared in the iconic Taj Mahal tea commercial. His playful interaction with renowned voice-over artist Harish Bhimani—"Wah Ustad, Wah!"—became an unforgettable moment for many.

Hussain also featured with his father in the legendary national integration song Mile Sur Mera Tumhara, broadcast on Doordarshan. A recipient of four Grammy Awards, Hussain's honors also include the Padma Shri, Padma Bhushan, Padma Vibhushan, the Sangeet Natak Akademi Award, the National Heritage Fellowship of the USA, and the French Order of Arts and Letters.

Farewell, Zakir Hussain, a great son of India. Your music will forever echo across the world.

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 16

The Supreme Court on Monday issued notice to various ministries of the union government on a petition seeking pan-India safety guidelines and reforms for the protection of women.

A bench of justices Surya Kant and Ujjal Bhuyan asked the Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Law and Justice, and Ministry of Women and Child Development among others to file a reply to the petition filed by the Supreme Court Women Lawyers Association (SCWLA).

Senior Advocate Mahalakshmi Pavani appearing for SCWLA urged the top court to issue pan-India safety guidelines, reforms and Measures for the Protection of Women.

The petitioner has sought various directions under the pan India implementation of 'safety and security measures and guidelines/rules for Women' for the protection of women all across the country.

The top court also observed that a few demands are innovative and important like social behaviour in public transport and it should be displayed in all transport forums.

Among other prayers, the petitioner has also demanded to initiate a complete ban on unrestricted free online pornographic content by implementing robust safeguards to prevent its dissemination. From Nirbhaya Rape Case to Abhaya, the brutality has only manifested into an animalistic expression against women, the petition said and submitted further that instead of politicizing sensitive issues, the government as well as each politician must pay more attention to the safety of vulnerable citizens and should increase the funds allocated for the purpose of security of women, children and third gender community alike. "The harsh reality is that India awakes when there is a media trial which happens only in a few horrifying rape cases which jolt and traumatize the public.

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, DECEMBER 16:

In a major breakthrough amidst the ongoing drive against organised crime, Punjab Anti-Gangster Task Force (AGTF) in a joint operation with SAS Nagar Police has arrested four operatives of Canada-based terrorist Arsh Dalla and another foreign based-handler and recovered three .32 calibre pistols along with 16 cartridges from their possession, said Director General of Police (DGP) Punjab Gaurav Yadav here on Monday.

GRAP stage 3 re-imposed in Delhi amid poor air quality

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 16

GRAP-III restrictions has been reimposed in the entire National Capital Region amid "highly unfavourable meteorological conditions," the Commission for Air Quality Management (CQAM), the Centre's pollution watchdog said on Monday.

The CAQM, responsible for protecting and improving the quality of air in NCR and adjoining areas, introduced a revised plan to combat winter pollution on December 13.

The Graded Response Action Plan (GRAP) is a set of emergency measures implemented in Delhi-NCR to combat air pollution based on the severity of air quality.

Delhi continues to grapple with air pollution, as air quality indices remain in the 'very poor' category, posing significant health risks to residents. The air quality is not expected to improve soon.

"Considering the highly unfavourable meteorological conditions including calm winds and very low mixing height leading the AQI of Delhi into the higher end of the VERY POOR Category, the CAQM Sub-Committee on GRAP decides to impose Stage-III of the revised GRAP schedule issued on 13.12.2024 in the entire NCR, with immediate effect," the CAQM said.

Under the revised Graded Response Action Plan (GRAP), stricter measures have been introduced to tackle air pollution in Delhi-NCR.

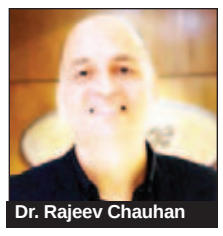

Schools and colleges in Delhi, Gurugram, Faridabad, Ghaziabad, and Gautam Budh Nagar will shift to hybrid classes for students up to Class V during Stage III, allowing parents and students to opt for online learning where available.

Awake brain surgery at PGI successfully removes tumor in 8-yr girl

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, DEC 16

Doctors at PGIMER, Chandigarh, achieved a significant medical feat by performing an awake brain surgery on an 8-year-old girl, successfully removing a rare deep-seated tumor. Such intricate procedures are exceedingly uncommon in children, particularly when the tumor is located in critical brain areas responsible for speech, cognition, and movement.

The surgery required extraordinary preparation, as doctors needed the child awake to monitor vital functions in real time. Pre-surgery psychological and emotional conditioning for the young patient and her family was crucial, ensuring the child's cooperation throughout the complex operation. "Awake brain mapping and tumor removal are scarcely reported for pediatric patients. The drug dosage and stimulation needed to preserve brain functions while keeping the patient calm are extremely challenging," said Dr. Rajeev Chauhan, part of the neurosurgery team.

Dr. Rajeev Chauhan

Dr. Sushant Kumar Sahoo

Why This Surgery Was Unique

Deep-seated brain tumors in children pose a high risk due to their proximity to essential brain regions. Weeks of preparation, advanced monitoring, and careful execution made this surgery a milestone. Real-time brain mapping allowed surgeons to pinpoint critical regions, safeguarding vital functions like speech and motor control.

Dr. Sushant Kumar Sahoo, who co-led the operation, emphasized, "Awake craniotomy ensures immediate feedback from the patient, helping us preserve essential brain functions. Even minor errors could cause lasting speech or motor deficits."

Procedure Highlights

The process involved sedating the child initially to minimize anxiety before shifting to an awake state mid-surgery. Using advanced imaging and electrical brain stimulation, surgeons identified and removed the tumor while monitoring speech and motor responses through specific tasks.

Real-time brain scans ensured no harm to healthy brain areas, successfully removing the tumor without damage.

Overcoming Challenges

The child, who had been suffering seizures and weakness in her left hand, was diagnosed with a rare insular glioma deep in the brain's functional zone. Performing such a surgery in a child demanded immense trust and cooperation. "For a child to remain calm and actively cooperate during a surgery of this magnitude is remarkable," added Dr. Chauhan.

The successful outcome reflects PGIMER's cutting-edge expertise and highlights the importance of meticulous preparation and precision. The patient is now recovering well, offering hope for other challenging pediatric brain surgeries in the future.

Comparing cows to mothers, Garg pointed out the paradox in society: while cows are revered as mothers, many fail to uphold their duty towards them. He lamented the neglect of cows after they stop producing milk, despite their lifelong contributions, such as providing milk akin to nectar.

Calling cow slaughter a grave sin as per scriptures and cow service a supreme duty, Garg condemned those who abandon cows in old age after exploiting them for milk. He concluded by asserting that true global welfare can only be achieved when both parents and cows are cared for diligently and respectfully.

Sambit Patra slams Cong after PM Museum and Library demands return of Nehru documents

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 16

BJP MP Sambit Patra on Monday slammed the Congress after the Prime Minister's Museum and Library (PMML) Society asked the Congress to return Nehru documents that were withdrawn from the museum allegedly on Sonia Gandhi's orders in 2008.

Speaking to ANI, Patra said what was in those letters that the Gandhi family did not want the nation to know.

"In this memorial, initially, only Nehru ji's historical records were present, including all the letters Nehru ji had written to global leaders. Later, it came to light that there were 51 cartons containing letters Nehru ji had written to Edwina Mountbatten, JP Narayan, and many other leaders. In 2008, when Sonia Gandhi was the UPA chairperson, she visited the memorial one day and took all these letters with her," he said. "Now, during the AGM meeting, Rizwan ji, a historian, has written a letter to Rahul Gandhi asking why this was done. He has requested Rahul Gandhi to help retrieve these important letters, which were public property," the BJP MP added.

Further, Sambit Patra posed questions to Congress over its intention behind the issue. "The question is whether Rahul Gandhi, as the Leader of Opposition (LoP), will actually speak to Sonia Gandhi to return these letters to the nation. People want to know what Nehru ji had written to Edwina Mountbatten. When the decision was made in 2010 to digitize all these documents, why did Sonia Gandhi take these letters before the digitization could happen? What was in these letters that the Gandhi family did not want the nation to know?" he said. Meanwhile, Rizwan Kadri, a member of the Prime Minister's Museum and Library (PMML) Society has written a letter to the Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi requesting to give back the documents, that he called are "important aspect of its history" and were withdrawn from the museum allegedly on the order of Congress senior leader Sonia Gandhi.

"In September 2024, I wrote a letter to Sonia Gandhi requesting that the 51 cartons from approximately eight different sections, which were part of the Nehru collections at the Prime Ministers' Museum (formerly the Nehru Memorial), be either returned to the institution, or we be granted permission to scan them, or provided with their scanned copies.

KULDEEP SOOD
BARNALA, DEC 16

A meeting of the State Committee of Operation Green Hunt Virodhi Jamhoori Front Punjab held here today expressed serious concern over the killings of revolutionary political activists and tribal people by deploying paramilitary forces under different names in Chhattisgarh and other tribal areas and the genocide of tribal peope being carried out by the security forces through special camps in the name of development. Briefing the press, Dr. Parminder, Prof. A.K. Maleri and Buta Singh Mehmoodpur said that to crush the democratic resistance of the people against the pro-corporate economic model imposed by the Indian ruling classes, the state machinery is unleashing state terrorism on a large scale. A common fascist pattern of this brutal repression can also be seen from the crushing of the Kashmiri people's movement for self-determination to all forms of state terrorism, including fake encounters in the entire North-East, including Manipur, and in the tribal areas where the peoples struggles are resisting the so-called development model, and the government's indiscriminate use of armed force against the peaceful democratic struggles of peasants and workers all over the country. The State Convention to be held on 30th December at Tarkashil Bhawan, Barnala, will address the need for creating a mass democratic movement to oppose the fascist attacks and expose the real motive behind the corporate-Hindutva nexus behind state terrorism in the name of eliminating Naxalism. Former Minister Ram Lal Thakur launched a fierce rebuttal to the BJP's recent "Kacha Chittha" chargesheet against the Congress government, calling it a baseless attempt to divert attention. Addressing a press conference, Thakur reminded the BJP of its own history of corruption scandals, including proven charges against its former national president Bangaru Laxman and allegations involving current BJP national president Jagat Prakash Nadda during his tenure as health minister in Himachal Pradesh. Thakur pointed out that a scam worth Rs 8 crore under Nadda’s tenure led to the imprisonment of a director, questioning the BJP's moral ground in accusing others. "The BJP should maintain restraint before leveling baseless allegations, as its own record on corruption is questionable," he said.

Thakur urged the Congress government to investigate the chargesheet filed against the previous BJP administration, emphasizing the need to expose corruption cases linked to the BJP. He highlighted irregularities under the 'Jal Jeevan Mission', where the same contractors accused of mishandling crores under the BJP government continue to operate today. The former minister criticized former Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur for failing to address numerous scams during his tenure, including the unprecedented selling of police jobs.

Out of school

It is easier to enact laws about rights than to implement them. That the Right to Education Act has not ensured free and universal education for all six to 14-year-old children was borne out by the figures presented in the Lok Sabha. For the first eight months of 2024-25, 1.17 million children were counted as out-of-school. In spite of schemes and policies, out-of-school children have remained an intransigent issue in India's education system. Since vast numbers are being assessed and often that of a moving population, it is possible that some more children are slipping through the cracks. This year Uttar Pradesh has the most out-of-school children — a staggering 784,228. Jharkhand and Assam are next, with over 60,000 children each. These figures are alarming for the children who are out of school. They suffer not just from a loss in learning, but also from poorer earning skills. This would perpetuate the cycle of poverty and lack of social power.

A National Sample Survey report showed that in 2017-18 12.4% children were out of school. In spite of accounts of girls doing well, more girls dropped out than boys, more underprivileged or backward classes children than children from upper-caste and well-off families and more in villages than in cities. While girls from tribal families are the worst off anywhere, more girls in the north and west drop out than in the south. Children from poor families often leave in order to earn or to help in the house.

Domestic work, agriculture and manufacturing are the most popular spheres for this. Girls can be married off, or kept at home because schools are too far away or lack proper sanitation facilities. But a large section drops out because of lack of interest or the hostility faced because of their poverty or backwardness. This last should be tackled by sensitive handling and engaged teaching. Infrastructure suitable for girls and safe travel can also be arranged. It is possible to make parents aware of the importance of foundational learning to prevent children from working. Clearly, laws such as those against child labour or minor marriage or on the right to education are not sufficient to stop children — or their parents — from giving up on school. The approach must change; solutions must fit the problems.

Wah Ustad

His fingers flew, fluttered and floated in quicksilver changes of raga and rhythm, drumming up music and magic. Zakir Hussain was the maestro of tabla, percussionist, composer and even actor – a legend who was India's very own and yet belonged to the world. Hussain died from 'idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis', a lung disease, in a San Francisco hospital early Monday. He was 73.

The artiste, a marquee name in India and abroad, leaves behind more than 60 years of music. He played on the stage alongside some of the greatest Indian and international musicians in a fusion of Indian classical and world music, giving the tabla a whole new identity.

The great percussionist created music across genres and styles, including in his repertoire jazz and concertos, naturally developing an "all-inclusive musical creativity" after learning and playing under the tutelage of his father and renowned tabla player, Alla Rakha. "The mindset as I was growing up tuned itself to the idea that music is music, it's not Indian music or that music, so when I actually started working with musicians who were non-Indian it seemed like a natural handshake," Hussain told PTI almost a year ago ahead of a performance in Goa.

As the son of Alla Rakha, one of the greatest tabla players of all time, Hussain was to the music born. He started early. The child prodigy performed his first concert at the age of seven and began touring at 12. After completing his education in Mumbai, where he was born, he moved to the United States in 1970. The borders melted away when it came to his music.

In February, Hussain became the first musician from India to receive three Grammys at the 66th Annual Grammy Awards in February for Best Global Music Album, Best Global Music Performance and Best Contemporary Instrumental Album.

"I am overwhelmed and humbled by the outpouring of love, affection, and blessings for my multiple Grammy wins. It is impossible for me to individually respond to all of you but be assured that you are all in my heart and I'm bowing to each and every one of you in thanks. It was a great day for India at the Grammys and I'm proud to be carrying the national flag," he wrote on Instagram at the time. At the 2024 Grammys, Hussain earned his first honour for best global music album for "This Moment" as part of the fusion music group Shakti, which includes founding member British guitarist John McLaughlin, as well as vocalist Shankar Mahadevan, violinist Ganesh Rajagopalan and percussionist Selvaganesh Vinayakram.

He later won two other awards for the best global music performance for "Pashto" and best contemporary instrumental album for "As We Speak", along with flautist Rakesh Chaurasia, American banjo player Bela Fleck and American bassist Edgar Meyer. In January last year, the Shakti quintet reunited for a world tour in India to much excitement from fans. Other than Shakti, Hussain also contributed to many groundbreaking collaborations, including Masters of Percussion, Planet Drum and Global Drum Project with Mickey Hart, Tabla Beat Science, Sangam with Charles Lloyd and Eric Harland, CrossCurrents with Dave Holland and Chris Potter, in trio with Béla Fleck and Edgar Meyer, and, most recently, with Herbie Hancock. Hussain composed three concertos. His third, the first-ever concerto for tabla and orchestra, was premiered in India in September 2015, by the Symphony Orchestra of India, in Europe and the UK in 2016, and in the US in April, 2017.

The composer who travelled and performed all across the globe had reservations against performing at private gatherings and disliked latecomers. He was also very vocal in his views. In a conversation with author Nasreen Munni Kabir as written in her book "Zakir Hussain: A Life in Music", Hussain said a private gathering, corporate events or weddings are not places "where music should be heard". "Those are places where people come to socialize, to drink and perhaps have a meal. That's not the way music should be heard. For me, it's the concert hall or the theatre-people take their seats, the hall darkens and we musicians take our place," he said. Hussain would ask the organisers to close the doors once the performance begins and not allow latecomers.

Then there was the man himself. His broad smile, boyish good looks and curly locks keeping rhythm with his fingers gave him a distinctive star persona that sometimes went beyond his music. The percussionist was once voted the "sexiest man" by women readers of the Indian magazine "Gentleman" in 1994 in a competition against the likes of Amitabh Bachchan. "The magazine team came to see me and wanted me to wear all these suits and jackets and Western clothes and feature on their cover. I think they were equally shocked and surprised that I won the greatest number of votes because they had assumed the winner would be Amitabh Bachchan," Hussain is quoted as saying by Kabir. Besides his work as a tabla player, Hussain also composed music for many movies, including "Manto" and "Mr and Mrs Iyer". He also acted in the Merchant Ivory film production "Heat and Dust", "The Perfect Murder" and "Saaz", opposite Shabana Azmi.

In 1988, Hussain became a household name as the face of the Taj Mahal Tea brand. In a 33-second TV commercial, the ustad was shown immersed in his tabla riyaaz, only to later sip on a cup of Taj tea. The voiceover, by the famous Harish Bhimani, would then compliment Hussain's skills saying "Wah Ustad, wah!". To which, the percussionist would reply: "Arre huzoor, wah Taj boliye!"

That "Wah Taj" became an oft used buzzword for many an occasion, and still remembered all these years later. The same year, Hussain also shared screen space with his father Allah Rakha in the iconic national integration song "Mile Sur Mera Tumhara" which premiered on Doordarshan.

He is survived by his wife Antonia Minnecola and two daughters, Anisa Qureshi and Isabella Qureshi. Apart from four Grammys, Hussain was the recipient of countless awards and honours, including Padma Shri, Padma Bhushan, Padma Vibhushan, Sangeet Natak Akademi Award, the USA's National Heritage Fellowship and Officier in France's Order of Arts and Letters.

Elections in Bangladesh could be scheduled between late 2025 and early 2026

Chief Adviser Muhammad Yunus announced on Monday that Bangladesh's next general elections could be scheduled between late 2025 and the first half of 2026. Yunus made the statement during his address to the nation on Victory Day, marking Bangladesh's victory in the 1971 Liberation War.

Victory Day commemorates the moment on December 16, 1971, when General Amir Abdullah Niazi of Pakistan's armed forces and 93,000 soldiers surrendered to the Indian Army and the Mukti Bahini, marking the end of Bangladesh's nine-month war for independence.

In his address, Yunus emphasised the importance of political consensus to move forward with elections. He said, "If political consensus allows us, again, to conduct elections based on accurate electoral rolls with a few reforms, it may be possible to hold elections by the end of 2025." Yunus acknowledged, however, that additional time might be needed to implement the necessary reforms. "And if we add to this the extent of reforms expected in terms of the electoral process and the Electoral Reforms Commission's recommendations and on the basis another six months may be required," he added.

Yunus clarified that the timeline for the elections could be fixed between late 2025 and the first half of 2026. "Roughly speaking, the timing of elections can be fixed between the end of 2025 and the first half of 2026," he stated. His comments came amid political instability in Bangladesh. On August 5, a student-led movement ousted Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina after weeks of protests and violence that led to over 600 deaths.

NSA Doval to likely visit China soon for special representative talks

National Security Advisor Ajit Doval will likely visit China soon for Special Representative talks, according to sources.

NSA Doval's likely visit to China comes after New Delhi and Beijing in October reached an agreement regarding patrolling arrangements along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in the India-China border areas.

The border standoff between India and China began in eastern Ladakh along the LAC in 2020, and was sparked by Chinese military actions. It led to prolonged tensions between the two nations, significantly straining their relations.

Earlier in 2020, the Special Representatives of India and China on the Boundary Question, Ajit Doval and Wang Yi, State Councillor and Minister of Foreign Affairs of China held a telephonic conversation, according to Ministry of External Affairs (MEA). The two Special Representatives had a "frank and in-depth exchange of views" on the recent developments in the Western Sector of the India-China border areas.

The 22nd meeting of the Special Representatives of India and China was held in New Delhi on December 21, 2019. The Indian side was led by NSA Ajit Doval while Wang Yi led the Chinese delegation, according to the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) On December 3, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said that India remains "committed to engaging with China through bilateral discussions to arrive at a fair, resonable and mutually acceptable framework for a boundary settlement." He said that in his recent meeting with Chinese Foreign minister Wang Yi, an understanding was reached that the Special Representatives.

The Kraken

Below the thunders of the upper deep, Far, far beneath in the abysmal sea, His ancient, dreamless, uninvaded sleep
The Kraken sleepeth: faintest sunlights flee
About his shadowy sides; above him swell
Huge sponges of millennial growth and height;
And far away into the sickly light,
From many a wondrous grot and secret cell
Unnumbered and enormous polypi
Winnow with giant arms the slumbering green.
There hath he lain for ages, and will lie
Battening upon huge sea worms in his sleep,
Until the latter fire shall heat the deep;
Then once by man and angels to be seen, In roaring he shall rise and on the surface die.

Why educational institutions should opt for insurance

In today's world, educational institutions are responsible for much more than delivering academic knowledge. They must ensure the safety and well-being of their students, staff, and property. With risks ranging from accidents and illnesses to legal liabilities and property damage, securing comprehensive insurance coverage has become essential.

By opting for robust insurance policies, educational institutions can effectively manage these risks. Such policies provide protection for students, staff, and institutional assets, ensuring peace of mind for all stakeholders involved. In India, insurance for educational institutions is vital to maintaining smooth operations and safeguarding against unforeseen events.

How Insurance Helps Students

Students spend a significant portion of their day within the premises of their educational institution, and with that comes a variety of risks, such as accidents during sports or school activities. A comprehensive insurance plan helps institutions protect their students, both in terms of physical safety and the continuity of their education.

1. Coverage for Educational Continuity and Personal Accidents

Insurance policies designed for educational institutions often include provisions for both students and their families. One crucial aspect is the Education Continuity Cover, which ensures that a student's education remains uninterrupted in the event of a financial crisis. If an earning parent suffers an accidental death or permanent total disability, this type of coverage provides a lump-sum payment to cover the student's remaining course fees. This is especially important in India, where many families depend on a single income to finance their children's education.

Additionally, students are often covered under Group Personal Accident Insurance. This coverage offers financial compensation in case of accidental death, permanent total disability, or permanent partial disability. It may also include accidental hospitalization coverage, relieving families of the financial burden associated with medical emergencies. These provisions are vital for ensuring that students are supported both medically and financially, especially in cases of unforeseen accidents.

How Insurance Protects Educational Institutions

In addition to safeguarding students, educational institutions also need protection from various risks that can disrupt their operations. A comprehensive insurance plan can provide coverage for property protectionsuch as Fire, Burglary and Robbery among others.

1. Staff Insurance Coverage

Staff members are crucial to the daily functioning of any educational institution, from teachers to administrative and support staff. Many institutions opt for Group Personal Accident Insurance for teaching &non-teaching staff, which provides financial compensation in cases of accidental death, permanent total disability, or permanent partial disability. By offering this coverage, institutions demonstrate their commitment to the welfare of their staff, fostering a sense of security and loyalty within their workforce. This coverage not only helps protect employees but also ensures that their families are supported in the event of an accident.

2. Liability Protection

Legal liabilities are an inherent risk in running an educational institution. Schools and colleges are responsible for the safety of students, visitors, and third parties on their premises. Public Liability Insurance helps cover legal claims arising from bodily injury or property damage that occurs within the institution's campus for Third Party. For example, if a visitor is injured on the premises, this coverage can help the institution manage the legal and financial consequences.

Additionally, institutions must adhere to labour laws that require compensation for work-related injuries or illnesses. Workmen's Compensation Insurance ensures that employees who are injured while on the job are adequately compensated, protecting the institution from potential legal action while also complying with statutory requirements.

3. Property Insurance

The physical infrastructure of an educational institution represents a significant investment, and protecting it is crucial. Comprehensive Property Insurance covers risks such as fire, natural disasters, burglary, and damage to portable equipment. Institutions can opt for coverage that includes fire and allied perils, burglary, and robbery, ensuring that any damage or loss due to these events is adequately compensated.

Insurance for educational property also extends to electronic equipment, which is commonly used in today's tech-driven educational environment. From electronics like laptops, portable printers &projectors to laboratory equipment, the loss or damage of such items can be costly.

Having coverage in place ensures that the institution can replace or repair these assets without a financial setback.

Other Key Insurance Coverages

Many insurance policies for educational institutions also include additional coverage options to protect other critical aspects of their operations. These include:

" Portable Equipment Insurance : Laptops and other portable assets except Mobile Phones used on and off the premises.

" Plate Glass and Neon Sign Cover: Protection for damage to neon signs, glow signs, and plate glass windows.

" Fidelity Guarantee Insurance: Safeguarding the institution against losses caused by dishonest or fraudulent acts by employees, ensuring financial security.

These additional covers help ensure that the institution is comprehensively protected from both minor and major risks, minimizing disruption to operations.

Conclusion

Comprehensive insurance coverage for educational institutions is no longer a luxury-it is a necessity. From protecting students and their education to safeguarding staff members, property, and the institution's reputation, a well-structured insurance policy addresses multiple aspects of risk management. In India, where educational institutions serve millions of students and employ thousands of staff, having proper insurance coverage is essential to maintaining smooth, secure operations.

By opting for comprehensive insurance solutions, schools, colleges, and universities can mitigate the impact of accidents, liabilities, and property damage. Ultimately, these policies ensure that institutions can focus on their core mission of delivering quality education, without being disrupted by unforeseen events.

He said that the government was deliberately creating a situation of confrontation while it should find a solution through talks with the farmers. So far the entire farmers' movement has been peaceful and they appealed that it will remain completely peaceful in future too. But the BJP government has been adopting a violent approach to suppress the movement which was condemnable and undemocratic. He further said that the demands of the farmers were completely justified and pending for the last many years. The BJP itself had promised to give MSP to the farmers in the 2014 Lok Sabha elections as per the report of the Swaminathan Commission. The BJP government had repeated this promise while ending the farmers' agitation. But as per the assurance given to the farmers, there was no trace of the MSP committee till date. In such a situation, what will the farmers do if they do not put their demands before the government? BJP was not ready to fulfill any promises of the farmers. The government wanted to crush the rights of the people. The government should accept the demands and end the movement.

USTAD AMJAD ALI KHAN PAYS TRIBUTE TO ZAKIR HUSSAIN

Ustad Zakir Hussain, one of the greatest percussionists of all time has passed away at the age of 73 in San Francisco, leaving an irreplaceable void in the world of music. Zakir Hussain, a true pioneer of Indian classical music, succumbed to idiopathic pulmonary fibrosis, as confirmed by Jon Bleicher of Prospect PR, speaking on behalf of the Hussain family.

Zakir Hussain's death has prompted an outpouring of tributes from fans, celebrities, and fellow musicians alike.

Across social media platforms, messages of condolence and admiration for the tabla virtuoso have flooded in. Musicians, artists, and fans from around the globe have expressed their sorrow and celebrated the musical legacy of a man whose artistry transcended borders.

One of the many, to pay tribute was the renowned sarod maestro, Amjad Ali Khan, who shared several nostalgic photographs of his collaborations with Hussain on his official X (formerly Twitter) account.

Alongside the images, Khan wrote, "Words fail me at this point. I am completely heartbroken and devastated to hear about Zakir Bhai. Ustad Zakir Hussain was a phenomenon. He was indeed one of the most loved musicians the world saw." Khan, who had worked closely with Hussain on numerous musical projects, described their collaborations as a fusion of two incredible worlds--his sarod and Hussain's tabla--producing some of the most memorable performances in the history of Indian classical music. Born on March 9, 1951, in Mumbai, Zakir Hussain was introduced to music at a very young age, inheriting his immense talent from his father, the legendary Ustad Alla Rakha.

He began performing publicly while still a teenager and soon rose to international prominence for his technical brilliance and deep emotional expression on the tabla.

Throughout his career, Hussain revolutionized the role of the tabla, transforming it from a supporting instrument to a central figure in performances.

His mastery of intricate rhythms, combined with his musical sensitivity, made him one of the most respected and revered musicians worldwide.

Zakir Hussain was a trailblazer in fusing Indian classical music with global genres. His collaborations with musical legends such as Pandit Ravi Shankar and Ustad Vilayat Khan in classical settings are iconic.

However, it was his groundbreaking partnerships with international musicians that truly elevated his status.

As a member of the band 'Shakti' with John McLaughlin, and as a key figure in the Grammy Award-winning 'Planet Drum' project with Mickey Hart, Hussain broke down cultural and musical barriers, blending Indian rhythms with world music in a way that had never been done before.

In recognition of his extraordinary contributions to music, Zakir Hussain received numerous prestigious awards, including the Padma Shri (1988) and Padma Bhushan (2002) from the Government of India, and four Grammy Awards for his work in world music.

His contributions to the arts were also honoured by the Sangeet Natak Akademi Award and the National Heritage Fellowship in the United States, the highest accolade for traditional artists.

Punjab government should adopt 'one window' policy : Dr. Satinder Sartaaj

CHANDIGARH: For the past few months, the administration, especially the Chandigarh Police, has been in the news for the music shows being performed by singers in Chandigarh. Recently, Diljit Dosanjh said on stage that there is no structure for performing shows in India, meaning there are no government guidelines. This year, after their show, the Satinder Sartaaj team had written a letter to the Chandigarh Police DGP and other high-ranking officials to the Chandigarh Administration, mentioning the misbehaviour meted out by the police but got no reply from the administration. Similarly, after Karan Aujla's show, the Chandigarh Administration imposed a fine of over Rs 1 crore on him for giving advertisements before getting the permit and permission. It is worth mentioning here that most departments keep waiting till the last day to issue the permits to blackmail to get free passes. It has been learnt from reliable sources that 5000 passes were demanded from Diljit Dosanjh. Even after getting the permit from the police, the local SHOs forced their own people to enter the she without tickets or passes. The most difficult part of this work comes in Satinder Sartaaj's shows. His shows have seat numbers and the shows are well organised where families can sit and enjoy themselves in peace. Sometimes the people who are forcefully entered by the police sit on the seats of the people and it is not so easy to vacate the seats from them. Talking to Satinder Sartaaj's team, it was learnt that he will never do a Chandigarh show in the future and similar views have been expressed by Karan Aujla and Diljit Dosanjh teams. It is worth mentioning here that Mayors and Venues of cities abroad request Punjabi singers to perform in their cities because the show generates tax for the city or state, provides work for the local workers.

'Women-centric cinema should be brought to mainstream': Madhur Bhandarkar

Filmmaker Madhur Bhandarkar on Sunday, emphasised the importance of women-centric films and urged that more of such movies should be made in Bollywood.

Speaking at the program 'Cine Srishti: Bhartiya Drishti' organized by Sanskar Bharati, he praised the entire idea behind the program.

In a conversation with a news agency, he shared, "It was a very good program organised by Sanskar Bharati. There was a very good discussion, especially today there was a discussion on women-centric cinema."

Madhur, renowned for films such as Chandni Bar, Page 3, and Fashion, added that there is a need to make more women-centric films.

"There was a good panel here and many things were discussed like how women-centric films should be increased further in Bollywood and how they should be supported. I have always made films on different topics, whether it is Page 3, Corporate, Fashion, Heroine or Babli Bouncer...More filmmakers, producers and production houses should come and support such women-centric films and good topics so that our women-centric cinema can be brought to the mainstream," he said.

Bhandarkar was also honoured during the event on Sunday.

Meanwhile, Bhandarkar recently attended the 55th International Film Festival of India (IFFI) and said this is a place where filmmakers from all over the world come together. "I am very happy to be here. I have been attending for almost 20 or 22 years. I have been involved in various capacities -- sometimes as part of the standing committee, sometimes as a jury member, and sometimes as the chairman. It's a place where filmmakers from all over the world, as well as different states of India, come together. A lot of good films are showcased here, and it always feels great to be part of it," he said.

With the rise of OTT platforms in recent years, the entertainment industry has undergone a significant transformation.

Reflecting on this, Madhur noted, "Many filmmakers feel constrained by the two-hour format of films. That's where web series come in. They allow for a long format, and it's internationally acclaimed. We see it everywhere now. There are many subjects that we think are better suited to web series. Both films and web series will coexist and thrive.

"I was stuck in the country": Alicia Kaur on losing her passport in Hong Kong, facing rejections

Supermodel Alicia Kaur is a well-established name in the fashion industry, having nurtured her passion for modelling from a very young age. While she has participated in major fashion events and made her mark in the glamour world, her journey has been far from easy.

Kaur opened up about her modelling career, her struggles with rejection in Australia, and the challenges she faced in China, including losing her passport in Hong Kong.

"Shanghai was really beautiful, but Hong Kong was unfortunate. On the first day I arrived, my passport and wallet were stolen on the metro. I was stranded in the country for two and a half months without the ability to work because I couldn't validate my working visa. I was on a tight budget as the agency only provided minimal pocket money. This experience taught me the value of minimalism. I survived on two bananas a day and vegetable soup, boiling and reusing water because tap water wasn't drinkable at the time. I even had to walk everywhere as I couldn't afford public transport," Kaur recounted.

Reflecting on the ordeal of being stranded without identification, Kaur explained, "There was a protocol to follow because I didn't have any identification, and no one in Hong Kong knew me. My agency had to verify my identity, which involved getting family members or acquaintances who had known me for two years to sign the back of my photos. The process was incredibly tedious."

Describing the lengthy process of obtaining a new passport, she said, "The first set of photos I sent to Australia never arrived, so I had to redo everything. My family members had to sign documents in an Australian embassy and send them back. The entire process took over a month."

Kaur's passion for modelling began in childhood. "There was something about supermodels that fascinated me. I was very artistic even as a child. I remember once picking out a top, pants, and jacket from a designer kids' store. The shop manager said they didn't match, but my mum let me choose. The store owner, who happened to be there, loved my choices and offered to feature me on his magazine cover at just three years old. That's how I began childhood modelling," she shared.

However, academics and sports remained a priority. "I was very much into sports. I took up professional swimming and aimed to compete in the Commonwealth Games. Alongside this, I dabbled in acting and modelling, dreaming of travelling the world," Kaur said.

Her journey in Australia was fraught with rejection. "At 15, people told me I wasn't tall or skinny enough. At 5'10", I met the ideal model standards, yet I faced 45 rejections in Australia. Despite that, my parents were supportive. There were moments I wanted to quit, but small affirmations, like strangers calling me beautiful, kept me going."

Actor Ajith Kumar wraps up shoot for 'Good Bad Ugly'

Actor Ajith Kumar has completed the shoot of his upcoming film, 'Good Bad Ugly'.

The film's director Adhik Ravichandran shared the news on his X (formerly Twitter) account, as he posted pictures and videos from the final day on set. Ajith's new look from the movie was also revealed in the post which created much excitement among fans.

Ravichandran wrote, "Thank you #Ajith sir for Giving me this lifetime opportunity. DREAM FULL-FILLED. Love you so much sir. Last day shoot for Sir, what a beautiful journey #GoodBadUgly"

Earlier this month, Ajith had issued a statement requesting his fans stop chanting the viral 'Kadavuley Ajithey' slogan for him.

The statement, released in both English and Tamil, stated that Ajith does not like being referred to in these slogans and chants. He urged his fans to refrain from using any superlatives or any kind of prefix mentioned alongside his name.

"Of late, a certain factor has been disturbing me and in particular slogan, K....', 'Ajithey' has been publicly recited at various events and public gatherings. I am uncomfortable with superlatives or any kind of prefix mentioned alongside my name. I prefer being addressed by my name or my initials," the statement read.

"I take this opportunity to request all those who indulge in this slogan-shouting practice in public places to stop this with immediate effect & restrain themselves from doing so ever again. My sincere request to everyone is to work hard, play hard without hurting anyone, look after your respective families & be law-abiding citizens. Live and let live," Ajith said in the statement.

Recently, actor Kamal Haasan also urged his fans, audience, media, and members of the film industry to refrain from using tags like 'Ulaganayagan' while mentioning his name. He also requested everyone to simply refer to him as Kamal Haasan or Kamal or KH.

Bollywood's Badshah, Shah Rukh Khan, is a phenomenon who has captured the hearts of millions. Reflecting on his extraordinary journey, it is evident he has transcended the role of an actor to become an emotion. Filmmaker Shoojit Sircar spoke about his bond with SRK and discussed his remarkable career during the launch event of the book Shah Rukh Khan - Legend, Icon, Star, written by Mohar Basu, in Kolkata.

The book's author, journalist and writer Mohar Basu, was also present at the launch event.

He was doing theatre in Delhi, then left college to work in television, and eventually came to Mumbai. After coming to Mumbai, he became the Badshah. What can be a bigger inspiration than this? Whenever I work on something, I go and discuss it with him. We will do something together--we're in discussions and keep talking as well."
