AAP splits in Rajya Sabha

Seven MPs including Raghav Chadha, Ashok Mittal quit party; to join BJP

UNI
NEW DELHI, APRIL 24

In a major political development that reshapes the balance in Parliament, seven Rajya Sabha Members of Parliament from the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) have resigned from the party and announced their decision to merge with the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), inflicting a massive setback on AAP's presence in the Upper House.

Addressing a joint press conference, Raghav Chadha, along with Sandeep Pathak and Ashok Mittal, said that more than two-thirds of AAP's Rajya Sabha MPs have decided to invoke constitutional provisions to formalise their merger with the BJP.

"We have decided that we, the two-thirds members belonging to the AAP in the Rajya Sabha, exercise the provisions of the Constitution of India and merge ourselves with the BJP," Chadha said.

Chadha, who played a key role in the move, expressed deep dissatisfaction with the party's current functioning.

"The AAP, which I nurtured with my blood and sweat and gave 15 years of my youth to, has deviated from its principles, values and core morals. Now this party does not work in the interest of the nation but for its personal benefits," he said.

He further added that he had been distancing himself from party activities for some time. "I did not want to be a part of their crimes. I was not eligible for their friendship because I was not a part of their crime. For the past few years, I felt that I am the right man in the wrong party," he remarked.

According to Chadha, AAP currently has 10 MPs in the Rajya Sabha, and more than two-thirds have supported the merger. He confirmed that the MPs have signed the necessary documents, which were submitted to the Rajya Sabha Chairman earlier in the day.

BJP has once again betrayed Punjabis: Kejriwal

NEW DELHI: Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) national convenor Arvind Kejriwal on Friday slammed the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) after the split in the AAP and alleged that the ruling party at the Centre has once again "betrayed the Punjabis"In a brief post on X, Kejriwal expressed his disappointment, "BJP ne fir se Punjabio ke sath kia dhakka' (The BJP has once again given Punjabis a shove)".

CM Mann hits back at defecting MPs, says they are 'not even fit to be village Sarpanches'

UNI
CHANDIGARH, APR 24

Lambasting the seven AAP lawmakers, including Raghav Chadha, who switched sides to the BJP on Friday, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann dismissed the defecting MPs as "traitors" and declared that they were "not even fit to be village Sarpanches."

In a massive political realignment that has shaken the foundations of the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) in Punjab, seven of its Rajya Sabha Members of Parliament, spearheaded by senior leader Raghav Chadha, announced their decision to defect to the BJP.

During a press conference in Delhi, Chadha, flanked by party colleagues Sandeep Pathak and Ashok Mittal, declared that two-thirds of the party's Rajya Sabha contingent, totaling seven MPs, has opted to merge with the BJP. Invoking constitutional provisions that allow for a merger if two-thirds of a legislative group switches sides, the defectors include Raghav Chadha, Sandeep Pathak, Ashok Mittal, Rajinder Gupta, Vikram Sahni, Swati Maliwal, and Harbhajan Singh.

The announcement was met with a stinging rebuke from Chief Minister Mann, who dismissed the defecting MPs as "traitors" in a press conference in Chandigarh. He launched a scathing attack on the BJP, accusing the saffron party of operating a "political washing machine" similar to the tactics allegedly used to dismantle the Nationalist Congress Party in Maharashtra.

"The party is greater than any individual," Mann asserted, noting that these leaders were granted prestigious Rajya Sabha seats without the need to contest an election. He warned that the BJP would eventually discard them after exploiting them for their political utility, adding that Punjabis are known for their deep loyalty and will never forgive those who betray their trust.

Reflecting on his decision, Raghav Chadha described himself as having felt like "the right person in the wrong party" for an extended period. He expressed deep disillusionment, claiming that the party, which was founded on a firm pledge to eradicate corruption, had been hijacked by "corrupt and compromise-prone" elements. Chadha, a founder member of the party, voiced his pain and shame regarding the current state of AAP affairs. The defection follows recent intensified scrutiny by central agencies, notably the Enforcement Directorate (ED) raid conducted at the residence of Ashok Mittal just ten days before this announcement.

PATNA: Bihar Chief Minister Samrat Choudhary, heading the new NDA government, Friday proved his majority with a voice vote in the state assembly.
Replying to the debate on the confidence motion during a one-day special session of the Lower House, Choudhary launched a sharp attack on the opposition while strongly defending his government's policies and agenda.
He said the new government would carry forward the triple "C" formula of his predecessor Nitish Kumar and would never compromise with crime, corruption, and communalism. Centre directs ZEE5 not to release "LAWRENCE OF PUNJAB"

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH: In a proactive move to ensure responsible content dissemination and maintain the social fabric of the state, the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting (MoIB), Government of India, has issued an advisory to the ZEE5 OTT platform directing them not to release the documentary titled "Lawrence of Punjab", said Director General of Police (DGP) Punjab Gaurav Yadav here on Friday.

The development comes on the heels of Special DGP Cyber Crime V Neeraja taking up the matter with the MoIB seeking a restraint on the screening of the content under Section 69A(1) of the Information Technology (IT) Act, citing serious concerns regarding its impact on public order.

DGP Gaurav Yadav said that various internal inputs suggested that the documentary—featuring dramatised portrayals, real-life footage, and specific narratives—posed a significant risk of glorifying organised crime and notorious criminals. Such depictions have the potential to mislead the youth and disturb the hard-earned peace of the state, he added.

Acting swiftly on these reports, the Punjab Police approached the MoIB, which serves as the designated nodal agency for OTT content in India.

The DGP said that following a thorough examination of the entire material, the Ministry concurred with the assessment and issued an advisory to the ZEE5 directing them not to release the content on its OTT platform.

"We thank the MoIB, Government of India for its prompt intervention and support in ensuring responsible content dissemination and safeguarding the social fabric of the State," said DGP Gaurav Yadav.

Reaffirming the Punjab Police's stance, the DGP stated that the Punjab Police remains committed to maintaining peace, public order, and social harmony at all costs. He further warned that any content attempting to incite criminal activities would be dealt with strictly as per the law.

91 STPs operational in Haryana to make Yamuna pollution-free: CM Saini

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, APRIL 24

Haryana Chief Minister Sh. Nayab Singh Saini said that the government's target is to ensure that not a single drop of untreated water flows into the Yamuna River by the end of 2027. For this, all departments must work in coordination and at a fast pace, and wherever required, new Effluent Treatment Plants (ETPs), Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs), and Common Effluent Treatment Plants (CETPs) should be set up.

Sh. Nayab Singh Saini was reviewing the works being carried out by various departments to make the Yamuna pollution-free during a meeting held at the Haryana Civil Secretariat on Friday. He informed that at present, 91 STPs with a total capacity of 1,543 MLD are operational in the Yamuna catchment area to treat water flowing into the river. Out of these, 41 STPs with a capacity of 593 MLD have been established in the last five years. Additionally, 11 new STPs are under construction, which will further enhance the treatment capacity.

Chairman of the Pollution Control Board, Sh. J. Ganesan, informed in the meeting that some industrial units are not operating their Effluent Treatment Plants in order to save costs and are discharging polluted water. In several cases, industries have also been found dumping untreated waste into village ponds through tankers. Taking serious note of this, the Chief Minister directed strict action against such units and emphasized that every industry must treat its wastewater before discharging it into drains. Industries violating the norms should face appropriate action.

The Chief Minister further directed that Common Effluent Treatment Plants (CETPs) should be installed on all 11 major drains leading to the Yamuna so that every drop of industrial wastewater is treated before entering the river. He added that Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) funds can also be utilized for this purpose if required.

KOLKATA: Prime Minister Narendra Modi took a boat ride on the Hooghly river here on Friday morning and met with boatmen and morning walkers.

Modi posted a few photographs of his river trip on social media, in which he is seen seated on a wooden boat with a camera in hand, and the iconic Howrah Bridge and the Vidyasagar Setu are visible in the background.

"Tried my hand at photographing this great river. Also caught a close glimpse of the Vidyasagar Setu and Howrah Bridge," the Prime Minister said on X.

For every Bengali, the Ganga occupies a very special place, he said.

"One can say that the Ganga flows through the soul of Bengal. Her divine waters carry the timeless spirit of an entire civilisation.

This morning in Kolkata, I spent some time on the banks of the Hooghly river, an opportunity to express gratitude to Maa Ganga," Modi said on social media. The Prime Minister said he had the opportunity to "meet boatmen, whose hardworking nature is admirable and morning walkers". "On the Hooghly, reiterated our commitment to work towards the development of West Bengal and the prosperity of the great Bengali people," Modi said.

Heatwave grips over half of India as temperatures soar above 40°C

NEW DELHI: A severe heatwave has engulfed more than half of the states across India, with temperatures ranging between 40°C and 45°C in several cities of Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, Odisha, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Punjab and Maharashtra.

On Wednesday, Wardha in Maharashtra and Jharsuguda in Odisha recorded a high of 44.6°C in the afternoon, marking the highest temperatures in the country.

On Thursday, at least 16 cities across India reported temperatures exceeding 43°C, intensifying concerns over public health and safety.

In response to the rising heat, the Odisha government has decided to halt census-related activities during peak afternoon hours. Officials and field workers will avoid door-to-door visits between 11 am and 3 pm to reduce exposure to extreme heat.

Water Sprinkling Measures Implemented in Rajasthan

Amid soaring temperatures and their impact on daily life, the Rajasthan government has initiated measures such as water sprinkling on roads to prevent excessive heating. Additionally, school timings have been revised to safeguard children's health during the ongoing heatwave.

Ever since law against beadbi was enacted, BJP has been conspiring to weaken & eliminate me: CM Bhagwant Mann

BUREAU
CHANDIGARH, APRIL 24

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann delivered a firm and uncompromising message to the BJP, asserting that ever since strict laws against 'beadbi' (sacrilege) were enacted, the BJP's unease has been evident as it struggles to accept decisive action on an issue deeply tied to Punjab's sentiments. He stated that the BJP, which has repeatedly faced rejection in Punjab, has responded with hostility towards both the state and the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), attempting to weaken a corruption-free government through intimidation, inducements, and efforts to engineer defections.

Condemning both those leaving the party and those facilitating such moves, CM Bhagwant Singh Mann asserted that the BJP's lack of political ground has pushed it towards such tactics even as visible improvements in schools, hospitals, roads, and employment have unsettled it. He emphasised that the AAP draws its strength from ordinary people and remains rooted in a principled, transformative vision. He asserted that the people of Punjab will hold accountable those who betray the state, making it clear that such manoeuvres cannot secure political victories in a democracy where the people of Punjab remain supreme.

Addressing a press conference in Chandigarh on Friday, CM Bhagwant Singh Mann stated, "The wise and brave people of Punjab will never forgive the traitors who have backstabbed them for their own vested interests. Punjabis have never forgotten acts of betrayal, and those who deceived them have vanished into political oblivion. Leaders like Kamaalo, Mannshahian and others betrayed their ideology and have been erased from public memory. In a democracy, the party is supreme, not individuals who come and go as per their whims and fancies," stated CM Bhagwant Singh Mann.

The Chief Minister pointed out that several leaders had secured positions without meaningful contribution but later chose to deceive their mother party for personal benefits. "The real name of the BJP is 'Kadde Sadde party' as its 'washing machine' is being used to dry-clean tainted leaders from other parties.

Delhi Transport Minister re-affirms commitment to reducing road accidents

AGENCY

NEW DELHI: Intensifying efforts towards improving road safety, reducing accidents and curbing traffic violations, such as drunken driving, through awareness drives and strengthened enforcement, the Delhi government has spearheaded the 'Road Safety and Sustainable Mobility Initiative 2026' under the theme "Aware Today, Responsible Always for a Safer, Greener Tomorrow."

The initiative, featuring a series of activities including awareness drives for school children, free Pollution Under Control (PUC) check-ups, and engaging nukkad nataks on road safety, brought together key stakeholders, including Transport Minister Dr Pankaj Kumar Singh, Ashok Goel Devraha, MLA, Model Town, and the Delhi Traffic Police.

These events, which saw encouraging public participation, were well-received for community-level impact. The Transport Minister felicitated schoolchildren, Delhi Traffic Personnel, teachers and citizens for their contributions to road safety.

Addressing the gathering, Dr Singh highlighted the government's focused approach towards safer roads and cleaner air. "Road safety is not a one-day campaign—it is a continuous commitment. Through initiatives like these, we are working to ensure that people not only understand traffic rules but follow them responsibly," he said.

Emphasizing the importance of awareness at a young age, the Minister added: "Students are the future of our nation. Educating them about road safety today will shape a more responsible generation tomorrow. It is equally important to discourage underage driving and instil discipline at an early stage." On tackling drunken driving, the minister said that government has adopted a combination of enforcement and behavioural interventions.

The sustained efforts of the Delhi government have already led to a noticeable reduction in such incidents.

"We remain confident that with the measures and continued public cooperation instances of drunk driving will decline further in the coming years," the minister added.

Delhi CM: Govt resumes wheat procurement from Delhi farmers at MSP, Solanki welcomes move

NEW DELHI, APR 24 (UNI) A prominent voice of Delhi's rural belt, Chaudhary Surender Solanki, on Friday welcomed the government's decision to resume procurement of wheat from the national capital's farmers at Minimum Support Price (MSP), something that had not happened in a couple of years. Now, Delhi's farmers will be able to sell their crops at the Narela FCI centre and the Najafgarh grain market.

Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta shared the development on social media on Friday and stated, "Good news for Delhi's farmers. Starting today, April 24, the government's procurement of wheat at MSP has resumed."

Gupta expressed that the decision will give new momentum to the honour of the food providers and the resolve for having prosperous farmers.

This is expected to reduce the hassle of traveling far for the farmers, and they will also save on time and money.

According to Solanki, the decision will bring relief to the farmers of the national capital; however, most of them will benefit from the next season.

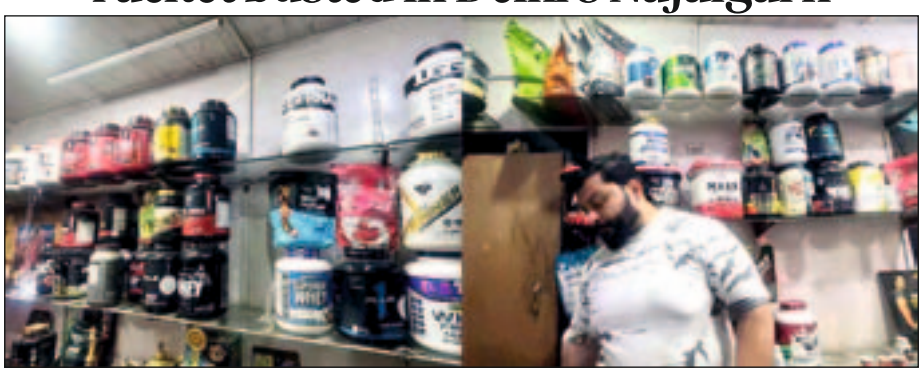

The rural leader, who is also the Pradhan of Palam 360 Sakal Panchayat, said the decision will benefit hundreds of villages and thousands of farmers across the national capital's rural region, especially outer Delhi.

Meanwhile, the Delhi government, led by CM Gupta, has given emphasis to the national capital's rural belt, which had faced neglect for a very long time.

Basic infrastructure projects, and development works are being done, while the government has now prioritized support to the Gram Vikas Board for providing momentum to the works across Delhi's villages.

The aim is to not only upgrade infrastructure in Delhi's villages, but also improve connectivity and sanitation, in a bid to bridge the gap between rural and urban amenities.

Illegal steroids and expired supplements racket busted in Delhi's Najafgarh

NEW DELHI, APRIL 24 (UNI) In a major crackdown, a joint task force led by the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI), Central Food Safety Officers, and local police dismantled an illegal distribution hub dealing in banned performance-enhancing drugs and expired health supplements in Najafgarh.

The raid targeted M/s Gaurav Vats Nutrition, allegedly operated by Gaurav Vats, following a high-priority alert from the National Anti-Doping Agency (NADA).

Investigations revealed the unit was operating without mandatory licences under the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, 1940 and the Food Safety and Standards Act, 2006.

Authorities seized around 2,800 capsules and tablets along with 11 injectable units of prohibited substances, including anabolic steroids such as Methenolone Enanthate, Trenbolone, and Stanozolol, as well as Methandienone and Oxandrolone tablets.

In an official statement, FSSAI said the operation highlights its commitment to curbing the distribution of substances that endanger public health and compromise the integrity of sports. Further investigation is underway.

Delhi Crime Branch arrests wanted accused in Gurugram blackmail-extortion case

GURUGRAM : In a significant breakthrough, the Inter-State Cell (ISC) of the Crime Branch of Delhi Police has arrested a wanted accused in a blackmail and extortion case registered in Gurugram, Haryana.

The accused, identified as Rakesh Sharma, had been absconding and evading arrest after allegedly extorting money and threatening the victim using objectionable videos.

Police said he was apprehended near Patiala House Courts in New Delhi based on specific intelligence inputs. According to police, FIR No. 133/26 dated 21.03.2026 was registered at Police Station Palam Vihar, Gurugram, under Sections 308(2), 308(7), 351(3) and 61(2) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) on the complaint of a woman resident of Palam Vihar.

The complainant alleged that she had joined yoga classes during the COVID period conducted by the accused, during which he developed close relations with her and later established physical relations. He also allegedly took financial assistance from her.

Police said the accused secretly recorded objectionable videos of their private moments and began blackmailing her, initially extorting Rs 3 lakh and falsely assuring deletion of the content. However, in March 2026, he again contacted her, circulated the objectionable material to her husband, and demanded Rs 15 lakh more. On 21 March 2026, while his wife, Nitu Sharma, allegedly came to collect the extortion money, she was caught red-handed by Gurugram Police, while the main accused managed to flee.

During interrogation, Sharma reportedly admitted that he retained copies of the videos and reinitiated extortion due to financial constraints. Police further stated that he has a prior criminal background, including involvement in a murder case in Sahibabad, Uttar Pradesh, and had remained in judicial custody for around 8-9 years before being granted bail in 2018.

The accused was produced before the court of Ld. CJM, New Delhi, and further legal proceedings are underway.

Cold, remorseless, brutal: Delhi Police turns to psychological profiling in IRS officer's daughter murder

AGENCY

NEW DELHI: The Delhi Police is now planning a detailed psychological assessment of Rahul Meena, the man accused in the rape and murder of a 22-year-old woman, the daughter of an Indian Revenue Service officer, in southeast Delhi. Investigators say they are trying to piece together his mental state and undersand what may have driven the crime.

The decision follows troubling observations during interrogation. Officers say Meena appeared unusually composed and did not show any visible remorse while being questioned, raising further questions about his state of mind. The psychological assessment is expected to help investigators determine whether the crime was planned or triggered by sudden rage.

Police to assess mental state and behavioural patterns According to sources, the evaluation will involve clinical experts examining the accused's aggression levels, emotional responses and behavioural tendencies. Investigators are also looking at possible traits linked to Antisocial Personality Disorder as part of the profiling process.

Officials believe this exercise could play a key role in establishing intent and strengthening the prosecution's case.

Crime unfolded inside Kailash Hills residence The incident took place on Wednesday morning at the family's residence in the Kailash Hills area. The victim, an IIT Delhi graduate and civil services aspirant, was in her room when Meena allegedly entered the house.

When questioned about his presence, Meena reportedly claimed that the victim's mother had called him inside. The situation escalated when he demanded cash. On being refused, an argument broke out.

As the victim raised an alarm, Meena allegedly attacked her with a lamp, striking her repeatedly and leaving her with severe injuries. Police said that after she lost consciousness, he allegedly raped her.

Investigators further revealed that he later strangled the victim using a phone charger. Loot, escape and CCTV trail After the assault, Meena allegedly dragged the victim to another room where the family's lockers were kept. He is said to have used her finger to unlock a biometric safe and forced open another locker using a screwdriver.

Police said he looted around Rs 2.5 lakh in cash and jewellery before changing his blood-stained trousers with a pair belonging to the victim's brother and fleeing towards a railway station.

CCTV footage has helped establish the timeline. Meena was seen entering the colony at 6:30 am, entering the house shortly after, and leaving at around 7:20 am.

Digital clues lead to arrest in Dwarka Despite attempts to avoid detection, Meena was traced through a digital trail. Investigators said he used a stolen mobile phone and accessed the internet via a hotel Wi-Fi network in Dwarka. He was also in touch with a relative in Gurugram through Instagram. By analysing Internet Protocol Detail Records and following these leads, police pinpointed his location and arrested him from a hotel. Custody and ongoing investigation On Thursday, a court granted police four days of custody of the accused to reconstruct the sequence of events and verify digital and forensic evidence.

Officials said the psychological profiling will complement existing forensic material, including CCTV footage and recovered items, as the investigation continues.

AAP will stand like rock with Arvind Kejriwal and fight to protect Babasaheb Ambedkar's Constitution & Punjab's rights: Cheema

GAURAV GOEL
CHANDIGARH, APRIL 24

Punjab Finance Minister and senior Aam Aadmi Party leader (AAP) Harpal Singh Cheema on Friday stated that the Bharatiya Janata Party has launched an undemocratic assault on Punjab and its people, declaring it a direct attack on the Babasaheb Ambedkar's Constitution and the democratic rights of citizens. He asserted that Punjabis, who have historically sacrificed for the country's freedom and democracy, will not tolerate this betrayal and will give a strong response.

In a statement, senior AAP leader and Punjab Cabinet Minister Harpal Singh Cheema said, "The BJP has attacked Punjabis in an undemocratic manner. The right to vote given under the Constitution by Babasaheb Ambedkar is being snatched away. This is a direct attack on Babasaheb Ambedkar's Constitution, and 3 crore Punjabis will not tolerate it. Punjab has always played a leading role in shaping democracy in this country. The democracy of this nation has been built on the blood and sacrifices of Punjabis. By shedding their blood, Punjabis helped establish this democracy, and today the BJP is trying to break it."

The Punjab Minister asserted, "Today, 3 crore Punjabis are ready to teach the BJP a lesson. The BJP is the party that is held responsible for the deaths of 700 farmers of Punjab during the agitation against the three black laws. It is known as the party that has looted Punjab's waters and denied Punjab its rightful financial share. Such a party will be decisively opposed by all Punjabis united."

Condemning the defection of 7 AAP MPs, Harpal Singh Cheema said, "Those whom AAP honoured and sent to the Rajya Sabha to represent the voice of Punjabis have today betrayed Punjab by falling under the influence of Home Minister Amit Shah. This defection, driven by the lure of power, is not just political, it is a betrayal of Punjab's rights. The BJP has never truly stood by anyone, and opportunists are never forgiven by Punjabis." Harpal Singh Cheema further stated, "The BJP has stabbed the people of Punjab in the back. By breaking AAP MPs from Punjab, it has proven that it does not believe in democracy. It is attempting to dismantle the Constitution created by Babasaheb Dr BR Ambedkar. The BJP is a threat to the democracy of this country, whereas the AAP stands firmly with the Constitution. We will continue to fight to protect and uphold the Constitution and will keep teaching the BJP a lesson."

Highlighting Punjab's history of resistance, Harpal Singh Cheema said, "Punjab and Punjabis have repeatedly defeated those who tried to dominate them. Those who attempted to capture Punjab have always been taught a lesson. Today, the BJP cannot win Punjab by intimidating or threatening people. The 3 crore Punjabis are aware of the work being done by the AAP Government led by Sardar Bhagwant Singh Mann."

Harpal Singh Cheema added, "For a long time, when the BJP and Akali Dal were in power in Punjab, incidents of beadbi (sacrilege) of Sri Guru Granth Sahib took place and no justice was delivered. When we brought the 'Jaagat Jot Sri Guru Granth Sahib Satkar (Amendment) Act, 2026', the BJP started breaking our members because it does not want respect for Sri Guru Granth Sahib Ji."

Amit Shah attempting to break AAP through ED-CBI raids: Meet Hayer

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 24

Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Punjab senior leader and Member of Parliament Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer on Friday spoke about what he described as a consistent pattern in the Bharatiya Janata Party's functioning across the country, linking it to the use of central agencies and political inducements ahead of elections. He said the party's approach reflects a broader attempt to weaken democratic institutions and opposition voices.

Addressing a press conference, AAP MP Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer said, "For the past 12 years, the BJP has been following the same model across the country to strangulate democracy.

As soon as elections approach, out of fear of defeat, the BJP begins to intimidate opposition leaders through the Enforcement Directorate and Central Bureau of Investigation, or lures them into joining the party. Punjab is a land of principles and struggle, and BJP's 'washing machine' model will never succeed here." Citing examples from other states, he said, "In Assam, Himanta Biswa Sarma faced CBI raids while he was in Congress, but became 'clean' the moment he joined BJP. In Maharashtra, Ajit Pawar had 70 cases registered against him overnight, and Amit Shah called him the most corrupt leader in the country, yet he was made Deputy Chief Minister immediately after joining BJP."

He further extended the argument to developments in Parliament and Punjab politics, stating, "The same situation is now visible in Parliament. Leaders like Ravneet Bittu and Jyotiraditya Scindia, who were once part of Rahul Gandhi's core team, are now sitting on the front benches of BJP, while the party's old dedicated workers have been pushed to the sidelines. In Punjab BJP, party meetings now have fewer original BJP workers and more former Congress faces like Sunil Jakhar and Rana Sodhi."

Expressing displeasure over Raghav Chadha's conduct, Gurmeet Singh Meet Hayer said, "The party and Arvind Kejriwal gave national recognition to an ordinary young man, but at the most difficult time for the party, Raghav Chadha abandoned it, which goes against moral values.

When Arvind Kejriwal, Manish Sisodia, and Sanjay Singh were in jail and party karyakartas were being lathicharged on the streets, Raghav Chadha went abroad.

Congress govt has stalled development, jeopardised youth and basic services: Suresh Kashyap

DINESH AGARWAL
SHIMLA: Suresh Kashyap, former state president of the Bharatiya Janata Party and Member of Parliament, criticised the Himachal Pradesh government, alleging that policy failures have halted development and adversely affected youth, sportspersons and the general public. Addressing mediapersons, Kashyap said that funds under the Chief Minister Youth Sports Promotion Scheme—Rs. 15 lakh per assembly constituency for developing sports fields—have not been released this year, resulting in stalled sports infrastructure projects across the state. He termed the move detrimental to youth development and claimed that even in districts like Kangra, no constituency has received allocations under the scheme. He further alleged that several proposed playgrounds and gym facilities in rural areas remain incomplete due to lack of funding, describing the situation as reflective of administrative inefficiency and misplaced priorities. Kashyap also raised concerns over delays in the Sutlej drinking water project, stating that Shimla and adjoining areas are facing increasing pressure on water supply systems. He warned that continued delays could jeopardise financial assistance from the World Bank linked to the project, which is estimated at around Rs. 1,168 crore. He said that failure to complete the project on time could lead to serious challenges in ensuring basic water supply in the future, attributing the situation to what he described as mismanagement and lack of planning by the state government.

A Ray of Hope: New Happy Public School student's innovative effort on World Malaria Day

RAHUL KOHLI
YAMUNANAGAR, APR 24

On the occasion of World Malaria Day, when the world is focusing on awareness and solutions against mosquito-borne diseases, a student of New Happy Public School, Yamunanagar, has emerged with a powerful and practical solution. Aditi Juyal's project stands out as a promising step in tackling this global issue. Aditi, a Class 12 (Medical) student, has developed a "Biodegradable Mosquito Killer Basket" that is not only eco-friendly but also capable of addressing the mosquito problem at its root, and that too at a very low cost. The project has been specially designed for areas where people cannot afford expensive chemical-based products and where mosquito-borne diseases are most prevalent. Her model uses a basket made from sugarcane bagasse (waste husk). It contains a mixture of water, sugar, and yeast to attract mosquitoes for egg-laying. At the same time, safe larvicides are added, which prevent the eggs from developing into larvae. In this way, the model effectively breaks the mosquito breeding cycle — directly targeting the root cause of the problem.

At a time when diseases like malaria and dengue claim millions of lives every year, Aditi's innovation proves that even simple solutions can bring significant change. Notably, the model works without electricity or fuel and poses no harm to human health. Her innovation has also received national recognition. Aditi has been selected under the prestigious INSPIRE MANAK scheme of the Government of India and is now set to present her project at the national platform. She has also received grants from the government to support her research and development work, highlighting the potential and practicality of her project.

Canada scrutiny puts 1.53 lakh Indian students at risk of deportation

SHIV KUMAR SHARMA
KARNAL, APR 24

Thousands of Indian students studying in Canada are facing the risk of deportation following stricter immigration norms and audit findings by the Canadian authorities. Concerns have intensified after discrepancies were detected in study visa applications, raising questions over the authenticity of documents submitted by students.

According to audit reports for 2023–24, irregularities have been found in the study visa records of nearly 1.53 lakh Indian students. These include issues such as gap years, inconsistencies in educational certificates and income proof documents. Among them, around 45,900 students are from Haryana, 53,550 from Punjab, 22,950 from Gujarat and 30,600 from other states. Investigations into these cases are currently underway by immigration authorities.

Officials have indicated that students found guilty of submitting forged documents or incomplete information could face deportation along with a potential five-year ban on re-entry. Students who travelled through "package systems" arranged by agents are reportedly at higher risk, as many applications allegedly contain manipulated documentation.

Under the new provisions of immigration law, students are required to apply for refugee status within one year of arrival in Canada. Failure to do so may lead to rejection of their claims. Authorities have already issued notices to around 30,000 individuals, seeking clarification within 21 days. Of these, nearly 9,000 are from Punjab and about 1,000 from Haryana. Those who fail to respond by the stipulated deadline may face cancellation of work permits and initiation of deportation proceedings.

The report further indicates that a significant number of refugee applications filed between June and October 2025 may be rejected. Currently, nearly three lakh applications are pending with the Refugee Protection Board.

Fraud of lakhs in guise of car trading; Case registered against father-son duo

JAIBEER RANA THAMBER
BARARA: A case of fraud involving lakhs of rupees, committed under the pretext of buying and selling used cars, has come to light in the Barara region. Acting on a complaint, the police have registered a case against a father and son under various sections of the law and have initiated an investigation. According to the information received, Harvinder Singh, a resident of village Jauli, stated in a complaint submitted to the Superintendent of Police, Ambala, that he had become acquainted with Vikram Singh—a resident of Dahiya Majra (under the Barara Police Station jurisdiction)—approximately 3 to 4 years ago. Vikram Singh identified himself as being involved in the used car trade and claimed that he, along with his son Rajat, engaged in the business of buying and selling vehicles.

According to the complainant, in November 2024, he handed over his i20 car to Rajat for the purpose of selling it. It is alleged that after selling the car, Rajat and his father stalled the payment, citing pending bank loan formalities as an excuse. Subsequently, they assured him that they would settle the dues after selling another car and, in the interim, temporarily provided him with a WagonR car. Some time later, the accused took possession of the complainant's second vehicle—a Dzire—and sold it as well, yet failed to make any payment for that transaction either. The complainant alleges that, in total, the duo sold both of his cars and misappropriated approximately 8 lakh. Harvinder Singh stated that when he repeatedly demanded his money, the accused continued to evade the issue. On one occasion, they even issued a cheque for 4 lakh; however, the cheque bounced due to insufficient funds in the account. Furthermore, it is alleged that the accused resorted to using a forged affidavit and later threatened to kill him, as well as to falsely implicate him in a case of suicide. Following an investigation into the matter, the police have formally registered a case at the Barara Police Station.

So we have to wait and watch," Shetty said.Speaking to ANI on the sidelines of the 6th Edition of PICUP Fintech Conference organised by the Indian Banks Association with FICCI, Shetty said the evolving geopolitical situation, particularly in West Asia, has made it difficult to assess the outlook with certainty. "Our last read was 15.5%, which is quite strong growth. Having said that, we are now in the middle of this geopolitical situation. So, it's very difficult to tell, depends on how this situation evolves," he said.On the trajectory of credit and deposit growth, Shetty said outcomes would depend on how quickly the situation stabilises."If the war in West Asia concludes very quickly, then I think we can come back and then it will be quite good. But if it does go long, I think that will create some challenges and maybe we will have a slowdown of credit. So it depends, it's very difficult to tell," he said.On risks such as oil prices and currency fluctuations, Shetty said the approach remains cautious and dependent on how the situation evolves. "If it does go wrong, then we have to think about some actions but optimistically it will not and then the economy can bounce back quite quickly," he said. On monetary policy, he said the central bank is likely to remain data-driven. "I think firstly RBI can only comment, but if you look at the governor's speech, his direction to everybody is to also be data driven and see how the situation is evolving and appropriately take some actions," he said.Shetty further added, "So I don't think at this point in time anybody has a good view. It is very variable; every day, something is changing. So it is very volatile and we have to wait and watch. I am sure RBI is thinking about this and in the right time they will take some actions".On asset quality, he said there are no immediate signs of stress in unsecured or MSME lending segments, though vigilance is required."At this point, no, but again, as I said, it is a very fast-evolving situation, so we have to keep an eye out," he said. He also highlighted that the bank continues to invest in strengthening systems to protect them from digital fraud. "So we have a dedicated cybersecurity team. A lot of our investments go towards cybersecurity. It is perhaps the largest growing spend area for us over the last few years. Same digital frauds again a big area of focus for us," he said.Shetty added that "there are many things we are doing around technology, customer education, and our own processes to ensure that we can better address this."

Strengthening Korea–India ties amid global transformation

At a time of profound shifts in global geopolitical and geo-economics landscape, Lee Jae Myung, President of the Republic of Korea, paid a highly successful State Visit to India from 19 to 21 April 2026, signaling the dawn of a new phase in the Korea-India Special Strategic Partnership. He was accompanied by one of the largest-ever business delegations comprising over 200 representatives of leading Korean companies, including the CEOs of Samsung, Hyundai, LG and POSCO.

The delegation also included three cabinet Ministers, overseeing key portfolios of Finance & Economy and Science & Technology. The sheer size and distinguished composition of the presidential delegation alone underlines the importance Korea attaches to this crucial partnership with India, one of the most consequential relationships of the 21st century.

The visit took place at a critical juncture in global affairs, when the familiar contours of the global political and economic order are undergoing profound transformation. With supply chains being reconfigured and new economic alignments emerging, fresh avenues for cooperation are opening up.

India's global stature today is markedly different from what it once was. Its standing as a rising global economic and strategic power continues to grow and its economy is firmly on course to become the world's third largest economy very soon. At the same time, Korea continues to attract global attention through its K-wave soft power as well as its strengths in supply chains of world's most critical industries such as semiconductors and shipbuilding.

Taken together, these factors create a strong synergy for expanded cooperation. Simply put, at a time of global flux, the two partners with huge potential for future cooperation have come together to harness their complementarities and convergences and to produce tangible outcomes for their respective peoples and the world at large.

the summit meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the two leaders unveiled the 'Joint Strategic Vision for the Korea-India Special Strategic Partnership', outlining an ambitious and action-oriented roadmap to usher in a new era of Korea-India Partnership 2.0 in the coming years. At the luncheon hosted by Prime Minister Modi, both leaders together with leading business CEOS reaffirmed their strong desires to deepen and widen industrial ties.

They emphasized the importance of placing Korea's industrial and technological strengths at the heart of India's 'Viksit Bharat 2047' and 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' initiatives, while also recognising the significant benefits Korean businesses can derive from India's scale, skilled talent pool, advanced IT ecosystem, and vast market opportunities.

As many as 15 MoUs between the two governments and 20 business MoUs and 14 contracts were concluded, underscoring the unprecedented scale of outcomes from the visit. Among the key highlights was POSCO's joint venture with JSW Steel to set up a 6 MMT integrated steel plant in Odisha. These agreements span a wide and strategic range of sectors, including trade, industry, technology, science, culture, sports, and people-to-people exchanges. The four major takeaways from the President Lee's visit can be summed up as follows:

First, under the dynamic stewardship and enthusiastic backing of both leaders, the two countries are set to usher in the second wave of Korean investment in India. While the first wave was led by automotive and electronics giants such as Hyundai, Samsung, and LG, which have now become household names across the country, the second phase is set to expand into new and strategic sectors, including shipbuilding, semiconductors, manufacturing and MSMES.

In this context, both leaders announced an ambitious and comprehensive maritime partnership vision aimed at embedding Korea's shipbuilding expertise into India's maritime future.

In parallel, the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), concluded in 2010, will be upgraded to best serve businesses in a rapidly evolving global economic landscape, by incorporating new focus areas including, digital trade, supply chain collaboration and the green economy. A new Ministerial Industrial Cooperation Committee has been established to facilitate and strengthen expanded industrial cooperation, ensuring mutual and strategic benefits for both sides.

Second, both governments are committed to ensuring that expanded industrial ties will lead to closer cooperation in strategic sectors, areas typically reserved for trusted strategic partners, including nuclear energy, space, artificial intelligence, defence, and green technologies. Building on successful precedents such as the K-9 howitzer project, Korea and India, by leveraging their complementary strengths, can emerge as joint leaders in these critical and emerging domains that will shape and define the future.

Third, both sides have agreed to further expand institutionalised high-level exchanges and strengthen people-to-people ties. Since the inauguration of the new Korean administration in June last year, President Lee and Prime Minister Modi have met twice on the sidelines of the G7 Summit in Canada and the G20 Summit in South Africa.

In the first three months of this year alone, we have welcomed more than a dozen high-level Korean delegations to Delhi, including those led by the Deputy Speaker of the National Assembly and the Deputy Prime Minister. These sustained high-level engagements naturally culminated in this week's Presidential State Visit.

As part of the outcomes of the summit, both sides agreed to exchange at least five more ministerial visits before the end of this year, including the visit of India's Defence Minister to Korea next month. Beyond official engagements, both sides have also committed to deepening academic cooperation, expanding student exchanges and further promoting cultural linkages and tourism. Thanks to the enhanced collaboration between two financial authorities, India's Unified Payments Interface (UPI) will be made interoperable in Korea, facilitating ease of travel and strengthen people-to-people connections.

Finally, both sides have decided to broaden cooperation at the regional and global levels. Both countries share vibrant democracies, dynamic market economies, respect for human rights and a firm belief in peaceful coexistence. They also face common global challenges, including terrorism, climate change, maritime piracy, and other transnational threats. In addressing these challenges, the two sides will draw on their shared experiences and complementary strengths to work together for a more peaceful, stable, and prosperous Indo-Pacific region and the world.

Korea and India established diplomatic ties in 1973. In a little over five decades, bilateral relations have blossomed from modest beginnings into a robust Special Strategic Partnership With the unveiling of the Joint Strategic Vision for the Korea-India Special Strategic Partnership during the State Visit and with a renewed political will and a shared commitment across all stakeholders to unlocking the full potential of bilateral ties. Korea and India are now stepping into Partnership 2.0, an ambitious new phase to deepen, broaden and diversify cooperation, for the mutual benefit of the two countries, the region and indeed the world.

Empowered women, healthier nation: Why every woman must prioritize her health- Dr. Shavika Mehta Kalra

Women are the backbone of every family and society. They nurture homes, raise children, support careers, and care for loved ones. Yet, while caring for everyone else, women often ignore the most important person — themselves. Good health is not a luxury for women; it is a necessity.

One of the major concerns today is that many women delay medical consultation for common health issues such as irregular periods, excessive bleeding, pelvic pain, weakness, white discharge, urinary infections, or hormonal imbalance. Ignoring these symptoms can lead to serious complications. Timely diagnosis and treatment can prevent many long-term problems.

Pregnancy care is another vital aspect of women's health. Regular check-ups, proper nutrition, vaccinations, and medical guidance during pregnancy ensure the safety of both mother and baby. Every woman deserves quality healthcare and emotional support during this important journey.

Modern lifestyles have also increased conditions such as PCOS, infertility, thyroid disorders, obesity, stress, and menstrual irregularities. Adopting a healthy routine with balanced nutrition, regular exercise, proper sleep, and stress management can bring significant improvement.

Awareness about breast cancer and cervical cancer is equally important. Regular screenings, self-examinations, Pap smear tests, and early medical advice can help in early detection and successful treatment. Prevention and awareness save lives.

Mental health is often overlooked. Women carry multiple responsibilities and emotional stress silently. Taking time for rest, speaking openly, and seeking help when needed should be encouraged. Caring for mental health is just as important as physical health.

My message to every woman is clear: Your health matters. Do not wait for illness to take action. Prioritize yourself with confidence and without guilt.

When women are healthy, families become stronger, children thrive, and society progresses. Let us spread awareness and encourage every woman to take charge of her health.

Healthy Woman, Happy Family, Strong Nation.

ED vs Mamata Banerjee

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) defended the maintainability of its petition under Article 32 of the Constitution, telling the Supreme Court about alleged complete breakdown of law and order in West Bengal and claiming that its officers were unable to perform their duties due to interference and obstruction by Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee.

The ED has sought a probe by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) against the Chief Minister and other State police officers who had accompanied her at the time of the incident at the residence of Pratik Jain, the co-founder of political consultancy firm I-PAC, on January 8.

Appearing for the ED, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told a Bench of Justice Prashant Kumar Mishra and Justice N.V. Anjaria that the agency and its officers were entitled to approach the top court as their fundamental rights had been affected. He argued that the "rule of law" forms part of the right to equality (Article 14 of the Constitution) and when it is violated, the Court can intervene.

Referring to the coal smuggling case involving proceeds of crime worth about ₹2,700 crore, Mehta said the ED officers, while discharging statutory duties, were prevented from functioning freely. He submitted that this was not an isolated incident but part of a pattern of interference in investigations carried out by central agencies.

"This is my legal submission. I will demonstrate how the rule of law is violated. The ED officers who went there to discharge their duties are seeking protection of their fundamental rights," he said.

Mehta argued that the distinction between an officer's official and individual capacity cannot be drawn in such situations, as the consequences of obstruction are faced personally by those discharging official duties. He added that even State governments, including West Bengal, have approached the Supreme Court under Article 32 in the past and cannot now question its maintainability in the case of ED.

The ED has accused Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee of interfering in search operations conducted on January 8 this year at the premises of Pratik Jain - the co-founder of the political consultancy firm I-PAC in Kolkata, and has sought a CBI probe into the incident.

During the hearing, the Bench raised concerns about entertaining such petitions under Article 32, noting the wider implications. "There is inherent danger if we keep on entertaining. This court will be flooded with Article 32 petitions. Not by individuals. By different state governments. As a court, shall we discourage or shall we encourage this?" the Bench asked.

Mehta responded that such petitions should generally be discouraged, but insisted that the present case stood on a different footing as it involved individuals whose rights were allegedly affected. He said that such matters should be decided on a fact-to-fact basis.

He maintained that the matter required examination on its own facts, pointing out that ED officers had been subjected to criminal proceedings and obstruction while carrying out their duties, and that approaching local police would not ensure a fair investigation.

Those seventeen lines.... and beyond

ANUJ TYAGI

The temple architecture of the Lingaraja Temple in Bhubaneswar and the Konark Sun Temple, the intricate textile traditions, and the fluid grace of Odissi dance together reflect the culmination of Odisha's rich heritage, one that is deeply rooted in antiquity. It often makes me pause and think about the lineage of this continuity. Among its many expressions, what draws me in the most is the seventeen-line inscription in the Hathigumpha caves in the Udayagiri hills near Bhubaneswar.
There is something about it, quiet and enduring, that speaks of resilience and evolution, the foundations on which this vibrant society seems to have been built.

Carved in stone by the Jain king Kharavela of the Kalinga Kingdom, the inscription stands as a remarkable historical record. Written in Brahmi script during the second and first century BCE, in the Prakrit language, it offers invaluable insight while still leaving enough unsaid to invite interpretation.

What is striking is the life that precedes the throne. The young prince was educated for fifteen years across a wide range of subjects, from writing and finance to civil law and religious practices. This was followed by nine years in administration, a phase that grounded him in the realities of governance. By the time of his coronation, he had spent twenty-four years in preparation. It reflects a degree of maturity in both governance and social structure that feels unusually advanced for its time.

The inscription then moves into the workings of rule. In the very first year after coronation, repairs to city walls, gates, buildings, and water bodies were undertaken, with an expenditure of thirty-five hundred thousand. The detail is telling. It suggests a sense of accountability and public responsibility that feels familiar even in a modern context.

The composition of the army, cavalry, infantry, elephants, and chariots, and the mention of military expeditions in the second year add another layer to the narrative. Yet, what follows is equally telling. In the next few years, there are references to the organisation of music, art, and cultural activities, pointing to a kingdom that invested notonly in power but also in cultural life. The digging of a water canal to the capital and the granting of tax exemptions to citizens after military victories reinforce the idea of a welfare- oriented state. Even the mention of the queen consort attaining motherhood introduces a personal and human dimension to the account.

Other references to an Indo-Greek ruler, victory over the Magadha ruler, the building of towers, the settlement of a hundred masons, and offerings to Jain monks open up several threads of interpretation. The portrayal of Kharavela as the King of Peace, the King of Prosperity, the King of Monks, and the King of Religion suggests a conception of kingship that seeks balance rather than dominance. It points to a mature and flourishing kingdom over twenty-two hundred years ago, with no visible trace of Mauryan Emperor Ashoka's legendary conquest of Kalinga.

What continues to stand out in the Hathigumpha inscription is its underlying emphasis on transparency, accountability, and public welfare. Perhaps that is what makes these seventeen lines endure and continue to invite reflection, even today. Old inscriptions are always open to interpretation, particularly when both the script and the language have faded over time. Yet, they still help in drawing a broad, macro-level picture. When these fragments are pieced together, a reasonably coherent and authentic narrative begins to emerge, one that can be further refined through contextualisation, comparison with other archaeological evidence, historical records, and prevailing socio-cultural traditions of the region.

Traditionally, Indian culture has relied heavily on the Shruti method of teaching and learning, where knowledge is transmitted through listening. While rich in its own way, this approach is also vulnerable to the gradual loss of information over time. As a result, many valuable academic works and traditions have been lost. In addition, the effects of time, environmental wear, and periods of destruction have further contributed to the erosion of this knowledge.

Even in the modern era, documentation practices in many parts of the world, particularly in Western and other developed countries, tend to be far more meticulous and comprehensive. There is a strong culture of recording even the smallest details, whether in academic research or in the corporate sphere. The depth and discipline of such documentation can be striking, something that becomes evident in interactions with delegations from countries such as Japan or South Korea. This brings into focus the importance of building a stronger tradition of institutional memory in India. Such a shift can help the country respond more effectively to challenges while also making better use of emerging opportunities. The Covid pandemic, for instance, offered several lessons that could have been systematically documented and preserved for future reference.

Perhaps there is a need to rediscover and strengthen the culture of writing and documentation, a tradition that existed in India long before the Roman Empire. Rebuilding this habit, in a contemporary form, may be essential not only for preserving knowledge but also for shaping a more prepared and informed future.

Drop by drop, Konark Academy students make a splash for water savings

KARAMBIR
LADWA: The message of water conservation was given on Friday during the ongoing fortnight at Konark Academy, Ladwa. This campaign started with a prayer meeting, in which students, teachers and parents participated enthusiastically. After the prayer meeting, students presented an effective message of water conservation through various creative activities. Through paintings, posters, slogans and small situations, children showed that water is an invaluable basis of our life and its conservation is very important. School Principal Anjani Singh in her keynote address said that water was an invaluable heritage of nature without which life cannot be imagined. In view of the increasing water crisis at present, it is the responsibility of all of us to use water very judiciously. To save water, we have to adopt small precautions in our daily life.

Projects by individual producers also turned out to be success: Ramesh Taurani

Film producer Ramesh Taurani has reaffirmed his belief in the strength of individual producers in Bollywood, highlighting that films backed by a single creative vision often deliver stronger results. Speaking to ANI, Taurani opened up about the evolving dynamics of film production, stating that while corporate studios have undoubtedly contributed to several successful films, projects led by individual producers have also turned out to be successes."The success ratio of a producer, where an individual producer is involved, even if he has done a tie-up with a corporate, that is a different thing. But where an individual producer is involved, the movie always turns out to be good. Many good movies were made by corporates," he said.

Reflecting on his own journey, Taurani shared that he has produced 49 films so far, with 'Hai Jawani Toh Ishq Hona Hai' being the 50th project."Whatever movie we have made, we have always kept in mind that we are not without script with any actor. We would narrate the whole story with dialogue and then made the project. And then the casting and other things happened," the producer continued.

Speaking on whether the era of single producers has been fading, Taurani disagreed. He pointed out that several prominent filmmakers, including Karan Johar, continue to operate successfully with a strong individual vision."The ones who are still relevant, they are still doing the work. We are working, Sajid Nadiadwala is working, Excel is working, and so is Karan Johar," he added. Elsewhere in the conversation, Ramesh Taurani also spoke about working with veteran filmmaker David Dhawan in 'Hai Jawani Toh Ishq Hona Hai'."My relationship with David Ji started in 1993-1994. Our first movie, the first movie, a joint venture, was Coolie No 1. The first director I signed in my life was David Dhawan. In fact, when I signed him at that price, the industry abused me a lot that I have gone mad. But we did it. Because we felt that a very good movie will be made. And then Coolie No 1 happened. I always feel that the director is the main one who makes the movie. One should let him do the job," Taurani said.He also explained that David Dhawan might once again return to direct films if he finds a good story. Produced by Ramesh Taurani and directed by David Dhawan, 'Hai Jawani Toh Ishq Hona Hai' will release in theatres on June 12.
