India's active Covid-19 cases cross 4k mark, 5 deaths in last 24 hours

UNI
NEW DELHI, JUNE 3

India's active Covid-19 cases on Tuesday crossed 4,000 mark with five deaths reported in the last 24 hours, according to data shared by the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

Six States--Kerala, Maharashtra, Gujarat, Delhi, West Bengal and Karnataka accounted for over 72% of the total 4,026 active covid infections, an increase of 512 from yesterday, said the Ministry.

Kerala topped the list with 1,416 active infections, followed by Maharashtra (494), Gujarat (397), Delhi (393), West Bengal (372), and Karnataka (311). Delhi reported four deaths and Maharashtra two, while Kerala, Tamil Nadu, and West Bengal reported one death each. On Monday, four deaths were reported from across the country, as per the government data.

Health officials said that most of the fatalities reflected complications from co-morbidities such as hypertension, diabetes, and cardiac conditions. Senior citizens were among the deceased. An 80-year-old male from Kerala with severe pneumonia and a 73-year-old woman in Maharashtra with diabetes and hypertension were among those who died due to Covid. The majority of infections are mild and being treated at home, said officials from the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) and the Health Ministry. They have assured the public there's no need for panic but urged continued vigilance. "We are closely tracking developments. At this stage, there is no reason for concern, but monitoring and caution are essential," Dr Rajiv Behl, Director General of ICMR had said recently. As per the Ministry, the current spike is linked to newer Omicron sub-variants—LF.7, XFG, JN.1, and NB.1.8.1—detected in parts of western and southern India through genome sequencing. The World Health Organisation (WHO) has classified these variants as "Variants Under Monitoring," suggesting they do not pose a significant global threat at this time.

Punjab waives off loans worth Rs. 67.84 crore benefiting around 4,800 families

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JUNE 3:

In a major reprieve to the Scheduled Caste (SC) community in the state, the Punjab Cabinet, led by Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann, on Tuesday approved a loan waiver worth 67.84 crore, benefiting around 4,800 families.

A decision to this effect was taken during a meeting of the Council of Ministers held under the chairmanship of the Chief Minister at his official residence.

Disclosing this here today, a spokesperson of the Chief Minister's Office stated that the Cabinet granted ex-post facto approval for the Waiver of Loans Disbursed up to March 31, 2020, for loanees of the Punjab Scheduled Castes Land Development & Finance Corporation (PSCFC). The waiver covers all loans disbursed by the PSCFC up to the mentioned date, offering significant relief to SC and Divyangjan (persons with disabilities) loanees. This move will benefit a total of 4,727 loanees for an aggregate amount of 67.84 crore.

All 4,727 cases (including 4,685 defaulting loanees and 42 regular loanees) will be covered under this loan waiver scheme. "No Due Certificates" (NDCs) will be issued by the District Managers of PSCFC. The full amount of 67.84 crore comprising principal, interest, and penal interest calculated as of April 30, 2025—will be reimbursed to the PSCFC by the state government. The cut-off date for calculating the final interest amount will be the date on which the government issues the notification to implement the scheme.

Consequently, the total waiver amount may increase, and any such increase will also be reimbursed by the government. Importantly, loanees who have previously availed benefits under earlier waiver schemes are also eligible for coverage under this initiative.

No recovery proceedings will be initiated against loanees under PSCFC loan regulations post-waiver.

Professional militaries not affected by losses : CDS Gen Chauhan

AGENCY
NEW DELHI, JUNE 3

Professional militaries are not affected by temporary losses as overall outcomes are more important than such setbacks, Chief of Defence Staff General Anil Chauhan said Tuesday afternoon in a special lecture on 'Future Wars and Warfare' organised by the Savitribai Phule University in Pune.

Asked about the armed forces' losses during Operation Sindoor - India's military response to the Pahalgam terror attack - the General referenced the loss of wickets in a cricket match, saying that if a team were to "win by any means, then there's no question about how many wickets..."

"When I was asked about losses on our side... I said these are not important. The results are important. It would not be very correct to talk about losses. Suppose you go to a cricket match and you win, by any means, then there's no question about how many wickets, balls, players..."

"We can take out this data and share it... we can tell you how many aircraft were destroyed, how many radars were hit..." he trailed off, seeming to emphasise prioritising outcome over losses.

The General's reference to losses during Operation Sindoor follows remarks last week at an event in Singapore, in which he confirmed, for the first time, India had suffered some setbacks.

This was after rumours persisted that Pakistan air defences had shot down multiple Indian fighter jets, including some of the newly purchased, French-made Rafale aircraft. India had earlier dismissed any talk of Rafales, or any other fighter jet, being shot down.

However, at the Singapore event General Chauhan told Bloomberg TV, "What is important is not the jet being (shot) down... but why they were downed." He did not, though, specify the number of jets lost.

The General only dismissed Islamabad's claim that it had destroyed six. "Why they were (shot) down... what mistakes were made - those are important," General Chauhan said when asked about the fighter jets. "Numbers are not important." India's top military official also told his Pune audience the focus of Operation Sindoor, its designated outcome, was to stop the Pak deep state from launching further terror attacks against India. The Pahalgam attack, the General said, was an act of "profound cruelty... which is unacceptable in this modern world" and had led to "a kind of hatred (in India for Pak) ...a huge revulsion".

AMRISH ANAND
DORAHA, JUNE 3

Today, Shri Rajinder Pal Anand, former DSP, Advocate, State President of Punjab Police Family Welfare Association Punjab, and Senior Vice President of Khatri Mahasabha Punjab, issued a statement saying that the demand made by Haryana Congress MP Deepender Hooda to rename Panjab University to Chandigarh University is baseless. He stated that this demand is an attack on the heritage and identity of Punjab and Punjabis. Shri Rajinder Pal Anand emphasized that Panjab University is a cultural and historical heritage of Punjab and Punjabis, and it is situated in Chandigarh—a city established by displacing villages from Punjab. He accused political leaders from Haryana of raising such issues only to divert public attention from real concerns. He described the demand to change the university's name as baseless and politically motivated, aiming not to resolve people's concerns but to create unnecessary controversy. He urged people to avoid such unsubstantiated issues in the interest of maintaining peace.
, harmony, and brotherhood.

National convention of Bharatiya Arya Bhajanopdeshk Parishad held

HANS RAJ
KURUKSHETRA, JUNE 3

Youth is backbone of any country, youth play an important role in giving a new direction to society and taking nation on path of progress, that is why youth are called backbone of the nation. These words were said by Gujarat Governor Acharya Shri Devvrat ji while addressing three-day 'National Convention' of Bharatiya Arya Bhajanopdeshk Parishad organized at Gurukul Kurukshetra today. He said that thinking of founder of Arya Samaj, Maharshi Dayanand is based on pure scientific thinking, he made people aware against many evils of society like casteism, oppression of women, untouchability and talked about women education, equal rights.Discussing contribution of Bhajanopedeshkas of Arya Samaj in eradicating evils from the society and bringing new awakening, he said that our elderly Bhajanopedeshkas propagated Vedas on a wide scale despite having very few resources and facilities. There was a time when one or the other member from almost every family in India was associated with Arya Samaj, this influence was due to our preachers because preachers like Swami Nityananda ji were such that once they went to a village for preaching, they would move forward only after making the entire village Arya Samaji. Expressing concern, he said that today situation is completely different, there are many Arya Samaj in country but our young generation is not able to connect with Arya Samaj and they also lack sanskars. In such a situation, it is moral responsibility of all of us to introduce the youth to Vedic culture and ancient Indian sanskars. He urged all members of council to accelerate propagation of Vedas as well as to promote natural farming in the country. Governor also formally inaugurated Arya Veerangna Dal camp going on in Gurukul by hoisting the flag. More than 800 girls from various districts and villages of Haryana came to this camp, who will be given training in Vedic culture and sanskars including yogasana, pranayam, dumbbell, legion, exercise, Surya Namaskar, Bhumi Namaskar, stupa construction, lathi wielding for 5 days in Gurukul. All girls who reach camp will be introduced to philosophy of Arya Samaj and Rishi Dayanand by organizing daily Havan and Sandhya so that they can create awareness in people against evils like hypocrisy, superstition and female foeticide prevalent in the society.

Men over machines

On examining the developments of the Russia-Ukraine war, it can be said it is advantage Russia. Ukraine's chances of resurgence have been diminishing and reached a dead end with Donald Trump stating, during his Oval Office spat with Volodymyr Zelensky, that he (Zelensky) held no cards. Speaking at the NATO headquarters in Brussels in February, the US defence secretary, Pete Hegseth, said that a return to Ukraine's pre-2014 borders was unrealistic and that the Trump administration does not see NATO membership for Kyiv as part of a solution to the war. Ukraine's ability to defend itself against Russian offensive action is, consequently, receding as US support of various kinds decreases. However, it is important to draw military lessons from the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

In February 2022, Ukraine started very well by thwarting Vladimir Putin's attempts at a swift end to the 'special military operations'. Ukraine averted a major cyber collapse by switching its crucial data to cloud with Microsoft providing cloud services to Kyiv. 'Anonymous', a decentralised international collective, conducted numerous cyber-operations against Russia. SpaceX provided Ukraine with Starlink communication terminals. This strengthened Ukraine's ability to defend its military and civilian communications infrastructure. Several private entities, in addition to Starlink and Microsoft, such as Cloudflare, Palantir, amongst others, came to Ukraine's aid in the domains of cyber warfare, Artificial Intelligence and drone technology.

Current conflicts have seen a revolution in terms of 'drone wars'. Ukraine seemingly did a better job of maximising output by its drone sector by creating parallel, national-level structures dedicated to shepherding innovation into testing and production. This allowed Ukraine to innovate and scale the deployment of new designs faster than Russia.

In spite of these advantages, as of now, the war is going in Russia's favour. Several factors can be attributed to this. First, due to the prolonged duration of the war, Ukraine's advantages in the realms of critical technology, especially drones, turned out to be temporary; countermeasures were rapidly developed by Moscow.

Second, this war has been all about controlling territory. A structurally sound military — Russia possesses one — is an imperative to win such a war of attrition.

Third, wars over control of territory require military strategies aligned to intended aims. A strategy that hinges merely on critical technologies like AI, cyber warfare and drones but lacks boots on the ground to exploit the advantage provided by these technologies is unlikely to prove efficient enough. The deeper defence-industrial base of Russia has ensured its advantage.

Holy relics of Lord Buddha return to India

The Holy Relics of Lord Buddha have returned to India after a month-long exposition tour across Vietnam. Originally scheduled to conclude on May 21, the exposition was extended until June 2 upon a special request by the Government of Vietnam, owing to the spiritually charged atmosphere and growing public reverence.During the extended tour, the sacred relics visited nine cities, drawing over 15 million devotees seeking the blessings of the Buddha, the Ministry of Culture said.

The exposition was organised under the guidance of the Government of India and the International Buddhist Confederation (IBC), continuing a tradition of similar global outreach initiatives. Highlighting the significance of this initiative, Secretary General of the IBC, Shartse Khensur Jangchup Choeden Rinpoche, said, "This entire programme was held under the guidance of the government of India and by the International Buddhist Confederation. We did this earlier as well; we went to Mongolia and Thailand, where Buddha relics were sent.

In Vietnam, it has been around a month, people prayed and did darshan of holy Buddha relics..."Building on this spiritual momentum, Dr Hari Babu Kambhampati, Governor of Odisha and leader of the Government of India delegation escorting the relics, explained that the overwhelmingly positive response from people across different provinces in Vietnam prompted an official request for an extension. "Different places, different provinces in Vietnam - the response from the people - they encouraged that this program should be continued to June 2.

The Prime Minister of Vietnam requested Prime Minister Narendra Modi to extend the program, and our Prime Minister has agreed. This was extended up to June 2..."The extension was subsequently approved by the Indian government following the Vietnamese Prime Minister's formal request to Prime Minister Modi.

The sacred relics began their journey in Vietnam on May 3, starting from Ho Chi Minh City, and visited multiple sacred sites across the country. One of the most deeply spiritual and widely attended stops was at Yen Tu Pagoda in Quang Ninh Province, where thousands of devotees gathered to pray and chant. Yen Tu Pagoda holds significant religious and cultural importance in Vietnam, being the birthplace of the Truc Lam Zen sect founded over 700 years ago by King Tran Nhan Tong. The arrival of the relics at this revered site attracted millions, reinforcing the shared spiritual heritage between India and Vietnam.

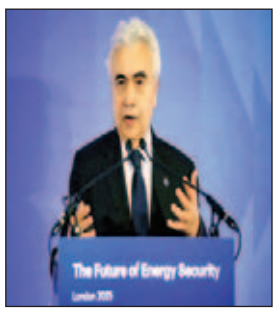

This month-long tour has not only revitalized ancient cultural and spiritual ties dating back nearly 2,000 years but also strengthened bilateral relations under India's Act East Policy. The relics have drawn millions of devotees across Vietnam, with over 15 million people paying their respects throughout the journey. The exposition concluded in the city of Danang, known for its Buddhist institutions and monasteries, where a large number of people gathered to offer their obeisance to the holy relics.This sacred journey symbolizes the enduring values of peace, harmony, and mutual respect, reflecting a profound cultural connection between India and Vietnam.

Electric cars key to India's energy independence

India should prioritize electric vehicle (EV) adoption to reduce its dependence on oil imports and strengthen energy security, International Energy Agency (IEA) Executive Director Fatih Birol said on Monday after a meeting with Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal. "India should look at the electrification of mobility very closely because currently we have low oil prices, but the country is definitely at the mercy of some key oil producers," Birol warned.

"If India wants to have the upper hand in terms of domestic energy trajectories, electric cars are one of the key solutions." The IEA chief highlighted the rapid global shift toward electric vehicles, noting that electric car sales have surged from just 3 per cent of total car sales four years ago to 25% this year. "One out of four cars sold today is electric," he said. "This is mainly because electric cars are getting cheaper, slowly but surely." In many countries, electric and conventional vehicles now carry similar price tags, while operating costs favour EVs. "In most countries around the world, driving one kilometre costs less with electricity than with oil, unless oil prices fall below $50," Birol explained. He predicted that electric vehicles will eventually dominate global transportation. "The world is going to see that sooner or later, electric cars will be dominating the streets."Birol praised India as "one of the drivers of the global clean energy transition," particularly highlighting the country's solar energy achievements.

"India has achieved a huge success story, especially on the solar front, and this is good for India's economy and its energy security," he noted. The IEA executive director also commended India's LED bulb program, calling Minister Goyal its architect and describing it as "one of the most successful programs in the history of energy transition."

Trump, Xi "likely" to hold talks this week

US President Donald Trump and his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping are "likely" to hold talks this week, White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt said on Monday (local time), ABC News reported.While speaking to reporters, Leavitt said that the readout of the call would be provided if the two leaders hold talks. Earlier on Sunday, the White House National Economic Council Director, Kevin Hassett, had said that there was an expectation for Trump and Xi to hold talks this week. Responding to the reporter's query, Leavitt said, "I can confirm that the two leaders will likely talk this week." "And as always, when foreign leaders call, we will provide a readout of those calls," she added, as per ABC News report. Hassett made the remarks during an appearance on ABC News' "This Week" on Sunday. However, he did not mention the specific date when the two leaders would hold talks. The development comes after Trump accused China of breaching a deal negotiated between officials of the two nations in Geneva last month to roll back high tariffs for 90 days. However, China rejected Trump's allegations on Monday and accused the US of provoking "new economic and trade frictions." On May 30, Trump accused China of violating a recent trade agreement with the US. However, he did not mention China's action that violated its agreement with China.

Is the Third World War on the horizon?

It seems that war and terrorism have become the tragic destiny of modern civilization—forcing millions of innocent people to embrace death prematurely, leaving many more permanently disabled, and destroying billions worth of resources and property. We all know how devastating war and terrorism can be. Yet, fueled by arrogance, some nations continue to pursue global dominance by forcefully occupying territories, seizing natural resources, and spreading ideological corruption.

This dangerous ambition has pushed the world to a precipice, where every sensitive and conscious individual now fears—are we hearing the footsteps of a Third World War?Leading this dangerous charge are the so-called global powers—China, the United States, Russia, and Terroristan Pakistan. Pakistan, egged on and enabled by China, remains persistently hostile to India and continues to sponsor terrorism across the border.

As for the other three, their overwhelming power, combined with a dangerous absence of wisdom, often forces smaller nations into submission. The world gets divided into factions, morality takes a back seat, and self-interest reigns supreme.?A New Dimension of WarI'll analyze the root causes of the Russia–Ukraine war another time, but the Spiderweb drone attack carried out by Ukraine on Sunday marks a chilling turning point.

The attack—clandestine, lethal, and executed deep within Russian territory—has thrown any notion of peace talks into cold storage. The so-called peace dialogue between Russia and Ukraine held yesterday ended without result. No surprise there: Ukraine, with NATO's covert support, launched a sophisticated drone strike that destroyed 41 of Russia's fighter jets, wiped out four nuclear airfields, and shocked the entire world.Ukraine alone lacked both the capability and the willpower for such a bold move.

They've admitted this operation was in secret planning for over 18 months. This glaring lapse by Russian intelligence—allowing hundreds of drones to be brought near sensitive airbases undetected—is staggering. Despite three years of continuous war and Russia's overwhelming military preparedness, such an attack was clearly outside Moscow's expectations.

This incident has added a new layer to modern warfare. And the world—especially India—must be extremely vigilant. In the wake of Operation Sindoor, a wounded Pakistan and an irate China may be itching to retaliate, possibly with Bangladesh also aligning with them due to current political leanings.Some have likened this attack on Russia to Pearl Harbor—the precursor to the U.S. nuclear retaliation on Hiroshima and Nagasaki during World War II.?A Dangerous Road AheadLet us hope nothing of that scale ever happens again.

But Russia, under Putin, is unlikely to project itself as weak or helpless on the global stage.

It has several options on the table—including nuclear retaliation. And this time, Putin may not limit his response to Ukraine alone; he may also target its backers—France, Germany, the U.K., NATO nations, and especially the U.S., which despite its heavy influence, has remained suspiciously quiet. Even Donald Trump, never shy of inserting himself into any global debate, has remained silent 72 hours after the attack.Meanwhile, China accuses the U.S. of orchestrating every global conflict, and if this war escalates into a full-blown World War, there's a high chance China will side with Russia.If that happens, the destruction will be unfathomable. Nuclear fallout won't be contained to the sites of explosion. It will affect entire regions, poisoning air, water, and soil across borders.?The UN Has Failed—It's Time for India to LeadThe United Nations has become a symbolic institution with little real influence. It's time for peace-loving global powers—especially India—to step in as mediators, initiate urgent peace talks, and work to stop this potential catastrophe. If we fail to act now, a vast portion of humanity may not survive what comes next.At the end of the day, every conflict, no matter how deep or complex, can be resolved through dialogue. But the clock is ticking—and the cost of inaction could be apocalyptic.

AGENCY
DEHRADUN, JUNE 3

Earlier in the day, Dhami praised Gadkari and said there was no better teacher than him. Addressing the convocation ceremony of the Graphic Era Deemed University in Dehradun, Dhami stated that under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the state had been working towards becoming a leader in education.

"If you want to learn the art of project management, then there can be no better teacher than Gadkari ji... His speciality is completing very important projects at a low cost. You have won the hearts

The 12.4-kilometre project will be developed at a total capital cost of Rs 2,730.13 crore. Currently, the journey to the Hemkund Sahib Ji is a challenging 21-km uphill trek from Govindghat, which can be done on foot, with ponies or palanquins.

The proposed ropeway is planned to provide convenience to pilgrims visiting the Hemkund Sahib Ji and tourists visiting the Valley of Flowers. It will also ensure all-weather last-mile connectivity between Govindghat and Hemkund Sahib Ji. The ropeway is planned to be developed in a public-private partnership and will be based on a Monocable Detachable Gondola (MDG) from Govindghat to Ghangaria (10.55 km), seamlessly integrated with the most advanced Tricable Detachable Gondola (3S) technology from Ghangaria to Hemkund Sahib Ji (1.85 km). Its design capacity is 1,100 passengers per hour per direction (PPHPD), carrying 11,000 passengers per day. The ropeway project will also generate substantial employment opportunities during construction and operations, as well as in allied tourism industries like hospitality, travel, food & beverage (F&B) and tourism throughout the year.

MakeMyTrip Launches Innovative 'Seat Availability Forecast' Feature to Aid Train Travellers

Chandigarh : Reserved train tickets in India open for booking 60 days ahead of departure. However, most travellers only finalise their plans much closer to the date. MakeMyTrip's data shows that nearly 40% of users book train tickets across multiple sessions, often over several days. Among these users, close to 70% end up booking waitlisted tickets, simply because confirmed seats are no longer available by the time their plans firm up. With demand patterns varying significantly from week to week, the window for confirmed bookings keeps shifting. In April, most high-speed trains were sold out around 13 days before the departure date. By May, due to rising demand, they were typically booked out more than 20 days before departure. For travellers, this means that even when they know which train they want, they often don't have a reliable sense of how long seats will remain available, making timely planning harder.
To help rail travellers plan better, MakeMyTrip has launched Seat Availability Forecast, a new feature that provides a predictive view of when seats on a selected train are likely to sell out. Built using advanced models that combine years of historical booking data with real-time demand signals, the feature enables travellers to plan and book with greater clarity. It is now live on both the MakeMyTrip app and website, embedded within the train booking flow.
"We are focussed on our mission to anticipate and address the nuanced needs of Indian rail passengers. Seat Availability Forecast is a result of that effort, rooted in data science, built to be seamless, and designed to solve a real planning challenge for millions of users. It is a strong addition to our rail stack which helps make train travel more predictable and less stressful across the board." said Rajesh Magow, Co-founder and Group CEO, MakeMyTrip.

Mom and I had been planning this surprise for so long and keeping it, a secret wasn't easy! Every time I rehearsed at home, he'd walk by looking confused, wondering what I was up to. Seeing his reaction tonight made it all worth it. I'm just so grateful I could pull it off, and sharing the stage with him will always be one of the most special moments of my life. I want to thank Zee Cine Awards for giving me the chance to honour my dad in this way."

Actors share their eco-friendly habits this World Environment Day!

CHANDIGARH: World Environment Day serves as a powerful reminder for all of us to pause, reflect, and adopt habits that contribute to a healthier planet. While the entertainment industry is often seen as glamorous, many actors are quietly championing sustainability behind the scenes. From choosing reusable alternatives to nurturing green corners on set, &TV artists are making conscious efforts to reduce their environmental impact. These include Himani Shivpuri (Katori Amma from Happu Ki Ultan Paltan) and Shubhangi Atre (Angoori Bhabi from Bhabiji Ghar Par Hai). Himani Shivpuri, fondly known as Katori Amma, shares, For me, caring for the environment is not limited to my home. It is something I carry with me wherever I go, including the sets I work on. I am always mindful about switching off lights and fans when they are not in use, whether I am on set, in my vanity van, or in public places. It is a small habit, but if more people adopted it consciously, we could collectively make a meaningful impact on energy conservation. I also make it a point to always carry a cloth or jute bag with me. As many of you know, I am a passionate animal lover. On set, I feed stray dogs and leave water and grains out for birds. I have even upcycled an old tray into a water and food bowl, which I place just outside my room so the birds can stay hydrated, especially during the hotter months. I feed the stray dogs near our studio using reusable steel plates instead of disposable ones. Growing up in Uttarakhand, surrounded by nature, has given me a deep respect and love for the environment. I believe that upbringing has made me more conscious and connected to these causes. It is also heartening to see that many of my co-stars are equally mindful. Whenever I see someone doing something eco-friendly, I feel inspired to incorporate that idea into my lifestyle. I truly believe we should all encourage and adopt such habits. Every small action counts, and together, we can make a significant difference."

Shubhangi Atre, who plays Angoori Bhabi, adds, "We spend a significant amount of time on set, and I have made it a point to carry my eco-friendly lifestyle into that space as well. I always bring my steel cutlery and a reusable water bottle to avoid using single-use plastic. I also encouraged the team to place a recycling bin outside my makeup room to ensure proper waste segregation, something I believe every set should adopt. I have created a small green corner in my room, with potted plants that not only brighten up the space but also help purify the air. I love decorating my makeup room with upcycled and recycled handicrafts. They add character and warmth and remind me daily of the value of sustainable living. When it comes to fashion and beauty, I prefer restyling old sarees and dupattas instead of buying new ones, and I consciously choose makeup products that are organic, cruelty-free, and come in recyclable or refillable packaging. You do not have to make drastic changes to lead an eco-conscious lifestyle. Start by carrying a reusable water bottle, refusing plastic bags, or giving a second life to something old. These small, mindful habits go a long way. We may not change the world overnight, but together, our consistent efforts can make a lasting impact on the environment."

Pankaj Tripathi draws parallels between Madhav Mishra and himself, pondering on the similarities

CHANDIGARH: One murder, two accused and a three-way trial! Join Pankaj Tripathi as he dons the hat of Madhav Mishra once again as the endearing lawyer gears up for his toughest case yet in Criminal Justice - A Family Matter. Directed by Rohan Sippy, Produced by Applause Entertainment in association with BBC Studios India, season 4 of this beloved legacy show will stream on JioHotstar starting May 29. This season boasts an ensemble cast consisting of Mohammed Zeeshan Ayyub, Surveen Chawla, Asha Negi, Khushboo Atre, Barkha Singh, Aatm Prakash Mishra, alongside Mita Vashisht and Shweta Basu Prasad in pivotal roles.

For Pankaj Tripathi, acting has never been just about performance, it's about immersion. Over the years, he has portrayed a range of characters with quiet intensity and emotional honesty, but Madhav Mishra from Criminal Justice has been one that has truly stayed with him.

Reflecting on the same, Pankaj Tripathi said, "Madhav Mishra is a character that's very close to my heart because, in many ways, his journey mirrors my own. Both of us come from humble beginnings in Bihar, moved to Mumbai with big dreams, started with small roles or cases, and gradually carved out our space through hard work and perseverance. That parallel makes playing Madhav feel incredibly natural to me, it's like slipping into a part of my own story every time I step into his shoes." He also added, "Criminal Justice is a gripping legal drama that dives deep into courtroom dynamics and the human side of law. Legal dramas usually have little room for humour, but Madhav Mishra's personality brings in a subtle, situational kind of comedy.
