India would strike deep into Pakistan if provoked by terror attacks, warns Jaishankar

BRUSSELS: India would strike deep into Pakistan if provoked by terrorist attacks, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar has warned, asserting that there will be retribution against the terrorist outfits and their leaders in case of barbaric acts like the Pahalgam attack.

Jaishankar, who is travelling to Europe a month after India launched Operation Sindoor in response to the Pahalgam terror attack, also said that Pakistan was training "thousands" of terrorists "in the open" and "unleashing" them on India.

"We are not going to live with it. So our message to them is that if you continue to do the kind of barbaric acts which they did in April, then there is going to be retribution, and that retribution will be against the terrorist organisations and the terrorist leadership," he told Politico on Monday. "We don't care where they are. If they are deep in Pakistan, we will go deep into Pakistan," he added. Tensions between India and Pakistan escalated after the Pahalgam terror attack on April 22 which claimed 26 lives.

Present India is led by vision, not vote-bank politics : CM SainiBUREAU
CHANDIGARH, JUNE 10

Haryana Chief Minister, Sh. Nayab Singh Saini, while addressing a press conference on the completion of 11 impactful years of the Modi Government, praised Prime Minister, Sh. Narendra Modi's leadership for steering the nation from a time of indecision and inefficiency to an era of dynamic governance, national pride, and global recognition. He described the last 11 years as the most transformative phase of independent India, where each citizen has felt the presence of a decisive, sensitive, and effective government. Today's India is led by Vision, Not Vote-Bank Politics, said Sh. Nayab Singh Saini.

The Chief Minister said, while the previous Congress-led governments were often marked by hesitation, weak decision-making and misplaced priorities, Prime Minister Sh. Narendra Modi gave India a clear vision, a strong direction, and an unwavering commitment to public welfare and nation-first governance.

Before 2014, the country was engulfed in an atmosphere of gloom and distrust. Corruption, and ineffective leadership had blocked our progress. Those days were ruled by fear, nepotism, regionalism, and corruption, there was a complete lack of fair governance. But under the Prime Minister, Sh. Narendra Modi's leadership, India witnessed a decisive and transparent administration, said Sh. Nayab Singh Saini.

He said that guided by the principle of 'Minimum Government-Maximum Governance,' procedures were simplified and public participation was encouraged.

Sh. Nayab Singh Saini said that when Prime Minister, Sh. Narendra Modi assumed office in 2014, our economy ranked 11th worldwide. He highlighted how under Prime Minister's leadership India's economy rose from the 11th to the 4th largest global economy. He said that India's total exports reached $825 billion in 2024-25. Engineering exports grew from $73 billion in 2014-15 to $117 billion in 2024-25. Besides this, Defence exports have risen 34-fold since 2014, reaching Rs. 23,622 crore in 2024-25, compared to just Rs. 1,521 crore before 2016. In the past 10 fiscal years, India attracted around US $668 billion in FDI, up from US $323 billion during 2000-2014, said the Chief Minister.

Oz scientist delivers talk on postharvest management of horticultural commodities

LUDHIANA: A special lecture on "Postharvest Horticulture Safeguarding Global Food and Nutritional Security" was delivered by Dr Zora Singh, Foundation Professor of Horticultural Science, Edith Cowan University, Western Australia, a highly decorated international scientist and alumnus of Punjab Agricultural University (PAU). While addressing the faculty and students of the College of Horticulture and Forestry, Dr Singh emphasised the role of postharvest technology for feeding the rapidly growing global population while ensuring food and nutritional security with limited land and water resources. "Fruits, vegetables, and nut crops are integral to global nutritional security and play a vital role in addressing these challenges," he observed. Further, he estimated that over the next 20 to 30 years, food production must increase by 50 per cent to meet the rising demand of the expanding population. In addition, fresh horticultural produce is highly perishable, and global postharvest losses account for 30-44 per cent, exacerbating the problem. Reducing postharvest losses and mitigating the impacts of future horticultural challenges will be critical to improving food and nutritional security, added Oz scientist. Ethylene, a key factor in postharvest losses, accounts for 50 per cent of these losses by accelerating senescence, reducing storage life, and degrading quality, he pointed out. Elaborating, Dr Singh stated that effective management of both internal and external ethylene can significantly minimise postharvest losses. His research group has focused over two decades on developing technologies to reduce both production and postharvest losses in fresh horticultural produce. Dr Amrik Singh Sandhu, former Director of Extension Education, applauded the achievements of Oz scientist Dr Zora Singh, who is also his former student. He appreciated the practicality of his work and the easy and understandable delivery of lecture understandable to even graduate students.

Balvindra Singh resident of Amritsari Farm occupies land on court order

YAGYA DUTT SHASTRI PEHOWA, JUNE 10

When administration did not take any action even after court verdict came in his favour three times, Balvindra Singh, a resident of Amritsari Farm, himself occupied his land on Tuesday morning. This land is on State Highway-6 (Kurukshetra Road), on which PWD had built a road in year 1987. Balvindra, along with his companions, erected a wall by placing a tractor-trolley on road near the dumping zone at 11 am. Soon there was a long jam on both sides. The Naib Tehsildar arrived at the spot with the police force, but Balvindra Singh was not ready to give up the possession citing the court orders. Balvindra says that the PWD had built a road on his 22 marla land without giving compensation. In 2006, he filed a case in the civil court. In 2018, the court gave a verdict in his favour, but the PWD challenged it in the High Court. In 2023, High Court also ruled in favor of Balvindra. Despite this, administration did not give possession. Balvindra's lawyer

Mithun Atri said that government continuously ignored the court orders. Repeated assurances were given, but no action was taken. Now the government's appeal has also been rejected by the Sessions Court. PWD XEN Rishi Sachdeva said that this is a very old case. When this land was acquired, some part must have been left out or they may not have received compensation. They had filed a case in court, after which they were given compensation of Rs 5.5 lakh. But they were not satisfied with that, so they appealed further. We appealed against this in the Sessions Court, but Sessions Court rejected the department's appeal. After these people met me. I told them that whatever is their fair compensation as per law and the court order, it will be given to them. But today suddenly I got the information that they have closed the road. I talked to them and requested them that this is a state highway, don't close it. They have already received compensation, the dispute is only about the amount. Whatever balance compensation is due as per the law and court, it will be sent to the government through the department and given to them - this is the assurance given. After this they opened the road. Now as far as the action is concerned - I will have to take legal opinion on it. The government has to do a complete study under an act. I don't want any conflict. If there is any legal compensation due to them, then we are ready to get it from the government with mutual consent.

Look within

In a world obsessed with global migration and international refugees, another vulnerable constituency — internally displaced people — often disappears through the cracks of welfare policy. But data suggest that the time to act, for the world and India, to alleviate their sufferings is now. According to a report published by the Geneva-based Internal Displacement Monitoring Centre, India recorded 32.3 million internal displacements on account of natural disasters — primarily storms and floods — between 2015 and 2024. The global statistics make for equally grim reading: 210 countries registered 264.8 million forced movements, with East Asia and South Asia being the most adversely affected during this period. Little wonder then that Bangladesh, China and the Philippines, apart from India, figured prominently on the IDMC list. India's global ranking on risk was third, after China and the Philippines. The going, unfortunately, is set to get tougher with the intensification of climate change. Evidence of this worsening situation was borne by the year, 2024, which, apart from being the warmest year globally, also saw internal displacement that was higher than the decadal average.

Many of these evacuations, the report says, were pre-emptive in nature. This is suggestive of a silver lining in the gathering clouds. States evidently are increasingly devoting greater resources to save lives before or during natural disasters. There is now a robust data set available for policymakers to further improve disaster management protocols in terms of scale and quality. But a lot of ground remains to be covered. India, to cite one example, does not legally recognise climate refugees. There is thus concern that the rights and the protection of the internally displaced may be weakened in the absence of such a specific legal category even as climate change worsens and natural calamities become frequent. There is also a case for policy to be more nuanced. For instance, the disproportionate impacts of climate change on women and on socially marginalised communities need to be analysed with greater depth and acted upon with urgency. The biggest obstacle, undoubtedly, is the global inertia when it comes to tackling the myriad aspects of the climate crisis. The IDMC has predicted that the risks of extreme weather events would heighten in the face of rising temperatures. Yet, several governments, especially those helmed by authoritarian, populist leaders, remain unconcerned or are actively dismantling frameworks meant to arrest climate change. The spirit of Nero, ostensibly the emperor who fiddled as Rome burned, remains unvanquished.

Trump's new travel ban sparks outcry

President Donald Trump's new travel ban targeting 12 countries—mainly from Africa and the Middle East came into effect on Monday, intensifying tensions over the administration's expanded immigration crack-down, CNN reported.

According to the CNN report, the new order affects citizens of Afghanistan, Myanmar, Chad, the Republic of Congo, Equatorial Guinea, Eritrea, Haiti, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, and Yemen. Additionally, it imposes restrictions on individuals from Burundi, Cuba, Laos, Sierra Leone, Togo, Turkmenistan, and Venezuela who are outside the US and do not possess valid visas. While the proclamation does not revoke existing visas, it blocks new applications unless individuals meet specific exemption criteria.

"Travelers with previously issued visas should still be able to enter the US," CNN noted, citing official guidance to American diplomatic missions. The restrictions are designed to avoid the legal chaos and mass airport confusion that followed Trump's initial travel ban during his first term. CNN reported that this time, the administration emphasized improved legal framing by focusing on visa procedures rather than outright entry bans. The move is widely seen as an attempt to avoid legal challenges that derailed earlier versions of the policy.

Trump defended the action by citing security concerns, claiming that certain countries had poor screening systems or failed to cooperate with US deportation protocols. He also referenced visa overstay rates from an annual Homeland Security report, although experts have questioned the consistency and accuracy of such measurements. Notably, Trump tied the travel ban to a recent terrorist attack in Boulder, Colorado, allegedly committed by a man from Egypt—a country not included in the ban. Rights groups and immigration advocates have condemned the new order. "This policy is not about national security - it is about sowing division and vilifying communities that are seeking safety and opportunity in the United States," said Abby Maxman, president of Oxfam America. CNN highlighted that the inclusion of Afghanistan in the list has sparked backlash, especially from those aiding Afghan resettlement efforts. While exemptions exist for Afghans holding Special Immigrant Visas—typically those who worked closely with the US military—critics argue that the broader ban undermines refugee protection. Afghanistan had been among the top sources of US-bound refugees, with approximately 14,000 arriving in the 12-month period ending September 2024.

New mRNA vaccine is more effective, less costly to develop: Study

A new type of mRNA vaccine is more scalable and adaptable to continuously evolving viruses such as SARS-CoV-2 and H5N1, according to a study by researchers at the University of Pittsburgh School of Public Health and the Pennsylvania State University. The study was published today in npj Vaccines. Though highly effective at inducing an immune response, current mRNA vaccines, such as those used to prevent COVID-19, present two significant challenges: the high amount of mRNA needed to produce them and the constantly evolving nature of the pathogen. "The virus changes, moving the goal post, and updating the vaccine takes some time," said senior author Suresh Kuchipudi, Ph.D., chair of Infectious Diseases and Microbiology at Pitt Public Health. To address these challenges, the researchers created a proof-of-concept COVID-19 vaccine using what's known as a "transforming" mRNA platform.

In this approach, the mRNA is separated into two fragments — the antigen sequence and the replicase sequence — the latter of which can be produced in advance, saving crucial time in the event a new vaccine must be developed urgently and produced at scale.

Additionally, the researchers analysed the spike-protein sequences of all known variants of SARS-CoV-2 for commonalities, rendering what's known as a "consensus spike protein" as the basis for the vaccine's antigen.

Greta Thunberg among activists detained as Gaza-bound aid ship seized by Israeli forces

The detained crew of the Gaza-bound aid ship "Madleen"—including Swedish climate activist Greta Thunberg and other prominent international volunteers were docked at Israel's Ashdod port on Monday evening following a controversial interception at sea, CNN reported.

According to Israel's foreign ministry, the intercepted activists underwent medical checks upon arrival. Defense Minister Israel Katz said they were shown a screening of "the horror film documenting the October 7 massacre" by Hamas, but "when they saw what it was about, they refused to continue watching." He accused Thunberg and others of ignoring Hamas atrocities by "closing their eyes to the truth." The Freedom Flotilla Coalition (FFC), which organized the mission, alleged that the Israeli military "attacked" and "unlawfully boarded" the ship in international waters while it was attempting to deliver baby formula, food, and medical supplies to Gaza which remains under an 11-week aid blockade. The activists were detained after Israeli quadcopters reportedly sprayed the ship with a white paint-like substance, jammed communications, and played disturbing noises over the radio. In a livestream from the ship, activist Yasemin Acar showed the white substance on the deck, stating it was affecting her eyes. Later, in a pre-recorded video posted by FFC, Thunberg said, "If you see this video, we have been intercepted."

POEM

"Life' Juxtapositions"

Sitting still, but the mind's miles ahead. Planning years, but not sure about the next breath.

Flabbergasted at life's juxtapositions. Where reality sprouts out of suppositions. Holding onto optimism amidst adversity. Colouring our lives with electrifying curiosity. Planning for the future while embracing life's unpredictability.

Lack of resources but achieving grounds with soaring ability.

Balancing personal charms and bubbling expectations.

Holding honestly, responsibilities and limitations.

Sometimes repenting, sometimes glorifying the past.

Sometimes assuming, sometimes amusing about the future.

Speculations of the future, reflections of the past.

Beyond our reach, beyond our grasp. In blind pursuit of what's to come or gone.

We overlook the present's fruitful dawn. Let's pause, breathe deep, and claim this space.

Where life's richness waits, in every present place.

Bridging minds and hearts: The teacher's role in mentoring emotional health across the educational spectrum

In classrooms across the country, smartboards may fill the walls, but it's the quiet human connection between students and teachers that shapes the heart of education. As our understanding of emotional intelligence and mental health grows, it's clear that teachers are no longer just conveyors of knowledge—they are mentors, emotional anchors, and bridges between students, families, and schools.

Traditionally, teaching focused on content delivery and grading. Today's educators wear many hats: counsellor, motivator, mediator, and mentor. This evolution reflects growing awareness that emotional health is inseparable from academic success. Students bring their entire emotional worlds into the classroom—anxiety, self-doubt, trauma—and teachers who recognize and respond to these emotions offer far more than lessons; they offer stability and care.

Mentorship is about more than guidance—it's about building trust and showing up consistently. For many children, especially those without strong home support, a teacher may be the most reliable adult in their life. From a kind word after class to noticing a child's mood change, small gestures can plant the seeds of emotional security.

Effective mentoring also cultivates resilience, self-regulation, and empathy—traits essential not just for school but for life. This support system extends to families as well. By engaging with parents through honest, compassionate dialogue, teachers help build a united front for student well-being. They often help families interpret emotional cues, suggest support services, and navigate educational challenges.

Educational psychology confirms that emotional well-being is not optional—it is foundational. Classrooms that prioritize emotional literacy see better cooperation, less bullying, and stronger academic outcomes. Teachers are central to creating such environments.

Yet this critical role comes at a cost. Burnout is common, driven by the pressure to be everything for everyone. That's why it's essential to invest in teacher well-being through professional development, trauma-informed practices, and emotional support systems.

In today's education landscape, emotional intelligence must be treated as central to learning. Let's train and support teachers as emotional mentors, invest in mental health resources, and partner with parents to support students holistically.

In bridging minds and hearts, teachers are not just educating—they're nurturing the leaders, citizens, and compassionate humans of tomorrow. It all begins with a mentor who cares.

CSK captain Ruturaj Gaikwad signs for Yorkshire until end of season

Yorkshire : Chennai Super Kings captain and India's top-order batter Ruturaj Gaikwad has signed for Yorkshire until the end of the season. Yorkshire released a statement on Tuesday to announce the acquisition of the CSK captain, which read, "The Yorkshire County Cricket Club is delighted to announce the overseas signing of Ruturaj Gaikwad."The 28-year-old will link up with the Yorkshire squad ahead of the Rothess County Championship game against Surrey at Scarborough in July. He will also be available for selection in the Metro Bank One Day Cup and will stay with the White Rose until the end of the season. Gaikwad's campaign in the IPL's 18th season was cut short due to an injury, and he was later named in the India A squad for their current tour of England. However, despite earning a place in the squad, he wasn't picked in the final XI for both unofficial Tests. The Pune native is a highly accomplished batter with six international ODI caps and 23 appearances in T20s. Gaikwad can bat at any spot in the top four with his versatility. He became the fourth Indian to feature for Yorkshire after Sachin Tendulkar, Yuvraj Singh and Cheteshwar Pujara."I'm excited to be joining up with Yorkshire for the rest of the English domestic season. It has always been a goal of mine to experience cricket in this country, and there is no bigger Club in England than Yorkshire. I know how important it is that I hit the ground running at what will be a crucial part of the season.

Despite Rohit, Virat's absence, Anderson puts "strong" tag on India's squad for "exciting" series in England

London: England's decorated quick James Anderson sees India as a "strong" side in the upcoming five-match Test series, scheduled to begin on June 20 at Headingley, despite the absence of their batting bigwigs and the phase of transition that has kicked in as a result. More than a month before India's high-stakes Test series against England, swashbuckler Rohit Sharma bid adieu to the format. His long-time compatriot Virat Kohli followed the same route a couple of days later. With India bereft of its torchbearers, the management turned to youngsters to mark the beginning of a new era. In the aftermath of their decision, the captain's baton was passed from Rohit to Shubman Gill, while the batting combination is something that India is silently figuring out. Even though India are lining up without their two batting maestros, who exude immense experience on English soil, Anderson feels the touring party is in possession of some "exciting players" and a "strong" squad for the "exciting series". For the ageless seamer, the first edition of the Anderson-Tendulkar Trophy will be a closely fought contest just like the enticing series in 2022, which ended 2-2. "I think this series is going to be exactly the same. What you would expect, I know India are going through a little bit of a change with a different captain and losing Kohli and Sharma. But I think they are strong. They have got a strong squad.

Hockey India announces 24-member Indian Junior Men's squad for 4 Nations Tournament in Germany

AGENCY
NEW DELHI: Hockey India on Tuesday announced the Indian Junior Men's Hockey Team for the upcoming 4 Nations Tournament, scheduled to be held in Berlin, Germany, from June 21st to 25th. According to a release from Hockey India, the prestigious competition will feature four strong contenders: India, Spain, Australia, and hosts Germany.

As per the tournament format, each team will play against every other team in a single round-robin Pool stage. The top two teams will face off in the Final, while the third and fourth-placed teams will play a classification match.

Notably, the tournament will serve as a vital preparatory platform for the Indian Colts ahead of the FIH Junior Men's Hockey World Cup 2025, which will take place on home soil later this year in Chennai and Madurai from 28th November to 10th December.

The Indian squad will be led by flamboyant forward Aarajet Singh Hundal, who has consistently impressed with his attacking prowess and leadership qualities. Defender Amir Ali, known for his composure and experience at the back, has been named Vice-Captain.

The goalkeeping department will be manned by Bikramjit Singh and Vivek Lakra, both of whom have shown sharp reflexes and a solid command of the D during the training sessions.

The defensive line-up features a mix of grit and promise, with Amir Ali joined by Talem Priyobarta, Shardanand Tiwari, Sunil P B, Anmol Ekka, Rohit, Ravneet Singh, and Sukhvinder. In midfield, the team boasts depth and versatility with the inclusion of Ankit Pal, Mammet Singh, Rosan Kujur, Rohit Kullu, Thockchom Kingson Singh, Thounaojam Ingalemba Luwang, Adrohit Ekka, and Jeetpal, each capable of dictating tempo and transitioning play.

The forward battery includes Gurjot Singh, Sourabh Anand Kushwaha, Dilraj Singh, Arshdeep Singh, the skipper Aarajet Singh Hundal, and Ajeet Yadav -- a group that promises speed, flair, and goal-scoring threat.

Additionally, Adarsh G (goalkeeper), Prasant Barla (defender), Chandan Yadav (midfielder), and Mohd. Konain Dad (forward) have been named as standby players for the tour.

Speaking on the tournament and the squad, Indian

Junior Men's Team Coach PR Sreejesh said, "The 4 Nations Tournament is a significant part of our preparation roadmap for the FIH Junior World Cup later this year. It will give us the chance to play against top-quality international opponents in a competitive setting, which is crucial for the development of these young players. This tour is less about results and more about preparing these young athletes for the bigger picture. Competing against quality international sides like Germany, Australia, and Spain will challenge our boys in different ways -- tactically, physically, and mentally. These are the kind of experiences that shape world-class players," as quoted from a release.

"We have picked a squad that brings a healthy balance of energy and potential. This tour will allow us to sharpen our strategies, experiment with combinations, and give players the opportunity to take ownership in critical match situations. These learnings will be invaluable for players as we build towards the Junior World Cup at home," he added.

WTC final 2025: Aakash Chopra weighs in on Pat Cummins' impact

NEW DELHI : As the ICC World Test Championship (WTC) final 2025 draws near, anticipation is building for the clash between reigning champions Australia and determined challengers South Africa. While speaking on JioHotstar and the Star Sports Network, JioStar cricket expert Aakash Chopra shared the pivotal role of Australia's skipper Pat Cummins, who has become synonymous with big-match performances and cool-headed leadership. "Pat Cummins is the biggest threat," Chopra remarked. "His leadership, his bowling when there is a partnership, his batting lower down the order-- he contributes across departments. He leads from the front and always keeps the opposition under pressure," he added. Cummins enters this WTC Final on the back of a stellar run as captain. Under his leadership, Australia clinched the previous WTC title by defeating India in the final, and followed it up with a historic ICC Cricket World Cup 2023 triumph, once again overcoming India in the decider on Indian soil. Now, Cummins has a golden opportunity to lead Australia to a third ICC title, further cementing his legacy as one of modern cricket's finest captains. South Africa, on the other hand, are eyeing their maiden ICC title in the longest format and have assembled a formidable unit with a potent pace attack and determined batting order.

"We want a good pitch": Beckenham's head curator reveals "clear" message from Gambhir for India's preparation in England

AGENCY
LONDON: Josh Marden, the head curator at Beckenham County Ground, revealed that India head coach Gautam Gambhir and the management had a clear message regarding their preparations for the highly anticipated England tour: "We want a good pitch", reported Revsportz.

India has begun fine-tuning its preparations for the five gripping Tests in England, which are slated to begin on June 20 at Headingley. The tourists have hosted a training camp at the South East London venue in Beckenham as they solidify their preparations for the first bilateral Test series without its batting bigwigs Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma, marking the beginning of a new era.

After the internal meeting, Gambhir and the coaching staff spoke to Marden and sent a clear message about the desired pitch conditions. The ask was simple: "a good pitch" that wasn't too flat or too green, a realistic setting that genuinely offered help in preparing for the match.

"Yes, the coaching staff, including Gautam Gambhir and others, spoke to us after their internal meeting. Their message was clear: "We want a good pitch." Not something too flat or too green, but something that will genuinely help with match preparation. They wanted more realistic conditions, not just batting drills. So we adjusted a few things, grass cover, net width, and length extensions. The feedback has been great since then," Marden told Revsportz.

Traditionally, the strip India is training on has been a batting paradise in white-ball formats. To make it more ideal for a red-ball setup, Marden outlined the various measures they have taken to offer "enough life" for the seamers.

"Yes, and no. The soil here naturally plays batter-friendly, so visually, the wicket may look dry or flat. But we manage grass density, not just what you see, but how thick it is. The pitches currently used by India and Australia have slightly more grass than our usual white-ball surfaces. It's a subtle balance. Even with a brown surface, there's enough life in it for seamers, if you hit the right length," he added.

Kunjpura BDPO Office plagued by filth

MAINPAL KASHYAP

INDRI: The Block Development and Panchayat Officer (BDPO) office in Kunjpura is facing severe issues with cleanliness. Tall grass has overgrown at the entry gate and along the office walls, and the premises are so unkempt they've become a material storage area. Piles of blocking tiles and gravel are strewn within the office compound, and a mound of sand near the office walls frequently disperses dust into the air. Despite being a newly constructed building, the lack of maintenance has left the office surroundings visibly dirty. Even the park inside the office premises is covered in tall grass, yet the officials and staff working there seem to pay no attention to the cleanliness. Given that this is a BDPO office, a large number of people visit daily for government-related work. Furthermore, employees' vehicles are often parked directly in front of the office entrance instead of in the designated parking area, highlighting a significant lapse in discipline. When contacted, Kunjpura BDPO Monika stated that a maintenance tender for the office is in process and the work will be completed soon.
