SC extends stay on defamation case proceedings against Kejriwal, Atishi

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Thursday extended its interim order staying the proceedings of the criminal defamation case against current and former Chief Ministers of Delhi, Atishi and Arvind Kejriwal over their remarks on the alleged deletion of voter names from the electoral roll in the national capital in 2018.
As Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader Rajeev Babbar, who filed a complaint, sought time to file a reply, a bench of Justices Hrishikesh Roy and SVN Bhatti granted four weeks time to him. Earlier, the apex court had issued notice to Delhi Police and the complainant and sought their responses in the matter.

Protests at Parliament turn into injury claims by BJP, Congress

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 19

Protest, counterprotests and brawls, and now a police case against Congress MP Rahul Gandhi - over Home Minister Amit Shah's "Ambedkar is the fashion" remark - roiled Parliament Thursday, with the BJP and Congress trading allegations of each using force to prevent rivals from entering the building.

Two BJP MPs - Pratap Sarangi and Mukesh Rajput - were "seriously injured" by Rahul Gandhi, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju claimed, before the Congress claimed an injury to one of its own; party boss Mallikarjun Kharge wrote saying his knees had been hurt in the protests.

The Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha later told reporters that while he was trying to enter the Parliament House, BJP members pushed and "threatened" him. "It is our right to enter Parliament," he said. Nishikant Dubey of the BJP alleged that Rahul Gandhi pushed an aged parliamentarian leading to his fall and subsequent injury. Both the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha have been adjourned following noisy protests by the Opposition seeking an apology from Home Minister Amit Shah for his remarks on B R Ambedkar.

Kharge files Privilege notice against Amit over Ambedkar remark

NEW DELHI: Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge on Thursday filed a notice of privilege against Union Home Minister Amit Shah for his remarks on former Minister of Law and Justice BR Ambedkar during a debate in the Rajya Sabha. Kharge alleged that Shah's comments were insulting to Ambedkar and demanded privilege proceedings against him. In his letter to the Chairman of the Rajya Sabha, Kharge referred to Shah's statement during a discussion on the "Glorious Journey of 75 Years of the Constitution of India." Shah had reportedly said, "Sir, it has become a fashion now, Ambedkar, Ambedkar, Ambedkar, Ambedkar, Ambedkar, Ambedkar, Ambedkar.

"It is not necessary that everyone understands us, because a scale can only measure weight, not quality": Advocate Vinod Mahajan

VERMA
GURDASPUR, DEC 19

"It is not necessary that everyone understands us, because a scale can only measure weight, not quality." These words were expressed by senior advocate Vinod Mahajan. He explained that this statement is particularly relevant for those who are often criticized and misunderstood in society, where the true quality of their efforts or actions is overlooked.

Advocate Mahajan emphasized that in society, people's work and efforts are often not evaluated properly. Instead, individuals are judged based on superficial factors or preferences, while the true value and contribution of their actions need to be understood and respected. He used the example of a scale, which measures only weight, but cannot determine the quality or characteristics of an object. Similarly, people's value is sometimes judged based on external appearances or capabilities, which is a flawed approach. Mahajan further stated that individuals who strive to do something significant or beneficial often face criticism and neglect.

Despite their genuine hard work and contributions, these individuals are sometimes misunderstood. He argued that society must recognize the importance of appreciating the efforts and quality of work people invest, even if it is not immediately apparent or if it does not conform to external expectations. He called upon people to refrain from judging others based solely on their outer appearances or status, and instead, to make an effort to understand the depth of their actions and contributions. Success and contribution to society should not be measured only by external standards but by the impact and quality of the work that individuals do for the betterment of others. Mahajan highlighted that even an ordinary person, through their hard work and dedication, can bring about meaningful change in society.

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann conducted a grand roadshow in Ludhiana today, rallying support for Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) candidates contesting the municipal corporation elections. The roadshow witnessed massive public participation, with enthusiastic residents showering flower petals and warmly welcoming the CM.

Addressing the gathering, CM Mann shared his deep connection with Ludhiana, calling it his "karmabhoomi" (workplace). He reminisced about his early career, which began in the bustling markets of Ludhiana. "This market is not new to me. I used to frequent these streets when I was starting out. Ludhiana has given me so much love, and now it's my responsibility to give back to this city," said Mann.

AAP Punjab President Aman Arora, Working President Amansher Singh Sharry Kalsi, AAP ministers, Ludhiana MLAs and a large number of AAP office bearers also accompanied CM Mann during the roadshow. Highlighting the significance of the municipal elections, CM Mann made a heartfelt appeal to voters: "Press the button with the broom (jharoo) symbol wherever you see it on the EVM. Elect representatives who will bring real development to Ludhiana."

Mann contrasted AAP's commitment to progress with the previous administration's failures, asserting, "Earlier, municipal corporations never focused on development. The Chief Minister also took a jibe at rival political parties, particularly the Shiromani Akali Dal (Badal), stating that people are hesitant to even shake hands with leaders from those parties for fear of losing their rings. "These parties have betrayed the trust of the people for years. It's time to clean the system with the broom and give Ludhiana the governance it truly deserves," he remarked. "Time is very powerful. Those who committed sins in the name of God are now witnessing their election symbols erased from voting machines," he stated. Highlighting the public's growing awareness, Mann urged voters to reject such parties and embrace the honest, people-centric politics of the Aam Aadmi Party. "The people of Punjab have the power to decide the future, and this time they will choose integrity over deceit," he added. Mann assured the public that Ludhiana would see unparalleled growth under AAP's leadership. "This city, known as the heart of Punjab, deserves to regain its glory. With an AAP mayor in the municipal corporation and an AAP-led government in Punjab, there will be no dearth of support or resources.

Congress slams Amit Shah's remarks on Dr. Ambedkar, accuses BJP of double standards

AJAY KUMAR UPADHYAY
BILASPUR, DEC 19

Congress leaders have expressed strong outrage over Union Home Minister Amit Shah's controversial remarks in Parliament regarding Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar, the architect of the Indian Constitution. Accusing the BJP of hypocrisy, Congress leaders condemned the alleged derogatory statements, calling them an insult to Dr. Ambedkar's legacy and the principles of equality and justice he championed.

Former State General Secretary of the Congress Committee and Jhanduta Congress candidate Vivek Kumar, addressing the media, criticized the BJP for what he described as its double standards. "On one hand, BJP leaders garland Dr. Ambedkar on his anniversary to project reverence. On the other, they mock his contributions with baseless statements. This exposes the BJP's duplicitous character, which Congress will never tolerate," he said.

Highlighting Dr. Ambedkar's contributions, Kumar praised his efforts in ensuring equality and justice through constitutional provisions for Dalits, the exploited, and backward classes. He also noted Dr. Ambedkar's pivotal role in establishing the right to property for women, which, he alleged, was opposed by the RSS and Jan Sangh during the Constitution's adoption in 1949. Congress leaders announced plans to intensify their protests. Effigies of Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be burned at various locations to demonstrate their dissatisfaction. "If the BJP continues its disrespectful rhetoric against Dr. Ambedkar, it will have to face severe consequences," Kumar warned.

In Himachal, the wild life of wild chicken is protected under the Wildlife Reservation Act-1972

(Wildlife Protection Act-1972). Hunting them is a crime and there is a provision of 3 to 7 years of punishment for it. He said that the Chief Minister is registering cases against those who exposed this matter to the public. He says that this is the system change of the Sukhu government. In which banned wild chicken is being served in their food. Jairam Thakur has demanded strict action against those who kill wild chicken and eat it.

He said that the truth of wild chicken cannot be hidden. Let us tell you that dinner was arranged for the Chief Minister, Health Minister and other guests in Tikkar village of Kupvi. During this dinner, an alleged video and menu of the conversation between CM Sukhwinder Singh Sukhu and others has gone viral on social media. Based on this, many other leaders including Leader of Opposition Jairam Thakur have taken an aggressive stance against him. Jairam Thakur said that those who eat protected species of wild chicken are jailed, fined, but the Chief Minister first prints the menu for feeding chicken and then feeds it to his ministers in front of him with great relish, is this the system change. He said that we do not know whether the CM ate chicken or not but we know whether the chicken was wild or desi. Attacks on media's freedom exposed Cong govt's authoritarian mindset: Rajendra Rana

RAJNEESH SHARMA
HAMIRPUR, DEC 19

Former MLA Rajendra Rana has accused the Himachal Pradesh Congress government of stifling democracy and freedom of expression by registering FIRs against journalists in the wake of the "wild rooster incident." In a strongly worded statement, Rana said this act was a blatant attempt to gag media freedom and reflects the government's authoritarian mindset.

He stated, "During the Emergency, Congress tried to suppress the voice of the media through censorship, and the party paid a heavy price in elections. Now, the Congress government in Himachal is following a similar path by targeting the media." Rana criticized the FIRs against media personnel, calling it a misuse of power and a direct assault on the fourth pillar of democracy. He argued that the government's inability to tolerate criticism was a serious threat to democratic values, adding, "This is alarming for every citizen who believes in free expression and independent journalism." Rana claimed that these actions were tarnishing Himachal Pradesh's image. "The media's role is to scrutinize government policies and present the truth to the public. However, the Congress government is trying to suppress this critical function," he said. He demanded the immediate withdrawal of the FIRs against journalists and an apology from the government, warning that such authoritarian behavior would have severe political repercussions for the Congress in the future.

Referring to the "wild rooster incident" that gained significant traction on social media and in newspapers, Rana questioned the government's intentions. "Is the government so afraid of criticism that it is resorting to silencing the media?"

Health Department issues advisory to protect against cold: Civil Surgeon

KULDEEP SOOD

The department has issued instructions to the senior medical officers of the hospitals under the district to make necessary arrangements in the hospitals for the treatment of patients suffering from cold.

SC tightens noose on illegal constructions nationwide

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, DEC 19

The Supreme Court has unveiled a comprehensive set of nationwide directives to combat the rising issue of illegal constructions.

In a landmark judgement, the apex court has called for strict enforcement of building regulations, emphasising that possession of properties must be handed over by developers only after obtaining valid completion or occupation certificates.

On Tuesday, a bench comprising Justices J.B. Pardiwala and R. Mahadevan mandated greater accountability from builders, authorities, and financial institutions. It directed service providers, such as electricity and water boards, to ensure connections are granted only upon verification of valid certificates.

Furthermore, the court ruled that trade and business licenses should not be issued for unauthorised residential or commercial structures.

The Court also directed banks and financial institutions to verify the necessary certificates before approving loans for buildings. The bench emphasised that any stakeholder's lack of adherence to regulations would be met with severe consequences.

While upholding the demolition of an illegal structure in Meerut, the bench condemned leniency in such cases, terming it "misplaced sympathy."

The court highlighted that failures in rectifying illegal constructions or regulatory inefficiencies cannot serve as excuses to shield violators from action. The judgement pointed out that unauthorised constructions not only pose safety risks to occupants and neighbouring residents but also disrupt urban planning, strain public resources, and harm the environment.

"Urban development must prioritise the public interest and environmental sustainability over individual-centric or profit-driven motives," the bench stated. The court disapproved of the state governments' tendencies to regularise illegal structures. The court criticised such practices as shortsighted and harmful to long-term urban planning. "The state's financial gain from regularisation is negligible compared to the long-term damage inflicted on urban planning and the environment," the judgement noted. To address the issue effectively, the court issued several key directives, which include instructions to the builders, who must ensure possession is handed over only after obtaining valid completion or occupation certificates.

The Court directed the regulating authorities to conduct regular inspections and maintain strict records to ensure compliance with approved plans.

Service providers are to deny utilities like electricity and water to unauthorised constructions lacking valid certificates. Trade and business licenses for unauthorised constructions are strictly prohibited.

Violations must be rectified before the issuance of completion certificates, and any non-compliance should be met with legal action, the court said. The bench also warned that officials failing to enforce building laws or issuing wrongful certificates would face stringent action. It directed appeals or applications for regularisation to be resolved within 90 days to prevent unnecessary delays.

Union Home Minister insulted Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar: MLA

BIKRAMJEET SAHOTA
FATEHGARH SAHIB, DEC 19

Bharat Ratna Baba sahib by Union Home Minister Amit Shah The comment made about Bhimrao Ambedkar ji is a very reprehensible phenomenon. Prime Minister Narendra Modi should take this matter seriously and Amit Shah should be sacked from the Ministry of Home Affairs. This was revealed by Fatehgarh Sahib MLA Advocate Lakhbir Singh Rai while issuing a press note. He said that amit shah ji This wording has been used only to demean Bhimrao Ambedkar ji, which the Indian people will not tolerate. He said that Baba sahib is our messiah, who struggled to uplift the poor downtrodden people. It is because of his struggle that the Dalit society has become aware, the Scheduled Caste community considers him as their leader. Aam Aadmi Party respects him a lot. When the government of the Aam Aadmi Party was formed in Punjab, Baba sahib's photograph of Bhimrao Ambedkar ji was placed, so that his respect could be further enhanced. But it is a pity that Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi is covering up the mistake of Home Minister Amit Shah. Our Honorable Prime Minister issued a statement and said that the Congress also Dr. Bhimrao has been disrespecting Ambedkar ji. He said that if the Congress has done this, will the Bharatiya Janata Party also do the same? He said that we will not tolerate disrespect to Baba sahib Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar ji. The Scheduled Caste community who work in the Bharatiya Janata Party should understand that the Bharatiya Janata Party does not respect Baba sahib Ambedkar. Which can be easily guessed from Amit Shah's statement.

Fine balance

The visit by the Sri Lankan president, Anura Kumara Dissanayake, this week to India represents a win for New Delhi's diplomacy at a time when it is battling foreign policy challenges on several other fronts, including in its neighbourhood. The biggest party within Sri Lanka's ruling National People's Power coalition, Mr Dissanayake's Janatha Vimukthi Peramuna has historically viewed India with deep suspicion. That tension has been rooted in New Delhi's efforts to get Colombo to enforce the 13th Amendment of the island nation's Constitution that would empower local governance through elected bodies, including in provinces with significant Tamil populations. The JVP and other Sinhala parties have traditionally opposed that provision, arguing that it fosters separatist sentiments. However, on his trip to New Delhi, Mr Dissanayake assured India that he is not only keen to work closely with the government of Prime Minister Narendra Modi but that he will also not allow Sri Lanka's territory to be used for any activity inimical to Indian interests. That is an important commitment in the backdrop of growing Indian concerns over Chinese military and economic influence on Sri Lanka. Yet, this visit and the positive momentum it could generate for bilateral ties are the outcome of measured politics and proactive diplomacy — an approach that New Delhi and Colombo must continue.

Mr Dissanayake has in recent years consciously softened the JVP's image. In the lead-up to the presidential election that he won in September, and the parliamentary election in November that the NPP swept, he reached out to all communities, including Tamils, and pitched himself as a leader willing to bridge deep divisions that have long fractured the nation. In turn, India hosted Mr Dissanayake earlier this year — when he was still in the Opposition — to build a relationship with him; New Delhi was aware by then that he was the frontrunner for the presidency. Mr Dissanayake must now stay mindful of the legitimate concerns of Sri Lanka's minorities while addressing the country's broader challenge — an economy in the early stages of recovery from an unprecedented crisis. He will be aided by the fact that he has a clear mandate in Parliament to pursue his plans. But New Delhi must also be realistic: Mr Dissanayake, who plans to visit Beijing soon, will also need to keep the ties with China smooth and ensure that he retains the support of Sri Lanka's Sinhala majority. If he can do that while respecting India's red lines, New Delhi and Colombo could forge a win-win partnership.

Resumption of Kailash Mansarovar Yatra

Following the 23rd meeting of the Special Representatives, India and China reaffirmed their commitment to promote the resumption of Kailash Mansarovar Yatra, cross-border river cooperation and Nathula border trade.

During the meeting, both sides agreed on measures to maintain peace and tranquility along the border, and strengthen mechanisms for diplomatic and military negotiations, with plans for a follow-up meeting in India next year.

The Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs in a press release said, "On December 18, 2024, the 23rd meeting of the Special Representatives on the China-India Boundary Question was held in Beijing. This was the first meeting between the two sides in five years."

"Based on the important consensus reached by the leaders of the two countries in the Kazan meeting, Chinese Special Representative, Member of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee and Director of the Central Foreign Affairs Office Wang Yi and Indian Special Representative and National Security Advisor Doval held substantive discussions on the China-India border issue in a positive and constructive manner and reached six consensuses," the release added.

The two sides agreed to continue to strengthen cross-border exchanges and cooperation, and promote the resumption of Indian pilgrims' pilgrimage to Tibet, China, cross-border river cooperation and Nathula border trade.

Both sides also positively evaluated the solution reached between the two countries on border issues, reiterated that the implementation work should continue, and believed that the border issue should be properly handled from the overall situation of bilateral relations so as not to affect the development of bilateral relations.

Both sides agreed to continue to take measures to maintain peace and tranquility in the border areas and promote the healthy and stable development of bilateral relations. India and China also reaffirmed its commitment to continue seeking a fair, reasonable and mutually acceptable package solution to the boundary issue in accordance with the political guidelines agreed upon by the special representatives of the two countries on resolving the boundary issue in 2005, and to take positive measures to promote this process.

The two sides assessed the border situation and agreed to further refine the management and control rules in the border area, strengthen the building of confidence-building measures, and achieve sustainable peace and tranquility on the border, the Chinese Foreign Ministry further said.

The two sides agreed to further strengthen the construction of the special representatives' meeting mechanism, enhance coordination and cooperation in diplomatic and military negotiations, and require the China-India Working Mechanism for Consultation and Coordination on Border Affairs (WMCC) to carry out follow-up implementation of this special representatives' meeting.

Both nations also agreed to hold a new round of special representatives' meetings in India next year, and the specific time will be determined through diplomatic channels.

In addition, the two sides also had an extensive and in-depth exchange of views on bilateral, international and regional issues of common concern, emphasising the importance of a stable, predictable and good China-India relationship to international and regional peace and stability.

Notably, Doval is in China and on Wednesday, he attended the 23d Meeting of the Special Representatives of India and China, along with Wang Yi, Member of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China (CPC) Central Committee and Minister of Foreign Affairs, with discussions focusing on maintaining peace and tranquillity along the border.

"The SRs met in accordance with the decision taken during the recent meeting between Prime Minister Modi and President Xi Jinping in Kazan for them to meet at an early date to oversee the management of peace and tranquility in border areas and to explore a fair, reasonable and mutually acceptable solution to the boundary question," the Ministry of External Affairs said in a press release.

Pakistan: Paank condemns atrocities by Pakistani forces amid peaceful protest

Paank, the human rights wing of the Baloch National Movement (BNM), has expressed deep concern over the harassment of Mehlab Kambar, her team and supporters by the security forces amid a peaceful protest for the immediate and safe return of her father.

Paank called for Mehlab Kambar's father was forcibly abducted by Pakistani forces on July 19. Her father Wahid Kamber was tortured and harassed by the Pakistan intelligence agencies.

In a post on X, Paank stated, "The troubling tactics allegedly employed by the Frontier Corps (FC) Pakistan, including the photographing of activists and vehicles, constitute an unacceptable attempt to silence dissent and discourage the legitimate exercise of the right to peaceful assembly."

Paank further lamented, "We condemn all forms of intimidation and harassment against activists and family members of forcibly disappeared individuals. Such actions contravene Pakistan's obligations under international human rights law, particularly the right to freedom of expression, peaceful assembly, and association."

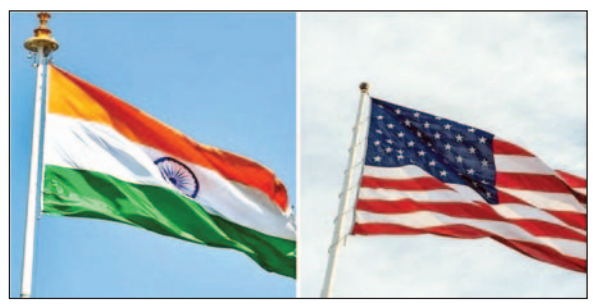

Earlier, Paank had also criticised the Pakistan security forces after the abduction of Nadeem Baloch. The rights body stated," We are deeply concerned by reports of the abduction of Nadeem Baloch, a resident of Ball-nigwar, by Pakistani forces near Javed Transport in Gwadar, today. We call on the authorities to ensure his immediate and safe recovery and end the practice of enforced disappearances in Balochistan."

Paank said it fully supports Mehlab Wahid Kamber and others who continue to bravely fight for justice, truth, and accountability, despite the challenges and dangers they encounter. It condemns any form of intimidation or harassment directed at activists and the families of those who have been forcibly disappeared.

And high in heaven behind it a gray down

By autumn nutters haunted, flourishes

Rushikesh Chavan, Head of The Habitats Trust, highlighted the importance of the grants, stating, "The THT Grants represent our vision to conserve and drive meaningful, long-term change for lesser-known species and critical habitats. By investing in innovative, scalable projects, we partner with organisations and individuals who are creating solutions to protect and restore India's biodiversity."

Grant Categories and Recipients

THT Conservation Grant: This grant supports large-scale, long-term projects that address challenges in critical habitats.

· Indian Institute of Science (IISc): The 2024 recipient of the THT Conservation Grant is a collaboration between Dr. Umesh Srinivasan and Dr. Anubhab Khan from the Indian Institute of Science, along with Millo Tasser and the Singchung Village Council. Their three-year project, based in Arunachal Pradesh, focuses on conserving the Bugun Liocichla in the Singchung Bugun Village Community Reserve. This critically endangered bird is a "point endemic" species, found only in a single locality in Arunachal Pradesh, with just 14 to 20 known individuals. The project aims to assess the effective population size and genomics of the Bugun Liocichla. Additionally, it will explore the feasibility of translocating individuals to create reserve populations and model demographic parameters to inform targeted conservation initiatives, ensuring the long-term survival of this rare species.

THT Action Grant: This grant supports two-year projects focused on urgent, on-the-ground conservation efforts. In 2024, four recipients were selected for the THT Action Grant, comprising two individuals and two organisations:

Divya Panicker: A cetacean and bioacoustics expert, Divya Panicker's project will survey the endangered blue whales in the Lakshadweep Archipelago. Using a multi-year passive acoustic monitoring (PAM) system, the project aims to determine the acoustic occurrence and seasonality of blue whales in the region and share the data with local authorities for effective conservation management.

Malyasri Bhattacharya: Continuing her doctoral work in Kangra, Himachal Pradesh, Malyasri Bhattacharya's project aims to safeguard critically endangered vulture habitats through community-led ecotourism. The project focuses on conserving White-rumped Vultures and migratory birds in the Kangra landscape by involving local communities, building capacity, and fostering stewardship among Gaddi and Gujjar herders. The initiative seeks to promote ecotourism and ensure the protection of nesting sites.

Durgapur Wildlife Information and Nature Guide Society: Based in West Bengal, this organisation's community-driven conservation project focuses on Indian grey wolves in human-dominated landscapes. Through species monitoring, prey base assessment, and mitigation measures to manage human-animal interactions, the project aims to create a model for co-existence and long-term conservation of this vital species.

Veditum India Foundation: Operating in Madhya Pradesh, the Veditum India Foundation is working to protect riparian habitats. The project emphasizes improving environmental governance, promoting citizen participation, and enhancing river protection against the impacts of sand mining. The initiative's outputs will help secure habitats for gharials, Gangetic dolphins, mahseer, Indian skimmers, and red-crowned roof turtles.

In addition to these grants, The Habitats Trust also supports organisations and individuals through its monthly THT Seeds Grant, which offers up to Rs. 3 lakhs for short-term projects. The Seeds Grant is designed to tackle issues related to lesser-known species or habitats and to pilot projects in relatively unexplored landscapes or data-deficient species.

Make Christmas Celebrations Merrier and Healthier with California Almonds

Chandigarh/Ludhiana, 18 December 2024: Christmas is a time for joy, togetherness, and creating cherished memories with friends and loved ones. This year, celebrate the festive spirit by making healthier choices without compromising on flavor. As you bake Christmas treats and prepare traditional feasts, elevate your celebrations with the wholesome goodness of California Almonds—a versatile ingredient that brings crunch, flavor, and nutrition to your festive favorites. The most popular California Almonds are a nutritional powerhouse, with 15 essential nutrients, including protein, healthy fats, fiber, magnesium, zinc, and phosphorus.

From cakes to cookies, almonds, king of dry fruits, not only enhance the taste but also provide some nutritional value to festive creations. Shown in over 200 studies published in leading scientific journals, consuming a handful of California Almonds daily can help manage blood sugar, lower LDL cholesterol, and support heart health. Their satiating properties also help control hunger, supporting weight management during the festive season. Additionally, the recently published ICMR-NIN Dietary guidelines for Indians recognize almonds as one of the nutritious nuts that can be consumed daily for good health.

This Christmas, make your celebrations merrier and healthier by incorporating California Almonds into your festive cuisines. They are also a perfect gift for loved ones, offering the gift of good health.

Bollywood actress Soha Ali Khan, said, "For me, Christmas is all about family time, festive lights and baking special treats with my daughter. While indulging is a part of the celebrations, I always ensure my recipes include healthier alternatives like jaggery and almonds. They not only enhance the taste of the dishes but also help curb unnecessary snacking and keep us fuller for longer. This Christmas, I encourage everyone to make mindful food choices and celebrate healthily."

Sheela Krishnaswamy, Nutrition and Wellness Consultant, said, "Festivals often lead to overindulgence, but it's essential to include healthy options like almonds in your meals. Almonds are known for helping lower LDL and total cholesterol levels, keeping your heart healthier. The good thing about almonds is their versatility—they blend seamlessly with any meal, adding crunch, flavor, and nutritional value. My recommendation for this Christmas season is to make conscious choices that prioritize both taste and health."

Fitness Master and Pilates Instructor Yasmin Karachiwala said, "Staying active during the festive season is just as important as making mindful food choices. Incorporating movement, whether it's a quick workout or a walk.

, helps balance indulgences. For muscle recovery and energy, I recommend snacking on natural foods like almonds. Rich in protein and healthy fats, almonds are nutritious as well as support muscle repair and provide energy. Their versatility makes them a perfect addition to festive meals and snacks, helping you stay on track while enjoying the celebrations."

Ritika Samaddar, Regional Head – Dietetics, Max Healthcare, New Delhi, said, "While celebrating with loved ones is important, it's equally essential to stay mindful of our health. Indulging in sugary treats can lead to weight gain and blood sugar spikes. My advice is to incorporate wholesome, nutritious foods like almonds into your Christmas meals. Almonds, dense in protein, healthy fats, and fiber, help keep you fuller for longer, supporting weight management. With their low glycemic index, almonds also help prevent blood sugar spikes and maintain stable levels. Understanding Constipation and Related Myths

Ludhiana : Constipation is one of the most prevalent health issues affecting all age groups. It is a common health condition that affects people of all ages, often caused by lifestyle factors such as an unhealthy diet, dehydration, insufficient physical activity and other underlying health conditions. Proper diagnosis and lifestyle adjustments are essential for managing constipation effectively. The condition is marked by infrequent bowel movements, difficulty passing stool, hard - dry stools, and an inability to have regular daily bowel movements
According to Medical News today, chronic constipation can lead to complications such as anal fissures. In more severe cases, it may result in fecal impaction, which can require hospitalization, surgery, and in extreme cases, become life-threatening. To raise awareness about the causes of constipation, Dr Mudit Kumar, Additional Director, (GI, Minimal Access and Bariatric Surgery), Fortis Hospital, Ludhiana, explains, "Unhealthy eating habits such as consuming excessive protein and fat while lacking adequate fiber—are often major triggers. In addition, dehydration from insufficient water intake and a sedentary lifestyle are also common causes. Sometimes, constipation occurs due to weak nerve and muscle function in the bowel. People who have undergone surgeries like gastric bypass, which affects the stomach, are also more likely to experience constipation."

There are many myths and misconceptions surrounding constipation that can make it harder to understand and manage effectively. Here are some of the most common myths debunked:
1) Tobacco, Smoking, and Caffeine Are Key to Relieving Constipation: Local beliefs have led people to use tobacco, smoking, or drinking tea and coffee as remedies to encourage bowel movements. However, experts warn that these habits do not address the root causes of constipation and may have harmful effects on overall health.
2) Your Diet Is Always the Culprit: Another myth is that diet alone is the cause of constipation. There are other factors, such as medications for pain or depression, that are often the actual cause. Before eliminating foods you suspect might be causing constipation, it's important to consult with your doctor to determine whether medications could be contributing to the issue.
3) Fiber Rich Diet Is All You Need to Ease Constipation: While low fiber intake can certainly cause constipation, simply increasing fiber when you're already constipated doesn't always provide relief. There are two types of fiber—soluble and insoluble—and soluble fiber is generally more effective.

Why Chandigarh Should Follow Other Indian Cities in Embracing Power Privatization?

Chandigarh : Is it justified for a section of people in Chandigarh to oppose the privatization of electricity? This question is being raised because, while a section of people in Chandigarh opposes privatization, the government of Uttar Pradesh is preparing to hand over its two Discoms to private handsOn Wednesday, in the Uttar Pradesh Assembly, UP Energy Minister AK Sharma made it clear that privatization is the need of the hour and that denying it entirely is not justified. UP Energy Minister gave the example of Noida Power Company Limited (NPCL), which distributes electricity in Greater Noida. The honourable minister informed the assembly that NPCL's power tariff rate is 10% lower than the electricity rate of the entire state. The minister also mentioned that, despite giving subsidies to Lifeline consumers, NPCL does not receive any subsidy money from the government; yet, its electricity rates are still lower than the tariff rates of the entire state. The UP Energy Minister also praised NPCL for providing high-quality service to consumers.Upon receiving recognition from the government, the spokesperson of NPCL (RP-Sanjiv Goenka Group) says "Noida Power Company Limited expresses its gratitude to the Energy Minister of Uttar Pradesh, Shri AK Sharma, for his appreciation. It has always been NPCL's endeavour to provide affordable electricity and better services to consumers in Greater Noida, and we are pleased that our efforts have been successful so far".NPCL, lauded by the UP Energy Minister for providing the lowest electricity rates in Uttar Pradesh without government support, is part of the RPSG Group. Ironically, a section of people in Chandigarh is spreading baseless rumours that, post-privatization, the new company, Eminent Electricity Distribution Limited, a 100% subsidiary of CESC Limited (RP-Sanjiv Goenka Group), may raise tariffs, which is completely false. Everyone knows that, even after privatization, electricity rates will continue to be regulated and determined by the Joint Electricity Regulatory Commission (JERC).The Chandigarh UT Administration has repeatedly emphasized that the privatization of the Electricity Department is a key component of its broader structural reforms. This includes the overhaul of power distribution and retail supply through the privatization of distribution utilities.According to the UT Administration.

National Farmer's Day: Zee TV actors talk about recognizing the heroes who feed the nation

CHANDIGARH: Every year, December 23rd marks a day of profound gratitude and reflection as India celebrates Kisan Diwas, also known as National Farmers' Day. This significant occasion commemorates the birth anniversary of Chaudhary Charan Singh, a visionary leader and former Prime Minister who championed the rights and welfare of farmers. Kisan Diwas serves as a heartfelt acknowledgement of the pivotal role farmers play in shaping India's economy and society. It also aims to spotlight the challenges they face, and the collective responsibility to support their welfare. To honour this day, Zee TV actors Ayushi Khurana from Jaane Anjaane Hum Mile, Simaran Kaur from Jamai No. 1, Aarya Babbar from Jagriti – Ek Nayi Subah, Yogendra Vikram Singh from Bas Itna Sa Khwaab, Abhishek Sharma from Vasudha and Pratiksha Honmukhe from Kaise Mujhe Tum Mil Gaye, shared how grateful they are to the farmers and believe that they are one of the unsung heroes of our nation.

Ayushi Khurana, who essays the role of Reet in Zee TV's Jaane Anjaane Hum Mile said, "I grew up hearing stories from my grandparents about them working in the fields, and witnessed their dedication firsthand, hence, Kisan Diwas holds a very special place in my heart. Farmers are the true backbone of our nation, tirelessly working from sunrise to sunset to put food on our plates, often braving harsh weather, financial struggles, and countless uncertainties. Their resilience and hard work inspire me every day. This day is not just a celebration but also a reminder for all of us to recognize their invaluable contributions and advocate for their well-being. Let's take a moment to truly honour their efforts, support their needs, and work towards a future where every farmer feels valued and empowered. After all, their strength is what sustains our lives."

Simaran Kaur, who essays the role of Riddhi in Zee TV's Jamai No. 1 said, "Growing up in a city, I never fully realized the immense effort that goes into producing the food we eat. However, as I read and learned more, I began to understand that farming is far from an easy job. The lives of farmers taught me to deeply admire their relentless commitment and remarkable strength. Kisan Diwas serves as a powerful reminder to honor these unsung heroes who work tirelessly through all seasons to feed us. Farming is not just a profession—it's a lifeline. Behind every grain of food lies a story of hope, hard work, and perseverance. Let's unite to support and uplift our farmers, ensuring they are valued, empowered, and fairly rewarded for their contributions."

Aarya Babbar, who essays the role of Kalikant Thakur in Zee TV's Jagriti-Ek Nayi Subah said, "Farmers are of utmost importance in shaping the future of our nation, tirelessly working in difficult conditions to provide us with the nourishment we need. Their hard work, determination, and resilience are the pillars upon which our agriculture and economy stand. Kisan Diwas is a reminder to recognize the sacrifices they make daily to feed millions of people. As we celebrate this day, let us commit to supporting the farmers, understand their struggles, and work together to create a better, more sustainable future for agriculture in India. Let's ensure their efforts are valued, respected, and appreciated every single day."

Yogendra Vikram Singh, who essays the role of Shikhar in Zee TV's Bas Itna Sa Khwaab said, "Farmers are the unsung heroes of our nation, and they are truly the backbone of our country. Celebrating Kisan Diwas is of great importance for all of us, as it honors the invaluable contributions of former Prime Minister Chaudhary Charan Singh to India's agricultural reforms. Every bite of food we eat is a direct result of the tireless work and dedication of farmers. We should always express our gratitude for their efforts. On this special day, I urge everyone to show kindness and appreciation to farmers for the vital role they play in our lives."

Abhishek Sharma, who essays the role of Devansh in Zee TV's Vasudha said, "Kisan Diwas is a day to reflect on the sacrifices and tireless efforts of our farmers, who form the backbone of our nation. Their unwavering dedication to cultivating the land, often amidst adversities, is nothing short of inspiring. I believe that as a society, we owe it to them to provide the support, respect, and resources they deserve. On this special day, let's pledge to stand by our farmers, uplift their lives, and ensure that their contributions are celebrated not just today but every day.
