Yudh Nashian Virudh: Villages in Patiala rural constituency moving towards becoming drug-free: Dr. Balbir Singh

RAKESH JINDAL NABHA, MAY 30

Punjab Health and Family Welfare Minister Dr. Balbir Singh said that under the leadership of Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann, all cabinet ministers and Aam Aadmi Party MLAs are actively visiting villages and wards across the state, mobilizing citizens and strengthening the Yudh Nashian Virudh campaign. The collective pledge is firm — the fight will continue relentlessly until Punjab is completely free from the scourge of drugs.

As part of this ongoing campaign, Dr. Balbir Singh visited the villages of Ajnauda Khurd, Ajnauda Kalan, Kansooh Kalan, Pedhni, Pedhan, and Khurd in the Patiala rural constituency, where he urged residents to unite in this critical mission.

He noted that several villages in the region are already making significant progress toward becoming drug-free. Citing Sidhuval and Bakhshiwala as examples, he shared that only a handful of individuals in these villages remain affected, and they are being motivated and supported on their path to recovery. The active and nonpartisan participation of villagers in the Nasha Mukti Yatra stands as a powerful indication of the public's growing determination to eliminate drugs at the grassroots level. Dr. Balbir Singh emphasized that drug addiction ruins families not only by weakening them financially but also by contributing to illness and criminal behavior. He appealed to parents to be vigilant in protecting their children from substance abuse, urging them to monitor everything from candies and snacks to their children's company. He stressed that when an entire village remains alert, drugs cannot gain a foothold, and future generations remain protected. The Health Minister also informed that the Punjab government has formed Village Defense Committees and Ward Defense Committees to monitor drugrelated activities. These committees are not only reporting drug peddlers to the police but are also guiding addicts toward treatment and rehabilitation. He added that individuals recovering from addiction are being provided with skill training to help them become self-reliant and contribute meaningfully to their families and communities. Dr. Balbir Singh called on all villagers to stand united in this collective fight against drugs, asserting that only through community solidarity can this deep-rooted problem be eradicated. He also appealed for full cooperation with the Village Defense Committees to ensure the success of the movement. Present on the occasion were Drug-Free Front Patiala Rural Coordinator Yadvinder Goldy, Harpal Singh Virk, Jai Shankar, officials from various departments, members of the defense committees, panchs, sarpanches, and a large gathering of local residents.

HC notice to Himachal deputy chief whip on plea challenging post

SHIMLA, MAY 30

The Himachal Pradesh High Court has issued a notice to Kewal Singh Pathania, currently holding the post of Deputy Chief Whip, in response to a petition challenging constitutional validity of the position itself.

The division bench comprising justices Tarlok Singh Chauhan and Sushil Kukreja passed the order accepting application filed by the petitioner. The writ petition, filed in 2019 by advocate Maniktala, Rajneesh contends that the posts of Chief Whip and Deputy Chief Whip were created to accommodate political functionaries and violation of constitutional principles. Senior advocate Rajneesh Maniktala, appearing for the petitioner, argued that the legislation brought in by the state to create these posts is ultra vires to the Constitution and places an additional burden on the exchequer.

The petition states that when the law was enacted in 2018, the state was already 41,000 crore, which has now ballooned to over Rs. 90,000 crore. "Irrespective of which party is in power, such positions are created to maintain political equilibrium and provide perks to loyalists at the taxpayers' expense," the petition claims.

The Jai Ram Thakur-led BJP government had introduced legislation in the Assembly in 2018 to create the posts of Chief Whip and Deputy Chief Whip, with provisions for cabinet-rank privileges. The appointments made under this legislation were challenged in the High Court soon after by Advocate Maniktala.

After the Congress government came to power under Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu, the appointed to the Deputy Chief Whip post. His appointment, which remains in force, is now under judicial scrutiny. Notably, in a related development last year, the Himachal Pradesh High Court declared the appointment of six Chief Parliamentary Secretaries unconstitutional — a ruling that has also been challenged and is pending further adjudication. The current notice to Kewal Singh Pathania revives the legal debate over whether political appointments such as the Chief Whip and Deputy Chief Whip - enjoying the status and benefits of cabinet ministers — are consistent with constitutional norms or merely a tool to reward political loyalty.

High Court halts AGT collection, relief for Himachali industries ANWAR HUSSAIN

BADDI: In a major relief to the industrial sector, the Himachal Pradesh High Court has ordered a temporary halt on the collection of Additional Goods Tax (AGT) by the state government. The decision came during the hearing of a petition filed by textile mills and other industrial units challenging the levy. A division bench comprising Justice Tarlok Singh Chauhan and Justice Sushil Kukreja directed that until the next hearing, no AGT shall be collected under Sections 3B and 4A of the Himachal Pradesh Passengers and Goods Taxation Act, 1955. The court's order comes at a time when the state is already grappling with financial challenges and has been generating significant annual revenue through AGT. The industry, however, has hailed the court's decision as a long-awaited relief. AGT, levied on the road transportation of goods within the state, imposes a charge for every 250 kilometers of movement. Industries dealing in yarn, plastic, steel, rebar, and cement have been among the hardest hit. With this directive, these sectors now find temporary relief from the additional financial burden. Industry associations argue that the AGT violates the spirit of the Goods and Services Tax (GST), which is based on the principle of "one nation, one tax." The Baddi-Barotiwala-Nalagarh Industries Association welcomed the court's intervention and called it a positive step. The association further stated that similar efforts would be made to challenge the CGCR (Composite Goods Carriage Rate) as well, adding that both levies harm the competitiveness of local industries.

In a meeting of ENCORDE (Empowered Narcotics Coordination and Rehabilitation District Committee) held at the district secretariat under the chairmanship of Deputy Commissioner Uttam Singh, it was revealed that significant progress has been made in the fight against drug abuse and trafficking in the district.

District Attorney Dr. Pankaj Saini informed the committee that out of nine NDPS (Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act) cases resolved in April, convictions were secured in eight, while one accused was acquitted. Additionally, four new NDPS cases were registered during the month.

Representatives from the Health Department reported that the district currently has eight de-addiction centers in operation—one government-run, seven private, and one provisional private DDC (Drug De-addiction Centre). In May, seven of these centers were inspected. The district has identified ten villages as highrisk zones for substance abuse.

De-addiction centers recorded 361 OPD (outpatient) patients and 33 IPD (inpatient) admissions this month. Notably, 39 patients have successfully quit drugs, while 6,527 individuals remain under treatment. To raise awareness, twelve outreach camps were conducted, where 50 addicts were identified; of these, 43 are currently undergoing treatment.

The District Social Welfare Department announced plans to organize workshops in higher education and technical institutions to further sensitize youth about the dangers of drug use. On this, Deputy Commissioner Uttam Singh directed that before conducting any workshops, it must be clearly decided who the subject experts or speakers will be and which age group of stu-

Things to know about knee replacement surgery

(UMAR SHARMA

JHAJJAR: Knee pain is becoming increasingly common, especially among people over 45, due to sedentary lifestyles, obesity, and age-relat ed wear and tear. As joint damage progresses and treatments like medi-cation or physiotherapy may no longer offer relief, knee replacement sur-gery often emerges as a highly effective solution to restore movement and relieve chronic pain

"Knee replacement surgery, also known as knee arthroplasty, is a common and highly successful procedure that helps relieve pain and restore mobility in people with severe knee joint damage, usually caused by arthritis or injury. With the right information, preparation, and aftercare, it can re-store freedom of movement and improve quality of life," says Dr. Rajeev Verma, Chairman of the Manipal Institute of Bone & Joints at Manipal Hospitals, Dwarka,

A rtificial Intelligence is coming for us. But long before it comes for us, AI is coming for its own progenitor, the internet. Its ability to churn out poetry, allegedly indistinguishable from Shakespeare's, or its newfound trick of mimicking Hayao Miyazaki's art, do not justify the paranoia about how AI will affect humanity. However, wariness about AI's incursions into the world of humans often leads us to overlook how fundamentally it is changing all that is beautiful about the internet

It has been one year since Google announced its plan to move away from PageRank toward AI summaries last May. In the 1990s, Sergey Brin and Larry Page, the co-founders of Google, had come up with an extraordinary idea: the PageRank algorithm. What it did, in essence, was determine the importance of web pages based on the number and quality of links pointing to them. PageRank was based on the principle outlined by the sociologist, John R. Seeley, who wrote in 1949 that "a person is prestigious if he is endorsed by prestigious people." The web, Brin and Page showed, is not just a barren lexical environment full of reams of data but a social milieu where affiliations in the form of hyperlinks corresponded to prestige and reliability. But this is not all that a hyperlinked web does. It also presents a map to a wonderfully interconnected world that documents how people's thoughts naturally move from one idea to another. Thus, hyperlinks illuminate the pathways of thought that lead people to think in certain ways as well as link their thoughts with those of others.

This harks back to an older concept that all ideas are linked to others. It is based on a philosophical theory that originated way before even the lighting of the first bulb in 1879, let alone the invention of the internet. In the 17th century, Thomas Hobbes and John Locke debated the extent to which a person controls the succession of ideas appearing in his/her mind. They posited that trains of thought were the outcome of interactions between the data received from the senses and one's mental faculties — reason and imagination. David Hume went a step further and argued that all successive ideas are linked by association, outlining three kinds of connections: resemblance, contiguity, and cause and effect

Now think of how a user researching a topic navigates the web. An initial query yields a list of results and the researcher opens several of the links in new tabs. He/she skims through the pages, clicking on embedded links that point to aspects of the topic to be explored in greater detail.

US federal appeals court on Thursday (local time) has paused Court of International Trade rulling which paused US President Donald Trump's large-scale imposition of sweeping tariffs, as reported by CNN.In its decision, the the US federal appeals court restored President Donald Trump's ability to levy tarrifs in emegency situations which he declared earlier this year.

The court also orded both sides to provide written arguments on the question of blocking President Trump's tarrifs, which are supposed to be submitted in the early half of next month, CNN further reported. Earlier, A US federal court ruled against US President Donald Trump's large-scale imposition of sweeping tariffs, deeming that this move exceeds his legal authority and that it would affect a wide range of imported goods, as reported by CNN.The decision, handed down by the US Court of International Trade in Manhattan, determined that the tariffs - including those introduced under emergency economic powers -- were unlawful; however, the Trump administration has already filed an appeal, leaving the future of the tariffs uncertain, CNN reported.

The White House on Thursday (local time) expressed its stern disagreement with the US federal court for blocking the Trump administration's move to impose sweeping tariffs on other countries. White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt, lambasting the US court's ruling, said that the judges have failed to "acknowledge" the President's authority and that the court should have no role in interfering in this decision."These judges failed to acknowledge that the president of the United States has core foreign affairs powers and authority given to him by Congress to protect the United States' economy and national security. The courts should have no role here," Leavitt said at the press briefing."There is a troubling and dangerous trend of unelected judges inserting themselves into the presidential decision-making process. America cannot function if President Trump or any other president for that matter has their sensitive diplomatic or trade negotiations railroaded by activist judges. President Trump is in the process of rebalancing America's trading agreements with the entire world bringing tens of billions of dollars in he weakness in the US dollar has created real room for the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to lower interest rates further by up to 75 basis points (bps) by the end of calendar year 2025. according to a report by global financial services firm Jefferies. The report highare visible in other emerging markets as well. Alongside India, Bank Indonesia also has room to ease rates further, thanks to the softening of the US dollar. It stated, "US dollar weakness has created real room to cut rates for both Bank Indonesia and the Reserve Bank of India". For India, the disinflationary trend has become increasingly visible. Consumer price inflation averaged 4.6 per cent in the last financial year and dropped to just 3.2

per cent in April this year, the lowest since July. This fall in inflation has increased expectations of further monetary easing by the central bank. Jefferies says that since Sanjay Malhotra took charge as the new RBI Governor in December, replacing Shaktikanta Das, the central bank has already cut the reporate by 50 basis points. Malhotra's approach is seen as more dovish, with the market interpreting the inflation trend as positive for equities due to the greater potential for rate cuts under his leadership.It said "The same disinflationary trend is increasingly evident in India, though for now it is interpreted as bullish for equities in terms of the potential for RBI rate cuts under the more dovish RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra".In its latest Annual Report, RBI projected average inflation of around 4 per cent for the ongoing financial year, which ends in March 2026 (FY26).

Pulmonologists at Fortis Ludhiana Raise Awareness Over Increasing E-Cigarette Usage Among Youngsters

LUDHIANA: As the world marks World No Tobacco Day on May 31st, doctors at Fortis Hospital Ludhiana are raising concern over the increasing use of e-cigarettes and vaping devices, especially among teenagers and young adults. Experts warn that these products, often advertised as "safer" alternatives to cigarettes, are in fact harmful and highly addictive. The government banned e-cigarettes in 2019 under the Prohibition of Electronic Cigarettes Act. However, these products are still easily available online and in informal markets, making it difficult to keep them out of the hands of youth. Dr. Sushil Gupta, Additional Director - Pulmonology & Critical Care at Fortis Ludhiana, shared his concern: "We are seeing more and more young patients coming in with breathing issues, coughing, and early signs of lung damage - many of them are regular users of e-cigarettes. These devices contain harmful chemicals like formaldehyde and acrolein, and most of them have high levels of nicotine, which can lead to strong addiction. The sleek design and fruity flavors are misleading - these are not safe. Dr. Randeep Singh, Associate Consultant – Pulmonology & Critical Care at Fortis Ludhiana, added: "There is a common myth that vaping helps people guit smoking, but in many cases, people end up using both cigarettes and e-cigarettes. This doubles the harm to their lungs and heart. The best solution is to quit all forms of tobacco and nicotine. Medical support, proper awareness, and counseling can really help individua overcome this addiction." The team at Fortis Ludhiana is urging parents, teachers, and community members to be aware of this growing issue and start open conversations with teenagers about the dangers of vaping. The hospital is also emphasizing the need for health education programs and support systems that can guide young people away
