One-Time Settlement Scheme for small traders introduced in Hry

Over 2 lakh taxpayers expected to get benefit

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JAN 23

In line with the promises made in the Sankalp Patra, the Haryana government has introduced the One-Time Settlement Scheme for Recovery of Outstanding Dues 2025 aimed at moving ahead in the GST regime with lesser baggage of arrears, litigations and to expedite the recovery of outstanding dues and give relief to small taxpayers.

In the New Scheme formulated for the settlement of outstanding tax liabilities under seven pre-GST Acts, Taxpayers with outstanding liabilities of up to Rs. 10 lakh under any single Act will be granted a concession of up to Rs. 1 lakh. Additionally, 60% of the remaining principal tax amount will also be waived.

Furthermore, Taxpayers with outstanding liabilities of more than Rs. 10 lakh and upto Rs. 10 crore will also receive a 50% concession on their tax amount. Over 2 lakh taxpayers are expected to benefit from this scheme.

Notably, all taxpayers availing of this scheme will have their interest and penalty amounts completely waived. The taxpayers with settlement amounts exceeding Rs. 10 lakh will be allowed to pay their principal amount in two installments.

The scheme is applicable for quantified outstanding dues under the seven acts namely The Haryana Value Added Tax Act, 2003 (6 of 2003), The Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 (Central Act 74 of 1956), The Haryana Local Area Development Tax Act, 2000 (13 of 2000), The Haryana Tax on Entry of Goods into Local Areas Act, 2008 (8 of 2008), The Haryana Tax on Luxuries Act, 2007 (23 of 2007), The Punjab Entertainment Duty Act, 1955 (Punjab Act 16 of 1955), The Haryana General Sales Tax Act, 1973 (20 of 1973). It is a simplified scheme. There is no categorization of tax unlike the old scheme; such as Admitted tax, disputed tax, Undisputed tax or Differential tax. Besides this, interest and all types of penalties are waived in the new Scheme. The small taxpayers having cumulative quantified tax dues up to 10 lakh have to pay only 40% after deducting tax of Rs. 1 lakh out of their cumulative tax dues, and others whose cumulative arrears are upto Rs. 10 crores have to pay 50% of the cumulative tax dues.

A decision to this effect was taken in the meeting of State Cabinet held under the chairmanship of Chief Minister, Sh. Nayab Singh Saini here today. As per the decision, the total principal amount paid for the period before October 1, 2020, will be recovered, without interest, from the ex-employees of CONFED, Haryana Minerals Limited (HML), and Handloom and Export Corporation.

Sanatan Dharma Sansad to be held at Maha Kumbh on Jan 27

UNI
PRAYAGRAJ, JAN 23

Spiritual leader Devki Nandan Thakur has lauded the exemplary preparations made for Maha Kumbh in Prayagraj under the leadership of Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath. Thakur commended the government's unprecedented efforts in ensuring top-notch arrangements for roads, water, and other facilities, highlighting CM Yogi's involvement in overseeing the preparations.

He emphasised the double-engine government's commitment to the welfare of Sanatan Dharma. He expressed confidence in the dedication of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and CM Yogi to the growth and advancement of Sanatan Dharma, noting that their leadership greatly benefits both the state and the nation. Thakur announced the organisation of the 'Sanatan Dharma Sansad', scheduled for January 27 at Maha Kumbh. He highlighted that the primary objective of this Sansad is to establish a 'Sanatan Board'. He said, "The board aims to ensure a ban on religious conversions, safeguard temple properties and promote better utilisation of religious institutions."

Raising concerns over the current use of temple funds, the spiritual leader alleged that these funds are being directed toward activities against the ethos of Sanatan Dharma, such as funding Haj pilgrimages and church construction. He stressed that the money should instead be used for Gurukuls, Gaushalas, hospitals, and aiding the helpless.

He expressed hope that the establishment of the 'Sanatan Board' would address this issue effectively. He emphasised the importance of organised efforts to protect and promote Sanatan Dharma. He urged followers to assert their rights, noting that the absence of such demands has led to their neglect.

Thakur expressed optimism that the current government would take strong actions for the advancement and preservation of Sanatan Dharma.

Pro-Khalistan MP Amritpal Singh moves court to attend Parliament session

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JAN 23

Amritpal Singh, the Member of Parliament (MP) from Khadoor Sahib in Punjab, currently imprisoned in Assam's Dibrugarh jail under the National Security Act (NSA), has filed a petition in the Punjab and Haryana High Court.

He has sought permission to attend the Parliament session and participate in the Republic Day celebrations on January 26.

In his petition, Amritpal Singh argued that his prolonged absence is preventing his 19 lakh voters from having their voice heard in Parliament. He claimed his detention is politically motivated and intended to curb his rising popularity.

The detention order, issued by the Deputy Magistrate of Amritsar in March 2023, has been extended multiple times.

A fresh detention order was issued in March 2024, citing reasons like social media posts and allegedly unauthorised items found in the jail. Amritpal Singh has described these reasons as weak and unconstitutional.

The Khadoor Sahib MP further contends that his detention violates not only his constitutional rights but also the rights of the voters in his constituency. In his petition, he has sought interim release from the court and a prompt decision on the pending matter.

Gold hits fresh all-time high of Rs 82,900 per 10 gm

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, JAN 23

Gold prices rose Rs 170 to hit a fresh record high of Rs 82,900 per 10 grams in the national capital on Thursday amid a positive global trend, according to the All India Sarafa Association.

The precious metal had closed at Rs 82,730 per 10 grams on Wednesday.

In about one year, the precious metal surged Rs 20,180 or 32.17 per cent to Rs 82,900 per 10 grams from Rs 62,720 per 10 grams on February 23, 2024.

Gold of 99.9 per cent purity previously hit its record level of Rs 82,400 on October 31, 2024. Gold of 99.5 per cent purity hit an all-time of Rs 82,000 per 10 grams same day.

Silver also surged Rs 1,000 to Rs 94,000 per kg on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, in futures trade on the Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX), gold contracts for February delivery increased by Rs 299 or 0.38 per cent to trade at Rs 79,523 per 10 grams on Wednesday.

"In the domestic market, MCX gold registered comparatively minor gains, limited by the rupee's strength. This currency strength capped the upward movement in domestic gold prices," Jateen Trivedi, VP Research Analyst - Commodity and Currency, LKP Securities, said.

Silver futures for March delivery increased Rs 204 or 0.22 per cent to Rs 92,295 per kg.

Globally, Comex gold futures rose USD 10.20 per ounce or 0.37 per cent to USD 2,769.40 per ounce.

"Gold prices continue to rise as the dollar weakens. Markets are worried after Trump delayed his promised trade tariffs on China, Mexico, and Canada, raising fears they may come next month sparking fears of a prolonged trade war," Abans Holdings' Chief Executive Officer Chintan Mehta, said.

Further, weak economic data has added to the bullish outlook for gold, with retail sales falling short of expectations and unemployment claims, Mehta said.

Thailand becomes first nation to legalise same-sex marriage

AGENCY
BANGKOK, JAN 23

Hundreds of same-sex couples are tying the knot in Thailand on Thursday, as the country becomes the first in Southeast Asia to legalize marriage equality, according to a report by CNN.

According to Bangkok Pride, which partnered with local authorities to organize the event, over 200 couples registered to marry at the Siam Paragon shopping center.

This bill marks a major victory for the LGBTQ+ community, which has spent more than a decade advocating for equal marriage rights.

The law, approved by Thailand's parliament and endorsed by the king in 2024, grants same-sex couples the ability to legally register their marriages, offering them full legal, financial, and medical rights, as well as adoption and inheritance rights.

"This marriage equality law marks the beginning of Thai society's greater awareness of gender diversity, and our embrace of everyone regardless of sexual orientation, race, or religion -- our affirmation that everyone is entitled to equal rights and dignity," Prime Minister Paetongtarn Shinawatra said in a recorded message played at a mass wedding in the capital Bangkok on Thursday, according to CNN. Shinawatra hailed the legalization of same-sex marriage as a historic milestone for equality and inclusion. She celebrated the LGBTQIA+ community's decades-long struggle for marriage equality, calling it a "collective achievement from everyone's efforts." Sharing a post on X, she wrote, "23 January 2025 - the day of Love Triumphant! More than two decades of fighting to pass the #MarriageEquality law, and two decades of confronting prejudices and societal values, have finally brought us to this day.

"Police inaction amidst student rioting in Qadian"

VERMA

QADIAN: Gurpreet Singh Qadian, Media Incharge of the International Human Rights Defender Punjab, has raised concerns about the ongoing rioting by youth outside schools and colleges in Qadian. Despite repeated complaints, the police have failed to address this issue. Singh observed groups of young men on motorcycles creating disturbances outside educational institutions, particularly a private school on Razada Road. This behavior, he reports, includes harassment of female students. This problem, Singh emphasizes, is not isolated to a single institution but is prevalent across schools and colleges in the city. The lack of police presence emboldens these young rioters, who often operate with impunity. Singh urges the local police administration and SSP Batala to intervene immediately. He demands strict action against these individuals to ensure the safety and security of students, particularly female students, who should be able to attend school without fear of harassment.

Teachers of LR DAV College stage protest against Punjab Government

SUKH NAHAR
JAGRAON, JAN 23

Colleges affiliated with the PCCTU in Ludhiana District are staged a protest against the Punjab Government's and Department of Higher Education's indifferent attitude.

This demonstration is a response to the authorities' lack of concern for the teachers and higher education welfare. Today, teachers of LRDAV College, Jagraon began a two-day protest against the Punjab Government and bureaucracy of higher education department. Their main concern is the government's and bureaucracy's indefinite, lackluster, and apathetic approach to higher education. Dr. Varun Goel, an executive member of the Punjab and Chandigarh College Teachers' Union (PCCTU), stated that the union's leadership met with Secretary of Higher Education KK Yadav and Director of Higher Education Sanyam Aggarwal in 2024 to express their genuine and legal concerns, but no action has been taken by officials to date. Non responsive attitude of bureaucracy of higher education department has put entire Higher Education of Punjab at cross road. According to Dr. Kunal Mehta President of Local unit PCCTU, one of the major demands is the fixation of college teachers' pay scales under the revised 7th pay scales. Files have been pending in the Department of Higher Education for over a year, and it is shocking that the department has taken more than a year to clear them. Many teachers have also raised concerns about corruption in the file-clearing process, but officials have not addressed these allegations. Representatives of PCCTU have cautioned that if their demands continue to be ignored by the government and bureaucracy, they will be forced to escalate their protests in the coming days.

Proper diet must for muscle growth, body shaping: Rishabh Mahajan

VERMA

GURDASPUR: Today, the youth has become increasingly aware of physical health and fitness. The trend of sweating it out in the gym, lifting weights, and building muscles is on the rise. However, one big question that arises is whether just working out in the gym guarantees good results. Answering this, Rishabh Mahajan, the owner of Iron Rush Gym, emphasized that following a proper diet is as important as working out in the gym. Rishabh Mahajan stressed that many young people work hard in the gym, but they fail to follow the correct diet. As a result, they do not get the desired results, despite their efforts. He explained that if a person's diet is not proper, the essential nutrients needed for muscle growth and body shaping do not reach the body. Therefore, a balance between gym workouts and diet is crucial. According to Rishabh Mahajan, many young people work out in the gym for a while, but when they do not see the desired results, they get discouraged and leave the gym. This mainly happens due to their improper diet. A diet with the right mix of protein, carbohydrates, fats, and vitamins is necessary for the body to receive proper nutrition. He advises young people to not only work hard in the gym but also follow a proper diet to achieve faster and better results. Rishabh Mahajan also mentioned the importance of raising awareness among the youth regarding diet, so they do not limit themselves to gym machines but also take their diet seriously.

Life is too short for long-term grudges.

Long shadow

Russia's war on Ukraine is a tale of death, de-vastation and betrayal — not only on the lands where it is being fought, but all the way in India. Recently, the ministry of external affairs confirmed that 126 Indians are believed to have fought for the Russian army in the war. Of them, 96 have returned home and two are still fighting. But at least 12 have died in the war and 16 are missing, according to Russian officials. Even as the Indian government insists that it is doing all it can to secure the release of citizens still fighting in the war, and to trace those who are missing, these deaths and disappearances leave a trail of troubling questions. Most Indians who have fought in the war say that they were duped by agents who offered them lucrative jobs in Russia. They were taken to the United Arab Emirates and then to Russia. Once there, though, they were mov-ed to army recruitment facilities where they were given little choice but to sign conscription documents that sealed their fate as foot soldiers in Europe's biggest war in 80 years.

The Indian government has said that it has cracked down on many of these agents. That is indeed an important step. But that in no way absolves the government. There is no evidence that Indian immigration authorities kept any special scrutiny on people going to Russia via the UAE or launched any mass awareness programme to alert people about the risks of falling for dubious job offers. Moreover, if a dozen Indians are still serving in President Vladimir Putin's army months after India first raised its concerns with Russia, it means that New Delhi's messaging to Moscow has not been effective.

The lure of better paying jobs in Russia that duped more than 100 Indians is also testimony to a far deeper challenge before India. In spite of the Narendra Modi government's bombastic claims of rocketing GDP growth, the reality that stares at millions of Indians is very different. Unemployment and under-employment haunt communities from Punjab to Kerala, leaving young people vulnerable to precisely the kind of schemes that take them to a Ukrainian battlefront. Mr Modi has previously boasted about plucking Indian nationals out of war zones to bring them back to safety. Indians stuck in the Russian army deserve that same support — and they need it now.

Global leaders call for action on AI, regional reforms

Global leaders have called for action on artificial intelligence, regional reforms, and environmental initiatives at the World Economic Forum (WEF) Annual Meeting 2025, discussing key issues such as social media reform in Europe, closer regional integration in Asia, the creation of the world's largest tropical forest reserve in Africa and opportunities for progress in the Middle East.

President of the Democratic Republic of Congo, Felix-Antoine Tshisekedi Tshilombo, on Wednesday at the World Economic Forum Annual Meeting 2025 announced the creation of the world's largest tropical forest reserve, according to a press release. The Kivu to Kinshasa Green Corridor Reserve will protect over 550,000 square kilometres of forest throughout the Congo River Basin.

"This historic, unprecedented initiative will transform not only our natural landscapes but also the livelihoods of millions of our citizens," he said, adding that the initiative goes far beyond environmental preservation and includes economic development.

As he prepares to assume the ASEAN chairmanship, Malaysian Prime Minister Anwar Ibrahim expressed optimism about the 10-nation union's future and Malaysia's role in it.

"The spirit of collaboration and esprit de corps between [ASEAN] leaders is unique," Anwar said, pointing to the contributions that closer regional integration in green energy has made to Malaysia's emergence as a high-tech manufacturing powerhouse.

Anwar noted that while the US remained the largest single investor in Malaysia, the nation's "closeness, investment and trade with China" are growing. Stressing the importance of dialogue over conflict, he remarked, "We don't go to war or threaten--we discuss, get a little angry, but focus on economic fundamentals and move on."

In a special address, Spanish Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez called for a reform of social media governance across the European Union to curb misinformation and cyber harassment. He urged for stronger enforcement of the Digital Services Act and expanded powers for the European Centre for Algorithmic Transparency. He emphasised that "the values of the European Union are not for sale" and called for increased funding for research into social media algorithms to ensure Europe's brightest minds address this critical challenge.

United Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres also issued a stark warning about two escalating global threats: the unchecked expansion of artificial intelligence and the climate crisis. These challenges, he warned, pose unprecedented risks to humanity and demand immediate, unified action from governments and the private sector.

On artificial intelligence, Guterres acknowledged its immense potential but cautioned against the risks of leaving AI ungoverned. He emphasised the need for international collaboration, pointing to the Global Digital Compact adopted at the United Nations as a roadmap for harnessing digital technology responsibly. "We must collaborate so that all countries and people benefit from AI's promise and potential to support development and social and economic progress for all," he said. He also called on the private sector not to backtrack on their climate commitments and for governments to "keep their promise to produce new, economy-wide national climate action plans this year."

Palestinian Authority Foreign Affairs Minister Varsen Aghabekian expressed cautious optimism following the ceasefire between Israel and Hamas. "Optimism is not a choice; it is a must," adding that she hopes the ceasefire brings something more sustainable in the future. Addressing the humanitarian crisis in Gaza, Aghabekian underscored the need for immediate relief efforts and long-term planning. "We have to ensure that the aid is reaching the people," she said.

Weeks after the sudden collapse of the Bashar al-Assad regime, Syrian Foreign Minister Asaad Hasan Al Shaibani outlined the new government's plans. "We will not look to the past. We will look to the future. And we promise to our people that this misery will not be repeated," adding that the government will respect the rights of women and reject the sectarian division that has long plagued the country.

He also urged the removal of remaining sanctions, assuring the world Syria would no longer be a source of threats. "Thousands are returning to Syria and they need to help rebuild the country. Now we open a new page...We need Syria to be a country of peace."

In a conversation with CNN's Fareed Zakaria, Iranian Vice President for Strategic Affairs Javad Zarif expressed hope that a second Trump presidency would reconsider his withdrawal from the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JPOA, or the Iran nuclear deal) in 2018, during his first administration, and would be "more serious, more focused, and more realistic" about the cost of his withdrawal from the agreement.

New cases of bird flu found in Israel

H5N1 bird flu was diagnosed in a flock of turkeys at Kibbutz Tzora in the Mateh Yehuda Regional Council. Following an unusual mortality of approximately 19,300 turkeys, aged 6.7 weeks, in four chicken coops, samples were sent to the laboratories of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food Security, which confirmed the suspicion.

This is the 16th case of bird flu diagnosed in the current flu season in commercial chicken coops. As a reminder, in the past two weeks, two additional cases of bird flu were discovered in a turkey coop at Kibbutz Tzora. In order to prevent the spread of the disease, the Ministry of Agriculture and Food Security is acting in accordance with the procedures recommended by the World Organization for Animal Health (WOAH) regarding the treatment of avian influenza.

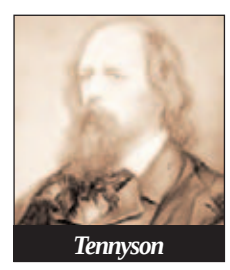

Among other things, a quarantine zone has been defined within a range of up to 10 km from the infected poultry houses, in which the movement of poultry is restricted, the population of poultry houses is prohibited, and strict biosecurity measures are required from those involved in the industry. The veterinary services at the Ministry of Agriculture and Food Security continue to conduct active monitoring of all poultry houses in the area.

The Ministry of Agriculture and Food Security calls on breeders of ornamental birds and poultry farms, as well as free-range poultry farms, to keep the poultry they own inside buildings, prevent them from roaming in open areas, and thus reduce the risk of infection from wild birds during the migration season.

POEM

The Day-Dream

O LADY FLORA, let me speak: A pleasant hour has passed away
While, dreaming on your damask cheek, The dewy sister-eyelids lay.
As by the lattice you reclined,
I went thro' many wayward moods
To see you dreaming—and, behind,
A summer crisp with shining woods.
And I too dream'd, until at last
Across my fancy, brooding warm,
The reflex of a legend past,
And loosely settled into form.
And would you have the thought I had, And see the vision that I saw,
Then take the broidery-frame.

Understanding the importance of indoor air quality and how to improve it

Chandigarh: Chandigarh's air pollution levels have reached a tipping point, demanding urgent attention and action like never before. The city recorded its worst-ever AQI of 361, making it the third most polluted city in India at the time, a stark reminder of the severity of the issue we face right here at home. According to the World Air Quality Report 2023[1], India ranks among the top five most polluted countries in the world, with an alarming average PM2.5 concentration more than 10 times higher than the WHO's annual guideline. The cold weather often traps pollutants, exacerbating the problem within our homes.

To address these concerns, Theo Jones, Dyson Engineer answers a few questions about the indoor air quality in our home that could help us make educated decisions to reduce air pollution exposure.

How can air purifiers help maintain better indoor air quality?

Investing in an air purifier is one of the most effective ways to remove a wide range of pollutants from the air. Advanced filtration technologies, such as HEPA and carbon filters, can remove a wide range of pollutants, including dust, pollen, pet dander, and smoke with Dyson's latest machines offering HEPA filtration to ensure the pollutants are trapped, while formaldehyde sensing and cooling airflow maintain air quality year-round.

What contributes to indoor air pollution?

Pollution can be generated indoors through day-to-day activities, enter the house from outside, and emit from surfaces, eventually making up a complex cocktail of pollutants.

Every day we can breathe in up to 9,000 litres of air1 and spend up to 90% of our time behind closed doors2.

How do indoor air pollutants vary in different rooms?

The concentration of indoor air pollutants can vary across rooms in a home depending on the sources of pollution, objects, and human activities.

How can air purifiers help maintain better indoor air quality?

Investing in an air purifier is one of the most effective ways to remove a wide range of pollutants from the air. Advanced filtration technologies, such as HEPA and carbon filters, can remove a wide range of pollutants, including dust, pollen, pet dander, smoke, and VOCs, with Dyson's latest machines offering full-machine HEPA filtration to ensure that what goes inside, stays inside, while formaldehyde sensing and cooling airflow maintain air quality year-round.

Dyson's latest air purification technology, the Dyson Purifier Big+Quiet, is designed to purify the air in spaces as large as 1000 sq.ft. It uses Cone Aerodynamics to deliver 10-meter projection. Alongside powerful projection, the machine is engineered to operate quietly, producing just 56 decibels of noise - making it Dyson's quietest yet most powerful purifier. Dyson air purifiers, like the Dyson Purifier Hot+Cool™, use Air Multiplier™ technology for whole-room purification and 350° oscillation for even coverage. Users can customize settings, including oscillation, via the Dyson Link app or the LCD screen to personalize airflow for cooling, heating, or purification.

What are some additional tips for improving indoor air quality?

We can do little to control the quality of air we breathe outside. But we can follow these tips to try and keep our home free of pollution:

Use cleaning products wisely: Using natural cleaning products can help lower the amount of VOCs in your indoor air. Opt for a vacuum cleaner with strong suction, HEPA filtration to trap fine particles, and specialized attachments to reach challenging areas like crevices and upholstery.

China rejects Trump's 100% tariff talk, reaffirms BRICS neutrality on global trade

AGENCY

NEW DELHI: China on Thursday said BRICS doesn't advocate bloc confrontation and does not target any third party, days after US President Donald Trump's assertion that 100 per cent tariffs would be imposed on the group if its member nations tried to cut dollar use in trade.

India, for its part, has already stated that it had "no interest" in weakening the US dollar. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, during his address at the Doha Forum in December last year, had said that India had never been for "de-dollarisation" and right now there was no proposal to have any BRICS currency.

"The US is our largest trade partner. We have no interest in weakening the dollar at all," he had said.

Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MoFA) spokesperson today said, "As an important platform for cooperation among emerging markets and developing countries, BRICS advocates openness, inclusiveness and win-win cooperation, not bloc confrontation, and does not target any third party. The aim is to realise common development and prosperity."

China stands ready to continue working with BRICS partners to deepen practical cooperation in various fields and make more contributions to the steady growth of the world economy, it added.

On January 20 this year, US President Trump had asserted his intention to impose 100 per cent import tariffs on the BRICS (Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa) countries if they took any steps towards cutting the use of the dollar in global trade.

Trump had said BRICS nations would "have a 100 per cent tariff if they so much as even think" about reducing the use of the dollar in global trade.

BRICS is an inter-governmental organisation formed in 2011, with Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa as its members. On January 1, 2024, Egypt, Iran, the UAE, Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia too joined the group.
