Farmers to hold Rail Roko protest in Punjab today

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 17

Farmer leader Sarwan Singh Pandher appealed to the people of the state of Punjab to participate in the 'Rail Roko' agitation scheduled on December 18. Pandher said, "I want to appeal to the people of Punjab to participate in the 'Rail Roko' agitating on December 18. We request all the people of all the 13,000 villages in Punjab who live near railway tracks to block their nearest railway crossings and railway stations from 12 to 3 pm."

Pandher announced that a tractor march would be organised outside Punjab on December 16, followed by a 'Rail Roko' in Punjab on December 18. The announcement came hours after a 'Jathha' of 101 farmers, blocked by the police at the Shambhu border due to security concerns, was withdrawn for the day.

Pandher claimed that

17 farmers were injured after the police used tear gas and water cannons to disperse protesters at the Shambhu Border. He further alleged that several farmers are in serious condition and accused the authorities of negligence in providing treatment at the hospital. "The Indian government, the fifth-largest economy in the world, used force against 101 farmers. Chemical water was thrown at us using cannons, bombs were hurled, and tear gas shells were fired. Seventeen farmers have been injured, many of whom are in serious condition, and they are not being given proper treatment in the hospital. We urge the Punjab government to ensure adequate treatment," he said earlier.

"On December 16, a tractor march will be organised outside Punjab, and on December 18, we have called for a 'Rail Roko' in Punjab. We appeal to all Punjabis to participate in large numbers," he added.

Pandher criticised the opposition for not effectively addressing farmers' concerns in the ongoing winter session of Parliament. He specifically accused Congress leader Rahul Gandhi of failing to fulfil his promises to the farmers. The 'Jathha' of 101 farmers was stopped from entering the national capital at the Shambhu border point in Haryana on Saturday afternoon.

Tensions arose at the protest site as the farmers attempted to move forward, but police cited security concerns and the need to regulate the movement of protesters into Delhi.

There were no reports of any casualties or damages from the blast that took place around 3 a.m, Amritsar Police Commissioner Gurpreet Singh Bhullar said.

A constable heard the sound of the blast, for which gangster Jeevan Fauji has claimed responsibility, said Bhullar. Officials have reached the spot. He said recently the police had busted a module involved in such criminal activities and arrested 10 persons under the Unlawful Activities (Protection Act or UAPA. So the criminals in desperation might have been behind the blast to register their presence.

He exuded confidence that those involved will be nabbed soon.

Notably, on December 4 there was a blast at Majitha police station in Amritsar. Also, an IED was found near Ajnala police station. A blast, reportedly, also occurred at Gurbaksh Nagar police station of Amritsar police commissionerate.

Markets slump over 1 pc amid widespread selloff

AGENCY
MUMBAI, DEC 17

The stock market ended Tuesday deep in the red, with benchmark indices witnessing sharp declines amid concerns over weak trade data and a surging trade deficit. The Sensex plunged 1,064.12 points, or 1.3 per cent, to close at 80,684.45, while the Nifty fell by 332.25 points, settling at 24,336.00.

Out of the 50 Nifty companies, only two stocks advanced, while 48 recorded losses. Among the gainers were Copla and ITC, which managed to buck the downward trend. However, the session was marred by steep losses for top laggards, including Shriram Finance, Grasim, Hero Motoco, Bharti Airtel, and JSW Steel.

The bearish sentiment was triggered by the release of India's trade data for November, which revealed a sharp decline in exports, reflecting weak global demand. This raised concerns about the country's economic outlook and growth trajectory, prompting widespread selling in equity markets.

India's trade deficit surged to a record high, further dampening investor sentiment. The slump in exports not only stoked fears of slowing economic momentum but also exerted significant pressure on the Indian Rupee, which depreciated during the trading session.

The combination of weak exports, currency pressure, and the widening trade deficit weighed heavily on investor confidence, driving markets deeper into negative territory as the session progressed.

Market analysts attributed the sharp declines to heightened investor caution amid deteriorating macroeconomic indicators.

VLA Ambala, SEBI Registered Research Analyst and Co-Founder of Stock Market Today, said, "The market predicts that the industry will experience negative annual growth. This has fueled negative feelings among investors. Additionally, the weakening economy, marked by depreciating currency, is reducing our purchasing power.

"Meanwhile, MSMEs, which play a key role in contributing to GDP, face challenges in being profitable due to current business policies, while, medium-sized businesses are also feeling the pressure. To solve these problems and protect the interests of retail investors in the SME listing space, market regulators are expected to propose new measures," she added.

No respite in cold wave in Kashmir; Srinagar freezes at -5.3°C

AGENCY
SRINAGAR, DEC 17

The cold wave continues to freeze Kashmir, with Srinagar recording a minimum of minus 5.3°C on Tuesday, officials said. The minimum temperature at Srinagar recorded during the intervening night of Monday and Tuesday was just a notch below the season's coldest observed on December 10 at minus 5.4°C.

The MeT office said the weather will remain generally dry till December 21. Standing committee urges higher budgetary allocation for agriculture

SHASHI PAL JAIN
KHARAR, DEC 17

The Standing Committee on Agriculture, Animal Husbandry, and Food Processing (2024-25), chaired by Shri Charanjit Singh Channi, MP, presented its first report to the Lok Sabha today, focusing on the 'Demands for Grants (2024-25)' for the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare. The report underscores the urgent need for increased budgetary allocations to the agricultural sector, alongside key reforms aimed at improving productivity and addressing farmer distress.

Decline in Agricultural Budget Share

The Committee highlighted a concerning trend in the share of agriculture within the total Central plan outlay. While the Department of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare has seen an increase in absolute terms from 2021-22 to 2024-25, its percentage share has declined steadily from 3.53% in 2020-21 to 2.54% in 2024-25. The Committee urged the government to rectify this decline by significantly increasing allocations to enhance agricultural productivity and welfare.

Welfare of Agricultural Labourers and Tenant Farmers

Recognizing the critical role played by agricultural labourers, the Committee recommended renaming the Ministry's department to the 'Department of Agriculture, Farmers, and Farm Labourers Welfare' to better reflect its broader focus. To further support farm labourers and tenant farmers, the Committee proposed the following:

• Enhancing PM-KISAN Support: Doubling the direct income support under the PM-KISAN scheme from the current Rs. 6,000 to Rs. 12,000 per annum.

• Seasonal Incentives for Tenant Farmers and Labourers: Extending existing seasonal incentives to ensure more equitable financial support.

Ensuring Financial Stability through MSP and Crop InsuranceAddressing persistent concerns surrounding the Minimum Support Price (MSP), the Committee emphasized the need for a legally binding MSP framework. It argued that a robust MSP system would:

• Provide financial stability to farmers.

• Protect against market volatility.

• Alleviate debt burdens and potentially reduce farmer suicides.

The report also proposed the introduction of Universal Crop Insurance for small farmers holding up to 2 hectares of land, modeled after the Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana (PM-JAY). This scheme, if implemented, would provide vital risk coverage to vulnerable farmers.

National Commission for Farm Labourers and Debt Relief

The Committee called for the establishment of a National Commission for Minimum Living Wages for Farm Labourers to address their long-overdue rights and improve their living standards. Furthermore, given the alarming rise in farmer debt and suicides, the Committee urged the government to implement a comprehensive debt waiver scheme for both farmers and farm labourers to provide immediate relief from financial distress.

Tewari raises issue of ban on share wise property in Chandigarh, in Lok Sabha CHANDIGARH: Senior Congress leader and Chandigarh MP Manish Tewari today asked a detailed question in Lok Sabha that when the Supreme Court Judgement does not explicitly bar the sale or sharewise sale of Property why has the Chandigarh Administration banned it ? He said, rather than giving a straight answer, the Government unfortunately chose to hide behind the doctrine of sub judice. The rule of sub judice was there for Jury Trials, he pointed out while observing, in any case if the Government implements the letter of the Supreme Court Judgement the other legal proceedings will automatically abate. Tewari had asked whether it is correct that the Supreme Court judgment does not explicitly ban share-wise property sales in Chandigarh. He also asked whether the Government was aware that many Chandigarh residents with property shares cannot sell except to co-owners, devaluing their assets and causing financial hardship for urgent needs like medical treatment or family events. Tewari had also asked for the reasons as why has the Chandigarh Administration not rescinded the 9th February 2023 notification or sought Supreme Court clarification on whether the 10th January 2023 judgment prohibits share-wise property sales, reasons there for.

SANAJY AGGARWAL
DHARAMSHALA, DEC 17

Ayush, Youth Services and Sports, Law and Legal Advisory Minister Yagvinder Goma attacked the BJP during a press conference in Dharamshala on Monday and said that the previous government had deceived the public by saying that a double engine government was working in the state. Despite being a double engine government, the previous government left a burden of 75 thousand crores. Its impact was directly on the people of the state. After coming to power, the Congress government got nothing but debt in the government treasury. Even after the disaster in the state, the Chief Minister released a relief package of 45 crores in the state on the strength of his resources. The disaster victims were helped in every way and efforts were made to bring the economy back on track. Goma said that today BJP leaders are saying that corruption is happening in the state. Paper leak scam happened during the BJP's time. Scam happened in the Service Commission Board. The Congress government dissolved the Service Commission Board and put the culprits behind bars in both the cases. He said that BJP tried to topple our government with the help of Modi government sitting in the center. They violated the rights of the state and tried to stop the package to be given to the state. He said that BJP leaders are making cheap statements against the Congress government every day. BJP is insensitive towards the public. They are only trying to make political gains. He said that if the opposition feels that the government has done corruption then they should discuss it during the winter session so that the people of the state can see what the truth is. BJP MPs have also failed to put the rights of the state before the center. He said that the government is ready to answer every question of the opposition in the winter session.

Leader of the House in Rajya Sabha and senior Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader JP Nadda on Tuesday attacked the Congress party over the Emergency and Article 370.

Leading the debate on the second day of the two-debate series on 75 years of the Constitution, Nadda said that the then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi imposed the Emergency not because there was any danger to the country but because there was danger to the Chair (Prime Ministership).

"Why was Emergency declared? Was the country in danger? No. It was the Chair (Prime Ministership of Indira Gandhi) that was in danger," the BJP leader said.

Talking about the Emergency days, Nadda said that he was an Intermediate student in Patna and was arrested twice from the class. He also took a dig at RJD chief Lalu Prasad Yadav, saying that he named his daughter Misa after the Maintenance of Internal Security Act (MISA) during the Emergency but was today part of the Congress party-led alliance. Nadda also questioned the then government's decision to add the words "Secular" and "Socialist" in the Constitution. "You (Congress) used the word "Socialist" to portray yourself as progressive and "Secular to appease the Muslims," he said. The senior BJP leader also launched a scathing attack on Congress for the 42nd amendment to the Constitution. "You (Congress) brought the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act 1976. It had such a far-reaching effect that it was almost rewriting the Constitution. The amendment prevented the judiciary from calling into question any Constitutional amendment on any ground," he said. Nadda took the Congress head-on for incorporating Article 370, which provided special status to the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir.

"What was the impact of Article 370?" As many as 106 laws passed by the Parliament of India were not applicable in the state of Jammu & Kashmir," he said. The BJP leader congratulated Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his efforts to make Jammu and Kashmir 'part and parcel' of India by abrogating Article 370. Nadda said that Shyama Prasad Mukherjee (one of the founding members of Jansangh) made sacrifices for the country and was against special provisions in the Constitution for Jammu & Kashmir.

Meet Hayer raises issue of farmers in Parliament, accuses Modi govt of reneging on promises

KULDEEP SOOD
BARNALA, DEC 17

Lok Sabha member from Sangrur Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer on Monday raised the issue of farmers in Parliament in a thunderous manner and accused the Narendra Modi government of reneging on it's promises. He said that farmers are being prevented from coming to the national capital and veteran farmer leader Jagjit Singh Dallewal has been on hunger strike for 21 days but the government is not worried at all.

Meet Hayer said that when the farmers had to stage protests to get the draconian laws repealed, 700 farmers were martyred during that time and they were promised in writing the MSP guarantee but the same has not been fulfilled yet. Jagjit Singh Dallewal is sitting on the Khanauri border not for his personal interests but for the sake of the farmers of the country. While the government has waived off Rs. 10 lakh Crore of a few hundred industrialists, the loans of farmers who constitute half the population are not being waived. The Member Parliament further said that India has become the fifth largest economy in the world but the real situation is that we are at number 141 in per capita income and out of a population of 140 Crore, only 10 percent of the people earn more than Rs. 25,000 per month with 90 percent of the people earning less than Rs. 25,000. A large number of these are farmers to whom Prime Minister Narendra Modi had promised that their income would be doubled after the formation of the government in 2014. Alas, 11 budgets have been presented since then but not even a single time was any mention made about increasing the income of farmers. Meet Hayer further said that there is no village in Punjab where the bodies of the youth who protected the country's borders are not found wrapped in the tricolour. Around 80 percent of sacrifices were made in freedom movement by the State and our farmers also contributed hugely to make the country self-reliant. Today, the farmers of Punjab are not allowed to come to the capital even though they want to come on foot only in small numbers but the government is behaving in a dictatorial way. Today, the border between the two states has been made an international border. Meet Hayer requested the government to fulfil the written promise and guarantee MSP to the farmers.

Everyone has to bear brunt of buildings with Vastu defects: Dr. Bhupender Vastushastri

DALJEET AJNOHA
HOSHIARPUR: The effects of Vastu affect our lives every moment, every incident that happens in our lives is under the influence of Vastu somewhere or the other. For this, along with our private residence, government buildings, whether it is administrative, police, medical, education, revenue or any other department that is directly related to the common people, are also affected. This is the belief of internationally renowned Vastu expert and author Dr. Bhupender Vastushastri. For example, if the south direction of the police headquarters of a city is contaminated, then the fear of the police among the criminals will decrease and their spirits will increase. If there is a Vastu defect in the southwest corner, then the common people will feel surrounded by deception and the police officers will feel helpless in solving the mystery of this deception. If the west direction is contaminated, then the common people will feel that the police are unnecessarily delaying in providing justice. If the Vayavya corner is contaminated then the common people do not get emotional satisfaction in their hearts and minds, on the other hand the officers will start appearing worried about their transfer. If the North and South-East corners are contaminated then there is an increase in crimes related to women. If the East direction is contaminated then it becomes difficult to establish harmony between the common people and the police.

Calm mind brings inner strength and self-confidence, so that's very important for good health.

New cure

The discovery of Penicillin had chang-ed the world and extended human lives by a quarter of a century. The scientists at Wockhardt, an Indian pharmaceutical firm, who have invented WCK 5222, a new antibiotic, might have created another 'Penicillin moment'. Multidrug-resistant or extreme drug-resistant bacteria — superbugs — that do not respond to even last-line antibiotics kill more people in In-dia every year than the country's official Covid-19 death toll of around 5,30,000. A study by the University of Washington estimated that in 2019 alone, 2,97,000 deaths could be directly attributed to superbugs and 1,042,000 fatalities indirectly. WCK 5222, which is undergoing clinical trials in India, Europe and North America, has shown promising results in overcoming MDR and XDR. Heartteningly, Wockhardt has another such medicine that is ready to be launched; there are a few more similar drugs in the pipelines of various Indian pharma companies. There is a need to laud India's conducive legislative atmosphere that allows the patenting of drugs and encourages innovation. But there is a flip side. The same law can also makes life-saving medication prohibitively expensive. Thus price caps — and corresponding subsidies to companies to ensure they do not incur losses — must be contemplated before these medicines are launched.

Another relevant caveat must be cited. Bacteria and other micro-organisms often evolve quicker than science can find cures for them. If antibiotic abuse is not checked, it is only a matter time before the superbugs develop resistance to this new line of drugs. Several factors contribute to India's heightened vulnerability to antimicrobial resistance. According to the National Centre for Disease Control, just 45% of patients in India were prescribed antibiotics to actually treat infections and not as prophylaxis; of this, a meagre 6% were prescribed the drugs after identifying the specific bacteria, a crucial step to combat AMR. Other relevant concerns are the over-the-counter sale of antibiotics without prescriptions and impropriety by some doctors who are incentivised by pharma companies to prescribe specific brands. The shortage of laboratories to quickly guide clinicians on the most appropriate antibiotic is also a pressing worry. Earlier this year, Kerala became the only state in India to ban the sale of antibiotics without a prescription. The rest of India should follow suit while contemplating other deterrents if the new cure is to take effect.

Trudeau's Finance Minister Chrystia Freeland resigns

Hours before the statement on Canada's economy, Chrystia Freeland, Canada's Finance Minister and Deputy Prime Minister announced her resignation from the Cabinet.

Notably, Freeland was scheduled to present the 2024 Fall Economic Statement on Monday.

In a letter shared on her social media platform X, Freeland revealed that Canadian PM Justin Trudeau had offered her a different Cabinet position after deciding she would no longer serve as Finance Minister.

In the letter addressed to PM Trudeau, Freeland wrote, "It has been the honour of my life to serve in government, working for Canada and Canadians. We have accomplished a lot together. On Friday, you told me you no longer want me to serve as your Finance Minister and offered me another position in the Cabinet."

"Upon reflection, I have concluded that the only honest and viable path is for me to resign from the Cabinet. To be effective, a Minister must speak on behalf of the Prime Minister and with his full confidence. In making your decision, you made clear that I no longer credibly enjoy that confidence and possess the authority that comes with it. For the past number of weeks, you and I have found ourselves at odds about the best path forward for Canada," the letter added.

She further said that Canada faces a "grave challenge" from the United States' "aggressive economic nationalism."

The letter said, "Our country today faces a grave challenge. The incoming administration in the United States is pursuing a policy of aggressive economic nationalism, including a threat of 25 per cent tariffs. We need to take that threat extremely seriously. That means keeping our fiscal powder dry today, so we have the reserves we may need for a coming tariff war. That means eschewing costly political gimmicks, which we can ill afford and which make Canadians doubt that we recognize the gravity of the moment."

"Upon reflection, I have concluded that the only honest and viable path is for me to resign from the Cabinet. To be effective, a Minister must speak on behalf of the Prime Minister and with his full confidence. In making your decision, you made clear that I no longer credibly enjoy that confidence and possess the authority that comes with it. For the past number of weeks, you and I have found ourselves at odds about the best path forward for Canada," the letter added.

She further said that Canada faces a "grave challenge" from the United States' "aggressive economic nationalism."

"That means pushing back against 'America First' economic nationalism with a determined effort to fight for capital and investment and the jobs they bring. That means working in good faith and humility with the Premiers of the provinces and territories of our great and diverse country and building a true Team Canada response. I know Canadians would recognize and respect such an approach. They know when we are working for them, and they equally know when we are focused on ourselves. Inevitably, our time in government will come to an end. But how we deal with the threat our country currently faces will define us for a generation, and perhaps longer. Canada will win if we are strong, smart, and united," the letter added.

She further wrote, "It is this conviction which has driven my strenuous efforts this fall to manage our spending in ways that will give us the flexibility we will need to meet the serious challenges presented by the United States."

She further said that she will always be grateful for the chance to have served in the Canadian government. "I will always be proud of our government's work for Canada and Canadians. I look forward to continuing to work with my colleagues as a Liberal Member of Parliament, and I am committed to running again for my seat in Toronto in the next federal election," the letter said.

In a statement, she said, "Our government is focused on delivering fairness for every generation. We are building four million more homes, making life more affordable for all Canadians, and growing the economy to create more good jobs.

And we are doing this in a fiscally responsible way. I look forward to presenting the next steps in our economic plan to deliver a good middle-class life for everyone."

Pakistan's debt surges by PKR 4,304 billion

Amid escalating economic crisis, Pakistan's debt surged by Pakistani Rupees (PKR) 4,304 billion in the first eight months of the current tenure, ARY News reported citing official documents.

As of October, the total debt stood at PKR 69.114 trillion, up from PKR 64.810 trillion in February, according to documents cited in the report.

Notably, the tax year in Pakistan is July 1 through June 30.

The domestic debt rose by PKR 4,556 billion during the period, while foreign debt decreased by PKR 251 billion, according to ARY News.

As a result, the domestic debt stood at PKR 47.231 trillion as of October, up from PKR 42.675 trillion in February. The foreign debt, on the other hand, decreased to PKR 21.884 trillion from PKR 22.134 trillion during the same period.

Last week, the World Bank cancelled a budget support loan of over USD 500 million to Pakistan after Islamabad failed to meet key conditions on time, including the revision of power purchase agreements under the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), as reported by The Express Tribune.

The Washington-based lender has also announced that it will not provide any new budget support loans during the current fiscal year, which could affect the government's expectation of receiving USD 2 billion in fresh loans.

A key reason for this decision is that Pakistan has largely exhausted its loan quota, the report stated.

Switzerland's suspension of India's MFN status will not impact bilateral relations

Switzerland's suspension of India's Most Favoured Nation (MFN) status will not impact the bilateral relations between the two countries, according to the Swiss Embassy in New Delhi.

In response to a question from ANI regarding the potential effects of this decision on Swiss investments in India, the embassy clarified, "The current suspension from the Swiss side of the application of the most-favoured-nation clause (MFN) under the protocol to the double taxation agreement between Switzerland and India does neither affect the free trade agreement between the two countries nor Swiss investments in India. It adapts the Swiss interpretation of the most favoured nation clause to the one taken by India and confirmed by the Indian Supreme Court."

When asked about the implications for the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), the embassy stated, "The decision taken by the Swiss competent authority on December 11, 2024 is deemed to ensure equal treatment between Swiss and Indian investors. Since India does not grant the 5 per cent tax rate to Indian dividends paid to Swiss investors, Switzerland will align itself, with effect from January 1, 2025, and will also maintain a residual tax of 10 per cent instead of 5 per cent."

The embassy further added, "This change restores the taxation modalities to the situation applicable prior to the Swiss communication of 13 August 2021.

POEM

The Two Voices

A still small voice spake unto me, 'Thou art so full of misery, Were it not better not to be?'
Then to the still small voice I said;
'Let me not cast in endless shade
What is so wonderfully made.'
To which the voice did urge reply;
'To-day I saw the dragon-fly
Come from the wells where he did lie.
'An inner impulse rent the veil
Of his old husk: from head to tail
Came out clear plates of sapphire mail.
'He dried his wings: like gauze they grew;
Thro' crofts and pastures wet with dew
A living flash of light he flew.'

And in the sixth she moulded man.

Norway-India relations are at their very best and are growing

Norwegian Ambassador to India, May-Elin Stener expressed confidence in the India-Norway ties and spoke about the scope for expanding business opportunities between the two countries. She delivered the remarks on the sidelines of the premiere of the documentary 'All I Want for Christmas' in New Delhi.

Discussing about the film based on refugees from Ukraine into Norway post the Russia Ukraine conflict, Ambassador Stener told that Norway had received 85,000 Ukrainian refugees who have been "welcomed with open arms because in Norway we support Ukraine in their fight for freedom against the full-scale invasion from Russia".

She expressed support for the 10-point peace plan and said that India is contributing towards conflict resolution just like Norway. "When there is a war like this, we always hope for a resolution and we also always hope for a quick resolution for Norway...India is also trying to contribute like Norway is in the same way..." In an interview with a news agency, on being asked about the ties between India and Norway, Ambassador Stener said, "Norway-India relations are at their very best and they are growing. This year has been a very important year. On 10 March this year, together with the other EFTA (European Free Trade Association) countries, we signed the Trade and Economic Partnership agreement. And that has caused a lot of interest from Norwegian businesses to look to India. So that is a very important marker".

Earlier this year on March 10, member states of the EFTA- Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, and Switzerland signed a comprehensive Trade and Economic Partnership Agreement (TEPA) with India.

As per the factsheet by the EFTA, it was noted that with the entry into force of the agreement, the EFTA states will commit to maintaining the elimination of all customs duties on imports of industrial products, as well as fish and other marine products, originating in India. Reciprocally, India will reduce and eliminate customs duties on a significant share of industrial products originating in and currently exported from an EFTA State.

The Agreement will lead to elimination of duties on most industrial goods currently exported to India by EFTA companies, such as for example pharmaceutical products, machinery, watches, fertilizers, medicines, chemical products, minerals, as well as fish.

Speaking about the ratification of the EFTA, Ambassador Stener said, that the agreement hasn't been ratified yet, but will be done in the next few weeks in Norway. "I'm also hearing that it will be ratified in Switzerland in the next few months, so we expect the treaty to enter into force next year", she added.

As noted in the Preamble of the TEPA, the common intention between the member states is to strengthen links, establish close and lasting relations and pursue the objective of sustainable development.

She also said, "We are also looking forward to hosting Prime Minister Modi next year in Oslo for the Nordic India summit". The second India-Nordic Summit took place in May 2022 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

The Summit provided an opportunity to review the progress of the India-Nordic relations since the 1st India-Nordic Summit, which was held in 2018 in Stockholm. Discussions were held on multilateral cooperation in post-pandemic economic recovery, climate change, sustainable development, innovation, digitalization, and green and clean growth, the Ministry of External Affairs had noted in a press statement.

Cold wave increases risk of hypothermia: Health experts advise precautions

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KARNAL, DEC 17

The ongoing cold wave across Karnal and other districts has led to a significant drop in temperatures, raising concerns over hypothermia and other cold-related health risks. Renowned medicine and cardiac specialist Dr. Naitrapal has cautioned elderly people and children to stay indoors, especially during the early morning and late evening hours, to avoid health complications.

Dr. Naitrapal explained that prolonged exposure to severe cold could result in conditions like cardiac arrest, heart failure, high blood pressure, paralysis, and brain hemorrhage. He advised consuming warm water and hot beverages frequently and recommended outdoor walks only during midday or when the sun is out. For exercise, indoor activities are preferable during this time.

He emphasized keeping windows and doors properly sealed to prevent cold air from entering homes. Cold weather increases the risk of flu, nasal congestion, and other respiratory problems, so it is essential to take preventive measures and consult a doctor if symptoms arise. To maintain body warmth, Dr. Naitrapal suggested wearing loose, layered clothing, as tight clothes can restrict blood flow. Key body parts, including the head, neck, hands, and feet, must be covered adequately. Wet clothes should be replaced immediately, and hands should be protected with gloves. He also stressed the use of masks to shield the lungs and the importance of consuming nutritious food rich in vitamin C to boost immunity. Elderly individuals, newborns, and children are particularly vulnerable during this season.

Khair trees in Ramgarh Sawai forests on target of smugglers

PREETI SAINI
SADHAURA: The forests of Ramgarh Sawai was the target of Khair smugglers. Four days ago, Khair smugglers have secretly cut more than half a dozen Khair trees from the forest. The department employees were busy in suppressing the case of khair trees smuggling. This can be guessed from the fact that even after four days of cutting down the trees, neither the damage report of the case was prepared nor the DR number was marked on the tops of the trees. It may be known that for the past few days, the forests of Yamunanagar were on the target of Khair smugglers. Precious trees were being stolen from the forests every day. The employees of the forest department were washing their hands off the matter by saying that they will file a damage report and got register an FIR of the case whereas it was the responsibility of the forest department employees to protect the trees. The senior officials of the forest department were also silent on the issue of tree theft from the forests. The environment is harmed due to tree theft from the forests. Khair wood is a very precious wood. Its market value is around 10000 per quintal and a Khair tree takes 25 to 30 years to mature. Khair wood is being sold at such a high rate. This is the main reason for smuggling. Catechu used in Paan is made from Khair wood.

Nutritionist shares 6 effective ways for post-festive detox

During the festive season, there all the reason to not indulge! Resume a healthier lifestyle after a period of indulgence with these easy ways shown by Sheryl Salis, a registered dietitian and Founder of Nurture Health Solutions. She is also a Saffola Nutrition Partner.

We all tend to stretch our appetites during festive feasts. A good starting point for your recovery journey is keeping an eye on your portion size. Downsize by opting for a smaller plate, so you automatically take a small serving at a time. The largest portion on your plate should be of vegetables, about 25% protein and then grains. Sip some water before starting your meals – it helps distinguish between genuine hunger and mere thirst. Also chew the food slowly and mindfully savouring every bite.

Go With Whole Grains Another great way is by incorporating whole grains such as whole wheat, broken wheat (daliya), oats or millets in your meals. Apart from being high in fibre, vitamins and minerals, these keep you full for a longer time. Add oats to smoothies or smoothie bowls, and use whole wheat flour to make wraps and frankies instead of maida. Youc an easily use coarsely ground oats as coating for cutlets instead of the usual breadcrumbs or semolina.

Swap Unhealthy Fats With Good Fats Consider a simple yet impactful change – replacing certain foods high in saturated fat with others rich in unsaturated fat. That means swapping out foods like butter, processed meats and refined grains and replacing them foods like nuts, seeds, fatty fish and plant oils and blended oils that have a higher smoke point. These fats provide a better profile to help balance cholesterol levels. To ensure you use limited quantities of oil, measure when you cook or use a spray bottle or brush to grease rather an pouring with a spoon.

Be Mindful of Sodium And Added Sugar Intake

This is the one, we, as Indians need to beware of. We all love our masalas, and they are high in salt! Try to eat without adding table salt or chaat masala. You can use lemon juice or other natural powders such as amchur. Limit bottled pickles since they are full of preservatives.

Processed sugar offers only empty calories and no nutrition whatsoever, so avoid as far as possible. Natural sugars in the form of fruits and dates etc can be had in moderation.

Chandigarh: Geetanjali Mishra, who brings Rajesh to life on &TV's Happu Ki Ultan Paltan, recently marked a milestone birthday with a special gift to herself. Known for her infectious energy and impeccable comic timing, Geetanjali chose to celebrate the occasion by purchasing a brand-new car, her first in a decade. This sleek, modern vehicle symbolizes her self-love, hard work, and perseverance over the years. Reflecting on this meaningful gift, Geetanjali aka Rajesh shared, "This birthday is particularly special for me. Ten years ago, I bought my previous car using my savings, and now, a decade later, I've treated myself to a new one that offers both comfort and luxury. This car represents a personal achievement and a reward for the journey I've traveled, both personally and professionally. It's an elegant model that perfectly reflects my taste, and the feeling of driving it for the first time was truly indescribable. For me, this car symbolizes growth, resilience, and self-appreciation. My mother, who wasn't feeling well on my birthday, was overjoyed and incredibly proud of me, which made the moment even more special. I believe in celebrating every achievement, big or small, and this is my way of doing so."

Geetanjali's joy didn't stop with the car purchase. She marked the occasion with a heartfelt family celebration. "We held a small puja to bless the car for safe travels and express gratitude for this milestone. My family coordinated outfits, adding a festive touch to the celebration. The car, decorated with fresh flowers and ribbons, became the centerpiece of the event. What makes this moment even more memorable is my plan to take the car on its first road trip with my family. We're still deciding on a destination, but the idea of exploring scenic routes together has everyone excited. Road trips have a special way of bringing people closer, and I can't wait to create lasting memories in this car." The celebration continued on the sets of Happu Ki Ultan Paltan, where Geetanjali shared her joy with her on-screen family. She took the opportunity to thank her co-stars and fans for their unwavering love and support throughout her career.

Florence Pugh critiques beauty standards, challenges industry stereotypes

Florence Pugh recently discussed the challenges of being a woman in Hollywood, expressing how exhausting it can be to constantly navigate industry expectations and beauty standards.

According to The Hollywood Reporter, the star of 'We Live in Time' spoke out about her decision to go against the grain and defy stereotypes imposed on women, in a recent interview.

"I'm not nasty -- I hope people think I'm kind. But there are fine lines women have to stay within, otherwise they are called a diva, demanding, problematic," Pugh shared, adding, "And I don't want to fit into stereotypes made by others. It is really exhausting for a young woman to just be in this industry, and actually other industries. But I've always been encouraged to have a voice," as per The Hollywood Reporter,

Having been in the industry for a decade, Pugh reflected on the early years of her career and the way women in Hollywood are often ridiculed for their appearance.

She recalled how, early on, headlines about fellow actress Keira Knightley would often focus on her physical appearance, diminishing her accomplishments.

"Look, not everybody has legs that go on for days. I remember watching this industry and feeling that I wasn't represented. I remember godawful headlines about how Keira Knightley isn't thin anymore, or watching women getting torn apart despite being talented and beautiful.

The only thing people want to talk about is some useless crap about how they look," she said, as per The Hollywood Reporter.

For Pugh, challenging beauty standards has been an important part of her journey.

"I wasn't trying to challenge. I just wanted to be there, to make space for a version of a person that isn't all the things they used to have to be," she explained.

Throughout her career, Pugh has consistently broken away from the expectations of how women should look and behave in the spotlight be it cutting her hair short or wearing bold fashion choices like a see-through dress on the red carpet.

"I'm proud I've stuck by myself and look the way I look," she stated, adding, "I'm really interested in people who are still angry with me for not losing more weight, or who just hate my nose ring. I am not going to be able to just change the way that things are -- but I can certainly help young women coming into this industry by making conversations happen where they weren't before," as per The Hollywood Reporter.

Pugh has also been outspoken about her body image, rejecting society's unrealistic expectations.

I am not a flirt in real life: Rohitashv Gour

Chandigarh: Rohitashv Gour has enthralled audiences as Manmohan Tiwari, with his witty charm in &TV's cult comedy Bhabiji Ghar Par Hai. His constant pursuit to seek Anita Bhabi's (Vidisha Srivastava) attention has made Tiwari a beloved character. But beyond the screen, Rohitashv's journey is one of passion, resilience, and hard work. In this candid interview, the actor opens up about playing the famous character, his personal life, struggles, and his enduring love for acting.

Manmohan Tiwari has become a fan favourite. What do you think makes him so lovable?

Manmohan Tiwari is full of quirks and contradictions, and I think that's what makes him so endearing. He is a charming, old-school romantic with a flair for mischief but, deep down, a simple man facing relatable struggles. His way of seeking Anita Bhabhi's attention, his rivalry with Vibhuti (Aasif Sheikh), and his balancing act between business and personal life make him entertaining yet lovable. Everyone knows someone like Tiwari—flawed but navigating life's difficulties with humour and heart.

What's the secret behind Tiwari's look and signature kurta-pajama style?

Comfort is key! Tiwari's style reflects a typical middle-class businessperson—simple, traditional, yet elegant. I love wearing kurtas even off-screen. They are comfortable and reflect our rich Indian culture.

How do you prepare for Tiwari's character every day?

I focus on understanding his psychology. Tiwari is a mix of confidence and vulnerability, so I pay attention to his expressions, voice modulation, and body language. After playing him for so many years, it feels natural—it's like my second nature now!

What is more challenging: flirting with Anita or dealing with Angoori on-screen?

(Laughs) Both are equally challenging! Angoori's innocence makes every interaction unique, while Anita's modern and strong-willed demeanour keeps Tiwari on his toes. Balancing between the two adds to the fun and keeps the show engaging and entertaining.

Do you share any similarities with Tiwari in real life?

Well, unlike Tiwari, I am not a flirt! (Laughs) But I do share his persistence. No matter how many times Amma Ji (Soma Rathod) scolds him or Anita rejects him, Tiwari never gives up. That determination resonates with me deeply.

What do you remember about your first job in the entertainment industry?

My first role was in the television serial Neem Ke Ped in the early '90s. I earned Rs. 1000 and for someone coming from Kalka, Himachal Pradesh, to Mumbai and getting the first break was a very important and big step. It helped me survive in Mumbai and strengthened my confidence to continue pursuing a career in acting.
